NURSE SHOES

A young mother brought her three year old son back for a shoe check-up after receiving our three month reminder card in the mail. The young fellow wasn't quite ready for a larger size, so, we told her to bring him back in about a month.

As she walked toward the front door, she stopped to look at a display of nurse's duty shoes. Said she, "I am a nurse and recently I started working part time in a local doctor's office. Since I hadn't been active for some five years, I needed new uniforms and shoes.

"I thought I could save money getting my duty shoes at one of these serve yourself stores. Did I ever make a mistake. I paid around five dollars for the shoes. I've worn them three weeks, they are almost shot, they don't clean at all and they are killing my feet. I'm sure coming to you for good shoes the next time."

That is a wise decision. The shoes you work in are the most important shoes you own and when your livelihood depends on your feet, "cripple yourself shoe stores" are not for you.

Says New Civic Board Firmly For Bus Circuit In Heights

To the Editor:

Reference is made to a front page (headlined) article which appeared in the February 21, 1962, edition of the Hilltop Record concerning the possible extension of city bus service into the Georgian Heights area.

In behalf of the Board of Trustees of the Georgian Heights Civic Association Inc. I wish to protest the portion of the article which said that some members of the executive board were opposed to bus servie into Georgian Heights. While this may have represented feelings of some individual board members several months ago when we took a stand on bus service, it certainly does not necessarily hold true now because there are five new members (as of Feb 2) on our board. The article as it appeared gave the view (in our opinion) that the official board of the Georgian Heights Civic Association Inc. was opposed to bus service. This certainly has never been the case at all.

The position agreed upon by the Board of Trustees in 1961 (and it still stands) is this—to remain neutral on bus service. This stand was taken because opinion on the issue among our Corporation members was a divided one and for that reason we felt that we could not take a position either way.

Our civic association, through the board of trustees, attempts to serve the residents of Georgian Heights to the best interest of all concerned. It certainly becomes more difficult to do so when a popular issue comes into the picture, and by virtue of a newspaper article our position could very easily be construed as one other than the one we actually established.

Very truly yours,

Jobs Can Be—

me. "Don't forget that education is the most important thing now." Then, he added quickly, "or is experience more important? But, then, how can you gain experience when no one gives you a chance?"

This phrase was echoed again and again . . . " why won't anybody give us a chance?" The men frowned at the women waiting in the unemployed line.

"It's a shame. Women don't have any trouble finding jobs," said a machinist-by-trade. "There seems to be plenty of work available for women — waitreases and secretaries. I'd work as a waitress if they'd let me . . . and I'd be glad to get the work."

There was a sheet-metal-worker who joined the conversation. He had been injured in the Navy during the war — "near Pearl Harbor" — and in telling his woes revealed his wife had varicose veins and couldn't work.

"Sometimes I wish I wasn't specialized," he said. "You put your name down as a sheet-metal worker and you aren't called until they find an opening in that line of work. I guess they don't know that we'd take any kind of a job."

One of the biggest complaints by those out of work was foreign aid programs. They cited examples, such as sending tractors to foreign countries. They said they wished they had a chance to get a tractor for nothing.

They also complained about foreign imports. The sheet-metal worker remembered when they used to make musical instruments in Columbus.

"They can get the same instruments — guitars and violins — cheaper from Japan and other countries so they stopped making them here. We just couldn't compete with foreign items."

Then, time and again, the men said how different things would be if a war broke out.

"Man, I'll tell you one thing," said the brick layer. "If we went to war these lines would sure get smaller — and fast. There'd be work for everybody then. If you could do nothing but dig holes they'd find a job for you."

But, these were the voices of long-time unemployment speaking. Not all of the folks at the bureau have been out of work for many weeks.

You see young boys — 16, 17, 18 — who stroll up to the "FOR JOBS" counter with a distinct air of confidence. They're usually wide-eyed as they fill out the necessary papers and sneak of anticipation.

They expect immediate placement — it usually doesn't come that easy. All they'd have to do would be ask some of the "old-timers."

Then, there are some of these "old-timers" who pose an interesting question:

"When I'm getting $35 per week on unemployment, why the heck should I take a job for $40 a week."

Sometimes it's hard to find an answer.

The Employment Service itself is in the process of change.

Columbus job-seekers in the professional and clerical classifications and local employers are finding a "new look" at the Employment Service.

Ralph E. Gabele, area manager revealed that a new downtown office is in operation at 74 E. Gay-st with approximately 6800-square feet of space on the third floor.

It might be pointed out that the Ohio State Employment Service is a public employment service — operated by the State of Ohio and affiliated with the United States Employment Service.

There is no charge for services, either to employers or applicants. Any person, either unemployed or presently working, may use the service.

The opening of the office on Gay-st is just the first step toward more organized services. Step No. 2 is expected to be the separation of the Unemployment Compensation and the Industrial and Service office at 435 Cleveland-av. This is slated for the near future.

The Ohio State Employment Service is a department under the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation. The functions of the OSES and the UC are entirely separate.

The OSES is a public employment office — serving both employer and applicant in job connections. The UC division is for administration of unemployment benefits.

The main connection between the two is that one of the provisions of the UC law states that a person drawing UC benefits must be actively seeking work, which includes reporting to the public employment office.

It's a depressing thing looking for jobs. The folks on Cleveland-av are trying to make it a little less depressing . . . if that's possible.

(NEXT WEEK: Just what is being done by the Ohio State Employment Service to help the people standing in the ranks of the jobless?)

School, Convent Set For Move To North Side

The new buildings will be located on a 30-acre tract south of Bridgeview Golf Course.

They will include dormitories, school, chapel and convent and be of brick construction.

The new institution will be occupied in about one year.

About That Welfare State . . .

The following letter was taken from the Congressional Record, Sept. 16, 1961 and has appeared in a number of newspapers. A friend clipped it from the Shreveport Journal and sent it to us. We believe our readers will be interested in it too.

LETTER TO THE PRESIDENT

Sir. My neighbor, who is on relief, has been telling me about the welfare state that is being planned in Washington. I am very interested in what my neighbor had to say about this, but would like to get some answers to questions about the part I don't understand.

Is it true that I won't have to work to draw money from the government to support myself and my kids? How about the other people, will they have to work? If so, please send me the name of the person who will decide who works, as I want to have a long talk with him about myself.

If I am to be one of those who have to work, will I have to change jobs? I have a good job now as a printer, and I sure wouldn't want to start plowing corn. I hope you will let me know the name of the person who will say who gets the easy jobs. I would like to talk to him, too.

I hear that under a social welfare state, the government will run all the farms and businesses and that the worker won't need any money anymore. Is this true? Please advise at once on this, for I have saved up a little money which I would like to spend before the government sends it all to other countries or whatever will be done with it.

Will everyone get the same kind of home and car? If not, I need to talk with someone before this is decided. I like waterfront property and would rather have one of the big cars.

Will I have to work to have all these privileges? I already have the chance to work for these now, and I sure wouldn't want someone to make me work hard just to live in a dump like those people have who are on welfare now.

The hardest thing for me to understand is what happens if none of the people want to work. Does the government plan to make them work? I don't see how I am going to get food and have a fine car from the government if someone doesn't work.

Will the people who run the government get more than the rest of us? This is important to me, for I may want to be a government man. Who would I see about this?

In case you decide to have one of the government men answer this letter, please give it to one of them who knows what the plan is for the welfare state and will be in Washington after the changes are made. He probably never heard about me and won't know my name. So I am giving you my social security number. Please ask him to make sure he doesn't get the wrong number.

Respectfully,

P.S. — Will we vote on this change? If so, please send me the names of the congressmen who favor the welfare state, so I will know who to vote for.

Who Wants To Work?

How's the nation's first depressed training program getting along?

We take you now to the state of West Virginia, where only about 750 of the estimated 7,000 to 8,000 unemployed in Cabell and Wayne counties (the rail, coal mining and industrial areas) have applied for retraining. And don't forget — pay is offered to those learning new jobs.

Now this depressed area retraining program was designed as a Federal pilot project to aid areas of chronic unemployment. Its aim was to teach workers with few job opportunities new skills they could use in new, less depressed vocations.

The State Department of Employment Security, charged with processing applicants, hired nine extra people to handle the anticipated rush of applicants. The rush never came. The extra staff has been cut to four for lack of applicants.

These were the answers which the employment office got when they contacted unemployed prospects:

"I'm just not interested.

"I expect to be called back to work soon.

"I'm too old to be starting all over again."

Who Puts The 'Live' In 'Living Room?'

For years (well, maybe not that long) people have been wondering who put the "live" in "living room."

Just what is a living room?

To a big family it is many things—we found this out after chatting with a few typical families of more than six people. They all agreed that a living room is for living . . . they guessed.

Auble

Some felt that it is where you put your coat and books when you don't hang "it" or put "them" on your desk in your own room.

It seems to be where the mittens, gloves, skates, basketball, hockey sticks, kumquats and empty Metrecal cans end up but shoudn't.

It is where the homework is done on the floor in bad light even though there are desks and a dining room table.

It's where the television and record player are, and Moms wish they weren't. It's where the papers, books, magazines, comics, mail are brought and read.

It's where the dog is, the kittens are, the grandmother cat snores by the radiator.

It's where we measure height against the wall. It's where the teen-agers dance. It's where we fight over the funnies or just fight.

Had enough?

For instance, the living room takes the brunt of all the living and, unless it's constantly "picked up" and pampered, it's a mess.

Most families have a front and back hall and other rooms and closets that they're supposed to have. But, somehow, the living room is the catch-all for everything including people and pets.

There's been a lot of talk about how nice it would be if the old-fashioned parlor was brought back. A place where grownups could talk without being blasted out by music and loud laughter, where the big children could greet their calmer guests, where just one kitten could curl up like in picture books.

We know of one woman who has a big family. The other night she came home from work. There was a tent pitched in her living room. As she stepped over ropes and stakes (not driven in the floor, thank you), she asked, "Who pitched the tent?"

"I did," said one of her boys.

"Why?" she shouted.

"Well, this is the living room, isn't it," he said. "I couldn't pitch it outside. It's snowing."

Believes Westgate Center Money Should Be Diverted To Equipping Smaller Parks

To The Editor:

It seems to me that Columbus is about to make unwise use of $400,000. I refer to the planned construction of the community center in Westgate Park.

This will no doubt be a fine building and will be used extensively. However, as long as our parks are as poorly equipped as they are, I don't believe the spending of such a large sum on one structure can be justified. We are putting all our eggs in one basket. Several parks well equipped will serve the needs of the community much better than one super facility.

I think there is no place as good, nor one that can be utilized as economically for recreational purposes as the outdoors. There are, undeniably, activities which require meeting rooms and indoor athletic facilities. However, I am convinced that we should use our existing facilities for these purposes.

Let us use the YMCA, the schools—including the fine gymnasiums, the churches, and the meeting rooms made available by numerous business organizations to the fullest. It is true this choice will require more cooperation than the easier, more costly alternative of building a community center, but this very act of working together will help create a finer community for all.

Our home faces Holton Park and we have two youngsters who play there. I am quite familiar with what facilities are and are not available. The ball diamond is about equal to the pasture field in which I played ball, and if a ball is fouled or missed by the catcher it goes through the backstop into Dry Run.

There are three hard-topped courts available. One of these is for basketball, the other two are tennis courts. There are few tennis players and so many basketball players. Nearly a year ago I called this situation to the attention of Mr. Barack, but there are still only two baskets in Holton Park — the only park north of Broad st.

There is plenty of room in this park for a good ball diamond, adequate tennis facilities, several basketball courts—or combinations of the two, a leveled football area free of rocks, and ice skating. When we have zero weather, Dry Run freezes and the youngsters have a holiday. I wonder if it would be feasible to flood part of the area north of Westwood-av for ice skating.

Let us build our facilities primarily for the children and make these facilities readily available to as many as possible.

Why More Parkland? Ohio Has More People Per Square Mile Than China

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

Some of the latest information on outdoor recreation is always released at the annual meeting of the Outdoor Writers of Ohio, which just concluded its convention here in Columbus. Resource administrators were there with facts and to answer questions, and the fishing and hunting stories among the writers flew fast and furious.

Gov. DiSalle was present electronically, via a tape-recorded interview with Ken Mack, of WTVN, and the new president of the writers. The governor stated that conservation in Ohio should be accelerated. "By every way there is to figure the economic wealth of a state, Ohio ranks fifth in the nation," he said, "but we stand 47th in expenditures for natural resource management and 44th in public land ownership.

"Many people think of China as being overpopulated, but in that country there are 170 people per square mile. In Ohio there are 235 people per square mile."

Governor Cites Needs

Drawing conclusions from these facts, Gov. DiSalle told the writers that $100 million is needed to acquire land for resource management and outdoor recreation in this state. "While this is a lot of money," he said, "the cost will increase as time goes on and the price of land continues to rise. This program must be considered of top priority, for as land is used for one purpose or another possible lake sites are lost for all time."

Gov. DiSalle indicated that plans along these lines were being worked on now to introduce in the next legislature.

Gen. Herbert B. Eagon, director of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, presented figures that park attendance in the state had increased seven times faster than the population from 1950 to 1960. During the same period hunting and fishing license sales had declined slightly.

Not all of the writers' program was of such a serious nature. Dick Kotis, president of the Fred Arbogast Co., told what a big job fishing is. It seems that many new baits must be tested by this Akron company each year, and the employes can't keep up with the fishing. So now they are asking for help—they want a few good fishermen in each state to use experimental lures. If this kind of research interests you, then write to John Oney, Fred Arbogast Company, 312 W. North St., Akron 3.

A story of the writers' meeting would not be complete without the name of the door prize winner—yours truly. It's a fine Garcia casting rod, that makes me yearn for a balmy spring day when the bass are biting.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

March A Good Month For Food Shopping

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Grapefruit, apples, frozen orange juice, bananas.

March will blow a lot of good eating your way. Marketing specialists say that red meats are in good supply, that egg production is on the up, and shipments of fresh produce from warmer climates are increasing.

Mrs. Franks

Meat marketers suggest you reverse the old March adage and start the month off with lamb. While this is not the season of heaviest supply, many meat departments will feature special lamb promotions, with emphasis on legs of lamb and shoulder cuts to officially welcome spring.

There is a plentiful supply of beef — larger than a year ago. Chuck roast and round steaks, always good buys, will likely be the main attraction at many meat counters.

March will also be a good month for pork, although supplies are not as heavy as during the past two months. Pork loins as well as smoked hams and picnics will be frequently featured in food ads especially when St. Patrick's Day comes along, March 17.

Egg supplies will increase seasonally in the weeks ahead with peak production during the March - May period. Prices are expected to be less than you paid a year ago.

Weather still plays a crucial role in the produce market, but at this writing fresh vegetables from Florida and the West are increasing and quality improving. Beans, lettuce, new red potato and tomato shipments are heavier this week. There's an ample supply of endive, escarole, peppers, squash and radishes.

Potatoes continue to have no competition as the leading bargain vegetable, reflecting the large supply of fall potatoes in storage plus some new potatoes from Florida. Carrots, broccoli and cabbage are in good supply. Fresh asparagus from California is on the increase.

No doubt onions will continue at their unusually high price level, as a result of the uncertainty over the early spring crop in Texas.

Grapefruit is at its best — sweet and juicy — and prices are expected to stay reasonable. Florida Valencia juice oranges really start rolling to market in March; sugar continue in good supply and at economy prices. There will be more strawberries from Florida each week if the weather stays favorable; quality is reported to be good. Michigan greenhouse rhubarb is at its peak now and will be featured more often at prices low enough to make that first fresh rhubarb pie.

The altar of Hilliard Methodist Church was decorated with baskets of white carnations, spider mums, roses and calla lilies, with Florida palms for the candlelight wedding of Miss Shirlee Joann Young and Mr. Charles Frederick Hora, Feb. 24.

The couple repeated their marriage vows beneath an arch of white carnations, mums, roses and lilies. Rev. Warren H. Bright, pastor of Glenwood Methodist Church, read the double-ring service at 7:30 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Woodrow Young of 3217 Fisher-rd, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Hora of 15313 Dechant-rd, New Lebanon.

The bridal gown of silk-faced peau de soie, reembroidered, with French alencon lace, was designed with a molded princess bodice and sabrina neckline, outlined with seed pearls and iridescent. The bouffant skirt featured appliques of lace cascading across the front and a fan-shaped motif in the back and continued into a cathedral trail.

Miss Toni Ann Bolognone served as maid of honor; Mrs. Fred Morgan as matron of honor, and Miss Sharon Carlson and Miss Sharon Long as bridesmaids.

They were identically gowned in sheaths of scarlet velvet with matching satin overskirts. Each wore a rhinestone princess tiara and carried a white bird cage with a horseshoe bouquet of red and white carnations and roses.

Mr. Lawrence E. Hora served as best man for his brother, Mr. Douglas Hulne as head usher, Mr. Raymond E. Hora, also a brother of the bridegroom, and Mr. Woodrow C. Young, brother of the bride, as ushers.

Little Rose Marie Long, dressed in a miniature bridal gown of white lace with a crystal crown and a veil of illusion, served as miniature bride, and David Burris, cousin of the bride, as miniature bridegroom.

A reception followed the ceremony at Hilliard Grange Hall.

The new Mrs. Hora was graduated from Ohio State University in Home Economics Education, and will substitute teach in the Dayton school system.

Her husband was graduated from Ohio State University in Animal Science and is now associated with Schearbrook Farms, Dayton, as a livestock specialist for show cattle.

Following a wedding trip to New York and the eastern states, the couple will reside at Schearbrook Farms, Oakes-rd, Dayton.

A Swedish crown of seed pearls and crystal beads held her veil of illusion and she carried a cascade of feathered snowdrift crysanthemums centered with a detachable corsage of a white hybrid orchid.

Miss Sandra Bush served as maid of honor, Mrs. Jack Zollinger and Mrs. Robert Hale, sisters of the bride, as bridesmaids, and Miss Karen Ruegg and Miss Karen Edberg as bridesmaids.

Effer-VESS-ent

When March comes in, can spring be far behind? Let's hope not! We're ready . . . how about you? Have you gotten all of your charity clubs started to our ½ cent redemption on all Vess product bottle caps? Lots of clubs are already under way hoarding our bottle caps . . . and at ½ cent each, there's no reason at all that every club in the Columbus area can't top last year's fund raising quota by a considerable amount. Spread the word. Save every bottle cap from Whistle, Vess Flavors, Bubble-Up, White Rock, 3-V Cola and Hires Root Beer . . . then bring them to us for your cash. Call for details if you don't already have a copy . . .

BARBECUE ROAST

Heat pork ribs, or English ribs or roast in oven about 1 hour. Drain off fat. Pour over Barbecue Glaze and roast slowly until done.

BARBECUE GLAZE

2½ c. Hires Root Beer
2 bouillon cubes or 2 T. instant bouillon
2 T. cornstarch

Bring to boil 2 cups Hires and dissolve bouillon. Thin cornstarch with remaining ½ cup Hires. Add slowly to hot liquid, stir and cook 5 minutes. Add:

2 T. A-1 Sauce
½ teasp. dry mustard
1 T. lemon juice
1 T. brown sugar
1 teasp. onion juice (scraped from cut onion)

Winter Camporee Teaches Scouts To Rough It

Some 202 boys were on hand to participate in the sled races, trapping, first aid and survival demonstrations.

Matson Office To Move; Three New Men Added

The Matson Agency, Hilltop insurance firm located at 2402 W. Broad-st, will move to larger quarters at 2278 W. Broad st, March 5.

According to owner George Matson the move is necessitated by the "rapid increase in business" during the four years the company has been in existence. "The rise was due to the agency's policy of providing the best protection at low rates and quick, courteous claim service," he said.

Three new salesmen will be added to the staff to handle the accident and health insurance departments.

The old lines of casualty, fire, and trailer insurance, along with bonds and the new departments, will make the Matson Agency a complete insurance service, he explained. There will be off street parking facilities at the new location.

Matson is a life-long resident of the Hilltop where he was born on N. Warren-av. He is a member of Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Church, West Gate Masonic Lodge; the Hilltop Kiwanis Club, Hilltop Business Association and the Hilltop Y's Men's Club.

Kindergarten Registration Health Appraisal Underway

Registration and health appraisal of children who will start to Columbus Public Schools next fall are now under way, Superintendent Harold M. Eibling announced.

Any child who will be five on or before Dec. 31 may be registered for kindergarten. Children who will be six on or before Dec. 31 must be registered for first grade if they are not enrolled in a kindergarten of the Columbus Public Schools at the present time.

School officials are asking parents to call the elementary school in their district in order to make registration plans. This call should be made as soon as possible, so arrangements can be made for children and parents to meet with principals and school nurses for a conference.

Registration can be completed more quickly if parents take an original birth certificate and verification of diphtheria and polio immunization to the school when they register their child, school officials said.

Birth certificates for children born in Columbus may be obtained at the City Health Department, 181 S. Washington-blvd.

3 Fines Levied In Sunday Sales

News Of The Hilltop Neighborhood

The monthly meeting of Hilltop Neighborhood was held at Hoge Memorial Church Feb. 18 with the following troops represented: 294, 291, 943, 349, 397, 1148, 250, 162, 662, 537, 669, 40, 332 and 137. Presiding was neighborhood chairman, Mrs. Robert Duncan. An international program was presented.

Thanks are extended to the Westinghouse Corp. for the use of its auditorium during International Friendship Observance, as well as the Hilltop Record for its coverage.

Intermediate Troop 137

Troop members held a Valentine party. Half of the girls served the other half as special work on a Hospitality badge. Leader is Mrs. George Ralph and co-leader, Mrs. William McPherson.

Intermediate Troop gave a party with Senior Troop 294 as guest of honor, which will serve as part of the troop's badge work on the Hostess Badge. Leader is Mrs. Donald Stout.

John Burroughs Neighborhood

The International dinner given by the John Burroughs Neighborhood at Westgate Park shelter house Feb. 22 was a huge success. More than 200 people were in attendance with 10 troops being represented and they were: Brownie Troop 941 with Mrs. William Haines, leader Intermediate Troop 972 with Mrs. John Fletcher, leader; Intermediate Troop 743 with Mrs. Ralph Eddy, leader; Senior Troop 580 with Mrs. E. W. Bishop, leader; Intermediate Troop 517 with Mrs. Richard Morgan, leader; Intermediate 1041 with Mrs. William Rogers, leader; Intermediate Troop 1046 with Mrs. Harvey Ream, leader; Intermediate Troop 44 with Mrs Joseph Gentry, leader; Intermediate Troop 385 with Mrs. Malcomb McGlaughlin, leader, and Brownie Troop 949 with Mrs. Carl Kerchmar, leader.

The program began with a flag ceremony by seven members of Troop 743. Following the posting of the colors, Mrs. Haines' Brownie Troop 941 led the group in singing Grace. Foreign dishes selected from recipes of European, Asian, and South American countries were served buffet style. Coffee and milk were furnished by the neighborhood.

Mrs. Kenneth Adams, neighborhood chairman, acted as mistress of ceremonies. She introduced two special guests, Mrs. Campbell S. Warren, district chairman, and Miss Ann Hitze, district advisor.

Intermediate Troop 517 conducted group singing of Scout songs and rounds with the help of their leaders, Mrs. Richard Morgan and Mrs. Herbert Hallman. Their troop then sang a German song, "Grun, Grun, Grun."

Mrs. Adams called for each troop to report its attendance and tell about the centerpieces on their tables. All of these were cleverly done showing the versatility and imagination of the scouts.

Senior Troop 580 led by Mrs Bishop and Mrs. Carl Washburn gave a choral reading entitled, "The Wish That Came True." These girls then called for each troop to come forward and deposit their contributions to the Juliette Low International Friendship Fund.

The purpose of this dinner was to honor Juliette Low, founder of the Girl Scouting movement in this country and to stimulate a kinship with other scouts all over the world.

Mrs. Malcomb McGlaughlin, program chairman, made all the necessary plans and arrangements and deserves a vote of thanks from everyone.

Troop 762

After patrol meetings and business discussions were concluded the girls began their celebration. It began with a flag ceremony, Pledge of Allegiance and Girl Scout promise. Mrs. Ralph Eddy, leader, invested a new girl, Carolyn Glenn of 222 S. Burgess-av. The other 14 registered girls received their star membership pins. Eleven of these girls have been with the troop since it first registred in 1956. A gift exchange and refreshments followed.

Mrs. Carl Washburn, assistant leader of Senior Troop 580, has been meeting regularly with the girls of Troop 743 since the first of the year to help with plans for troop camping scheduled Mar. 2, 3, and 4 at Camp Ken-Jockety. This will be the troop's first overnight camping experience. At an earlier meeting two Senior girls from Troop 580, Kathy Washburn and Becky Bishop, came to instruct the girls in making bed rolls and advised the members about the proper supplies to take to camp. Mrs. Washburn and Mrs. Eddy will accompany the girls on the camping weekend.

Weber should know how to stack 'em. He operates Weber's Snack Bar, next to Mt. Carmel Hospital. His kitchen partner on Pancake Day will be Milt Lustnauer of Green Gables Drive Inn.

While some 20 hubbies are waiting tables, Kiwanis wives will hold a bazaar and bake sale in the corner of the auditorium. Mrs. Mildred Klentz, Mrs. Polly Weber and Mrs. Dorothy Williams will be in charge.

Popular With Public

Ted Klentz, Kiwanis president, said Pancake Day always has been popular with church-going families, bus and taxi drivers, newsboys and other Kiwanians who come from as far as Gahanna, Washington C.H. and Circleville.

Klentz said proceeds from the feast will be directed to the club's community service projects—including boys and girls work, Golden Agers, vocational guidance and support of churches. Klentz said the club is grateful for outright donations of some of the food stuffs such as coffee, butter and milk.

Austin Hutt has charge of pre-sale of tickets by members. Tickets also will be sold at the door. Others on the committee include: Fred Van Order and Clarence Scott, door; Marcus Orr and Joe Davis, publicity; and Klentz and Hutt, dining room.

West Hill Furniture Co. Expands, Moves To New Location On Broad

West Hill Furniture Co., formerly of 2304 W. Broad-st, has pioneered a unique furniture display on the Hilltop at its new location, 2542 W. Broad-st.

The large brick residence has been changed so that floor space is approximately the same as at the old location. The room-by-room display is convenient for selection style and fabrics, and according to Tom Garrity, manager, homemakers are now able to visualize style and color decor as it blends to their own particular homes.

Adjacent to the establishment is a small show case building which is attractively decorated with average price decorator style carpet, drapes and various types of furniture. This type of display is also new to the Hilltop. Parking space for 20 or 30 cars is available on the rear of the showcase building.

The firm has been on the Hilltop for 22 years and carries nationally known, name brand, furniture, appliances, carpeting and drapes. Delivery is store owned and the servicing of appliances is performed by factory-trained men. Carpet is installed by experienced men.

Ed Schaedler, a past president of Hilltop Kiwanis Club and a member of the Maple Grove Methodist Church, has been the owner of West Hill Furniture since its beginning in 1949. Until 1957 he was a Hilltop resident.

The sales force is headed by Tom Garrity, 345 Binns-blvd, who has been a resident of the Hilltop since 1930, is a member of St. Mary Magdalene Church and the Hilltop Council K. of C.

NEW FACE IN CHANGING HILLTOP SCENE

THIS ATTRACTIVE BUILDING owned and leased by Deffer Real Estate, is also the new location of their brokerage office, 2225 W. Broad-st. Other occupants of the new structure are Martin and Martin, attorneys-at-law and Dr. Frank Queen, dentist, who are located on the lower level and first floor, respectively. The second floor, with 1340 square feet non-partition space yet to be occupied. The building, a brick and aluminum two-story structure, was completed Dec. 1.

school were involved in a fire or a similiar tragedy, the building inspector's office would be guilty of negligence.

The nursery school operators are adamant. They've protested the threatened revocations as "unreasonable."

Attorney States Position

Attorney William Lohr, representing the Franklin County Day Nursery Association, has explained that the city is trying to enforce laws enacted after most of the schools began operation and are therefore not applicable.

"If the city wasn't going to let the playschools operate, it should not have granted them licenses to begin with," he said.

For many of the playschool owners the crackdown represents an economic crisis.

The necessary modifications — including sprinkler systems and steel sheeting between floors — would be prohibitively costly.

BRIEFLY TOLD: A fine bit of entertainment was furnished by women of Kiwanikwe this past week when they presented "the 20's With The Tanners," a tableau depicting the life of Bruce and Marcie Tanner. Too bad Norman Rockwell was never able to capture an expression like that of Joe Goodwin who played the part of the grocery boy . . . Long overdue is my thanks to Mrs. James A. Hill for her fine letter recently in which she tells of her enjoyment in reading the Record over these many years . . . A packed house was present for the last service of Glenwood Methodist in their old church and a repeat performance is expected this Sunday when they hold their first service in the new church at Valleyview and Hague.

Sunday Assn. President Lauds Whitehall Decision

The president of the Greater Columbus Sunday Association, Erwin J. Fanta, said this week that his organization welcomed the decision of Craig Wright, Whitehall Safety Director, to enforce Ohio's Sunday Closing Law.

"We congratulate Wright on his forthright decision and pledge our support and cooperation," Fanta said.

Fanta added: "We believe business should be of service to the public. However, during this post-war period of change there has been a shortening of the work week. In many instances the work week has been reduced from 48 hours to 40 hours or less.

It strikes us as questionable that with increased leisure time — time for more shopping — some stores feel that they must stay open an additional day.

With most super-markets and shopping center open nights in addition to six days, is there a need?

"The Sunday Closing Law, which has withstood every superior court test is honored in the courts far more in cities like Cleveland, Lorain, Toledo, Dayton and Cincinnati than in the city where it was enacted into law"

Pirates Scuttle West, East On Home Floor

By DALE EVANS and BILL PARKER

Central's Pirates made a dramatic comeback to beat West last Wednesday at the Cowboy court and compounded the victory Friday against East.

Being down as much as 14 points in the West fray, Central fought back in the final three minutes to overtake the lopsided score and defeat their hosts by a score of 72-69.

West's height and their precise shooting led them to an early lead which the Buc's could not penetrate. West led 38-30 at the halftime, but the Pirates gradually evened the score as Tommy Fullove continually hit field goals and Terry Taylor contributed timely tip-ins and rebounds.

Central capitalized in the final minutes on West's inability to score on free-throws. The flashy Bucs continued on their hitting spree while the Cowboys finally cooled off in the critical ending. West was led by Dwight Newman's 25 points while Tommy Fullove's 26 points was high for both teams. Terry Taylor and Dave Roberts had 17 and 15 respectively for the winners.

CENTRAL — Taylor, 7-3-17; Roberts, 7-1-15; Jones, 1-2-4; Ravels, 1-0-2; Gilchrest, 3-2-8; Fullove, 12-2-26; Total, 31-10-72.

Central	14	38	51	72

The Bucs started the scoring fast as they dropped in 11 points before East scored with a free-throw. The score continued to rise as Central at one time in the first period held a 19-2 advantage and ended the one stanza 20-9.

The Tigers couldn't penetrate their victor's close defense as most of their points came on outside shots. The East Siders' big men missed several close shots and threw the ball away on different occasions. Central capitalized on these defects by doubling East's score at halftime.

In the third frame, however, East started to play ball and narrowed the difference to 15 points, but is was soon evident that the Pirates were going to run away with the game. They outscored the Tigers before a near capacity crowd 21-7 in the final period.

The winners had three men in double figures as Terry Taylor had 20 points; Tommy Fullove, 19 and George Gilchrest 13. Big gun for East was Ed Hammond with 19 points.

Sports News Ladled Out Wholesale For This Week

Things are crowded on the sports beat. The best way to uncrowd things and set the record straight is to fire the stuff out in a sports column.

The Columbus Recreation Department will conduct its annual Class A Independent basketball tournament starting the week of Mar. 11.

Eligibility lists of 15 players and a fee of $20 must be in the recreation office by Mar. 7.

On Tap at Cap . . .

Rich Schieber, the talented sports PR man at Capital University, informs that Mar. 24 is the date set for the annual Varsity C Alumni breakfast to be held in Troutman Hall.

Reservations are available through Dale Helmick.

It will be the usual memories, says Schieber, comparing of records and another good sports weekend in Columbus with the finals of the Ohio high school cage tournament.

Details will be coming to all Alumni Varsity C members the first week of March.

Here's an interesting Capital item for basketball fans:

In the highly publicized season of Lucas & Co., it's noticed that since the narrow four-point victory in 1931, Ohio State's basketball team has hesitated in schedule Capital.

Even though the Buckeyes are ahead in the series, 3-0, they never managed to down Cap by more than 16 points.

Butler, Lewis Lead . . .

Henry Butler blasted into first place in the singles division of city tournament action last Friday at Rainbow Lanes, while hefty Harley Lewis took over the top all-events spot with a 1923 total on games of 659, 664 and 608, plus three handicap pins.

Lewis included a 279 line, leaving the 10-pin after 10 straight strikes.

'Effer In Cincy . . .?

A note from the Cincinnati Baseball Club — for all Columbus fans who helped to root the Reds (almost) home last year — tells that the most extensive maintenance program in the history of Crosley Field is currently in progress.

Park Super Matty Schwab, Stadium Operator Lew Crosley and Maintenance Super Mike Dolan have the home of the National League champion Reds in a busy turmoil as they ready the park for the 1962 Opening Game with the Philadelphia Phillies on Apr. 9.

An extensive concrete restoration program on the underside of the upper grandstand is now in progress.

WE SAY WHAT WE'LL DO.
We tell you in advance what price you can expect to get. We don't name a fancy price just to get your listing and hope that you'll come down afterwards.

WE DO WHAT WE SAY.
Put a proper price on your home. That's the way to sell it quickly. Ask for too much and you frighten people away! Ask for too little and before you know it, it's been grabbed by someone to resell at a big profit.

REBUILT IN WEST SIDE

By MARCUS ORR

They've hardly heard the half of it.

When more than 1,000 persons packed into the first service at the new Glenwood Methodist Church last Sunday, most of them heard the strains—but they heard only half of their familiar 50-year-old pipe organ.

The rest of it was still being refurbished in a unique organ repair shop in the West Side church by next Sunday.

• • •

And if the crowd is anything like last Sunday's, at Valley-view-dr and Hague-av, some extra seats will have to be found. Rev. Warren Bright said the normal seating for 750 was quickly filled and the overflows were sent into the chapel, vestibule, parlor and fellowship hall. The parking lot was full and some cars could not be accommodated.

The church elected to keep its old organ because: 1. it was known to be one of the finest in the city 2. it would cost between $40,000 and $50,000 to duplicate it in today's market 3. organs, too, seem to mellow with age.

Council Slates Discussion By Buchanan

Harold L. Buchanan of the City Planning Commission will address the Hilltop Community Council at 8 p.m. Thursday, Mar. 8, at the Hilltop YMCA.

His topic will be "Development and Growth in the Hilltop Area in the Next Decade." He will discuss improvement projects scheduled for the next five years, and others under consideration for the following five years.

Buchanan is a lifetime resident of the area. He was graduated from West High School and Ohio State University and resides at 404 S. Roys-av with his wife, Marianne and their

Showdown Expected Monday On Fate Of Recreation Center

Westgate People Debate Need For New Center

An 11th hour effort by a faction of Westgate Park area residents Monday night threw a block into the city's plans to hire an architect for a new $400,000 recreation center.

Both sides today were adding signatures to petitions and were planning to send delegations to place their pleas before council. City Recreation Director N. J. Barack predicted that the issue will bring a packed house to council chambers when they open at 8 p.m.

Until a month ago relatively little was heard from those who oppose a center in Westgate Park. For some 10 years many residents, and Hilltop Community Council "beat the drums" for the facility. But no funds were available. When the 1960 Recreation Bond issue was approved it was announced that the Westgate Center was to be financed from it. In mid-January of this year it was widely reported that the center was earmarked for construction in 1962.

First open signs of opposition came a month ago when a number of Westgate Park area residents turned out to Community Council. Director Barack, speaker of the evening, outlined the city's plans and heard some rebuttals. But, he said he had received very few letters against the center, and no petitions had been sent to council.

When the ordinance for the architectural services was announced last Friday, the opponents worked through the weekend and gathered 223 signatures. A delegation of more than a dozen braved Monday's snowstorm to present the appeal to a somewhat surprised city council.

Attorney Dan Scarberry and Mrs. Dora Merry declared that existing recreational facilities are sufficient to serve the child population. They said they believed the open spaces in the park should be preserved . . . that traffic is a problem . . . and that the center would duplicate the service of the new YMCA.

Councilman William Fornof moved to table action on the ordinance until both sides can be heard out.

Meanwhile proponents of the

Two letters, favoring a center in Westgate Park appear on this week's Editorial Page. A long letter in opposition was printed last week.

HBA BACKS CENTER

Executive committee of the Hilltop Business Association Tuesday adopted a resolution favoring the construction of the Westgate Park Recreation Center, as planned.

The association stated it has long favored adequate recreational facilities and feels that the Westgate Center is needed to round out the development of the community.

REVERSE DECISION ON STREETS

Barack To Discuss Plans For West Side

Discussion on recreation facilities will spread to the West Side Thursday night at 8 in the Gladden Community House.

West Side Neighborhood Council originally planned to present to City Recreation Director Nick Barack, scheduled speaker for the meeting, a petition from residents of the Dana-av area asking for a supervised summer playground at the school.

However, the school board has revealed plans to build an addition to the school this summer, eliminating this possibility.

West Siders everywhere are urged by council to attend the meeting and hear Barack's views on the situation.

At a meeting of the council's traffic committee last week the group voted to ask the City Traffic Commission to change Union and Walsh-avs from Central to Ryan back to two-way streets.

The West Side Council had succeeded in getting the commission to change the streets for one-way passage a few weeks ago. However, 16 representatives of that area attended the hearing to protest this action and seek revision of the thoroughfares.

The latest decision stemmed from concern about the difficulty which might arise when center-bound forces were gathering.

Mrs. Glenn Escorted By West's Tom Baird

West High School's Tom Baird has done it again.

He did it for his school paper, the Occident.

This wasn't good enough for him. Last Saturday he journeyed to New Concord, O., ended up shaking hands with Lt. Col. John H. Glenn, Jr., escorted Mrs. John Glenn, Sr., into the gymnasium there and rounded out his day with a pre-press conference chat with NASA spokesman Col. John "Shorty" Powers.

Baird lives at 333 Powhatan-av.

The Mrs. Glenn, Sr. escort was the most startling. Baird didn't realize he was on the business side of the ropes with the famous space pilot's parents.

The elder Mr. Glenn was being escorted by a Marine but Mrs. Glenn had none. She looked at Baird and smiled. Baird took the cue, asked if he could escort her and she said, "certainly."

It sent the West High senior in orbit, even higher than that responsible for the New Concord circumstances.

First Steps Taken To Route Buses To Georgian Hts.

The proposed extension of the Mound-st bus service to the Holly Hill and Georgian Heights subdivisions has been tentatively set for early May.

The first step was taken last week in a verbal agreement in the offices of City Utilities Director Howard Johnson.

The extension will be on a 30-day trial basis before it becomes permanent, Columbus Transit officials said. The Mound-st bus now ends its run at Westgate Manor. The new addition will take the route west on Eakin-rd to Holly Hill-rd, south to Sexton-dr, west to Augusta-av, north to Atlanta-dr and west to Georgesville-rd. The return trip will use Scriven-av instead of Augusta.

Company officials estimate that this will add about 115 miles a day to the present route.

The red tape involved in getting the route started is complex from the bus company's point of view, according to Ed Pellisier, president. After requesting in writing Johnson's permission to add the route, the company must make out a schedule that insures the present service of the regular Mound-st bus. Secondly, these runs must be posted. Third, the union must be notified. Fourth, the posted runs must be bid upon by the drivers. Fifth, the schedule must be advertised. Sixth, there must be an assignment of men and equipment.

Pancake Day Comin' Up Sunday

Job-Seeker Seen As Complex Of Problems By OSES Staff

LAST OF SERIES

BY JOHN AUBLE, JR.

The average job-seeker is a complex of problems.

One of the major tasks faced by the Ohio State Employment Service is to design and re-design its program to make John Q. Out-of-Work's problem a little less complex.

It's not an easy job but, according to Ralph E. Gabele, local manager, the process of finding work for those who want it is in a constant whirl of revamping, re-designing, re-developing and re-organization.

The OSES staff is taking a positive attitude toward the problem of jobless people in this state and, particularly, in Franklin County.

For instance, they're trying to get away from the public image that it's an "unemployment office." They like, instead, for it to be known as an "employment service office."

It's not a simple matter, finding work for thousands. Coordination must be worked out between local employers and local workers. Then, it's broken down into skilled and unskilled and, finally, into those who need training, and how much and how to administer it.

At present, Gabele reports that there are 57 workers stationed in the industrial and service office on Cleveland-av. There are 29 additional workers in the clerical, professional and sales office downtown at 74 E. Gay-st.

On top of this, the OSES is aiding training schools—recently one for maids at the School of Practical Nursing and one for maids and housemen at Central High School—to give training needed to fill certain occupations.

It's a big job. A job that takes, probably above everything else, coordination.

The many arms of the OSES have to be drawn together constantly to keep procedures running smoothly—to cut down the length of time it takes between layoff and re-establishment on payroll.

"We hear many reasons for unemployment," said Gabele. "Automation, business consolidation, lack of education, general economic conditions and the welfare state. The rea-

Jaycees Seeking Miss Central Ohio

Local girls are being offered an opportunity for fame and fortune through proper guidance in building a successful career by participating in the Miss Central Ohio Pageant in Columbus May 26.

The contest, a preliminary elimination leading to the selection of Miss America for 1962, will find 15 girls competing for the title and a chance to enter the Miss Ohio eliminations in Mansfield this July.

These girls will be chosen from entries received from Franklin, Madison, Pickaway and Fayette counties.

Candidates for Miss Central Ohio must be a resident of one of the four counties for the past six months. This rule is only waived for contestants whose residence is out of the city or state, but who is a college or university student in Columbus.

She must not have competed in more than one official preliminary contest this year.

Entrant must be single and never have been married, divorced or had a marriage annulled.

She must be a high school graduate by September of this year.

Entrant's age on Sept. 1 must be at least 18 and not more than 28.

She must be of good character and possess poise, personality intelligence, charm and beauty of face and figure.

Entrant must display a three minute talent routine or give a three-minute talk on the career she wishes to pursue.

She may be either amateur or professional.

Entry forms may be obtained from the Grove City Jaycees, Box 65, Grove City. All entrants are to send a recent 5" by 7" photograph when returning their applications.

High Schools Named For CU 'Congress'

Nearly 1000 students from 40 Ohio schools will shoulder the problems of the U.S. Congress Saturday, Mar. 31, in the Capital University Political Science Club's federal legislature project.

The high schoolers will assume roles as government officials and observers.

Each high school will represent at least one state, with delegations apportioned according to the 86th Congress.

Party caucuses will be Mar. 30.

Saturday's activities will center around sessions of the Senate and House. Student legislators will also participate in committee meetings and governors will meet in conference.

Participating high schools in the Hartley Newspapers area are: Ashville, Bexley, Academy, Bishop Hartley, Central, East, Eastmoor, Linden McKinley, North, Rosary, St. Charles, St. Joseph, South, University, Delphos St. John, Dublin, Franklin Heights, Gahanna Lincoln, Hilliard and West Jefferson.

County Collects Fees In Error

A $5 license fee was collected by mistake by the county Feb. 26 and 27 from haulers using the city's McKinley-av dump. The purchasers will obtain refunds, according to A. P. Harness, Jr., chief of the county sanitation engineering division.

The incident occurred because the county is carefully scrutinizing haulers who pick up refuse within the county's district. This district is primarily located in the southeast and includes some city annexed areas. The fee is solely for the district.

However, private haulers who bought city licenses were erroneously told by a county spokesman that they needed the county license because they use a part of McKinley-av which is in the county, on the way to the city dump. Harness said that his spokesman was in error.

Korean War ended July 27, 1953.

Showdown—

Mrs. Virginia Berger (phone BR. 6-1469) is currently acting as a coordinator for the group.

Robert Frakes, Community Council president, said the thing will be threshed out again in tomorrow night's (Mar. 8) meeting at the YMCA. Discussion will follow a previously arranged talk by a city planner.

"As early as last January many of our members, through their organizations, wrote the Recreation Commission and urged that the Hilltop be given first priority for one of three new centers to be built," Frakes said. "And this they did, thanks to the assistance of the mayor."

Mayor Takes Floor

Westlake last Monday took the floor in the committee session and declared, "This is just the type of facility the people on the Hill have been dreaming of and planning for as long as I can remember."

The Recreation Commission viewed the park last Wednesday and later confirmed that it hopes to construct a center very similar to the one at Whetstone Park, calling it the "finest in the city." Director Barack said that if Whetstone's plans prepared by Sims, Cornelius and Schooley are followed closely, they would save the city $7,000 to $8,000.

Barack denied that the center would rob the 45-acre park of valuable space. The facility probably will measure 190 by 120 feet, he said.

Commission Views Site

The Recreation Commission last week failed to settle on the "best" site for the center. Richard Lawell, who will succeed Ray Dietz as superintendent of Parks and Forestry, went along to get acquainted with the situation. "From a landscape aspect," he said, "I feel the open space (southeast corner) lends ing, etc. We, of course, have our own staff who can make some good studies and recommendations," he said.

Director Barack said that while the city has "pretty well committed" itself to building the center, council still has the final say. "Frankly," he said, "there are five or six other places where we can spend the money right away. Once Westgate is by-passed it would probably take another bond issue, and that means another possible six years, to attain this thing again

Barack stated that his letters from those who want the center are now outnumbering the opponents "two to one." These include parents, youth organizations, ministers and club workers, he said.

"But," he concluded, "we are not forcing anything on anybody. The people must speak, and council must decide."

sons, however, aren't as important as the solutions."

The OSES staff has to consider, also, demands for certain jobs. To stage a training program for a position that has few openings would be, among other things, a waste of good money.

"We have to be practical," Gabele added. "This is, perhaps, the key word to our operations here. We have to consider all aspects and act with common sense to upgrade operations."

Columbus Situation Better Than Many

Actually, Columbus and, indeed, Ohio are lucky as far as employment is concerned. This area hasn't been hit as hard as, say, West Virginia which has been declared an "emergency"

A good example of lack of diversification in Ohio could be Youngstown. Population there is mainly dependent on the steel industry. When that folds, shuts down or lays off, unemployment takes a sharp turn into the depths.

Not so here. Industry is such is this city that the back-off by any particular organization will not critically affect the unemployment problem.

What's ahead for employers, employes and the community will depend, to a large extent, on employment decisions being made now and in the immediate future.

High earnings mean individual prosperity, profitable business, thriving towns and cities—a nation that leads the world.

That's why employment decisions are everybody's concern.

Statistically speaking, in a recent year, eight million workers changed jobs, two million entered the labor force.. In the next ten years, it is predicted that American businessmen will need people to fill some 12 million new jobs.

Responsibilities Are Outlined

The Federal-State Employment Service system now spreads across the nation in a vast network of 1800 offices. They all provide flexibility to carry out the following missions: 1. Recruit, interview and screen applicants; 2. Analyze jobs, prepare specifications and job descriptions; 3. Develop job openings, service employer accounts; 4. Gather, analyze and disseminate labor market information; 5. Provide employment counseling, administer aptitude tests and 6. Cooperate with business, labor, educational and professional groups.

The OSES also makes recommendations to public schools who, in turn, develop courses of instruction for training students for positions where job demands are the greatest.

They say you can't teach an old dog new tricks. Consider this: public employment service has been rendering aid for more than a quarter of a century. Ohio is the oldest, being started in 1890. That's a long time. But, they're still learning new "tricks" there. Tricks to help "turn the trick" for the out-of-work.

Valleyview's Council Snowed Out

Many people were snowed in by the heavy storms Monday but Valleyview council members found themselves "snowed out" when they tried to meet.

Officials arrived at the town hall only to find deep drifts blocking the entrance to the low-lying building set back from the street.

Rejecting a wag's proposal to buy an official dog sled the solons postponed consideration of Valleyview business until walkways could be cleared.

In New Rome Council did not meet either. A schedule mixup had the town hall rented to a religious group at the same time village fathers were to convene Monday night.

This meeting was also rescheduled.

driving the sloping hills on the two streets during icy weather and the city's rectification of the Mound-Central underpass drainage which reroutes a great deal of traffic through the area during flooding periods.

The committtee also met with City Traffic Engineer Jack Gallagher to discuss progress relating to the Master Traffic Plan proposals made by the group earlier in the winter.

Four proposals which had been tabled due to strong disagreement between the traffic commission and council were discussed.

• Installation of traffic light at Glenwood and Broad.
• The exclusion of truck traffic from all but main streets on the West Side.
• Installation of a traffic light at Souder and Renick near Sullivant School.
• A request that Souder-av be converted to two-way, south of Sullivant to Mound. Council hopes the city will eliminate the left turn at Mound and Harmon if this is done and reroute Harmon and Sullivant Gardens traffic to Town-st, then south along Souder-av to Mound.

The West Side Council and the City Traffic Commission have failed to come to an agreeable solution for both concerning these four issues.

West Side Council Traffic Committee Chairman Frank Schneider stated there was a possibility that the organization will go directly to City Council with one or more of these requests.

Gallagher also reported that conversion of Town and Richts to one-way, from Starling to Glenwood, would take place in the spring when the streets were clear for painting.

He added that when this goes into effect the other changes asked for by the council such as underpass lighting and traffic lights at Grubb and Davis-sts on Town will be considered.

It was also reported that proposed changes and widening of the Mound-Central intersection was being discussed. No action has been as of yet taken on this issue.

Park Is For All To Use, Proponents Of Westgate Rec Center Remind

To The Editor:

I am a mother of two girls. We live in the Westgate Area. I have been watching with interest the plans for the new recreation center for Westgate Park. I understand that the residents living adjacent to the park are opposing its construction.

I believe that Westgate and in fact the whole Hilltop area needs the center desperately. There is absolutely nowhere that the children and teenagers of this area can go for supervised sports, games, crafts, dances, etc., without cost. I think that a site should be picked to which the children can walk, ride bicycles, use the buses as well as using private autos. Westgate Park is the only site with the qualifications. The building should be placed on any side of the park near enough to a street to be well lighted to protect the children from molesters.

I think that the Recreation Department of the City of Columbus should weigh all of the views, all of the possibilities and with their experience place the building in the best position in the park that will harmonize with the present and future recreational facilities.

As to those objecting, I believe that this land is for all to use and not just those who live in the immediate neighborhood. From the reports in the Hilltop Record, it seems as though they feel that the park is an extension of their front lawns, and I have heard that some even resent the children crossing their property.

If you will make a survey of the Westgate area you will find many selfish people who have planted flower beds to the street, placed evergreens, shrubs and hedges on the property that really belongs to the city for the purpose of sidewalks, forcing the children to walk on the curb or in the street. Many corner property owners have even created traffic hazards.

I think that the decision to place or where to place this Recreational Center should not be dominated by such selfish pressure. I think the decision should be made wisely by the Columbus Recreation Department for the best interest of the entire community and for the future generations that will need and use the facility.

Sincerely,
One Interested In The Welfare Of All Children

Regarding the new recreation center for Westgate Park — I was glad to hear of its finally materializing.

I believe these up-to-date facilities will make possible a general expanding of youth services for the Hilltop. A center of this sort will take children off the streets, corners, drug stores, etc. and give them a place to go and something to do, that is organized and supervised, two things that are important in the development of children.

However, I do hope Mr. N. Barack, of the Recreation Commission, will carefully consider the location of the building and not necessarily stick to the 15-year-old survey of the park, which they are at present considering.

There is plenty of space in Westgate Park. There is no reason at all why the building should be made obnoxious to existing church property, or property of private citizens, by literally placing it on top of their property.

Ten of our nearby Hilltop public schools alone have 8,927. There are at least seven more schools I haven't counted that could, I imagine, double this figure.

We must provide for their future now!

Says It's Time To Lift Water-Sewer Freeze

I would like to express my opinion about the policy of the water and sewer freeze adopted by the City of Columbus a number of years ago.

To my understanding the policy was adopted for the purpose of slowing annexation of land to Columbus, and also because of the shortage of water. Since that time Hoover Dam has been built, and annexation has minimized to a point where the supply of water is adequate. So I believe where water and sewer lines are available to properties adjacent to the assessment lines established by Columbus, these taps should be granted.

Septic tanks, small disposal plants, and swallow walls, create unsanitary conditions. So for the benefit of the property owners, tax payers, and also the thousands of dollars which the City of Columbus would collect for these services, I am in favor of lifting the water and sewer freeze.

I have visited several council meetings and have witnessed dozens of property owners being denied this privilege, because of the present policy.

A Denied Property Owner.

SRA Test Blasted As 'Not Legitimate'

A "test" was given the students at a Whitehall school. The "test" (SRA Youth Inventory) contained statements relative to family affairs, family attitudes, family finances, and family housing. This method or system is an attempt at something; one thing it is not—legitimate testing. A legitimate "test" would be relevant to areas of educational concern.

The parents of Whitehall school students oppose the use of any and all material in our schools which contains the seeds of moral decay, material which presents a distorted image of the average parent-child relationship; and parents prefer to discuss and explain some subjects privately — in the home.

A school student in class is not a free agent, and is in effect captive. This places great responsibility upon the teacher and school officials.

Under the circumstances, set forth above, the teacher who imposes upon the child theories, beliefs, and ideas which lie clearly outside the academic areas of concern . . . and who seeks to instruct the child in broad areas of life experience, or seeks to influence and change patriotic principles and religious tenets, learned in the home, knowingly or unknowingly exceeds his delegated authority.

"Whitehall Parent"

Slams Walker Quote

Editor's Note: Following are excerpts of a letter written by a Whitehall resident to Paul L. Walker, 226 N. Ardmore-rd, and sent to Hartley Newspapers for publication. Walker is a member of the State Board of Education.

My Dear Mr. Walker:

I have read an article contained in the recent newspaper publication put out by the Ohio Education Association. This article contains several statements made by you which evidently were included in a report submitted to the State Board of Education after the Feb. 5 public meeting at the Whitehall High School.

This article says that in your report to the State Board you "cast suspicion upon the objectors." To you "they're something like the book burners." They further quote you as saying "I got the personal impression that they were more like a leftist group."

I have never been so shocked in my life! I was at the Feb. 5 meeting. As a matter of fact I spoke in opposition to the "test". I am positively not a "book-burner" and I am positively not a leftist!! You refer to the group and since I was there, I must be included in your reference to the group.

I served three years in the Navy during World War II and I have served five and one half years in the Naval Reserve since that time. I am still in the active reserve. I am an active church member. I vote in the elections. I have supported all bond issues for the Whitehall Schools. I pay taxes to support these schools and I therefore have the privilege and the responsibility to express my opinions as to how the school system is being administered. All of the people who have criticized this SRA Inventory and the use of it in the Whitehall School are first class Americans and I am of the opinion that a public retraction of your statements is past due.

I am quite surprised that a member of the State Board of Education would make such unfounded statements concerning interested parents who feel that they are merely doing their duty as responsible citizens!

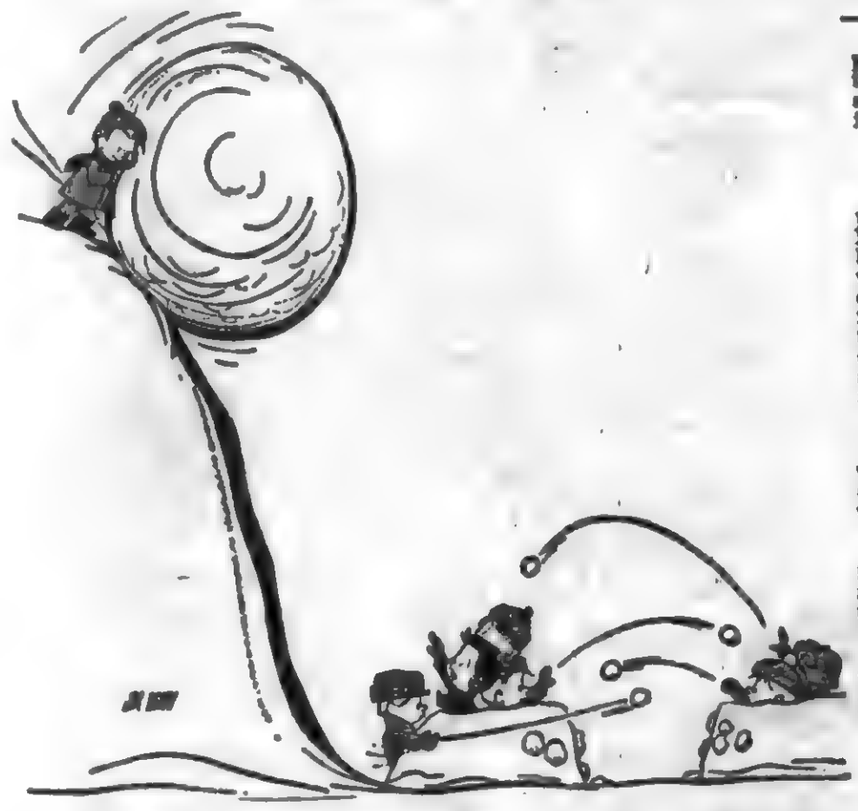
'Better Brave Than Slave!'

"Better Brave Than Slave!" This is Freedom's true answer to all those who have been chanting "Better Red than Dead" — or vice versa. It gives the lie to the notion that free men have no other choice than to be Red or dead.



"Better Brave Than Slave!" are words to keep us from growing paralyzed by talk about the H-bomb. They remind us that life has always been a struggle, that the race is won by the strong and bold and that life on this earth is not meant to be easy or effortless or everlasting.

Perhaps one of the basic troubles today is that many of us have come to believe too literally in our own slogans about "inevitable progress." We think miracle drugs will bring us eternal youth. Similarly, we hope that social and political miracles can make our rivals or enemies go away, and bring us perpetual — and painless — peace and prosperity. We forget that through the ages, such ends have always been won by brave men, acting with faith, energy and imagination. Often just by standing firm they have prevented war.

"Better Brave Than Slave!" These words, I believe, speak to us with the firm voice of history and hope. They speak, too, with the voice of morality, for they affirm the everlasting fact that for free men there are things in life worth fighting for, even dying for. They give us the courage, the manly gift, to stand up and be counted on the side of right, as God gives us to see the right. And in so doing, they unlock for us the greatest of life's secrets, which is this: the minute you know that you are not afraid to die, that is the minute you begin to know how to live.

Crows Among Pluckiest Of Birds; Man Must Learn To Live With Them

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

The first tiny sign of spring came for me about a month ago.

I was giving my beagles some exercise in a muddy cornfield south of here near the Scioto River. Although it was thawing, the early-February scene was desolate and winterish. Then three crows flew into sight, and as they skimmed along barely over the fencerows one of them gave out with a raucous "caw, caw, caw." With the first tentative sounding of this familiar call, everything seemed better. The mud, snow and chill winds could be tolerated a little longer, for spring really would come.

There are more romantic signs of spring — the drip, drip of melting icicle on your eave, a dart of ducks against a morning's sunrise, or the haunting melodies of migrating geese. All of these lift one's morale, but one of the earliest harbingers is the commonplace cawing of the commonplace crow.

Perhaps no bird, except the robin, is so well known in this area as the crow. Nor is any bird so roundly hated. The crow has been called a "black devil" for many years and all the destructive forces of man have been unleashed in his direction. Yet the crow thrives. There are probably more crows in this country now than there were when the Pilgrims landed.

There are two lessons to be learned from crows. The first is that when conditions are right for reproduction and the maintenance of a species, all the control work that man can muster has little effect. Crows are not protected during any season and those that have been killed with firearms, poison and dynamite are unnumbered millions. But at this season of the year you see crows in almost every field, trading back and forth from one woodlot to another looking for nest sites and going about whatever business that crows have.

The other lesson is that crows are adaptable and as conditions change they change with them. This is the reason for their survival success. If man destroys himself with nuclear weapons, crows will probably still be flopping around cawing to each other.

Game Birds To Some

Crows are definitely not all bad. To some hunters they are game birds and provide as much outdoor sport for this select group of shooters as pheasants or quail. There are no seasons or bag limits to worry about, and once you have hunted this wary bird you will become an addict. The only thing that will limit your enthusiasm will be the number of shotgun shells you can afford to buy — shooting can be fast and furious.

The crow haters always point to the diet of this bird, but here again he is not as black as he looks. Sure they eat eggs and nestlings of songbirds, destroy waterfowl nests and the like. Last spring a mourning dove had its nest within watching distance of our living room. We loked forward to the day when we could see the nestling. Then, one afternoon right before our eyes a crow dive-bombed the nest, drove off the dove and departed with an egg in its beak. The dove never returned to the nest.

While the destructive habits of crows are widely known, their diet is also beneficial to man. One report lists 72 per cent vegetable matter in the crow's menu, most of it corn. In the animal material eaten are grasshoppers, crickets, beetles, cutworms and catepillars along with the eggs and young of birds. The same crow that will pull up corn and rob a nest will also eat a lot of insect pests.

Crows are a familiar and necessary part of the outdoors, and I would hate to do without them. Even if you do not like them you had better learn to live with crows—they have learned to live with us and are here to stay.

Suggestions Given For Buying Frozen Foods

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — oranges, grapefruit, apples.

Protein Foods — frozen fish, chuck roasts, pork roasts, fryers, large eggs, cheese.

The beginning of Lent will mean temporary changes in food buying and eating habits for many families as they adjust to meatless meals. Fish and shellfish products will likely be on your shopping lists quite often. Since fresh fish are not too plentiful in our markets, you'll find the frozen ones are often better buys. Here are some tips for selecting them.

Mrs. Franks

First, if you haven't visited the frozen fish department of your store lately, take time to get acquainted with the wide variety of kinds and forms available, and the wide range of prices. You'll find them frozen whole, as fillets, steaks, pieces, as sticks or portions. Many shellfish are there too, including frozen shrimp, lobster, crab, scallops and oysters.

You'll notice the items come in several stages of preparation — fresh frozen, ready-to-cook, breaded ready-to-cook and ready-to-heat and serve. And for utmost convenience, there are a number of frozen prepared dinners and main dishes featuring fish and shellfish. Prices vary a great deal depending on the kind, the form and the packaging.

Guides To Buying

Frozen fish should be solidly frozen when bought, with no discoloration of the flesh. Good quality frozen fish has little or no odor. These guides can be used when the fish are not wrapped or are in a transparent wrapper.

However, much of our frozen fish is retailed in packages that do not permit visual inspection of the product. For these products look for the following information on the label:

• Grade — Official grade standards have been set for a limited number of important fish products. These include fried fish sticks, fillets of cod, haddock and ocean perch, halibut steaks and raw breaded shrimp. The three official grades for these items are U.S. Grade A, U.S. Grade B and Substandard.

• Inspection — Fish products can be packed under continuous inspection of the Department of Interior. Such products are so labeled, indicating the product was found wholesome and packed under approved conditions.

• Net Weight and the extent of pre-preparation. This along with retail price, is the information needed to make cost per serving comparisons. Remember that for breaded products, the net weight includes the weight of the breaded materials. And the proportions of fish and breading may vary a great deal.

To retain their quality, frozen fish should be displayed at zero (check the thermometer on the case). Also the cases should not be filled above the indicated fill-line. Marketing Information for Consumers - Franklin County Cooperative Extension Service.

TOURNEY TRAIL

East Dumps Central; Cowboys Still Going

Central's seeded Pirates were tumbled Saturday night in Class AA tourney action at the Fairgrounds by East but the word is still "go" for West's Cowboys under Fred Heischman after a win over Big Walnut, 72-60.

West was knocked out of the quarter-final spot last year by powerful Central and, at press time, Heischman was looking for a win Tuesday night over East.

Going on the shaky presumption that Newark takes Watterson Tuesday and West beats East, it'll mean a Newark-West showdown for the title.

Commenting on this, Heischman said, "East's a good ball team but they have their ups and downs, good and bad games. I hope we get them on a bad one."

West's star Saturday night in the win was its lanky pivot man, Dwight Newman. "It was his greatest game of the season," said Heischman.

Newman won an individual scoring duel with Big Walnut's John Feasel, finishing with 24, Feasel firing in 23.

"Walnut shot well," added Heischman, "but we had a slight height advantage. Our boys shot about 40 per cent, which is pretty good."

East Win

Central's stilts were knocked out from under them at the start. The Bucs started the game fast by scoring 20 points in the first quarter.

Tom Fullove and George Gilchrist pestered the Tigers into a six-point lead in the first period.

The Pirates were up by one point at halftime by hitting 12 field goals to nine for East. East stayed close though, by converting seven free throws.

East came on strong in the third quarter with three baskets in a minute and a half. Central retaliated and went ahead 36-35 on a shot by Dave Roberts.

But East, with an advantage in height, gathered in an eight-point margin and managed to keep it to avenge two previous losses by their opponents.

The Pirates were led by Fullove with 17 points, Roberts and Gilchrist eight apiece, and Terry Taylor seven. This game ended the downtown school's successful 15-5 season.

Glenwood Methodist In Play-Off Win

The Glenwood Methodist cagers, representing the Hilltop Branch, won the YMCA Southwest District Junior Church play-off Saturday, Mar. 3, by defeating the Shiloh Baptist team (Spring Street "Y" representatives) 74-53.

By winning this game the Glenwood squad will move on to the Area play-offs at the Ohio-West Virginia Area Sports Festival on Mar. 17.

This is the first team to represent the Hilltop YMCA in the Sports Festival. Once there, the Glenwood team will meet the Northeast champion. The winner of that game will play the winner of the Northwest-Southeast District champions for the Sports Festival Division Championship.

For the Glenwood cagers, Fredendall played a very fine game both defensively by scoring 22 points to head his team with high point honors.

Pennington followed his teammate with 20; Ruffner with 16; Kreig with 6; Doyle with 6 and Lamp with 2. For the Shiloh Baptist squad, Fuller scored 22 points to lead his team and Homes came second with 20. Clark tallied five and Ross, White, Riley all scored 2 apiece.

GREAT AS MILDRED?

Karen Kellogg Seen As Lady Wrestling Champ By Wolfe . . .

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.
Hartley Sports Editor

A South Side resident, who invented female wrestling, revealed this week that an 18-year-old lass will be the next champion of the world.

And, he should know.

Billy Wolfe, who's now living at 465 S. High-st in the Park Hotel, was the first man in this country to come up with the idea of putting the gals in the ring.

He says his products are all on the level—no phonies in this wrestling game when much of this so-called "sport" is turned thumbs-down by critics.

About Miss Kellogg (that's her real name, incidentally):

She's an unmistakably attractive blue-eyed blond weighing 118 pounds and was born and raised in Charles City, Iowa.

"I've always enjoyed athletics," Miss Kellogg smiled during an interview last week. "Even in high school I was always the 'sportsman.'"

Don't make an mistake. Karen is no muscle-bound idiot, by a long shot. Her graceful figure will convince you.

And Wolfe? Well, he's all smiles over the whole thing.

"Karen is dazzling fast, very strong and she has learned the finer points of the sport faster than any girl I've ever developed with the possible exception of my famous all-time champion, the great Mildred Burke," said Wolfe, who started the business 25 years ago.

That's some recommendation, especially if you're familiar with the activities of Mildred.

Actually, Karen's father may be credited with an assist if his daughter makes as big a name for herself as Billy thinks she will.

"He financed my training on the condition that I'd pay him back when I earn enough in my new career" she said.

How did her big interest begin? She tells it this way:

"I'm the oldest of five children and a high school graduate," she said. "My parents wanted me to study at an Iowa business school to prepare myself for a secretarial career. But, when we bought a television set and I saw a few girl wrestling bouts, I wouldn't hear of any career but that of a processional wrestler."

"There isn't a woman within 50 pounds of her weight who can pin her," said Wolfe. "They'll be calling her another Mildred Burke . . . I'm sure of that."

So that's the story. A small midwestern town lass is making a bid for the big time. Something tells me she'll make it—if enthusiasm counts anything.

BILLY WOLFE, the South Side resident who claims he invented female wrestling or, at least, put it on the sports world map, is seen with 20-year-old Karen Kellogg who, he says, is a cinch for the world's championship.

Y Schedule

In the South Section "A" League, the John Burroughs Hawks scored a surprising victory over the league leading Georgian Heights Rebels, 21-16. Jerry Snyder led the Hawks with 12 points as did Mark Carney for the Rebels. In the same afternoon, the Binns "A" team Bombers scored their first victory of the season by defeating the Eakin Road Panthers, 19-9. It was the third loss for the Panthers.

In the North Section "A" League, the Westgate Wildcats won their third straight game to remain in the first place slot by downing the North Franklin Comets, 14-9. John Horky led the Wildcats with four points. Jerry Wright, with four points also, led the Comets. The second game saw the Highland Trotters beat the Prairie-Lincoln Eagles, 20-15.

The "B" League in the South Section saw the Eakin Road Panthers lose its first place reign by forfeiting to the Binns Bombers, which enabled the Bombers to secure first place thus far in league play. The John Burroughs Hawks "B" team scored its first victory of the season by defeating the Rebels from Georgian Heights in a 19-17 thriller.

In the "B" league play in the North Section, the North Franklin Comets dropped their game to the Westgate Wildcats, 16-9.

The second game of the afternoon became the Highland Trotters' second win with no losses. The Trotters defeated the Prairie-Lincoln Eagles, 20-7. Victor Burton led the Trotters with 12 points, and Bob Kent led the Eagles with five.

How Long Will Your Tires Last? One Year? Two Years? 10 Years?

When you buy tires — regardless of what you pay — no time guarantee is ever given against wear. One motorist may cover 25,000 miles in a year; another half that many. We once knew a motorist who, ten years after purchasing his car, was still using the original tires. But, he had driven only 14,000 careful miles during that time.

However, we know a lot more about carpeting wear than about tires. But we do have one thing in common with the tire dealer. We — and other honest rug merchants — do not guarantee carpeting in terms of years. Wear? Yes! Years? No! Beware of the carpet dealer who does, for he cannot honestly tell what traffic the rug may be called upon to bear.

CAREER GIRL
"A Stouffer Girl is a career girl in my book—I wouldn't want to do anything else. Let me list the things I've come to appreciate since coming to Stouffer's five years ago: good food daily, uniforms furnished and laundered, money saved on clothes, and benefits . . . I like the hours too, because I can sleep late. Also, the people I work with are grand."

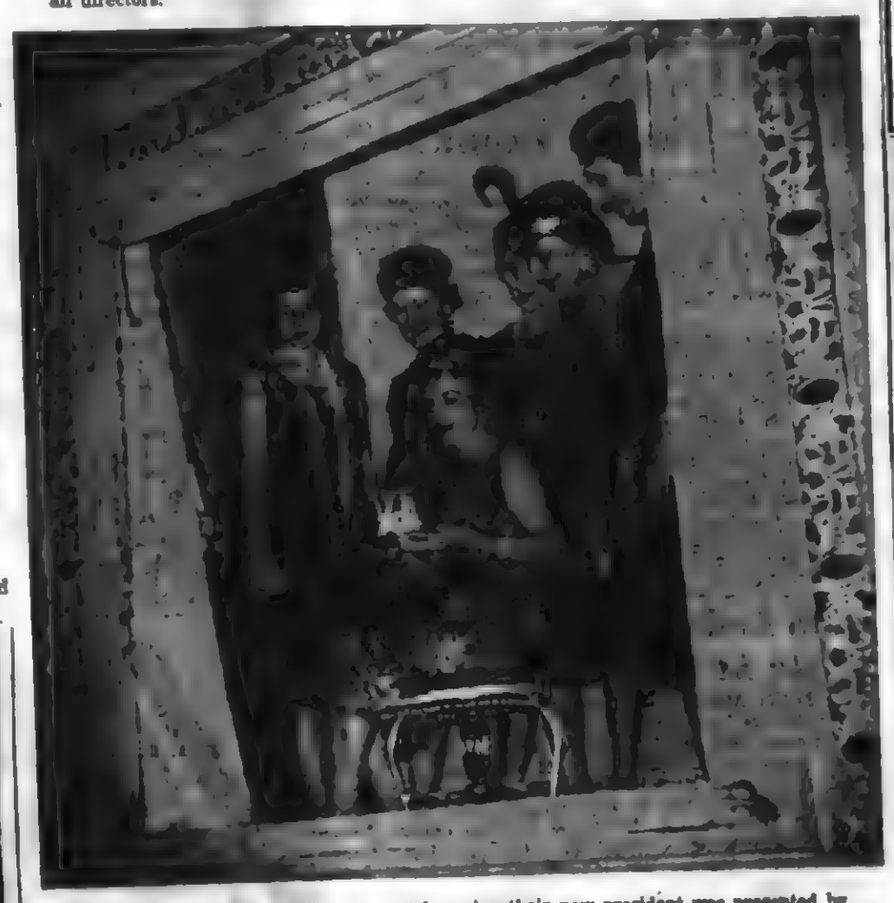
PRESCRIPTION SHOES

Last Wednesday we made a special trip to Cincinnati, to observe the forming of a new association called the Ohio Valley Prescription Footwear Applicators. This is group of Southern Ohio shoe men who deal in the special fitting of functional footwear. We were there as specially invited observers, with the idea that we will eventually form a Central Ohio branch.



In many states you must be licensed to shoe horses but you don't have to know a thing to shoe humans. It is our hope that the men who supply special shoes and who fill shoe prescriptions for the medical profession will have some sort of recognition similar to that of the Pharmacist. There is now a school for this purpose in Indiana at the Ball State Teachers College and I, for one, intend to be enrolled in the next course which will be given in June.

CELEBRATION IS MARCH 17

Shamrock Club Activity Highlights Saint Patrick's Day In Columbus

Plans for the observance of St. Patrick's Day, Mar. 17, are in high gear and members of the Shamrock Club are anticipating a big celebration for wearing of the green.

The Shamrock Club was organized in 1936 by 35 charter members to commemorate the life of St. Patrick, patron saint of Ireland, and cherish the ideals of the Irish. The organization has grown to an enrollment of 1100.

The celebration will start with a colorful procession at 8:15 a.m. from the Catholic Center to historic St. Patrick's Church.

One of the features of the procession will be the marching members of the police and fire departments of which Rev. Lawrence J. O'Connor, assistant pastor of St. Joseph Cathedral, is chaplain.

After it arrives at the church, Rev. Clarence G. Issenmann, D.D., Bishop of the Columbus Diocese, will preside at a Pontifical High Mass. Father James T. McKenna, pastor of St. Patrick's, will be celebrant and Monsignor Lawrence J. Corcoran, director of Catholic Charities, will preach. Services will begin at 9:30. Holy Communion will be offered.

Following the service breakfast will be served at the Deshler-Hilton Hotel. Rev. Raymond E. LaVelle, professor at Bishop Hartley High School will be the principal speaker and Dan F. Cannon, a former president of the Shamrock Club, will be toastmaster.

A program of Irish music and dances will be given by the County Corkers and The Stepdancers. The Shamrock Choral group also will appear. The choral group has appeared numerous times at homes for the aged and school benefit dances.

Larry Corcoran is publicity chairman of the club and Joseph A. Murphy heads the membership committee.

President John Quincy Adams was born July 11, 1767.

Avondale Launches Crusade

Avondale Evangelical United Brethren Church is engaged in a Lenten Crusade, starting Ash Wednesday with a family night supper and concluding with four services Easter Sunday morning.

Every member has been assigned to a team bearing the name of the four Gospels — Matthew, Mark, Luke and John. Teams stress faithful attendance, personal evangelism, stewardship commitment and Christian fellowship witness and outreach.

Cooperating in the project with the church are Church School classes and all auxiliary organizations.

Wednesday night public worship services will be conducted at 7:30 with Rev. Robert Duffy, Dr. C. M. Bowman, Rev. William Snider, Mrs. Roscoe Wagner and Mrs. Lorena Caldwell as guest speakers.

A missionary sound film, "The World on Fire," and an illustrated colored lecture on the Holy Land and the Passion Play, features the mid-week services.

Various age groups and departments of the church will direct these services, followed by a fellowship period in the social room.

Each Sunday at 9 a.m. the Church School will engage in a rally effort under the direction of Floyd Stoll, general superintendent.

The pastor, Rev. Carl L. Wilson, will deliver a Lenten sermon series at 10:30 a.m., from the general theme, "Christ." On subsequent Sundays the minister will discuss Christ, the Foundation, the Advocate, the Refiner, the Physician and the King.

The GIRL SCOUT DISTRICT DIARY

Mrs. James W. Whalen — Ohio Trefoil Council

NEWS OF HAZELWOOD NEIGHBORHOOD

The program opened with a song fest led by Mrs. Campbell Warren, district chairman, which was followed by Troop 179 presenting the flag ceremony.

In celebration of the 50th year of Girl Scouting in the U.S., Troops 548 and 494 presented a style show with the theme, "Honor the Past and Serve the Future". The first uniform, circa 1912, was shown as well as others depicting the subsequent years of scouting.

Happy Birthday was sung by all as the girls presented their "Dimes for Daisy" at the birthday cake.

"Girl Scouts from Other Lands" was introduced, consisting of a skit, song or dance from another country. This included the following countries and troops:

Holland—Troops 451 and 578; France — Troop 203; Turkey—Troops 179 and 1116; Italy—Troops 965 and 35; Japan—Troops 869 and 209; Mexico—Troops 206 and 1114; Ireland—Troops 215 and 459; Denmark—Troops 73, 477, and 645.

"Styles Created Through Participation in Girl Scout Programming", was presented by Troops 548 and 494. The girls wore outfits they had made from working on their achievements at various levels in scouting.

BUSINESS REVIEW

Retired Phone Operator Feted

The Columbus Chapter of the National Management Association honored Miss Emily Bevins of 31½ W. Rich-st, at a dinner meeting, Feb. 27 in Fort Hayes Hotel.

A certificate of achievement was awarded to Miss Bevins by Earl Wright, first vice president of the organization, in recognition of her outstanding work record, her love of people and exemplary manner in which she has conducted the business call at the State Office Building for the past 19 years.

She has been known as Operator 3, and won many friends through her courteous handling of their calls, Wright said. Miss Bevins has just recently retired from active employment.

Hansgen Furniture Occupies Whole Corner

Hansgen Furniture and Upholstering Co. is now occupying the entire corner of 960 W. Broad-st. The firm, which has been at the location for 15 years, has acquired the storeroom of the former Snyder Hardware Co., giving it larger accommodations and the complete corner.

Glen F. Hansgen, owner and manager, has been an upholsterer since 1928. He is assisted by his son, Donald, who grew up in the upholstering business.

According to Hansgen, the accumulated experience of his personnel totals more than 200 years.

The company, in addition to furniture, carries a wide variety of patterns and fabrics from which to choose. There are patterns to match any decor.

Hansgen's also carries a complete line of hardware, with pick-up and delivery service provided. The business has been expanded to include Dean and Barry paints.

Glenwood—

ing chairman who is also in charge of music, said Glenwood is spending $16,000 to have the instrument moved, repaired and expanded. He said the "swell" and "great" sections are being divided and will now flank the choir. A number of new pipes, chambers and other tonal changes are being made to adapt it to the bigger auditorium.

"We never know just how new installations are going to sound," said the Brandt Co. president. "It always takes some time to regulate them."

The Clyde Moores of 240 Binns-blvd (she's the church organist) pointed out that the Glenwood instrument cost about $5,000 when new. According to Brandt, the parts alone would cost about $30,000 today.

He had other interesting data: The organ, he said, was manufactured in Marietta in a plant which later was wiped out in the flood of 1913. It boasts about 1,300 pipes ranging in size from 18 feet down to the size of a pencil. These are actuated by two keyboards and the pedal controls.

What is done when a pipe organ is repaired? "We must remove and replace the leathers (sheepskin bellows) which in some cases are as thin as writing paper," said Brandt. "Glued in place, they usually last 25 to 35 years."

Brandt said he keeps eight employes busy in his business of servicing and repairing some 200 organs in churches and universities. "We are very happy with this shop," he continued. "We stumbled onto it about five years ago and it seems ideally suited to our work. It has a high skylight and an unobstructed hall.

And, looking at it philosophically, it seems only right that if a church has to be abandoned its second best use would be to help perpetuate the "celestial music" of other churches.

Cape Cod Canal was opened July 29, 1914.

Rodenfels Speaks For 'Chevy' Men

At the regional meeting in Cincinnati, Rodenfels was also elected to represent the region at the national committee meeting in Detroit, Apr. 10-11-12th.

A Hilltop man was robbed last week while he was working at a gas station on Cleveland-av.

Bobbie Borders, 27, of 1628 Walsh-av, said two men, one armed with a revolver walked into the station, flashed the gun and took all the money he had in his pockets.

The pair ordered Borders into a restroom and then fled.

Your Youth

By Hilltop YMCA Staff

The Gra-Y clubs are getting set for the last couple of games in their basketball leagues and with the closing of the season the boys are looking forward to the big basketball festival at Westmoor Mar. 27. The all-stars from both Gra-Y divisions will be chosen this week in all the clubs. The clubs are also looking forward to the Tall Tale Contest to be held Mar. 26. The Gra-Y Talent Show will be held Apr. 23. The Hilltop Y's Men's Club is starting preparations for the annual Gra-Y Relays.

The junior high dances are starting off with a bang this week when the new Youth Council hopes for a big turnout at their first dance Friday, Mar. 9.

Decorations will be adorning the Y's dancing room with the hope of adding some atmosphere. The Youth Council agreed to allow each YMCA or YWCA member to bring one guest to only the first dance. They further said that the members would be responsible for their guests.

Junior and Senior Hi-Y's are going to be very active this month. The Junior's are planning to hold a public Lenten service at the "Y" on Mar. 20 and all are invited. Both Junior and Senior Hi-Y's are going to enter into swim meets that will be held at the downtown YMCA. The older boys are getting government-minded and plan to take over the city Apr. 11. The West Club is fortunate in having the office of mayor this year. Glenn Rohrer will fill that position on Hi-Y City Day. Rink Finke and Bill Johannes will represent West in the "Youth in Government" weekend in our state capitol.

The Youth Coin Club, which meets every other Monday, was happy to see their officers' picture in the national paper, Coin World. The officers are Jim Von Ins, president; Steve Brown, vice-president, and Sherry Jones, secretary. For obvious reasons there is no treasurer. The Adult Coin Club, which meets on Thursday, is looking for new members, so if you have an interest in coins just come over at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

City Council Nods Approval Of Westgate Center

VISIONS OF A NEW RECREATION CENTER WERE STRONG WHEN THIS PICTURE WAS SNAPPED

PETITIONER Mrs. A. O. Hall delivered to City Council 4099 signatures asking for the center. The effort was sparked by Hilltop Community Council. Gerald Willey, committeeman, is also pictured.

Site Selection, Bids Expected To Proceed In Next Few Weeks

The people were heard—the mayor and council acted—and today the Columbus Recreation Department has the document it needs to allow it to proceed with a $400,000 recreation center for Westgate Park.

Ordinance No. 326 was like a basketball in tournament play last Monday night as 200 Hilltoppers packed into City Hall, and cheered each time the "for" and "against" factions made their points.

[illegible] campaigning, especially on the part of Hilltop Community Council, won a 6 to 0 affirmative vote from council. Mayor Westlake gave the ordinance to hire an architect his immediate approval.

Three Groups Represented

Tuesday afternoon Recreation Superintendent N. J. Barack said a site selection committee will proceed with its work. They represent the Recreation Commisison, the Parks and Forestry Division, and the architects. The city plans to duplicate here as nearly as possible the Whetstone Recreation Center located at 3923 N. High-st.

"After some minor revisions to the plans we will be ready to advertise for contractors," Barack said.

In a display of sportsmanship following Monday's council session, P.G. "Pete" Block, spokesman for the opposition said: "We lost our fight, that's all . . . now it is time for us to close ranks."

Block, himself a father of two teenagers, has long assisted in the city's recreation program, especially at Westgate Park. He said he represents the feelings of most of the residents who live around the park. Block said his group definitely is not against building a new center on the Hilltop. "We simply believe that Westgate Park has enough facilities and that it will spoil the park to place a center there."

"But, now that it's decided," he continued, "we've got to get behind it and give it our best. Our people must insist that Westgate Recreation Center will get the best possible supervision and support."

Block's words reflected the some composure that marked a meeting of Hilltop Community Council several days earlier. It was there that the issues were firmly stated. President Robert Frakes declared that HCC was "going after" the center and Mrs. Arthur O. Hall outlined the strategy.

The proponents mustered support swiftly after a delegation of Westgate Park area residents took a petition of 223 signatures to City Council, Mar. 5. The move also caught councilmen somewhat by surprise. The project had been on the Capital Improvements Budget every year since 1947 and drew few objectors. Council agreed to table the ordinance a week to allow the other side a chance to speak.

The delegation brought more speakers than time allowed, a petition of 4,099 names, a Girl Scout troop, schoolboys, and endorsements from Hilltop Kiwan-

Lazarus West Groundbreak Monday Signals Start Of Store

Store President Charles Y. Lazarus turned the first shovel of earth at 4 p.m. Monday for the first branch of the Columbus department store bearing his name. To be ready for business this August, the store — called Lazarus West — is located next to Nationwide Inn at the corner of Georgesville-rd and West Broad-st.

Participating in the groundbreaking with Lazarus was the new store's manager, John M. Sesler; John Jones, Lazarus store architect, and representatives of Tibbals, Crumley and Musser, architects.

Lazarus West is described as a "fashion convenience store to be completely stocked with popularly-priced apparel, accessories and shoes for men, women, and children plus radios, TV sets, bedding, housewares, toys, appliances, garden supplies in season, records, drugs, rugs, sporting goods, curtains, yard goods and cameras."

The one-story, 80,000 square foot store will be located in about the center of a 15-acre site adjacent to the west side of the Nationwide Inn, with access from both Broad-st and Georgesville-rd.

The store will be surrounded by a parking area to accommodate 1,000 cars at one time.

The entire store will be surrounded by landscaping.

All services and policies of the Lazarus downtown store will apply to the new branch, the management stated.

Hilltop Branch Library To Expand This Year

Hilltop Branch Library, "reading-est" of the 13 branches of the Columbus Public Library, will by next fall become the largest in terms of floor space, too.

The library board of trustees Mar. 6, approved final plans for a 30-ft. extension behind the present building and running the full 74 feet width. The addition, which will add 2,220 square feet to the existing 3,266 square feet of floor space, will make Hilltop the largest in size and book capacity of the branches.

Specifications call for completion of installation of new year-round gas air conditioning, to replace the current heating plant, by early autumn. Deadline for completion of the entire enlargement project is Nov. 1.

In 1961, Hilltop Branch loaned 204,493 books—about 6,000 more than the main library — while its shelves could accommodate only 26,000 volumes, making its book collection third among the branches.

Was First Branch

It is interesting to note that Hilltop Branch, opened in 1950, was the first branch building constructed by the Columbus Public Library system and now becomes the first such branch building to be enlarged. It had been expected that the opening of Hilltonia Branch on W. Mound-st in January 1959 and another leased branch in Hilliard in October of 1960 would tend to lessen the patronage of Hilltop Branch.

"This has definitely not been the case," a library system spokesman declared. "There was a slump in book loans for a few months only at the Hilltop branch. Since then patronage and circulation have climbed steadily upward."

Red brick, matching the present building, will be used in the construction of the new addition. It will have a 12-foot interior ceiling and permit the setting aside of a 16x20 foot area with folding doors for use as a story hour room.

Among other features in the plans, prepared by Benham, Richards and Armstrong, architects, are four plastic skydomes in the addition and six matching light fixtures.

The library board will advertise for bids on the branch enlargement, Mar. 17 and 24. Sealed bids will be opened by a board committee Apr. 11.

A HUGE CROSS of Cordova limestone is part of the end wall over the altar, also fashioned of a solid block of the same material, in the new Glenwood Methodist Church. Laminated wooden arches rising to 40 feet lend a cathedral air to the sanctuary. The half-million-dollar church will be consecrated Sunday.

Glenwood Consecration Service Planned Sunday

The consecration of Glenwood Methodist Church, N. Hague-av and Valleyview-dr, Sunday at 10:30 a.m. will mark the completion of a building project started one year ago to the day.

Since that March day in 1961 when the congregation assembled in what had but recently been a cornfield and tugged on a long rope which pulled a plow to break the ground, there has arisen a modern church in brick, steel, concrete and wood on the brow of the hill overlooking Dry Run.

Bishop Hazen G. Werner of the Ohio Area Methodist Conference will preach and conduct the service of consecration for the half-million-dollar edifice.

Present also will be Dr. Louis R. Wolter, district superintendent, and many other church officials.

Rev. Warren H. Bright is pastor of Glenwood Methodist Church and Rev. James Dunaway assistant pastor.

The church building, facing the west, is surrounded by 11 acres of ground. Part is paved for parking areas and some will be maintained in its natural wooded state.

The sanctuary, 165 feet long, has a seating capacity of 700.

On either side of the wide center aisle, extending to the altar, are oak benches wih walnut wood ends.

The altar itself is a solid block of Cordova limestone, six feet long by three feet high

One of the outstanding artistic features of the new Glenwood Methodist Church, Valleyview at N. Hague-av, is the large stained glass window near the front entrance. It was created and installed by Franklin Art Glass Co., 214 Oak-st, the oldest established studio in Ohio exclusively handling church windows. James Helf, owner and manager of the business, comes from three generations of stained glass artists. His great-grandfather started in Cincinnati and in 1924 his father founded the present Columbus firm.

The art of making stained glass windows is one of the few remaining hand crafts which has not succumbed to automation. Although the styles and designs have changed, the basic techniques in working the glass have not. Helf works in cooperation with the architects on the style and design of the windows to assure they enhance the over-all theme.

The Northwest Chapel of Schoedinger Funeral Home has six stained glass windows, including one of the largest in Columbus. This window is 6½ feet wide by 18 feet tall. Some of the recent examples of his craft in this area are the Westgate Evangelical United Brethren, Hillcrest, Bethlehem Lutheran, Boulevard Presbyterian, St. Agnes Catholic, and St John's Lutheran Churches.

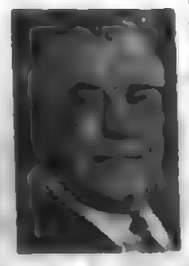
4 Hilltop Cadets Initiated Into Pershing Rifles

Four Hilltop men have been initiated into the Pershing Rifles, national military society. The cadets are in the Reserve Officers' Training Corps at Ohio State University.

They are Danny L. Predmore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman L. Predmore of 3217 S. Stephen-dr; Russell F. Marx, son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Marx of 836 Stephen-dr W.; Thomas Albert McGill, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. McGill of 769 S. Hague-av; Joseph Garnet Everson, son of Rev. and Mrs. Sydney Everson of 3179 Wicklow-rd.

The Pershing Rifles has companies at nearly every ROTC installation in the United States. The purpose of the organization is to provide supplementary military activity for the student as well as to serve the university. Pershing Rifle Units also provide some of the nation's top drill teams.



Traffic Victim Is Listed 'Good'

Jeffrey Lee Liston, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Liston, 985 W. Town-st, is in "good" condition at Children's Hospital with injuries received Saturday when he was struck by a car.

According to police, the boy was struck by an auto driven by William P. Musson, 40, of 965 E. Broad-st, at Town-st and Hawkes-av, across from Gladden Community Center. The driver was not cited.

He suffered a fractured leg and skull, hospital officials said.

ians and Lions, the Ministerial Association.

Block objected to some of their petitioning methods "Ours were typed, passed and signed by adults," he declared. "We didn't solicit social, and religious organizations . . . we saw the residents of the Westgate Park area." He urged that a bi-partisan group be set up to study the thing further and added that a secret ballot would be better than open petitions.

Mrs. Virginia Berger of the proponents later declared that 300 children were petitioners but that they were not asked. These signatures were kept separate and were accepted that way by City Clerk Gordon Serrott." She acknowledged that a couple of children had passed petitions for their parents.

Seeing so many fellow-Hilltoppers in the crowd, Mayor Westlake said. "This is democracy in action . . . I want to commend you on your conduct. I hope you will come back and take an interest in other matters that face council."

The only other spokesman for the opponents was Carl R. Hoffman, 3144 Wicklow-rd. He argued that the planning was 14 years behind the times, that there was no assurance that the center would be adequately staffed, and that the streets would have to be widened to cope with the traffic problem.

Mrs. Hall introduced a number of speakers for her side: Excerpts from their quotes follow:

Mrs. Marjorie Evans, (reading form the preamble of the Clinton Community Council, written in 1945) "Our aim is to foster, and perpetuate wholesome recreation . . ."

Mrs. Ray Cave — " . . . only half of our papulation is served by the churches. I've lived on the Hilltop 37 years and am proud of Westgate Park . . . but it needs a recreation center."

Robert Frakes—"There are 53 organizations in the Community Council, and we are 100 per cent for the center.

Mrs. Virginia Berger—"By all surveys the Hilltop rates two centers . . . only 2300 children can be served now by the "Y" and by Glenwood. As Mrs. Hall pointed out, there are 12,340 school children here and more than 58,000 residents in all. Previous elections have shown what the people want."

Scott Hickey, Westmoor Junior High student—"Whetstone is a success . . . the Hilltop can make Westgate a success."

Ralph "Buckie" Flemming, Hilltonia student—"We have no decent theatres, the 'Y' is too far . . . Westgate Center will make us better citizens."

Cathy Basil was called up by Mrs. Hall to display the dress she had made in a sewing class at Glenwood Center. She said she would like to be able to walk to a place like Westgate, rather than to go so far by bus to her sewing class.

Mrs. Louis Boehringer — "There are 800 Girl Scouts on the Hilltop. Have you ever attended a meeting in the Westgate shelter house in the winter? Your feet freeze." She read a poem by Alfred E. Noyes, proclaiming our obligations to "generations unborn."

Paul J. Weisenbach, former president of St. Mar, Magdalene PTA—"What is a park if it isn't a center for recreation? None of Westgate's facilities can be used in the winter. As for traffic, 95 per cent of the children going to Westgate won't be driving."

(To this Block argued that after 6 p.m. the center's patrons would be mostly teenagers . . . and they do use cars.")

Director Barack then took some time to "clarify some points." He admitted that the center was suggested in the 1947 Batchelor Survey of Recreation but that in 1959-60, just before the Bond Issue passage, the Development Committee for Greater Columbus also recommended that the center be in Westgate. He praised the integrity of the committee headed by Byron Redman.

Barack reiterated that the parks facilities have little value in winter. "The addition of a center will not spoil the park," he said. "We won't even have to cut any trees, except a dead one or two . . . and the park is three-fourths trees!"

He also denied that the center was a "commercial" establishment, as one person called it. He and Mayor Westlake both promised that the half-million dollar "investment" will be staffed with the finest personnel available.

Barack rejected another statement that "there is no delinquency in Westgate." He said census tract comparisons with 1961 police records showed 26 law breakers in the Whetstone area, 120 in Westgate. "Maybe a new center will help us to reduce it to 26 here," he said.

Councilman William Fornof then asked if all possible sites had been explored and if there was any merit in further study of the situation as asked by the opponents. Both Barack and the mayor said more surveys would turn up nothing new.

Mrs. Golda Mae Edmonston moved for passage of the ordinance in Finance Committee and the mayor asked that council take its vote immediately.

Let's Not Discourage Savings

It has been estimated that the U.S. Treasury is losing $600 million a year in income taxes from unreported interest on individual savings accounts and dividends from stocks and bonds.

It is only right that the government should try to find new ways to recover the money that it should have. But we are not so sure that we favor the way it now proposes to go about it.

Legislation now in committee would collect 20 per cent of such interest and dividends directly at the source, (the banks, savings and loans, etc.) before the investor even gets his hands on it. No withholding statements would be issued to the taxpayer; it would be up to him to figure out whether the government had taken too much, and if so, to apply for a refund. Savings accounts holders under 18 years of age would have to file an exemption certificate. Persons over 65 who believe they would not be liable to pay any income tax would have to file a new certificate of exemption every year.

What's wrong with this plan? For one thing we think it would discourage the teaching and practice of thrift . . . . and goodness knows the coming generation needs to know how to save.

Why should the government force the public more and more to be its own tax collector? The mountains of added paperwork at the banks and savings and loans is bound to be reflected in increased service charges.

And then, think of the added employes required by the government to process this paperwork at the other end!

According to the Ohio Savings and Loan League a survey of 575 of their members revealed that more than 50 per cent of the savings accounts in their associations earned less than $20 in interest in 1961. The amount withheld on such accounts would be less than $4. Because of income, many of these people would be entitled to a refund. Imagine the cost of processing these refunds.

Since much of the money in banks and other financial institutions belongs to little people who save for a rainy day, why should they be deprived of their precious cash while awaiting the proper refund. We hate to see things get so "complexly simplified" that we never have a chance to touch our own money, not knowing just exactly what others are doing with it.

The Toledo Times made this observation the other day. We quote: "As it is now, corporations report to the government the names of all stockholders who get more than $10 worth of dividends, and banks report all interest earnings in excess of $600 a year. The government has the information it needs to catch the violators and, we are told, some fantastic new electronic equipment to make the job easy. Why doesn't it use it?"

The little people can, collectively, make themselves heard in Washington by writing to their congressmen. If you favor killing the proposal to collect 20 per advance tax on savings and dividends, sign and mail this coupon to the man who represents you. He is probably one of the following:

Franklin County (12th District)—Rep. Samuel L. Devine, Room 1008, New House Office Building, Washington D.C.

Pickaway (6th Dist) Rep. William H. Harsha, Room 1338, New House Office Building; Fairfield—Walter H. Moeller (10th Dist.) Room 235 Old House Office Bldg., Washington D. C.

Please vote against the withholding tax on interest and dividends on savings.

Met The Mighty Midgets?

The Hartley Newspapers are proud to join the hundreds of other newspapers throughout the United States who are celebrating National Want Ad Week, Mar. 11-17.

Want Ads, or the "Mighty Midgets" as they are familiarly called, have served the public since early colonial days. Initially they were used by the Colonists to announce the arrival of shiploads of materials and goods from Europe, India and other centers of commerce. Eventually their usage included announcements of various types, slaves for sale and goods for sale or barter.

Throughout the years the Want Ads have served the reading public in still more ways. Currently they run the gamut of human wants and needs—buying, selling, hiring, trading, finding lost articles or employment and renting. Who knows . . . when we reach the moon there will probably be interplanetary usage of Want Ads!

Last year Americans invested more money in Want Ads than was spent on radio, local spot TV and in many other advertising media. It is the only type of advertising which can be addressed directly from one individual to another. No wonder it is called, "The People's Marketplace."

As a special feature of National Want Ad Week last week The Hartley Newspapers offered readers the opportunity to place ads of four lines or more this week at half the regular cost. That the response was tremendous is easily determined by one glance at today's classified pages. Why not turn to them now? You'll be both surprised and delighted with the advertising offers your friends and neighbors have placed before you.

Hopes European Nations Can Unite

To the Editor:

On Mar. 20, the foreign ministers of France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg and The Netherlands will meet in Luxembourg to try to break the deadlock on plans for political union of the six nations.

Let us hope these men will resolve the differences which are hindering the establishment of a United Europe that was a dream even of our own Benjamin Franklin.

In 1787, he wrote to a friend in France: "I send you the proposed new Federal Constitution. If it succeeds, I do not see why you might not in Europe form a Federal Union, too."

At the recent Atlantic Convention in Paris of citizens from NATO nations, Christian Herter, former secretary of state, said: "We feel in our bones that to fulfill our destiny to maintain freedom, we must link our national lives more closely with others. And in a world deeply split by ideological differences, a close-knit Atlantic Community seems our only hope for eventually establishing world order based on justice and the consent of the governed."

During the presidential campaign of 1960, Governor Rockefeller had this to say: "The vital need of our foreign policy is new political creativity—leading and inspiring the formation, in all great regions of the free world, of confederations, large enough and strong enough to meet modern problems and challenges. We should promptly lead toward the formation of such confederations in the North Atlantic community."

Has Confidence In Teachers, SRA Tests

As a person who is interested in the education of our young people and who was present at the Feb. 5 meeting of the Whitehall Board of Education I feel that several statements should be made in answer to the letters of "Whitehall Parent" and Robert D. Hendricks in the Mar. 8 issue of your paper.

Of the 400 some persons at the meeting the opposing citizens were able to muster only about 10 persons who spoke out against the SRA. And they spoke, again, and again and again. Even so the vast majority of the people were in support of the school system and the SRA. The board must have felt this or they would not have voted to continue to use the test in the future.

Anyone who works with children will tell you that a child will tell, on his own, many details of his home life. And a test such as the SRA is not needed to meddle into the home life of the child. The SRA is used to find children who may have problem areas, not only in the home, but also in school, with his friends, or what have you.

If the child seems to have a problem the school will offer help. BUT—the child is not forced to take the test, nor is he or his parents forced to accept the professional help. In the six years the SRA has been used, about 10 children who had suicidal tendencies were found, given help, and cured. If only one of these had been found the test would have proved its worth.

Our problem does not end here, however, as we can see in the letter from "Whitehall Parent". They do not trust our teachers, the school administrators, or the school board to confine themselves to what is right so now they question every statement, every action of the teacher. What these people seem to want is the office of public censor. I for one, am willing to let the teachers teach as they have been trained to do, with the help and guidance of the administrators and school board.

I must agree with the statement of Mr. Hendricks, I too was shocked, considering the constant repeating by these people of a certain New England candy maker's pious pronouncements, to hear of Mr. Walker calling these people a "leftist group." I had felt these people to be way, way, way over on the other side of the fence.

Proud Of Col. Glenn

While the subject of Lt. Col. John Glenn Jr. is still the most popular subject across the nation, I would like to put in my two cents worth about the parade.

I was very, very proud to be one of the 50,000 watching him in the parade at New Concord.

After parking the car a half mile outside the city limits on the highway named in his honor, we started out on foot. Being early, we were fortunate to find a good viewing spot.

The air was crisp and the excitement reminded me of a circus. Vendors were selling pennants, badges, maps, etc. I purchased two of the badges showing Col. Glenn in the capsule and later placed them on the tie backs of my curtains at home.

The helicopters kept passing over before the parade started. The crowd was very patient. I was afraid someone might fall, as people climbed like they had never climbed before.

A little boy was asked if he could see from where he was standing and he said, "If the crowd don't bend out I can."

Col. Glenn waved to one and all just as if he knew each one of us, personally. Folks remarked about his tan, his smile, and the fact he seldom wears a hat. His wife looked lovely in her bright red hat and coat as their convertible glided along in the shower of confetti.

Like the astronaut I had driven the old model T Ford in the streets of New Concord in the days of Aunt Sade and Uncle George. I was a teenager then and we had not given any thought to outer space.

When I have remarked that I think I am a distant relative of the Glenns, one fellow just smiled and replied that I had never said a word when they sent the monkey into outer space.

So Cousin Glenn, Congratulations!

Lions Roar 'Thanks'

Please accept on behalf of the Record and News the very great gratitude of the Hilltop Lions Club membership for the role your newspaper played in the success of our Feb. 24 Pancake Sale. Preliminary results indicate that it was a huge success and plans are already in the offing for next year's Second Annual Hilltop Lions Pancake Sale at the same locale.

It was startling and revealing how many of our pancake eaters told us that they read about the event in the Hilltop Record and West Side News. May we also thank your readers for their heart-warming response? Profits will be used in the 1962-63 club year to support sight-saving, youth-serving and community improvement projects.

Our hats are off, too, to the Hilltop YMCA Board of Management for permitting us to hold our sale in the beautiful dining facilities of the new Valley-view-dr building.

Taxpayer Complains

Nobody loves a squawking taxpayer but one does hate to be taken for a darned boob.

When I read of the way the government is handling the "job situation," "The Case of Our Vanishing Dollars in Haiti," the mistakes made in Laos (another Cuba) . . . I wonder.

I am aware what caused Communism in Cuba, and if Washington doesn't wake up about her own people's problems and continue piling hardships on small pocketbooks and over-65 people, a change around might be easy for Russia to accomplish here.

(A personal example:) I have a postage-stamp size place. Taxes in 1943 — $15.17. Taxes in 1961 — $65. No improvements have been put on, the plaster is cracked, etc. But I try to make the best of it.

Sonic booms in the vicinity of Carrol, O. have been (severe) for years. I remember seeing my 86-year-old mother, a heart patient, raise clear out of her chair when they hit.

Window breakage here and around was awful for a while. I sent a window bill and other data to Washington (and later to a local aircraft plant which was reported to have a test pilot operating in this area) and, oh my, the answer was short and quick—no [redacted].

It's a good thing I'm not a reporter. I would do some digging on things like this which concern us "common people."

We don't want pity — just a little action and understanding for our side of the problem. Sooner or later we all reach 65.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Spuds, Spareribs, Greens Fit Irish Menus

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits—Valencia oranges, grapefruit, apples.

Food markets this week remember the folks who will be "wearin' of the green," so expect some thrifty buys on fresh pork to celebrate Mar. 17. Although the period of peak supply for pork is over, you'll find pork loins, fresh hams and picnics and breakfast bacon a' plenty.

Mrs. Franks

Remember, too, that March is a good time to lay in a few packages of spareribs for barbecuing next summer, if you have a freezer. They are less expensive now than they will be during the barbecue season. Cured hams are receiving less emphasis since many of them are being held for the Easter trade.

As for Beef, your best bet is to watch for "specials," at your store. And, when you find good buys on steaks, don't forget that fresh mushrooms are more plentiful and lower prices are evident as markets switch from pints to pound units.

The Broiler Supply picture has changed little during recent months. This is not considered "chicken eating season." Therefore, in order to keep broilers moving through the markets, low prices still prevail.

March — being National Egg Month — means eggs will receive emphasis by retailers and producers. Prices are below last year's levels; the large sizes remain the best buys on the basis of weight.

The Irishman's spud has no competition as the best value in fresh vegetables. New potatoes from Florida are on the increase and prices are lowering. And, the ample supplies of old potatoes are keeping prices well below a year ago.

Fresh Vegetable Crops took another setback from recent cold weather and rains in Florida and the west. Supplies of head lettuce continue below normal, with quality still variable and high price tags. Prices are relatively high on broccoli, cabbage, cauliflower, carrots, celery and peppers. However, broccoli supplies will increase seasonally this month as California gets into volume production. The volume of asparagus from California is also increasing, but weather in the growing area has been too cold for best growth, keeping prices high.

On The Brighter Side, supplies of green beans, cucumbers, green onions and tomatoes are on the increase. A limited volume of Ohio greenhouse tomatoes is being marketed and the supply will be increasing. Good cooking greens — kale, collards, mustard and turnip greens — are arriving from Georgia.

'Huskie Muskie' Club Growing; Takes Effort, Luck, To Qualify

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

Local fishermen are represented by Robert H. Wilson, 1472 Briarwood-av, in what is the most exclusive fishing club in the state. Called the "Huskie Muskie Club" it is composed at present of seven members. All have caught Ohio muskellunge measuring at least 40 inches long and weighing 20 pounds or more.

The club was organized by the Division of Wildlife to honor some of Ohio trophy fish and the anglers who catch them. Muskie fishermen seem to be a special breed, as they devote long hours on the water hoping to catch a single big game fish.

Wilson is a good example. He took his fish last July at Piedmont Reservoir, Belmont County, where he spent his vacation camping with his father-in-law, C. S. Drake, of Steubenville. It was the fourth vacation this fishing pair had spent in quest of muskellunge. The only other fish caught last year was a little four-inch bass.

But finally lightning struck! Trolling in a weed bed about 20 feet off shore and using a Sonar for bait, a large muskie hit and was hooked. This was the payoff. This is what they had been waiting for.

The big bruiser weighed 24½ pounds and was 45 inches in length. This fish placed Wilson third among the seven members who qualified for the "Huskie Muskie Club" the first year of its existence. Just a week before this fish was caught, the second place muskie was also taken at Piedmont by Stanley A. Rabics, Jr., of Steubenville. Drake was on the lake that day too—he seems to bring luck to other fishermen.

Piedmont yielded three of the seven trophy fish. It is probably the best place to go in the state if you are seeking big muskellunge. Rocky Fork, which has been so popular with muskie fishermen in this area, has given up a lot of muskellunge in recent years but the big ones are apparently coming from other waters.

One huskie muskie came from each of the following: Olive Green Creek, Leesburg Reservior, Cowan Lake and Paint Creek.

It is interesting to note that five of the seven fish came from impounded waters, which means they were stocked by the Division of Wildlife. The great majority of the muskie fishing available in the state is due to the division's predator fish stocking program. And speaking of the division, Mar. 1 was the date for new fishing licenses—don't forget to get yours.

Effie-YESS-ence

We've reached a point of no return . . . no return of beverage bottles, we mean . . . and we surely would appreciate it if you'd encourage the children to gather up the empty bottles of Bubble-Up, Whistle, Hires, White Rock, 3-V Cola and Vess flavors and get them back to the store. It's a great way to help fill the piggy banks, and it helps us keep the store shelves filled with our beverages. Funny how we all hang on to some things. Personally, we're bag savers. Some folks hoard string . . . and everyone puts off taking bottles back, even though every bottle represents actual cash

And speaking of cash, if you are interested in any church, scout, Boosters club or other fund raising group, you know that Vess redeems bottle caps from all of their products for ½ cent each. Many local groups are using this as a money source to replace their former tax stamp drives. Less trouble, and more profitable, they find. Call us at 299-4149 if you want details. And if you have missed our last two recipes (Barbecue Roast and Chef's Steak Marinade, we'll be happy to send you those, too.

Let us know how your club groups are going, and any other things of interest. Remember, this is your column, too.

Cancer Ray Collecting Last Year's License Plates

Four Cancer Rays have combined this year to collect old license plates for aid to outpatients of the Columbus Cancer Clinic.

Clearly marked drums are ready for deposit of old plates at all fire stations and U-Haul-It trailers at all main shopping centers. The drive will continue until Apr. 7.

Last year, the groups collected 17 tons of plates which was hold as scrap metal. Proceeds of the sale provided transportation for patients to and from the Columbus Cancer Clinic, also for the delivery of medical supplies, making bed pads, bandages, and personal visits from members of the Rays.

F. O. Schoedinger, Ray originator of the license plate project, has been joined this year by Helen Haughton Ray, Kay Benis Ray and George Spahr Ray.

These groups are not asking for a cash donation, according to spokesman Elvira M. Serra of the F. O. Schoedinger Cancer Ray, but for old plates, "You have no use for them—we do!"

Christ Lutheran Church Is Setting For Doelker-Santelli Rites Saturday

Miss Patricia Ann Doelker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Doelker, 2964 Wicklow-rd, became the bride of Mr. Titus James Santelli, son of Mrs. Frank P. Santelli of Youngstown and the late Mr. Santelli, Saturday, Mar. 10 at Christ Lutheran Church.

Rev. Charles H. Lange read the marriage service at 2:30 p.m. before an altar decorated with a sunburst arrangement of white gladioli and large white chrysanthemums accented with purple iris and frosted jade foliage.

The aisle was lined with cathedral pew candelabra topped with crystal globes, lighted with rock tapers and accented with frosted garlands of ivy. Spiral candelabra and frosted emerald trees marked the chancel entrance.

Mrs. Richard Corna served as matron of honor. Miss Jane Leighninger and Miss Grace Hardgrove as bridesmaids, and Mrs. Joseph Cavaroni and Mrs. Gary Link as bridesmaids.

Each wore a matching pillbox and carried a Hogarth-styled arrangement of Oriental iris in monochromatic hues of deep blues and purples.

Mr. Sanford Firestone served as bestman and guests were seated by Mr. Douglas Hott, cousin of the bride;

MRS. TITUS JAMES SANTELLI

Mr. John DiLallo of West Allis, Wis.; Mr. Jerry McCloud and Mr. Robert Daugherty.

A reception followed the ceremony at Lockbourne Officers Club.

The new Mrs. Santelli attended Ohio State University and is now a fashion model for Salem Studios. Mr. Santelli was graduated from Ohio State University, College of Engineering, and is now associated with Columbus Coated Fabrics.

Following a wedding trip to New York City, the couple will be at home at 2462 Parkwood.

TB Tests To Continue In 6 Schools

The Tuberculosis Society will continue its tuberculin-testing program for public school first-graders Monday, Mar. 19, and Tuesday, Mar. 20, at six West schools. An estimated 590 pupils will be offered the free needle-type tests.

Scheduled are. Monday — Westgate, 3080 Wicklow-rd; Burroughs, 2585 Sullivant-av; West Mound, 2051 W. Mound-st; Tuesday, Valleyview, 2939 Valleyview-dr; West Broad, 2744 W. Broad-st, and highland, 40 S. Highland-av.

Although a positive reaction does not in itself indicate active tuberculosis, records are kept on all "positives" so that they can be medically followed and guarded against possible future TB breakdown.

Dana-av Playground In '63 Depends On West Side Interest

Use of Dana-av School grounds as a West Side playground in 1963 will depend on the enthusiasm of West Side residents for such a facility, Nick Barack, city recreation director, asserted last Thursday night at a meeting of the West Side Neighborhood Council in Gladden Community House.

Plans to present Barack with a petition from Dana-av residents asking for a supervised summer playground at the school were dropped after it was learned that the school board plans to build an addition to the school this year.

Barack said the playground was dropped in 1961 because of "very poor" attendance in 1960, but admitted that perhaps some of the poor attendance may have been due to poor leadership of playground supervisors.

He revealed that baseball diamonds would be restored at the McKinley-av playground and that Chicago-av would have a playground again this year. Barack reported that construction of the Senior Citizens housing and recreational unit across from Sunshine Park is progressing rapidly toward scheduled completion in November.

The recreation director, in discussing future plans of the department, said they include the not-too-distant construction of a swimming pool in the West Side.

During a question-and-answer period which followed, an inquiry as to the possibility of utilizing the Starling Junior High grounds as a playground this summer brought the reply from Barack that normally junior high school facilities are not used because of the lack of equipment for smaller children.

Barack said he would look into a proposal to use Avondale School grounds as well as consider an offer by A. M. Wilder, executive director of Gladden House, located next to the school, to provide whatever facilities would be needed to augment those of the school.

To questions about providing baseball for boys 14 years and older, the reply was that there had not been sufficient interest shown by the boys to develop such a league.

Barack was introduced by Earl Ross, chairman of the recreation committee of the West Side Council. Prior to the discussion of recreation, the council received several progress reports, one of which was by Frank Schneider, chairman of the traffic committee.

Jets' Cooper Now In Colt Saddle

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.
Hartley Sports Editor

The Columbus Colts, Inc., heretofore claiming the title of the world's shakiest pro team, appeared to be anything but that Monday night as they announced plans at the Gloria Supper Club.

Sure, they're having money trouble (they'll need a "financial team" before they can get a football team said Vice-President Fred Jones, Jr.) but something tells me that this will be worked out.

This commendable assumption, to me, is based mainly on the fact that the Colts have taken on the services of everybody's favorite general manager, Harold Cooper.

"Coop" shouldn't need an introduction to local sports fans unless, of course, they haven't heard of the Columbus Jets.

The Jet Front office man is becoming known as a miracle worker after pulling that baseball team out of the doldrums and bring it up to winning both the International League pennant and the confidence of thousands of skeptic sports fans in this city (is there any other kind?).

Now, the question seems to be: "Can he do the same thing with the Colts?"

Colts Board Member Danny Firestone wants some big changes made. Heading the list is, as he put it, "a positive approach." He added:

"Let's face it, we're out of money. We need funds but not just to make a couple of bucks—I'm sure there isn't a man here that's in this for making money — but, in the interest of athletics in the city. We've got a product here for the good of Columbus and I'm sure the local residents want to support it. This is supposed to be the sports capital of the world."

How are they going to get the money together to get the 1962-63 Colts off the ground? They're going to sell "shares of interest."

In reality it's stock, but as Firestone said, you can't be out to make a buck on interest—not just yet.

The Colts, according to the new president, Lloyd Brown, spent some $100,000 last year. "This is big business," he says. They're even looking for a full-time general manager to handle it.

Jones is to lead this year's stock drive. "We need a lot more Indians," he said, "and less dumb chiefs." Right now, there are only 47 stockholders in the organization. They'll sell it at $10 a share and it's available from these newly-elected board members:

Firestone, Bill Tuler, Carlisle President Brown, Vice-President Baker, James Dougherty, Craigdents George Byers, Jr., Billy Wright, Collie Young, Randel Amicon and Jones, Secretary Savic, Robert Morton or Mal-Bill Lohr and Treasurer Bill colm Jeffrey.

The new officer-directors are: "We're going to have an active board," promised Brown. "We'll try hard to keep our successful Quarterback Club and this year, we're trying something new—Little League Football."

Last year, during a halftime show, the little guys from local grid Little Leagues and from the Ohio Bearcat Football Foundation, performed. The crowd liked it. They're going to do more of it this year—like the Jets' Youth Foundation.

About Cooper's participation with the Colts. "He's going to lead us out of the woods," said Brown, Cooper said.

"Don't look for all roses. We have a bit more going for us this year than I had when I took over the Jets in 1955. I believe in the Colts and believe they have a place in this city."

Also at the meeting, last year's quarterback, Frank Kremblas was awarded the most valuable player trophy and a Colt .45 revolver for his work with the team last year.

So, that's the story. It's going to take money for West High Coach and Columbus Colt head Gene Fekete to start recruiting a play-for-pay squad by October. Something tells me they'll get it.

A Sports . . AUBLEGRAPH

BY JOHN AUBLE, JR.
Hartley Sports Editor

Let's Have Public Relation Course For Phys. Ed. Majors

A sweet wisp of a lass enrolled for her junior year in a local high school. The registration teacher noted on the gal's record that she had attended a number of schools during her life.

"Is your father in the service," the teacher asked, seeing this as a possible answer to her school switching.

There's no denying that coaching isn't the easiest job in the world. But, the way I see it, they should include in the physical education degree requirements for would-be coaches a great big course in public relations.

Without mentioning any names, and in a "if-the-shoe-fits-wear-it" approach, I'd like to ask local coaches, "What's happened to common courtesy?"

Just Who Does It Hurt . . .?

Following a basketball game, several reporters dropped into the locker room of a losing coach this season and asked him the usual questions. The guy blew up.

"We were robbed," he shouted. "Those lousy referees need glasses. Get outta here and leave me alone."

So the sports Boswells leave and they say to themselves, and each other, "I'll bet he doesn't even say 'please' when he asks to have the butter passed at the training table."

But, then there's the other coaches. They realize it only takes a few minutes to make a good impression. Take, for example, Wisconsin's Coach John Erickson. The Badgers Boss & Co. topped the Bucks a few weeks ago but all he had was praise for Fred Taylor's squad.

The sportswriters left the Wisconsin field house thinking what a great guy he is.

Some of the high school coaches in Columbus could take a lesson in good-will from him. The bigger you are, the more down-to-earth you are. Everybody knows that.

Word For The Trotters . . .

Larry Evans, of the United States Trotting Association's front office, reported this week that nominations for the Ohio State Fair harness racing program have exceeded the 1961 figures with the Ohio State Trot for 2-year olds chiefly credited for the increase.

"Of the 447 nominated to the eight major events on the Aug. 27-30 racing program, 124 have been named for the Ohio State Trot," said Evans, "Last year, 445 were named for the eight major offering with 104 listed for the 2-year-old-trot."

Rowland Bishop, director of the State Fair, also seems pleased with the increased nominations for the Maturity Trot, an event inaugurated last year for four and five-year-olds named in previous years for one of the colt features. A total of 18 is listed as compared to 12 a year ago.

Nostalgia At Capital . . .

Capital University's Varsity "C" breakfast will be held Saturday, Mar. 24, at 9:30 a.m. and you can expect old fashioned nostalgia to be the order for the day.

The breakfast, in Troutman Hall, is an annual affair held on the weekend of the high school basketball finals here. Former Capital athletes return to campus and compare records, hairlines, waistlines and vocations.

"There's a lot of fellowship, some statements by the present coaches of Capital and general remarks on the present, future and past conditions of Capital University athletics," says sports PR man Richard Schieber.

ERSATZ SHOES

I think "ersatz" is a German word adopted into our language and meaning "substituted for". Believe you me, there are a lot of substitutes for leather being used in shoes today. They are even making substitutes for the substitutes in some of the cheapar shoes.

All of which comes to mind because a customer came into the store Saturday and apologized to us for doubting the wearing qualities of our shoes. Seems he had been buying at the shopping centers to economize and on his rough-neck boys, the shoes didn't last a month.

Last November we fitted the boys in our least expensife shoe and they are still going good after four months, hence the apology. I remember the shoes we took off his boys . . . the usually paper counter, oil-cloth linings with no fitting qualities or shape. Our thrift-grade shoes have leather insoles and linings, good counters and, most important, we fit them.

BUCKET BEAT

In the North "A" League, the Colts of West Broad won a close one by defeating the Valleyview Vikings 14-12.

The Westgate Wildcats downed the Highland Trotters 17-14 in the second game of the afternoon. Half time score was 4-4.

The "B" Leagues of the North Division provided plenty of action with the "round" ball. The Colts of West Broad dropped their game to the Valleyview Viking 22-9.

South Division "A" League teams met on the hard wood and the West Mound Tigers, saved by guard Tom Morgan's charity toss, defeated the Lindbergh Falcons 12-11.

The second game of the afternoon saw the Rebels of Georgian Heights "rebel" with their fast break and down the Binns Bomber 33-14. Rebel team mates Mark Carney and Joe Arms with 10 apiece claimed point honors.

The "B" League Tigers of West Mound walked away with their game by defeating the Lindbergh Falcons 28-7. Mike Stumpf, with 12, was high for the Tigers.

SUNSHINE SPORTS SCENE

BASKETBALL

All Star Squads of the Junior Intermediate and Senior Boys Basketball Teams at Sunshine Recreation Center Tournament Play have been eliminated from this All City event.

The Juniors led almost all the way in a game with Linden but lost in the last few seconds to a determined Lindes rally. Linden merged the victor, 31-29 on a second shot. Shoty Lewis gathered fourteen points for Sunshine before fouling out in the last minutes of the game.

James Brooks scored only three points but was the outstanding rebounder on the floor with twenty rebounds. David Sams, Mike Birchnell, David Gainer, Charles Monfort, John Pierce, George Walker, James McCloud, and Paul Bender, were the other members of the team.

The Intermediate ran into a cold streak and were defeated 55-41 by Poindexter. The game was much closer than the score indicates due to eight points scored by Poindexter in the last minutes of play against the substitutes. Dick Kettell led the team with 18, followed by Steve Drake with 10. Warren Boyde, John Burris, Robin Eyer, Ron Wyant, John Keller, Danny Collins and Mel Monfort were other members of the team.

The Seniors ran into a hot shooting tall club in Linden and were eliminated 59-30. Mike Ambugey with 13 and Dan Cowletz with 11 led Sunshine. Pat Durham, Tony Postal, Chuck Scott, Charles Parsley and John Bobiken were the other members of the team.

Hilltop 'Y' Basketball Festival Set

The Ninth Annual Basketball Festival, sponsored by the Hilltop YMCA, will be held Mar. 27 at the Westmoor Junior High School gymnasium.

The Tuesday evening event is scheduled to begin at 6 p.m. with a Gra-Y "B" League All-Star game, with the North playing the South division.

The second event of the evening will see the "A" All-Stars from the North going against the "A" League All-Stars of the South.

The third contest of the festival events features the West Park Methodist cagers versus the Burgess Ave. EUB squad. This game will be a championship game. The winner of the "round" ball contest will be the Junior League Champ.

The next event of the evening will be an Intermediate game. At present the Intermediate has a possible play-off situation for league champion. If a play-off is needed it will be the fourth event of the festival.

The climax to the Annual Festival will be the traditional Intermediate All-Stars versus the Junior and Intermediate coaches, which usually proves to be an interesting game for everyone.

Scouts Pick Pioneer Route For Camporee

Known as the Cumberland Trail or the National Road to settlers 150 years ago, the road today is Route 40 (W. Broad-st.) In years past it was "the way West' for settlers—a rutted wagon trail. Today it is a six-lane highway in some places.

From Friday through Sunday, May 11 to 13, more than 450 local Scouts and Explorers wil camp on the Westinghouse Plant's Recreation area, on the north side of the road, just east of Phillippi-rd. They will erect more than 250 tents in full public view.

Everett Bacon, district executive, said the event will be called Old Trail Camporee, and much of the programming will have a pioneer flavor. Ralph Duncan, 208 N. Terrace-av will be chairman, assisted by Robert Dings and Merl Weaver. Gene Stinson will head up Scouting display;s Noah Teach, physical arrangements; and Joe Hutt, campfire.

The boys will pitch their tents shortly after school is out Friday the 11th. Prior to campfire program they will cook their own meals.

Next morning they will compete in contests of Scouting skills—fire building, water boiling, first aid, signalling, knot tying, compass relays, and the like.

Saturday afternoon the camp will be open for public visitation. Cubs will arrive and, with the Scouts, will set up displays in pioneering, safety, handicraft, first aid, model camps, ropemaking, etc.

The camporee will be capped off with a mammoth public program Saturday evening. Bacon said as many as 2,000 Scouts, leaders, parents and friends are expected. A local TV personality will be master of ceremonies. There will be sons, stunts and stories of the pioneer era.

An outdoor worship service is being arranged for Sunday morning. Parents will be invited. The rest of the morning will be devoted to games of physical skill. Lunch will be cooked at noon and camp will break about 3 p.m.

'Faculty Frolic' Entertains At Central High Assembly

By Bill Ratliff and Virgene Ree

You'd have to see it to believe it!

With the faculty contributing to the activities, Central High School students were entertained with a combined circus and volleyball game in assembly Friday, Mar. 2.

The volleyball game was played between the G.A.A. and women members of the faculty—with Leslie Evans, principal, and referee, chipping in to help both sides when the going got rough. Faculty members participating in the game were Misses Sue Ellis and Jean Hoffman, physical education; Mrs. Estella Hildreth, journalism; Mrs. Marilyn Shie, business; Mrs. Joan Belle and Miss Carolyn Jennings, history. Miss Genevieve Griffith served as a referee.

Music was provided at half-time and at other intervals by a band consisting of students and teachers whose instruments were such articles as a funnel attached to a rubber hose, played by Miss Betty Ley, and maracas, played by Mrs. Caroline Thompson, Spanish teacher. Other faculty band members were Jim Jenks and C. O. Davies, occupational teachers.

Mrs. Lenorann Matson, chemistry teacher, and Joseph Shumway, speech teacher, proved to be the best balloon salesmen. When Jim Veither, match teacher, and John Biltz, coach, performed a rock and roll dance bedlam took place.

Mrs. Janet Mates, history teacher, donned a green hat and black suit and convinced everyone that she could dance in a leprechaunish manner while petite Mrs. Gertrude Plummer, English teacher, amused everybody with her clowning.

Sanitation Move Is Ruled Out

Sanitation facilities will remain at the Short-st location, according to city officials.

Sanitation Supt. Arthur J. Bellar, in his annual report, recommended that the facilities be moved to the Southview Park area, south of Greenlawn-av, because temperatures below 15 degrees could cause considerable damage to hydraulic equipment on compactor-type refuse trucks parked outdoors on Short-st.

Mayor Westlake admitted existing shortage of space but was unwilling to consider the Southview area as a substitute.

Starts Training

Mrs. Hazel Roberts

Another First Is Earned By Hazel Roberts

A Hilltop businesswoman is the first of her sex to be become a member of the City Parks Commission.

Mrs. Hazel Roberts, owner of Yost Florist, 303 Belvidere-av, was appointed by Mayor Ralston Westlake to succeed Don E. Weaver. Mrs. Roberts was first woman president of the Hilltop Business Association in 1958 and last year was president of Kiwanikwe.

In her new post she will serve with other citizens in an advisory capacity to the Division of Parks and Forestry.

Said Mayor Westlake of his new appointee:

"I believe Mrs. Roberts is well qualified for her new duties, with her executive experience as a businesswoman and as head of the Hilltop Business Association. Her knowledge of the field, as a florist will also be helpful.

"And I also feel a feminine viewpoint will be valuable."

Ordeal Elections Opened

Each spring the Order of the Arrow, scouting's honor society, holds elections in every unit to increase it ranks. It is that time again and Katinonkwat Lodge 92 has announced that the elections started Mar. 1 and will continue to Apr. 13. Unit leaders will be notified to this effect and will be given more information.

Ordeal candidates are elected by fellow scouts after having met the membership requirements. These requirements are that the scout must have at least 15 days and nights of camping, only seven of which may be at a longterm camp. There is no rank requirement for a scout or explorer to be elected by the troop. For inductions, however, a scout must be First Class or higher. For explorers there is no rank requirement.

Ordeal inductions will be held at various times throughout the warmer half of the year.

Brotherhood membership ceremonies will be held June 2 and August 4 at Camp Lazarus.

Every unit should have at least one lodge member. Let's recognize our outstanding campers and see how many candidates we can get inducted from our district.

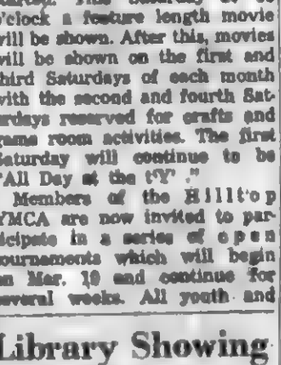
Your Youth

By Hilltop YMCA Staff

The Hilltop YMCA Indian Guide Longhouse will hold its annual Match Box Derby on Apr. 1 at 3:30 p.m. in the Central YMCA gymnasium. All Big and Little Braves who are active in this program are now in the process of building miniature racers which will compete in this annual event. This event is open to the public and anyone interested is encouraged to attend.

At the 25th National Indian Guide Longhouse held in Cleveland on Feb. 23-24, sub-chief of the Hilltop Nation, Mel Senerius, conducted an installation program of the National Longhouse officers. Sub-Chief Senerius is currently serving as a member of the National Executive Committee of "Y" Indian Guides.

The Junior Leaders Club of the Hilltop YMCA was chosen as the "Leaders Club of the Month" for March in the publication entitled "Today's Leader." The local Leaders Club has been organized for five months and consists of 12 boys of junior high age who assist in various aspects of the physical "All Day at the 'Y'."



A new schedule of Saturday morning activities has been started. This Saturday at 10 o'clock a feature length movie will be shown. After this, movies will be shown on the first and third Saturdays of each month with the second and fourth Saturdays reserved for crafts and game room activities. The first Saturday will continue to be "All Day at the 'Y'."

Members of the Hilltop YMCA are now invited to participate in a series of open tournaments which will begin on Mar. 19 and continue for several weeks. All youth and adult members are invited to participate and try their skill in ping-pong, pool, shuffleboard and checkers. At the conclusion of the tournaments, special prizes will be awarded to the winners. Entrants for these contests should register at the "Y" by Mar. 17. Just call BR. 6-5306 and give your name to the office secretary.

Library Showing Scottish Items

They are mementos of a trip taken by Hilltopper Craig Weaver to that country last summer. Shown are kilts and sporran, Balmoral bonnet, photographs, jewelry, coins, county and city crests and other items.

The huge cross, part of the end wall over the choir loft, is of the same material. The stone, quarried at Austin, Tex., has a distinctive whiteness and holds within it countless shells of ancient sea life.

In addition to the sanctuary, the church building also contains a youth chapel seating 150, kitchen, recreation and dining halls, stage, church school rooms and offices. An education building will be added later.

Courteous Service Featured At Johnson's Sohio Station

Friendly, courteous service is the by-word at Johnson's Sohio Station at Sullivant-av and Demorest-rd seven days a week from 6 a.m. to 10 p.m.

He specializes in brake work and general tune-up. Other services available run the gamut of wheel balancing, tire repairing, oil filters, carburetor and generator repair. The station also has a complete line of new, fully guaranteed batteries and tires.

Johnson points out that this is the time for wise motorists to drop in for their spring change-over and tune-ups. It is an especially good time to have wiper blades checked and replaced, he added.

GIRL SCOUTING A FAMILY AFFAIR

Most parents are concerned about what and how much their children learn in school. If Jane or Johnny can't read as well as the youngsters next door, Mother and Dad want to know the reason. And they worry, too, about what their children do after school—what their friends are like — how they use their free time.

The Girl Scout organization, observing its 50th anniversary in 1962, offers reassurance and tangible help to worried parents. In Scouting, more than two and a half million girls from 7 to 17 are learning in their free time to take care of a home, to be healthy, to get along with people, to be good sports, and most important, to be good citizens.

Lumped together, Girl Scout activities add up to character building. It's character building in terms that Tom Sawyer would have understood and enjoyed — fun and adventure.

Girl Scouting exists here and in other communities because many parents are concerned about what their children do after school hours. Women volunteer to serve as troop leaders. Men give a few hours to committee meetings or act as consultants. These are the people who translate character building and citizenship into the excitement and adventure children love.

NATIONAL TELEVISION SERVICEMEN'S WEEK

MARCH 19-25

NATIONAL TELEVISION SERVICEMEN'S WEEK

This is the week when television repairmen throughout America pause for a moment to tell you about the role they play in the business and entertainment field of their community.

TELEVISION — a word almost unheard of in the earlier part of most of our lives, now has become as common in the home as a radio, washer, sweeper or any other item. In fact, many people will forego other luxuries so that they may own and enjoy television entertainment.

When a customer's TV set is out of order it is missed more than anything. That is why we strive to give guaranteed service as rapidly as possible.

We are proud to have a part in your family entertainment by keeping your television set in operation.

THESE REPUTABLE TV SERVICEMEN APPRECIATE THE OPPORTUNITY OF SERVING YOU

SO FAST!

Mrs. C. W. Stealman, 864 S. James-rd., reports her recent fast-action Hartley Newspapers' Want Ad brought results so quickly she lost count of the number of people calling. Readers are looking for your furniture, appliances and other "don't wants." The way to sell 'em is to tell 'em with a low-cost Hartley Want Ad. Dial BR. 4-1155 now.

By C.C. Hartley

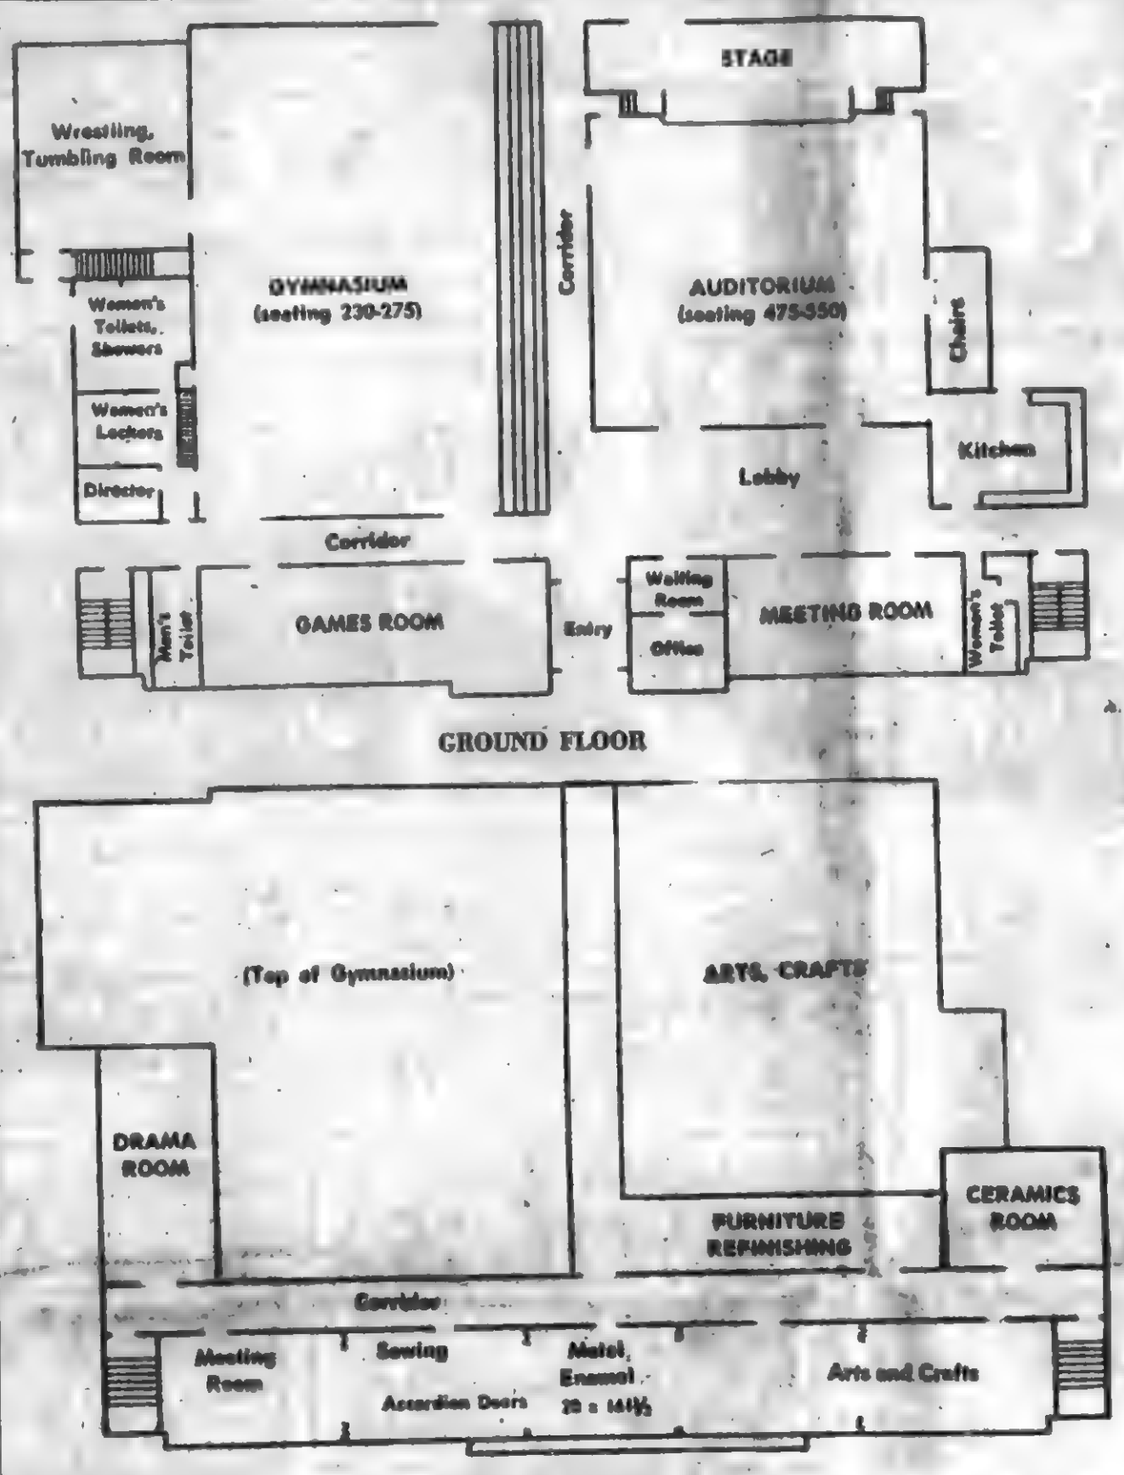
Let's Do It Right:

Most everyone belongs to one or more organizations that open their meetings with the Pledge of Allegiance to our flag. Repeating this pledge is commendable.

However, nine out of ten individuals who give the pledge divide the phrase "One nation under God indivisible" into three short phrases. It is more meaningful to repeat this phrase as one thought. And let's think about all the phrases and and mean them!

Jigs and Juleps

If you want to relax and forget the worldly troubles that beset you take time off to read the MacMillan Company's new book by Virginia Cary Hudson, entitled "O Ye Jigs & Juleps."



It was written when Virginia was at the ripe age of ten and will evoke laughs that will do you good. For example:

"There is not a thing you can do about your Everlasting Life. You are going to get it, and you have to keep it. God sure was good to make Heaven for us, as long as we can't stay dead, but have to go somewhere, but why he doesn't do somthing about the Devil, and close up Hell I don't know. If I have to go to Hell, I sure hope I go to the one for Episckpalions, and don't by mistake, get pushed in that horn punching, and tail wagging, red hot blazing one the Baptists are going to have."

Notes and Nubbins: Lowell McAllister, Westmoor principal, visited Riverside Hospital this past week for an emergency appendectomy . . . NEW RECREATION CENTER'S FACILITIES OUTLINED

WHAT'S TO BE in the new $400,000 recreation center, planned for year-round use at Westgate Park? Melvin Dodge, a city recreation supervisor, released this floor plan of Whetstone Center, 3923 N. High-st, which is to be duplicated here. The building measures 120 by 190 feet and has two floors. Architects are selecting a site for the Westgate center now so that construction can start sometime this year. The building will occupy about one acre of the 45-acre park.

St. M. Magdalene Pastor Opposes Fire Lane Plan

Rev. Raymond S. Bauschard, pastor of St. Mary Magdalene parish, declared Tuesday that he will oppose the city's efforts to tighten fire lane restrictions around his church and school.

The Fire Department last week asked the City Traffic Commission to ban stopping and parking at all times on the east side of Guernsey-av from Wicklow-rd to Parkside-rd; the north side of Parkside, from Roys-av to Guernsey; and on the west side of Roys-av from Wicklow to Parkside.

A report from several battalion fire chiefs, over the signature of Chief Walter G. Strickfaden, said emergency equipment cannot get through the streets "under the present congested conditions." Assistant Chief Elmer Brophy, after making a personal investigation, said a pumper can get through only with great difficulty and a hook-and-ladder can't make it at all.

Fr. Bauschard first learned of the plan Tuesday from a Hilltop Record reporter. Correspondence from the Traffic Commission had not yet reached him.

The pastor obviously was unhappy at the prospect that at least 50 of the parishioners' cars will have to park elsewhere.

"If the city would post the alleys for no parking and would enforce it, we would have no problem," Fr. Bauschard said, adding, "The fire trucks could reach any houses in this vicinity by using those alleys."

"I'll even give the city five feet of my church lot," he continued, "if they will widen the streets and keep these parking places. We offered that much a number of years ago and were turned down."

Fr. Bauschard said he thinks some of the money "spent on surveys" should be used instead to help police the parking situation at the church, especially on Sunday mornings.

"I have six masses on Sunday," the pastor said, "and the people don't always park in an orderly manner. Of course many of them use our private lot, but the streets and alleys are filled too. I've never succeeded in getting the city's help in marking or otherwise coping with the situation."

Fr. Bauschard said the hours of 9 a.m. to noon are worst. "It's the same situation at churches all over town," he stated. "I don't see why they are singling out St. Mary Magdalene."

At the Traffic Commission meeting Police Chief M. C. McWilliams advised the group to contact the parish before taking any action.

Hilltopper To Tour Russia In Student Exchange Plan

Michael Kagay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kagay of 65 N. Roys-av, and a 1960 graduate of West High School, will travel to Russia this summer in the fifth summer exchange of American and Soviet students, sponsored by National Student Councils of the YMCA and YWCA.

He is presently a student at Miami University.

The award is based on strict qualifications, physically, mentally and emotionally.

The student must have the ability and willingness to articulate his participation, understanding and convictions about the purpose and program of the Student YMCA and YWCA. He must also have a knowledge of United States history and the fundamental principles of American life, the international situation, and East-West relations.

Kagay, a co-chairman of Miami University's international week, has been active in YMCA programs since high school. He is a member of the National YMCA Student Council and is in charge of Ohio's co-ordination program on racial relations.

At Miami, Kagay is president of the Young Democrats, a counsellor at Dennison Hall, member of the honors program and a member of Alpha Delta Phi fraternity.

The trip offers an opportunity to travel in Russia for a period of six weeks, leaving from New York in late June and returning in early September.

Students will visit major cities, industrial establishments and collective and state farms. They will also visit university centers, attend sports events and view the cultural life of the Russians through museums, parks and theaters.

Before leaving the states, Kagay and the other students will be given required readings. They will be responsible for studying the Russian language, history and culture.

They must also attend a three-day orientation program in New York City followed by an eight-day program of lectures and discussions aboard ship.

According to Kagay, one of the highlights of the trip will be 10 days spent in a Russian students will have "person to person contact with those whom we will be competing with." He feels that this will be an opportunity to "talk to and develop a rapport with Soviet counterparts."

Probably the most significant part of the trip, according to Kagay, is the exchange of communication of values.

Appliance Workers OK Strike

Bargaining agents on both sides were scheduled to return to the conference table in an effort to forestall a possible strike by more than 4,000 members of Local 746, International Union of Electrical Workers at the Phillipi-rd Westinghouse plant.

Union members voted by a reported 3-to-1 margin Monday night to empower union officials to call a strike if negotiations over working schedules break down.

Albert J. More, president of the local labor group, said trouble erupted last week when, on Thursday night and Friday morning, about 200 production workers were furloughed three days for refusing to work.

The refusal was in protest of changes in five job classifications eliminating incentive pay and substituting straight hourly wages.

Union members reportedly fear incentive payments may be eliminated in other departments in the future.

More claimed Monday bargaining had failed but company representatives denied this. A strike can be put into effect three days after Westinghouse is notified officially of the union's intention. Notification would be handled by the International IUE in Pittsburgh.

Airport, Wider Roads Included With Items On Local Want List

They were given an insight into the city's plans for development of the area in the next 10 years by Harold L. Buchanan of the Planning Commission. Buchanan, himself a Hilltopper, lives at 404 S. Roys-av.

After describing current projects, mainly sewer and park expansions, Buchanan said the city in 1963 may spend $25,000 to establish a second municipal airport. "We definitely need one in the southwest quadrant of the county," he said, "especially for the sake of industry here."

McKinley Avenue Playfield is earmarked to receive $25,000 worth of improvements in 1963-'64, the planner said; and a swimming pool is to be built in Sunshine Park in 1965 at a cost of $265,000.

Also in the future recreation scene is a shelter at Valley-view Park, development of Clime Road Park . . . "and Charlie Westlake, one of the Columbus Jets, 'even suggests that major league baseball could come to Columbus some day,' Buchanan continued. "A west area site would be grand for this, and we would all welcome it."

Widening of the Sandusky-st Expressway to six lanes and addition of new ramps at a cost of $2 million also is seen in 1965. With it will probably come a revision of the Spring-Sandusky Interchange and possible connection there with the proposed West Freeway to West Jefferson, Buchanan said.

Other improvements mentioned were: a new fire station at Mill-st and W. Broad-st; and widening of such streets as Wilson, Briggs, Hague and Fisher to 80 feet and Georgesville-rd to 100 feet. It is also proposed that Grubb and Skidmore-sts be widened to better handle traffic entering the Broad-Sandusky connection.

Local Spots Are Highest In Crashes

Mound-Central and W. Broad-Sandusky-st intersections ran neck-and-neck in the police records as high accident spots in the city during the last 30 days.

Six crashes were reported at Mound and Central; five at the Broad-st site.

Chief George W. Scholer has asked his cruisermen to increase their enforcement on both streets, especially between 2 p.m. and midnight. Lane changers, stop sign violators and drunk drivers are special targets of the intensified police campaign.

Burglars Hit Appliance Store Again

Cops and robbers became involved with TV for the third time in four months here Monday night. Burglars broke into the West Broad Appliance Store, 3192 W. Broad-st, through a rear window and made off with 10 or more portable television sets, according to Charles W. Heacock, supervisor.

In December the store was broken into and robbed of $1,400 worth of television sets and other appliances. And, some bold character made off with a small portable set during broad daylight in January from the store's front window display.

Heacock stated that a complete report was turned in to both the police department and insurance company. The insurance company circulated a list to all authorized dealers covering the set models and serial numbers. Anyone turning one of the sets in for repair would do so at great risk, Heacock said. He added that this would be a poor time to buy a "hot"

Annual Smelt Treat, Friday

Camp Chase Post and Auxiliary 96, American Legion, will stage their annual smelt fry Friday, Mar. 23, 6 to 7 p.m. at Westgate Park closed shelter house.

The "all-you-can-eat" treat is held each year during the short smelt run on Lake Erie.

Weather this year delayed the run, but the tiny fish have now made their annual appearance, and the fry will be held as scheduled.

"LOAN TO DEPARTMENT"

$5 Certificates Go On Sale At West High's Band Show

West High School Band's annual musical, "Spring-tasia," will be presented at the school Mar. 30 and 31, with curtain time at 8 p.m. Fifteen variety acts are scheduled, all backed up by the school's dance band, concert and choral groups.

New band uniforms, and other badly-needed and necessary equipment for the department will be financed by proceeds from the show, and from the sale of band uniform certificates.

Applications for the certificates, in denominations of $5, redeemable in five years will be available at the show.

Explained by James Hill, band director, as "a no-risk investment by Hilltoppers, the certificates are guaranteed, with returns promised in five years from the date of issue. They amount to a secured loan to the department."

A significant reason behind the certificate idea, according to Hill, is to put an end to requests for aid by students. "Actually," Hill continued, "citizens are asked to contribute more over a year's period than the cost of one certificate. In addition, they are guaranteed the return of their money under this plan."

THEY'RE READY FOR THE MAD RUSH

AUTO TAG SALES ARE LAGGING at Westgate Electric Co, 2655 W. Broad-st, making that Mar. 31 deadline look like it's going to be a real scramble. The store is open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday. During the final week hours will be from 9 to 9. Members of the Hilltop Kiwanis and Kiwanettes are on hand to help. The service organization will receive a portion of the proceeds. From left are: C. G. Wilcox, Roy Von Ins, Mack Pemberton, Arthur Walker, Robert Knisley, Harold Slyh, Mrs. Chloe Ann Sparks and Mrs. Dorothy Hartley.

JUNK MAIL

South-East Lions Play 'Post Office' . . . Without Pucker

BY JOHN AUBLE, JR.

The Southeast Lions are playing post office.

This particular project was instigated by Lion Director Carl Snedeker, 93 Welch-av, and the principal target is the Columbus State Hospital.

Snedeker's idea is to collect all of the so-called "junk" mail possible and ship it to the State Hospital for distribution there.

"We all get a lot of mail that means hardly anything to us," said Snedeker, "such as advertising pamphlets, circulars, etc. There are folks at the hospital who never get any letters. This is their chance."

Snedeker, who has been with the Southeast organization for some 30 years, hopes to expand the project to include magazines—eventually.

All of the club members, of course, are bringing in letters and they are asking South Side residents to do the same. Any bits of mail available (your mail box is probably full of them right now) can be dropped off at Snedeker's home or the Wee-Wash-It Laundry, 1602 S. High-st.

How did the idea come about? Snedeker says it "all started with a little horseplay."

He added:

"We were sitting around, talking one day when a couple of the fellows started complaining about the 'junk mail' they've been getting. I suggested that we send it out to the State Hospital—just joking about it. The other members took me seriously and the idea caught on.

"We checked with a representative of the volunteer services at the state hospital and he said he liked the idea—because it's so new and different."

Already, they've collected some 400 pieces. They'll take it up for distribution in a few days. They say they don't know how it'll be received, but they hope to make it a regular project — with visits about every week.

Of course, there may be some problems. Like, for instance, notes from loan companies that say "your credit is good with us for $1000," or pamphlets from record clubs and book clubs inviting subscribers. But, these things will be watched.

Along with the horseplay Snedeker mentioned above, the guys were making puns about the fact that they're playing "post office." In the midst of all this, one of the Lion members said he heard of a new game—it's called "dead letter office."

Dusty Miller
On The Weather

In these days when the weather is the most talked about subject, we pass on this interesting item from Dusty Miller, long-time newspaper columnist and speaker.

"ONE MARCH MORNING I WAS waiting for a train in an upstate New York town. It was raining and a soft, gray mist wrapped hill, valley, grove and town. I was reveling in the world, a drizzle.

"I GOOD-MORNING-ED A LARGE, economy-sized gentleman on a platform. He bore the indisputable label of that semi-extinct class of servants of all . . . the drummer, which modern parlance has parlayed a traveling salesman. The salesman and I coagulate immediately. He asks, "How's business?" and I say, "Rotten;" and the bond of the unity is established.

"HE COUNTERED MY GREETING with the usual rainy-day whine: "It's a rotten day, ain't it?"

"IT'S NOT A ROTTEN DAY TO ME, brother," I retorted, "I'm glad to have this day . . . I might not have had any day! All the other days of my life are gone, and the the rest of them . . . if any . . . aren't here yet. To me this is the nicest day I ever saw, for I've got this one."

"A HALF HOUR LATER ON THE TRAIN he came to me to say: 'You know what you said to me back there at the station about Today . . . well, I never thought about that before in my life!'"

"IT'S SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT . . . no matter how bad today is you've got it . . . all but the tomorrows are gone and they aren't here yet."

DUSTY'S BOOKLET OPENS WITH this quotation from Sandburg:

"EVERY TODAY, WELL LIVED, makes every yesterday a dream of happiness and every Tomorrow a vision of hope. Look therefore, to Today."

Poison Aid Center Well Worth While

This year 1500 children in this country may be expected to die from an accidental poisoning in the home. This is more than the total number of deaths expected from the combined total caused by polio, scarlet fever, whooping cough, measles and diphtheria.

At Children's Hospital, a scant four years after its inception, the Poison Control Center serviced 14 times its predicted case load for 1961, a total of 5602 cases of poisoning. The 3454 telephone calls and 2148 patient visits exceeded by 25 per cent the total services in 1960.

A poison control center is an invaluable source of information for physicians, hospitals and other professional persons. It also responds to calls from parents, and parent-substitutes when any of these are confronted with an accidental poisoning. Actually, 85 per cent of all calls to the local center came from these sources.

Children's Hospital has records on antidotes on some 250,000 products which can cause poisoning if misused. Many of these are in all our homes. Some look good enough to eat or drink.

The surest means of keeping small, inquisitive hands away from poisonous products is to keep such substances under lock and key. Since this isn't always practical, here are some other pointers to keep in mind:

—If your child takes something that may be poisonous, call your doctor or Poison Control Center, CL. 8-9788 for instructions at once. Don't wait to see what happens.

—Never transfer poisonous materials from their original containers; especially never store them in pop bottles, glasses, cups, bowls, etc.

—Never leave a child alone when you're working with cleaners, polishes, insecticides or other poisons. Wash contaminated utensils immediately.

—Give medicines only in a lighted room and discard old medicines which are no longer being used.

—When you throw away hazardous materials, be sure children can't rummage into them.

During National Poison Prevention Week, Mar. 18 to 24, it is fitting that we pass on one more statistic — 90 percent of all poisonings are preventable.

Retired Railroader In Rest Home Stirs Queries By Visitor

To The Editor:

I left the Rest Home in Washington Court House, and drove back to Columbus. There was a sick feeling in my stomach. Once I found myself saying, "If this is America, then what is Russia like." I left Billy Fout with tears in his eyes but I also left him a promise that if it was at all possible I would find out why he was buried away in a rest home and left like a prisoner to live out his days.

Why couldn't this man who needed glasses receive attention? Why, when this man's own home is worth $10,000, couldn't he have access to his own money to purchase tooth paste and an occasional candy bar? Why, when this man owns many U.S. Savings Bonds, couldn't he be left free to live like an American? Why would all his personal possessions be sold at auction without his permission? Why would anyone desire to be made his guardian and have him listed an incompetent person by reason of mental disability? Why would this retired railroader be denied the privilege of living in his own home and spending his own pension money?

Let me tell you why I am writing this letter to the people of West Jefferson. It is because I visited Mr. Fout many times while he was in the State T.B. Hospital. We walked the halls together, we talked, we read the Bible and had prayer together. At no time was he strange, dull or mentally incompetent. Many other friends, preachers, and neighbors also visited him while he was at the State Hospital and found him rational and reasonable. Other friends visited him recently and found him clear and normal.

The fact is that William H. Fout, who has lived his whole life in the village of West Jefferson, is now listed as Case Number 13817 on the Guardian Docket, Volume 9, page 277, at the Probate Court in Madison County. A guardian holds his estate and makes his decisions for him.

Mr. Fout is 79 years old and is not well physically but he is capable of deciding his own affairs and paying his own bills and cashing in his own bonds.

If you are a railroader, if you were a neighbor, if you are one of his many Christian friends, or if you are just a reader of this letter, please help him. Help him by writing him a letter. Tell him you haven't forgotten him. Tell him that you are praying for him. Tell him not to give up. Write to Mr. William Fout, Hurl Rest Home, Washington Court House, O.

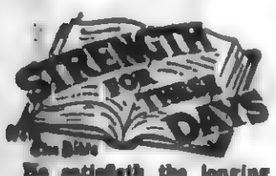
Parents Fail To Act



In his letter to the editor entitled "Has Confidence In Teachers, SRA Tests" (March 15 edition) Mr. Donn Peterson states, "I for one, am willing to let the teachers teach as they have been trained to do, with the help and guidance of the administrators and school board."

From this it is evident that Mr. Peterson is quite willing to place himself in that category of parents so ably described by Mr. Paul Walker of the State Board of Education, when in speaking on behalf of the Whitehall Board of Education at the Feb. 5 meeting he said — "Parents are often too busy to take on the job of their children's guidance themselves. Or too lazy to take the time and the responsibility."

If, as Mr. Peterson says, "only about 10 persons spoke out against the SRA", then shame on the parents of Whitehall that they are willing to be placed in the above category and are too disinterested to care.

Perhaps Senator Barry Goldwater when speaking before the 58th Congress on Aug. 19, 1958, summed it up when he said: "I do not want the Federal Government counseling my children. I do not want my own state counseling my children. That is the job of American parents and American churches. Have we gone so far down the ladder on rubbery legs that we are frightened to death by Russia and must say to the parents of the country, 'Do not bother with your children. We are going to take them over. We will tell them what to study and what we want them to do, and how to do it. You keep on drinking your beer and watching television?' If so, this country is going to pot in a Cadillac, and not in a chariot, as happened in the days of Rome."

He satisfieth the longing soul. —(Psalms 107:9).

Ask God to lead you to the human companionship you desire. Ask not how to receive, but how to give and where to give. God has a perfect place for you, where your talents and abilities are needed and appreciated.

A Thought On Worship . . .

If there is a universal language—one that is understood and loved all over the world—probably it is music.

But, unfortunately, because music is so easily within reach these days, many of us take it for granted. We flick on the radio in the car, or at home, and we're not even aware that there is music in the background — until it stops. We are very much occupied with other things.

Faith is something like that. A good many of us take it for granted, too. Maybe we go to church or synagogue a few times a year. And as the weeks go by, we always plan to "go next week, for sure." But "next week" rarely seems to come.

In doing this, we hurt ourselves, actually, more than anyone else. Because it's only through regular worship that we begin to build the strong religious faith we all need.

Find new strength for your life — attend the church or synagogue of your choice. And, if you're a parent, take your children along with you. They'll thank you, in time, for the faith you've given them.

Some Fishing Holes Productive Now

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors by ROB COCHRAN

Believe it or not, the fishing season is off the launching pad for local anglers. It will not be in orbit yet for a few weeks, but even the beginning is good news for winter-weary fishermen.

The first reports are coming from these areas:

Spring Hole—A productive fishing spot off the west bank of the Scioto north of Fishinger bridge. Live baits worked slowly near the bottom have been yielding catches of bluegills, bullheads and some b[illegible].

Madison Lake—One of the early bass fishing lakes in this area. Nightcrawlers, either live or artificial, fished in shallow water along the banks, usually catch the first bass. The season is delayed a little this year, and several anglers have been unsuccessful to date. However, a few catches have been made, and the spring bonanza should occur at Madison within the next 10 days.

Hot Hole — Warm water enters the Scioto from a plant at the interchange. Here, in the shadow of downtown Columbus and within easy sight of whizzing cars, anglers congregate to fish all winter. Carp are attracted by the warm water and hundreds of pounds of them are taken. But the spring season is on when bullheads and crappies show up on stringers. Some very good catches of crappies were made early last week before high water cooled things off. From now on this will be a good location for crappie and bass fishermen, and the preferred bait is minnows.

Fishing this early in the season is not much different than ice fishing—you must dress warmly and you are buffeted by March winds. But a brave song sparrow or two will be singing in the bushes, and you know that better days are not far off.

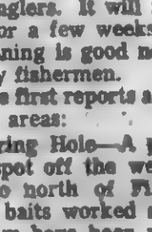
Your fishing technique will have to be slowed down at this season of the year. Live baits are the most popular and most anglers fish them on or near the bottom. A few purists stick with the artificials, but they use bottom-bumping lures. One of the best combinations for cold water angling is a spinner with a pork rind tail slipped on the hooks. The pork rind is a valuable addition and apparently acts as a teaser to lethargic fish and entices them to hit.

Strikes will be gentle and tentative, so do not expect the water to explode around your bait. There will be no slashing runs or throbbing leaps. But then, some fishing thrills must wait for other seasons. This is the time for the first fishing jaunt of a new season, and that is an event in itself.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Ground Beef, Hamburger--They Differ

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS



THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Is it ground beef or is it hamburger? To many people, any beef is hamburger after a trip through the meat grinder. But there's quite a difference between the two products, according to official Ohio standards. And, the distinction is an important one for consumers to know.

Mrs. Franks

Under state regulations, both ground beef and hamburger must come from fresh or frozen skeletal beef, i.e., meat from cattle one year or older. In addition, neither product can contain water, cereal or other substance that may change the color, character or appearance of the product in any way.

Up to this point the requirements are the same for both products. But here the identity ends. The difference is in the amount of beef fat or suet that each can contain.

Ground Beef cannot contain more than 30 percent beef fat or suet. "Ground steak", "chopped beef" and "chopped steak" are other legally acceptable names for this product.

Hamburger cannot contain more than 23 percent beef fat or suet. The term "hamburg" can also be used to identify this product.

These regulations provide a useful guide in buying. Thus, when you buy ground beef (or chopped beef, ground steak, or chopped steak), you can expect that a minimum of 80 percent of the total weight will be lean meat. For hamburger, you can expect a minimum of 67 percent of lean meat. Assuming you do not want the extra fat, you can afford to pay somewhat more per pound for ground beef than for hamburger and still pay less per pound of lean. The question is, how much more?

Using the minimum requirements of lean meat of 80 percent and 67 percent, we can figure the prices where "real cost" (cost of lean) is approximately the same. On this basis, hamburger at 39, 43, 49 and 58 cents per pound and ground beef at corresponding prices of 47, 51, 59 and 70 cents per pound are approximately equal in cost per pound of lean.

Beef Supplies For The Weeks Ahead

Beef supplies are somewhat lighter than they were in January and early February. But the volume is still above a year ago. A fairly stable supply of beef appears likely for the next few weeks, followed by an increase by early May as larger numbers of cattle move from feedlots. Live prices on choice grade steers have advanced around $1 to $1.50 since the first of the year. Main advances at wholesale have been on loins, which may be reflected in slightly higher prices on some steak cuts.

ONE MAN'S Opinion . . .

Corn Belt Culture Plowing Under Snobbism

In the realm of the performing arts the encouraging trend today in many a Midwestern municipality is to be doin' it, doin' it.

Doing what? Striking a pose on stage or wood to a drum head. Vocalizing, verbalizing—whatever appeals to your esthetic fancy.

Coffman

Breathing life into the lively arts on a hometown level is the thing we're shouting about.

It may be so close at hand, though, you have to step back a decade or two for a better view.

Remember not so many years ago? The plays you simply "had to see" to avoid being branded a backwoods boob were in the big towns, with road companies none too eager to expend all their talents on what was to be one of many short stands.

In music and dancing it was much the same. The small town folks clambered into Sunday best and chugged off to the nearest city, joining a chase for culture in which they had but spectator roles.

The class plays—usually threadbare farces—and an occasional high school band concert comprised most of the artistic offering on the grassroots plane.

If a bright-eyed youngster showed promise he trucked off toward the bright and beckoning lights of Big Town, USA, to seek fame and fortune.

It took some time and doing, but the forces of sociology which were at work drawing the Midwest out of its wordly innocence took hold in artistic areas as well.

Communication was almost instant and travel rapid and easy; city, village and farm divisions melted into metropolis and suburb. Populations of different backgrounds mingled.

In that time of not-so-long-ago it seems safe to say few in the little town of Grove City would have given two hoops and a holler—much less a dollar—to watch their more dramatically-inclined fellow citizens attempt a big-time play. It probably wouldn't have even been tried.

The situation is the same in numberless small communities, subdivisions—you name it.

So what if the lighting effects are not as elaborate as Vet's Memorial? Does it matter that most of the props came from the furniture store down the block? Or that the flats weren't the most professionally painted?

People are talking, listening to and playing jazz in places where the word "progressive" had only political connotations. Concerts are being presented by local groups.

How culturally rewarding most of these ventures are is a matter of personal taste and competent criticism. The encouraging point is the pursuit of "culture" has graduated from the school of snobbery.

The race is now open, if in varying degrees, to everyone.

The highly-glossed glory belongs to the East. It has both the name and the professional and financial wherewithall to earn it. But some surprisingly enjoyable talent is blossoming where once grew only sticks and hicks.

Most of all, though, living art has become community fun.

West Senior's Science Project Tops In Region

Brian Highfill, 18-year-old West High School senior, 633 S. Belvidere-av, was awarded top honors in the First Central Ohio Regional Science Fair held at Otterbein College.

Brian Highfill

Highfill won a trip to the Seattle World's Fair where his prize-winning exhibit will be on display in the National-International Science Building. The trip will be sponsored by the Battelle Institute and the Central Ohio Science Fair Association.

Highfill's project was the study of a guinea pig's nervous system. Object of the study was to find the effects of tranquilizers upon the pig's nervous system.

To achieve this, Highfill planted a plastic bubble dome in the top of the guinea pig's head, removing part of the skull to observe the brain in action.

He was assisted in the project by Hilltop Dr. Paul Pontious and Dr. Richard Strouss, as well as several doctors from Ohio State's Veterinary School.

Among his findings, Highfill discovered that the guinea pig takes about 10 times more tranquilizers than a human being, that given over a long period of time, guinea pigs develop a blood and liver condition which causes death by pneumonia, and the heart rate is decreased by use of tranquilizers.

Other findings were that if one or more cubic centimeters of tranquilizer is administered directly into the guinea pig's leg muscle, it causes permanent damage. Tranquilizers cause a decrease in the body temperature of guinea pigs, and the animal builds up a slight immunity to tranquilizers over a period of time.

"I was greatly encouraged by my teachers at West, Clarence Bower and James Branson," Highfill said. "When I first became interested in science at the Norwalk, Conn. Hospital where I worked as a laboratory technician, I did not know that I would meet so many fine and interesting people."

FUND RAISING TURKEY SHOOT SET TWO DAYS

Central Ohioans will have the opportunity Mar. 25 and Apr. 1, to sharpen their shooting eyes while, at the same time, helping support the youth program of the South Side YMCA during the first fund-raising turkey shoot to be sponsored by the Right Angle Club.

The event, for shotguns only, will be held from 1 p.m. until dark each of the two Sunday afternoons at the South Side Y-Park grounds on Rohr Road, according to Dave Wilson, president of the Right Angle Club.

"Features of the contests include ten-man firing lines shooting for turkeys and hams in both card and pattern shoots," Wilson said. "Also on the program are 15 cent ham sandwiches and free coffee to shooters only."

"We intend to purchase camp trailers with the proceeds, to provide youngsters with overnight camping, hunting, fishing and hiking experiences in various Ohio State Parks," Wilson said.

Shooters should bring their own shotguns to see if their shot comes closest to the "X" center on a card shoot, or to see if they can get the most pellets inside a circle in a pattern shoot. Shells will be furnished by the Right Angle Club.

Wilson said the Right Angle Club is a service group of community leaders serving the Y-Park through various projects such as cabin building and teaching youth to plant trees.

Streets Become Two-Way Again

Union and Thomas-avs have been returned to two-way traffic operation as the result of an agreement between the city and the West Side Neighborhood Council. Walsh-av, however, was retained as one-way.

Residents, who said that they did not know of the one-ways until they were changed, objected that cars could not negotiate them in snowy weather. They also reported that Central-av traffic uses them as a short cut when the underpass is flooded.

Effer-VESS-ence

Sometimes it's hard to keep our meals as exciting during Lent as we'd like to . . . especially for the children, who usually resent deviation from their favorite menus . . . but you'll find any meal will appear exciting to them (as well as to the adults) if you serve a glass of 3-V Cola, Bubble-Up, Whistle or Hires along with it. A perky drink like these adds fun and zest to your meals, and will be such a happy surprise that the children will love you for it. Don't forget to have them take the empty bottles back to the store for you. Keep your cupboards and basements cleared out and keep your refrigerators stocked with soft drinks from Vess of Columbus.

Most of our Vess products will be carrying necker tags reminding you of our ½ cent bottle cap redemption plan for charity fund raising. Watch out for them. Hundreds and hundreds of folks in this area are already hoarding caps for their clubs. If your group needs money, and you haven't started on this project yet . . . give us a call for details. It's a quick, easy way to finance your favorite club, church, scout or Boosters club projects. Eligible bottle caps are from Vess flavors, 3-V Cola, Bubble-Up, Whistle, Hires and White Rock.

See you next week . . .

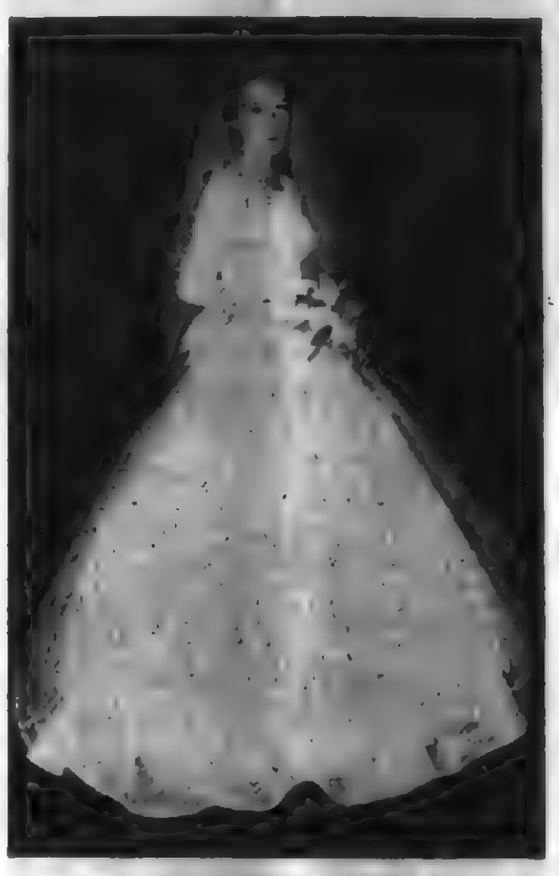
Joan Hoefler Is Bride of Richard Sopha

St. Aloysius Church was the setting Saturday, Mar. 3, for the wedding of Miss Joan Patricia Hoefler and Mr. Richard O. Sopha.

Father Robert Manning celebrated the nuptial mass at 10 a.m. before an altar decorated with white gladioli. White satin bows marked the aisle pews.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Hoefler, 243 N. Oakley-av, and Mr. Sopha's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sopha, 1249 S. Ohio-av.



The bride chose for the occasion a floor-length gown of hand-clipped chantilly lace and silk organza, featuring a lace top with a portrait neckline, outlined in iridescents and pearls, long tapered sleeves and bouffant silk skirt with fine lace in scattered bows, and trimmed with rose buds.

The queen's crown holding a finger tip veil of sheer bridal illusion, was trimmed with pearls and crystals, and she carried white carnations centered with an orchid.

Miss Mary Alice Hoefler served her sister as maid of honor, Mrs. Fred Gordon Jr., sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmatron, and Miss Rose Ann Hoefler, also a sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid.

The maid of honor wore a gown of pale blue lace with nylon skirt, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The bridesmatron wore an identical gown in pink, and the junior bridesmaid was dressed in pale green nylon with lace trim.

They carried bouquets of pink and white carnations, and wore matching hats of flower buds with veils.

MRS. RICHARD O. SOPHA

Serving as best man was Mr. Michael E. Cook. Ushers were Mr. Fred Gordon Jr. and Mr. Albert Van Der Horst.

CLUB FORMED TO AID FRANKLIN VILLAGE

An organization planned to aid children of Franklin Village by providing some of the items they need and want but are not covered by available funds, has been formed by a group of women.

Village Echoes meets the first Tuesday of each month at the M&M Restaurant, Hilliard, and is now holding a membership drive. Anyone interested in the group may call Tr. 6-4502, after 5 p.m.

Members hope that other branches of the organization will be formed in other communities.

Aims of the club include providing small items—crib toys, rattles, infants' clothing, and such teenagers' needs as combs, bobby pins and razor blades. Members will also provide each child with a Christmas gift.

Children at Franklin Village are from broken homes, or from families who do not have the facilities or are unwilling to care for them, and are there by commitment from the Court of Domestic Relations and others through illness or a death in the family.

The Village now includes approximately 100 children, ranging from seven to 18 years of age, in six cottages.

Three of the original cottages have been closed due to lack of operating funds. When funds are available for all nine cottages to be in operation, the capacity is 150 children.

Infants and small children are placed in the Receiving Center and efforts are made to place these small ones in foster homes. Average length of time that a child stays at Franklin Village is two years, however, some children do spend their entire childhood at the village.

Each cottage is operated by cottage parents.

Older children are allowed to shop for some of their clothing, and some comes directly from the clothing room. However, there are no funds available for clothing infants and small children brought into the Receiving Center.

Children of school age attend 10 different schools, to avoid close identification as coming from the Village. They may attend church services of their choice in the community.

Ball To Benefit Symphony, Young Associates Projects

A gala "evening in gold and silver," annual ball sponsored by the Young Associates of the Women's Association, Columbus Symphony Orchestra, will be held Saturday, Mar. 24, at the Athletic Club.

Joe Marles Quintet will play for dancing from 10 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Filmy material splashed with gold will decorate the stairway. A fountain of water surrounded by greenery and rose trees, the foyer, and doorways of the ballroom and rainbow room will be decorated in gold and white.

Proceeds from the affair will benefit the Columbus Symphony Orchestra and will further Young Associates' effort in supporting musical ensembles for elementary school students, full concerts for Columbus area high school students, Columbus Youth Orchestra, and the young musicians competition held annually.

Lions' Unit To Entertain Blind Sunday

Auxiliary of the Hilltop Lions Club will sponsor an open house for the blind at Monett House, 1393 N. High st, 4 to 8 p.m. Sunday, Mar. 25.

Inaugurated in March, 1952, the project has become an annual affair. Each year approximately 100 blind persons from Franklin County are provided dinner and entertainment.

This year Mrs. Robert Phillips and Mrs. Kenneth Tait are in charge of arrangements.

The program will include singing by the Franklin Heights Girls Ensemble under the direction of James Myers. The girls received a superior rating in state competition last year.

There will also be music by accordianist, Mitzi Joyce, and group singing accompanied by Mrs. Mary Hougland, blind pianist.

Dinner will be served by auxiliary members at 5.

MUSIC PARENTS TO MEET TONIGHT

Band and Orchestra Parents Club will meet this evening at 8 in the West High Band room.

All parents of the band, orchestra and Wesket members are urged to attend.

CRAMER UNIT TO MEET

Unit III, Kathryn Cramer Cancer Ray, will meet at the home of Mrs. Marie Gildersleeve, 182 Letchworth dr, Tuesday, Mar. 27, 9 a.m. Members should bring material.

Westgate CCL Plans Discussion Meeting

Westgate CCL will meet Wednesday, Mar. 21, 8 p.m. at the Columbus Art Gallery.

Panel discussion, moderated by Chet Long, will be on "Advancing With The Space Age."

EASTER RUSH

In the children's shoe business, Saturday is always our busiest day. It's the day most Daddies are home to drive the family shopping and so, we do almost half our week's business between 9 A.M. and 5:30 P.M. when we close, on Saturday. To take care of this condition, we have two or three supervised extras in addition to our regular staff of fitters. Which brings me to the subject of the Easter Rush,

When we get real busy, we hand out numbers so we can tell who is next to be waited on. Last Saturday, for the first time since Christmas we were forced to use our numbers and from now until Easter which is April 22nd this year we will be more and more rushed. Almost every little girl gets a pair of shiney new patent leather party shoes for Easter and of course little boys usually get new shoes, too. We stock-pile shoes for Easter, but it is a good idea to bring your youngsters in before the last mad rush. We are happy to fit shoes now and hold them for you to avoid last minute disappointments.

The Red Oak Patrol elected Paul McPherson, leader, and Pam Frasher, assistant. Debby Roese was elected troop treasurer and Jean Gorsuch was elected troop scribe. The girls attended St. John's Lutheran Church on Girl Scout Sunday. At present they are making plans to go troop camping at Camp Ken-Jockety. Leaders are Mrs. George Ralph and Mrs. William McPherson.

Forty-six girls represented the Hilltop area in the Girl Scout Chorus which sang for the Golden Anniversary Celebration Party held at St. John's Arena Sunday, Mar. 18. They came from troops 129, 206, 215, 548, 562, 537 and 1114. Rehearsals were held in the Hilltop Christian Church.

Your Youth

By Hilltop YMCA Staff

The three Hilltop YMCA Junior Hi-Y clubs presented an open Lenten service at the "Y". Representatives of Hilltonia, Westmoor and West Junior Hi-Y's took part. "Journey Into Faith" was shown. This Lenten service replaced the regular monthly joint meeting of these three clubs.

This Saturday's program at the "Y" will consist of game room activities and boys and girls craft classes. All youth members of the Hilltop "Y" will have an opportunity to utilize some of the new games which have been purchased by the Hilltop YMCA Mothers' Council.

Participation in weekly activities in the Youth Center has been very good. Each Wednesday has been set aside for bingo for elementary age. All players receive a prize for participating. The top winners of each day receive a special award. A record is being kept and at the conclusion of the current school year a grand prize will be awarded to the boy or girl having the most wins.

The Franklin County Indian Guide Federation is sponsoring an Indian Guide workshop to be held Mar. 31 at the Central YMCA. Workshops will be presented in crafts, a typical tribal meeting, suggested tribal properties, and suggested steps for planning meetings.

All Little Braves attending this event will be given a conducted tour of Lockbourne Air Base while the Big Braves attend these workshops. Following this, an open swim will be held in the Central YMCA pool. The fee for this afternoon's program will be $1 per family. Registrations should be submitted to the Hilltop YMCA by Mar. 31.

The Hilltop Longhouse will have an display totem poles, tom toms, invitations and the Match Box Derby ramp. Anyone knowing of interested prospects for the "Y" Indian Guide program is urged to get in contact with the "Y" office.

Improvement Shown By 'Y' Fitness Testing

Hilltop YMCA began a fitness testing program in November of 1961. The testing was given to the Saturday morning gym classes. The Kraus-Weber Physical Fitness Test was used.

Each boy from eight years old and up was given this test and accurate records were recorded.

In November, 138 boys were tested with 58.6 per cent passing the test and 41.4 per cent failing. These results were better than the national average.

Originally this fitness testing program, called for a year of testing. It was to be given four different times to the boys.

The first part of the testing program was given in November. Results were: boys 12 years and older, 70.7 per cent passed, 29.3 per cent failed; boys 10-11 years old, 57.1 per cent passed, 42.9 per cent failed; boys eight-nine years old, 50 per cent passed, 50 per cent failed.

The test was given again three months later in February with these results: boys 12 years and older, 75 per cent passed, 25 per cent failed; boys 10-11 years old, 76.7 per cent passed, 23.3 per cent failed; boys eight-nine years old, 56.4 per cent passed, 43.6 per cent failed.

Of the total number tested in February, 69 per cent passed and 31 per cent failed, showing an increase of 10.4 per cent over the November testing.

AUBLEGRAPH

BY JOHN AUBLE, JR.
Hartley Sports Editor

Harold Cooper Gets His Wish—After Seven Years

Harold Cooper, the ever-smiling—'cause-he's-got-reason-to general manager of the Columbus Jets, had another one of his wishes answered Friday afternoon—after seven years.

He was the guest speaker at the Columbus Advertising Club which met in Fort Hayes Hotel. Cooper was obviously proud and happy to talk to the group that slipped a crutch under him when he took over the Jets in 1955.

"I've looked forward to this luncheon for seven years," said the front-office man. "We've come a long way in that time and it was the Advertising Council the Advertising Club of Columbus, that started us on our way."

The Way 'Our Way' Started . . .

In the fall of 1954, the St. Louis Cardinals moved their franchise from Columbus to Omaha, Neb. Eleven civic-minded individuals donated $10,000 each to negotiate the purchase of the stadium and buy the Ottawa franchise in the International League.

Of those $10,000 donors, Cooper cited Buckeye Union Casualty president, Fred Jones, who was the first to throw his check book into the baseball ring and, as they say on Madison-av, "get the ball rolling." Jones is now president of the Jets.

Since 1954, the Jets have contributed directly and indirectly more than $300,000 to youth and charitable groups through the Columbus Youth Foundation (indirectly being money raised through the sale of Jet badges by six groups, special nights staged at Jet Stadium by groups to raise funds, and exhibition games.)

According to Cooper, the Columbus Youth Foundation will soon own Jet Stadium and its surrounding, worth an additional $500,000. The manager said that the stadium land is worth $20,000 per acre.

This is big business.

Columbus Ready For Majors?

Cooper stirred up enthusiasm when he announced that Columbus will soon be ready for major league sports—"especially," he says, "when you consider how this city is expanding and growing."

Applause came when Coop added, "We're playing ball at Jet Stadium right now that's as good as the majors."

He also said:

"What about this year? You never know what a ball club is going to bring. I'm not saying we'll win another pennant, but we'd sure like to."

"Winning or losing isn't the important thing. Baseball's been in this city for 75 years—we're almost at the top of the hill. A good club will push us over."

The Jet's eighth annual pre-season Book Ticket Drive opened Mar. 20 and ends Apr. 20, according to an announcement by Chairman William Judkins.

Fishermen Feeling Fury Of Spring Fever

Day after day they sit, listlessly, staring into the fire, sipping on a cup of hot coffee, smoking too many cigarettes, every so often giving out with a sigh like a broken calliope.

Once in a blue moon they rouse and go into a frenzy of activity that defies description. About once a week they tear down to the basement, dig the outboard out of storage and go over it like a mother coddling a baby, taking off the cowl and wiping away dust that has not collected, then replacing the cowl and cleansing away specks of dirt that exist only in their imagination.

They take down fishing rods that shine already, then get out wax and shine them even more, rubbing and polishing until they rival the sun in brilliance. The fishing reels get a real workover! They take them apart, screw by screw, piling up parts in a helter-skelter heap in an old tea strainer.

Then, they slosh them (the parts) around in a grease solvent, shine each part carefully and put the whole business back together, adding a dab of lubricant here and there where they think it necessary.

The tackle boxes (three of them) have had cleaning jobs so often the metal is wearing thin. Inside and out they had rust removed, new compartment liners installed, paint jobs, the oil changed in the hinges,—a real Class A spring tune up from top to bottom. And about the time they get the job done they're ready to start doing it all over again.

The same with their constantly growing collection of lures. The hooks on them by now (after 18 separate sharpenings) are honed to a point guaranteed to puncture the mouth of the most horny-headed fish. The paint has been re-done, and all the screws tightened. They are perfect.

In between these frenzied periods the fisherman sits and stares and wonders when spring will arrive. For sanity's sake it had better be soon.

Capacity Crowd Attends Glenwood Consecration

Glenwood Methodist Church, Valleyview-dr at Hague-av, recently completed and consecrated in services Sunday, Mar. 18, is already using to capacity the church's facilities for worship and Sunday School.

Enthusiasm of the congregation has resulted in above capacity attendance at both worship and Sunday School, and the church has moved to accommodate the crowds with two services of morning worship and a new plan of Sunday School facilities.

Identical services will be held, beginning Sunday, Mar. 25, at 9:15 and at 10:45 a.m. Sunday School classes convene at 10:45 for all age groups.

This coming Sunday, all adult classes assemble in the Hilltop YMCA building, adjoining the church. A guest speaker will address the group.

Plans are completed for the second step in Glenwood's construction program—an educational wing. Building will get under way when funds permit.

'Miss Central Ohio' To Get Scholarships

Cash scholarships — the lure that tempts ambitious young women to shoot for the big "Miss America" jackpot in Atlantic City each year—are not limited to that famous resort where beauty queens are made, according to Bob Shefelton, general chairman of the "Miss Central Ohio Pageant."

A $1000 scholarship is the top prize in the "Miss Ohio Pageant," and it is highly possible, Shefelton said, that a Central Ohio girl may have already secured scholarships worth $1,500, before she arrives in Atlantic City.

"Miss America" will receive the $10,000 first prize scholarship making it possible for a Central Ohio girl to amass $11,500 in college scholarships before she returns from the famed Jersey resort. Young women interested in competing for the "Miss Central Ohio" title may contact M. Yates, P.O. Box 65, Grove City, for official entry blanks.

Asks Accuracy On Tax Forms

P. L. Charles, of the Internal Revenue Dept., cautioned wage earners who have more than one employer to include income from all sources on their federal income tax returns.

In addition to reporting income from all such employment, household workers should be sure that any employer paying them $50 or more in any quarter reports the wages and pays both the employer and employe portion of the social security tax.

Charles said these taxes must be reported on form 942 to be filed by the end of the month following the calendar quarter.

Vote Signup Closes Soon

AAA Urges Eye Checks

Eyes should be checked at least every two years in the interest of safe driving, reminds the Columbus AAA.

"Knowing the condition of our eyes and keeping within their limitations is an important step toward accident prevention," asserts the local auto group.

Motor vehicle accidents claim nearly 40,000 lives each year, and drivers are responsible far more frequently than weather or car failure, the AAA said.

A complete outfit made of Natural Gas!

Modern miracle fibers created by chemists are made using natural gas as a chemical raw material.

The suit, hat and sweater are made of Orlon. The handbag, gloves, shoes and luggage are different kinds of man-made fibers and plastics.

Chemists break the molecules of natural gas and combine these elements with other elements or chemicals. As a result, invisible natural gas becomes part of thousands of familiar, useful products.

Just as modern natural gas is used in so many wonderful things today, it will play increasingly important roles in the products of the future.

Gas is truly the "ageless" fuel.

Variety Of Auto Services Done By Experienced Whitelaw Staff

After 63 months of active service in World War II, William "Bill" Whitelaw decided that he wanted to make further use of his experience gained while assigned to Ordinance Corps. So he purchased the already-established automotive service and went into business for himself. Whitelaw Automotive Service, 21 S. Souder-av, has been in operation since May 1949.

Whitelaw's firm is equipped to handle all types of auto mechanical work including brake repairs, tuneups, and complete automatic transmission service. Some of the other services available are road service, pickup and delivery, C.A.S. budget plan, certified automotive parts, and service pay-as-you-drive plan. All work is guaranteed.

Whitelaw is proud of his automotive specialists — Robert Baker, who has been with him for 10 years as an automotive transmission and brake specialist; Sam Roush, seven years a motor and tune-up technician; Lamar Brink, two and one-half years a general mechanic. Baker is married with four children, Roush has three children.

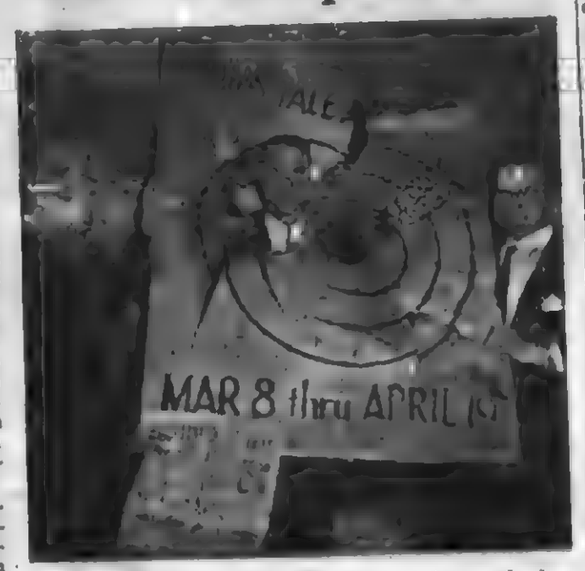
Hilltop Lions Swing Into 50-Day Newspaper Sale Ad Competition

Kick-off of a 50-day advertising campaign, Mar. 1, launched the 1962 Hilltop Lions Club newspaper sale effort. Customarily, the newspaper sale accounts for some 90 per cent of the sight-saving, youth-serving and community improvement projects undertaken by the club.

The 12th edition of "The Hilltop Lions' Tale" will be distributed to more than 15,000 homes on the Hilltop and adjacent areas on the evening of Thursday, May 17, according to Galvy Gordon, general chairmain. He announced that the annual auction of "first editions" will be held at noon Wednesday, May 9, following a club-sponsored meal for bidders at Monaco's Restaurant.

But the Mar. 1 meeting belonged to Tom Owens, advertising chairman. At the conclusion of his briefing session and distribution of ad sales kits to members, he arranged for more than 300 foam plastic baseballs to be thrown suddenly into the member audience. This punctuated his closing statement, "It's your ball; don't fumble it; run with it for 50 days until our Apr. 19 deadline. And we'll make our goal of $4000 in advertising revenue!"



(There were some mixed metaphors there somewhere, for the club speaker for the jam-packed meeting was Frank Truitt, scout and assistant basketball coach at Ohio State University. Lions had sons and daughters with them as guests. Truitt narrated slow motion films of recent OSU basketball games.

Owens told members that they have exclusive canvassing rights on ads they sold last year only until Mar. 14. After this date, any Lion member may solicit a former advertiser. "Total canvass" of all businesses on the Hilltop and West Side was announced as a theme for the Lion ad salesmen.

Other members of the advertising committee are Charles Weaver and Ed Meyers, co-chairman; and captains Dick Gilger, Eddie Stretton, Paul Lugger, Warren Schumacher, Wayne Brunner, Charles Neil and Ernest Gibson.

The auction committee will include Jack Imler, chairman, and Bob Dennis, Robert Howison, Dave Haueisen, Bert Korte, and Art Hall.

DCSC EMPLOYE HONORED

BILL W. LINDLEY, 1429 Herlew-rd (left), was one of three top civilian employes of the Defense Construction Supply Center to receive outstanding performance ratings and certificates in a recent ceremony in the office of commander, Brig. Gen Philip F. Kromer, Jr., at 52 Sterling-st. The diligent and untiring efforts of Lindley, a task group chief, contributed greatly to the assignment of the Single Manager Mission for Construction Supplies to the Columbus area. Gen. Kromer said.

Sewer Work To Proceed

While the Westgate Park issue dominated the Mar. 12 meeting of City Council, there were three other items of interest to the West area.

Ordinances were approved: appropriating more easement rights in certain property for the construction and maintenance of the Big Run Sanitary Sewer; and authorizing the service director to advertise for construction of Kingsford Road Sanitary Relief Sewer, between Briggs and Sullivant, at an estimated cost of $350,000.

A resolution was passed granting permission to the West Side Board of Trade to hold its annual Jubilee at Sunshine Recreation Center, June 4 to 9.

Reject Union

In a National Labor Relations Board election, employes of Anderson Concrete Corp., 560 Harmon-av, refused to join the Teamsters Union by a 51 to 31 vote.

Meat Cutters Get Raise

Ratification of a new three-year contract between Meat Cutters Local 346 and David Davies Packing Co., 616 W. Mound-st, brought pay raises for the local which has about 475 members in Columbus and Zanesville.

The contract which became effective Mar. 9 includes wage increases of five cents an hour for the first two years and four cents an hour the third year.

★ OHIO WORKERS TRAINING PROGRAM DISCUSSED ★

It's Spring And Area's Employment Is Coming Up Roses

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Everything's coming up roses in this area's unemployment problems — I don't know, maybe it's just because it's spring.

At any rate, unemployment is dropping — according to current figures—and a program explained last week to management, labor and business representatives is prompting "happy days are here again" refrains.

Paul Messmer, executive director of the Ohio Worker Training Commission, explained his program and how it will affect the employment — or, lack of it — situation here.

The Ohio Worker Training Committee, created last year by state legislation, is expected to put its $300,000 two-year program into action at the end of this month, Messmer explained during the meeting held at the Columbus Ohio State Employment Service's downtown Clerical-Professional and Sales office, 74 E. Gay-st.

The work of the Ohio Worker Training Committee started when it laid plans for a state-wide system of committees to organize needed vocational training and retraining programs for the improvement of skills of those out of jobs and for the increasing of their employment potential.

Messmer pointed out that there are four steps to be followed before the training program can be put into effect. That's his job as coordinator of this community project for the BUC.

The four include:

- A survey of occupational opportunities in which certain skills are in short supply.
- A survey of the number of capable persons unemployed.
- A survey of the facilities available to provide the training, and
- The organization of a committee to administer the program and conduct the aforementioned three surveys.

After the committees are formed in greater Columbus and the surveys are carried out, Messmer said that they discuss the cost of the training program.

"Locally," he said, "Columbus could support it to "x" amount of money and request the Ohio Workers Training Commission to check on the four items previously listed.

"For example, if the program costs $10,000 and the local commission can raise $7000 by off-setting rents, and so forth, the program would be written up and submitted to the OWTC for approval."

The 15 men who attended the meeting seemed interested in having the surveys conducted and supporting the OWTC and its programs.

They took action to initiate the organization of this committee worker training. "They'll be thinking about individuals and contacting various persons to serve on the committees in the near future," Messmer predicted.

It might be said that Columbus is not lagging in the training program although, according to Messmer, other areas in Ohio have already begun handling surveys.

Ohioans, needing some type of training or retraining to improve their employment opportunities, are generally out of work because of technological developments which have made obsolete skills once in demand by employers, because employers have moved away and workers are too immobile to follow or they have never had a skill or needed one until now.

"Vocational training programs currently available are generally limited as to geographical areas," said Donald B. Leach, administrator of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation in this state, "and a cost factor exists which tends to limit participation of many of the jobless."

But, the jobless situation is far from black now. The unemployment level, the service said, is currently between 3.5 and 4 per cent of the civilian labor force, representing about 12,000 to 13,000 jobless in the Columbus area.

The level dropped slightly from a January high of 4.3 per cent to about four per cent in February.

The employment level is about 13,000 above this time last year with most of the increase in non-manufacturing areas, especially government, trade and construction.

Manufacturing employment is expected to increase in the next few months with construction taking more workers as seasonal work begins.

Southeastern Site Is Selected For Westgate Center

An important decision has been made.

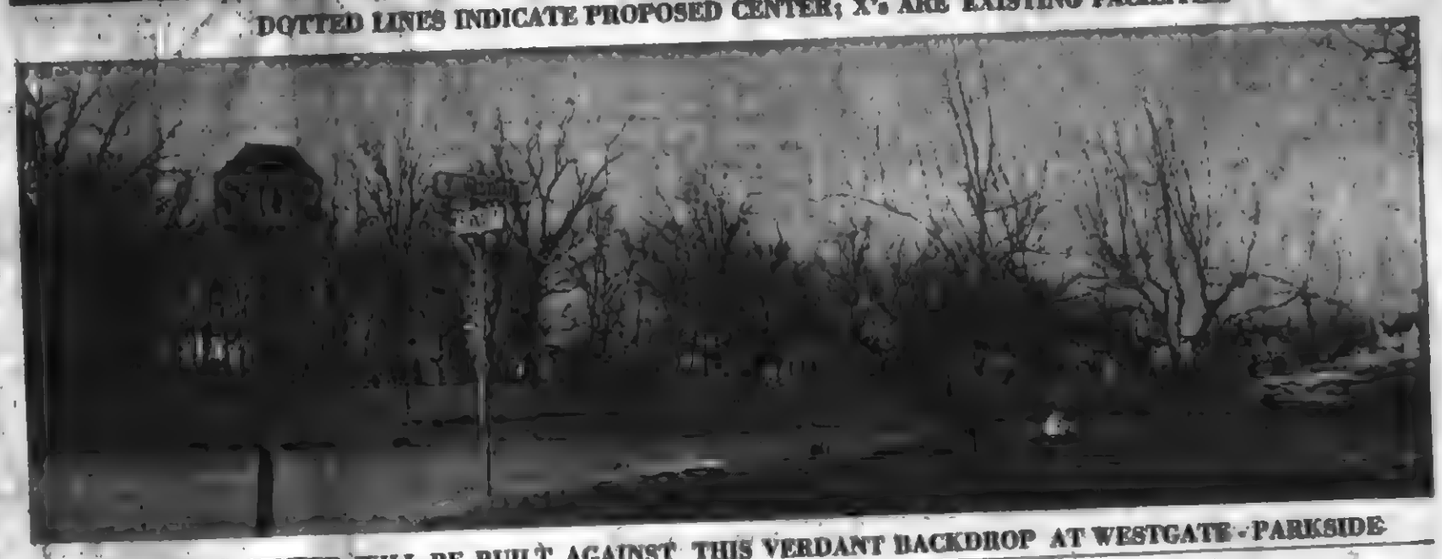
Hilltop's new $400,000 recreation center will be placed in the southeast corner of Westgate Park.

A committee of experts in park management, recreation and planning reached the conclusion late last week after several weeks of study. The proper location had been the subject of some controversy, particularly among residents bordering Westgate Park. Some of the people spearheaded a march to City Hall, Mar. 13, to block the construction anywhere in the park. Council and the mayor however, overrode the opponents in a 6 to 0 vote.

City Recreation Superintendent Nick J. Barack said the exact placement of the center is now being determined by Sims, Cornelius and Schooley, Architects, who are using plans closely duplicating those they used on Whetstone...Center.

Barack said the committee agreed that Westgate Center should rest on a slight knoll facing Westgate-av to the east. It will sit back about 125 feet from the street. Barack said the two-story building will extend 190 feet from north to south and 120 feet from east to west.

Parking for about 60 cars will be developed just north of the center and will border the south side of the present tennis courts. The lot will serve as the only auto access to the center, however, walkways will serve the entrance from three directions.



Original Site Abandoned

Barack acknowledged that the chosen site differs from the one suggested in the 1948 Batchelor Report on Recreation. A spot next to the present open shelter

Wilson-rd Engineer Is Chosen

The City of Columbus Thursday contracted Barratt Associated Engineers Ltd., 1800 W. First-av, for the preliminary engineering survey of the proposed extension of Wilson-rd from US 40 (W. Broad-st) to Sullivant-av.

The city has ear-marked $6,000 for the initial survey which will give a detailed picture of the right of way, number of lanes, traffic volume, drainage, along with a few alternate plans. It will not be the actual construction blueprint, however.

The entire cost of the survey will be borne by the city and is expected to take three months to complete.

Although the property concerned with in this report lies in both county and city property the county will not be entering into the project on a cost-sharing basis until the survey is complete and the actual construction plans have been drawn up. Then it is expected that the city and county will share equal-

Which Way To The Showers?

"Where are the men's showers," asked Carl Stephan. "I see two restrooms and a shower for the women—and just one little restroom for the men."

A call to Recreation Supervisor Mel Dodge solved the mystery. "Oh I forgot to tell you what we have in the basement," he replied.

"At Whetstone (same plan) we have locker rooms and showers for men, athletic director's office, space for weightlifting and a golf cage, furnace room and storage."

Shall We Catch Up?

R. A. Grimm of Linden-McKinley High School supplied the following item which we pass on:

Each day we are deluged with remarks concerning the many ways in which Russia is out-producing, out-spacing, and generally out-doing us. We are repeatedly assured that we must hurry to "catch up" with the Soviets.

On a recent NBC broadcast from Chicago, Newscaster John Doremus pointed out a few things we'd have to do in order to accomplish this "catching up":

"We would have to abandon three-fifths of our steel capacity; two-thirds of our petroleum capacity; 96 per cent of our electric motor output; and destroy two out of every three hydro-electric plants . . .

"We would have to rip up 14 out of every 15 miles of our paved highways and two of every three miles of our mainline railway tracks . . .

"We would have to reduce our living standard by three-fourths, destroy 40 million television sets, tear down seven of every ten houses . . .

If we start right now, we might reach our "goal" right along with Khrushchev in 1975! Anybody game?

A petition signed by 270 Valleyview area residents has resulted in a promise from the Franklin County Engineer's office to conduct a traffic survey at the intersection of Eureka-av and Valleyview-dr to determine if a traffic signal is needed.

"Our committee decided Wicklow and Parkside both are too crowded," the recreation superintendent said. "In addition, it would have been necessary to cut some trees for a parking area. This we won't have to do now. The flow of traffic on Westgate is easier, although the streets may eventually have to be widened."

STUDENT INTERVIEWS VORYS

CENTRAL HIGH student Bill Rathw interviews ex-Congressman, John M. Vorys, adviser for the annual federal legislature project sponsored by Capital University. Vorys expressed to Bill his feeling that "Teenagers themselves have proved they don't want to accept the responsibility of voting at age 18." He pointed out that although they feel themselves too immature to vote at 18, today's youth knows more about government than young people of the past. (See story on Capital's Congress on page 20.)

News 'n' Notes of
Camp Fire Girls

Present for the business meeting were: Mrs. Fern Dellinger, secretary; Mrs. Donald Ehman, west leaders association chairman; Mrs. Virginia Jones, Grove City leaders association chairman; Miss Margie Brehm, Camp Fire field director; Mrs. Jerri Fine, day camp; Mrs. Jerri Brandt, group organization; Mrs. Norma Mathews, nominating; Mrs. Irene Mealey, training; and Mrs. Thelma Sorg, public relations.

Mrs. Doris Popp, program chairman, was unable to attend. This committee meets the third Tuesday of each month.

The Mar. 18 vesper service at Westmoor Junior High was attended by approximately 375 people. Fred R. Ricketts, vice-principal of Indianola Junior High School spoke on the topic, "The Candle."

The junior and senior Horizon Club choir was directed by Mrs. Nancy Halloway, Roosevelt Junior High. The program committee expressed its appreciation to all participating in and attending the service.

The Mc Ka Kwa group went to Camp Wyandot Mar. 16 and returned home the 18th. Saturday was spent hiking. Debbie Barker, Patricia Kinsworthy, Pam Foote, Susan McCann, Daryl Mueller, Patti Wheeler, Pamela and Patricia White found that winter camping is great fun and that nature this time of year is interesting.

The girls were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. James White, Mr. and Mrs. Mueller and Mrs. Hazel McCann.

WEST STUDENTS TAPPED FOR NATIONAL HONORS

EIGHT SENIORS at West High School were singled out for membership in the National Honor Society in tapping ceremonies held during assembly Wednesday morning. Selected on the basis of academic excellence, service to the school, character and leadership were, from left, Tim Watson, highest rated student with 3.833; Mary Pemberton, Howard Davis, Barbara Brockman, Marilyn Easterwood, Dianna Alpine, Sandra Frakes and Barbara Hunter.

Day Care Centers Await Building Code Verdicts

Several local day nurseries were still on safety pins and needles this week as city departments were deciding how to interpret building codes and enforce safety regulations.

Dr. Ollie M. Goodloe, health commissioner, who is directly responsible for issuance of permits, said he does not plan to close any establishments for lack of permits either this week or next.

The holdup came about after the City Building Department admitted errors in interpreting some building codes. Inexperienced help was given part of the blame. A re-inspection of some of the previously rejected businesses was to begin this week.

Goodloe said he would await final reports from both the fire and building departments before taking any further action. He stated that only one nursery out of 38 places requiring permits closed down because of serious deficiencies.

One Hilltop operator, Mrs. Edna Watts, is now permitted to run a kindergarten only one day a week. "I haven't learned why I can operate one day, and none of the rest," she said. "but I've decided to suspend my classes in June."

She said Westgate Methodist Church offered to let her use the church facilities. She was then told by city officials that the church doesn't even pass fire codes regarding doors and stairways. Nevertheless, vacation Bible schools are permitted under these conditions.

Meanwhile, it's business-as-usual for some businesses who were told that they had to install sprinkler systems, metal doors, etc. and then later were told to wait. In many cases these are the ones who were inspected when they were built. Suddenly they don't seem to qualify. The confusion will end soon, they hope.

Who Is Tampering With The Soul Of America?

The Stomach-Turning Point . . . .

Some newspaper readers won't read anything that is long. This article, (actually it's an entire speech) is long. But, if you are the least bit concerned about the question in big type above, you will read all the words that follow . . . and you will be more concerned about America. We first heard the speech Oct. 16, 1961, at the annual gathering of the Inland Daily Press Association in Chicago. It was delivered by a newspaperman to other newspapermen and now its indelible message is making an impact across all America. A condensation appears in the March issue of Readers Digest.

This afternoon I am about to inflict upon you a Jeremiad.

Long before the prophet, Jeremiah, uttered his lamentations about the evil behavior of the Children of Israel the world had seen many calamity-howlers. We have cuneiform tablets describing the moral decay of Babylon and Chaldea. We have hieroglyphic inscriptions predicting that Osiris and Ra will smite the Egyptians for their wickedness. And so when I rise today and make some comments about the moral climate of America, and about our responsibilities therefor as temporary custodians of America's press, I speak in a very old tradition.

The calamity howler! It is customary to dismiss such fogeyism as I am about to display with a tolerant laugh. For while it was freely predicted all through the ages that the world was going to Hell, it hasn't gone to Hell yet. Who can deny that in practically all the crafts and certainly all of the sciences we are farther advanced than we ever have been? Why not be cheerfully optimistic?

I think I can tell you why. Human progress has never been steady. It has washed back and forth like the waves upon a beach. Happily, there has also been an incoming tide, so the waves have washed higher and higher as each great civilization came on.

But the pathway of history is littered with the bones of dead states and fallen empires. And they were not, in most cases, promptly replaced by something better. Nearly a thousand years elapsed between the fall of Western Rome and the rise of the Renaissance, and in between we had the Dark Ages in which nearly all of man's institutions were inferior to those which had gone before. I don't want my children's children to go through a couple of centuries of dialectic materialism before the sun comes up again.

So the Jeremiahs haven't been so wrong, after all. It is sad to watch the beginnings of decay. It is sad to see an Age of Pericles replaced by the drunken riots of Alcibiades. There was, indeed, just cause for gloom when into the palaces of the Caesars went Nero and Caligula, and when the once-noble Praetorian Guard became a gang of assassins willing to sell the throne to the top bidder.

Alaric's Goths finally poured over the walls of Rome. But it was not that the walls were low. It was that Rome, itself, was low. The sensual life of Pompeii, the orgies on Lake Trasimene, the gradually weakened fibre of a once self-disciplined people that reduced them at last to seeking safety in mercenaries and the payment of tribute — all these brought Rome down. She went down too early. She had much to teach the world.

And so, ladies and gentlemen, I look upon our own country and much I see disturbs me. But we are a great people. We have a noble tradition. We have much to teach the world, and if America should go down soon it would be too early.

One thing is certain. We shall be given no centuries for a leisurely and comfortable decay. We have an enemy now — remorseless, crude, brutal and cocky. However much the leaders of the Communist conspiracy may lie to their subjects about our motives, about our conditions of prosperity, about our policies and aims, one thing they believe themselves implicitly—and that is that we are in an advanced state of mental decline.

When Nikita Khrushchev visited Hollywood he was shown only one movie set, that of a wild dance scene in Can-Can. He said it represented decadence and I am sure he really thought so. It is a dogma of current Communist faith that America is Sodom and Gomorrah, ripening for the kill.

Do you know what scares me about the Communists? It is not their political system, which is primitive and savage. It is not their economic system which works so badly that progress in a few directions is purchased at the price of progress in all the rest. It is their puritanism. It is their dedication and self-sacrifice.

It does no good to comfort ourselves with the reflection that these are products of endless brainwashings, of incessant propaganda, of deprivation by censorship and jamming of counter-information and contrary arguments. The dedication is there. The confidence that they are morally superior is there.

The naive questions of your Intourist guide reveal only too quickly that she thinks she is talking to a self-indulgent fop from the court of some latter-day Louis XIV. In the school yard the children rush up to show you, not their yo-yos, but their scholarship medals. And when you offer them new Lincoln pennies as souvenirs they rip off their little Young Pioneer buttons and hand them to you, proud that they are not taking gifts, but are making a fair exchange.

The Russian stage is as austere as the Victorian stage. Russian literature may be corny but it is clean, and it glorifies the Russian people and exudes optimism and promise. Russian art is stiffly representational, but the paintings and the sculpture strive to depict beauty and heroism — Russian beauty, of course, and Russian heroism.

And what of us? Well, ladies and gentlemen, let's take them one at a time.

We are now at the end of the third decade of the national insanity known as "progressive education". This was the education where everybody passes, where the report cards were non-committal lest the failure be faced with the fact of his failure, where all moved at a snail pace like a transatlantic convoy so that the slowest need not be left behind, and all proceeded toward adulthood in the lockstep of "togetherness". Thus the competition that breeds excellence was to be sacrificed for the benefit of something called "life adjustment".

With what results? We have watched juvenile delinquency climb steadily. We have produced tens of thousands of high school graduates who move their lips as they read and cannot write a coherent paragraph. While our Russian contemporaries, who were supposed to be dedicated to the mass man, have been busy constructing an elite we have been engaged in the wholesale production of mediocrity. What a switch!

When was the last time you, as editors and publishers, examined the curricula of your local schools?

'We Have A Noble Tradition'

How did your school rank on the standardized Iowa tests? When have you looked at your school's report cards and the philosophy behind their grading system? Have you asked to examine any senior English themes? Have you offered any recognition to your school's best scholars to compare to the recognition you accord your school's best football players?

For the funny thing about "progressive educators" is that theory vanishes when the referee's whistle blows for the kick-off. In the classroom they pretend to grade subjectively, against the student's supposed capacity, lest he be humiliated by natural inadequacy. But on the football field they never put in a one-legged halfback on the theory that, considering his disability, he's a great halfback. They put in the best halfback they've got, period. The ungifted sit on the bench or back in the stands even though they, too, might thirst for glory. If our schools were as anxious to turn out brains as they are to turn out winning football teams this strange contradiction wouldn't exist.

Having neglected disciplines in education it was quite logical that we should reject disciplines in art. The great painters and sculptors of the past studied anatomy so diligently that they often indulged in their own body-snatching. And today, after many centuries, we stare at the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel or at the walls of the Reichsmuseo and marvel at their works.

But this self-discipline is of little concern to the modern non-objective painter. All he needs is pigment and press agent. He can throw colors at a canvas and the art world will discover him. He can stick bits of glass, old rags and quids of used, chewing tobacco on a board and he is a social critic. He can drive a car back and forth in pools of paint and Life magazine will write him up.

Talent is for squares. What you need is vast effrontery. If you undertake to paint a cow it must look something like a cow. That takes at least a sign-painter's ability. But you can claim to paint a picture of your psyche and no matter what the result who is to say what your psyche looks like? So our museums are filled with daubs being stared at by confused citizens who haven't the guts to admit they are confused.

But the Age-of-Fakery in art is a mild cross that American civilization bears. Much more serious is our collapse of moral standards and the blunting of our capacity for righteous indignation.

Our Puritan ancestors were preoccupied with sin. They were too preoccupied with it. They were hag-ridden and guilt-ridden and theirs was a repressed and neurotic society. But they had horsepower. They wrestled livings from rocky land, built our earliest colleges, started our literature, caused our industrial revolution, and found time in between to fight the Indians, the French and the British, to bawl for abolition, women suffrage and prison reform, and to experiment with graham crackers and bloomers. They were a tremendous people.

And for all their exaggerated attention to sin, their philosophy rested on a great granite rock. Man was the master of his soul. You didn't have to be bad. You could and should be better. And if you wanted to escape the eternal fires you'd damned well better be.

In recent years all this has changed in America. We have decided that sin is largely imaginary. We have become enamoured with "behavioristic psychology." This holds that a man is a product of his heredity and his environment, and his behavior to a large degree is foreordained by both. He is either a product of a happy combination of genes and chromosomes or an unhappy combination. He moves in an environment that will tend to make him good or that will tend to make him evil. He is just a chip tossed helplessly by forces beyond his control and, therefore, not responsible.

Well, the theory that misbehavior can be cured by pulling down tenements and erecting in their places elaborate public housing is not holding water. The crime rates continue to rise along with our outlays for social services. We speak of underprivilege. Yet the young men who swagger up and down the streets, boldly flaunting their gang symbols on their black jackets, are far more blessed in creature comforts, opportunities for advancement, and freedom from drudgery than 90 per cent of the children of the world. We have sown the dragon's teeth of pseudo—scientific sentimentality, and out of the ground has sprung the legion bearing switchblade knives and bicycle chains.

Clearly something is missing. Could it be what the rest of the world's children have been given—the doctrine of individual responsibility?

Relief is gradually becoming an honorable career in America. It is a pretty fair life, if you have neither conscience nor pride. The politicians will weep over you. The state will give a mother a bonus for her illegitimate children, and if she neglects them sufficiently she can save enough out of her ADC payments to keep herself and her boy friend in wine and gin. Nothing is your fault. And when the city fathers of a harrassed community like Newburgh suggest that able bodied welfare clients might sweep the streets the "liberal" editorialists arise as one man and denounce them for their medieval cruelty.

I don't know how long Americans can stand this erosion of principle. But I believe that some of my starry-eyed friends are kidding themselves when they pretend that every planeload of Puerto Ricans that puts down at Idlewild is equivalent in potential to every shipload of Pilgrims that put into old Plymouth. Nations are built by people capable of great energy and self-discipline. I never heard of one put together by cha-cha-cha.

The welfare state that taxes away the rewards for responsible behavior so that it can remove the age-old penalties for irresponsible behavior is building on a foundation of jelly. It is time we stopped this elaborate pretense that there is no difference between the genuinely unfortunate and the mobs of reliefers who start throwing bottles every time the cops try to make a legitimate arrest.

Finally, there is the status of our entertainment and our literature.

Can anyone deny that movies are dirtier than ever? But they don't call it dirt. They call it "realism." Why do we let them fool us? Why do we nod owlishly when they tell us that filth is merely a daring art form, that licentiousness is really social comment? Isn't it time we recognized Hollywood's quest for the fast buck for what it is? Isn't it plain that the financially-harrassed movie industry is putting gobs of sex in the darkened drive-ins in an effort to lure curious teen-agers away from their TV sets? Last week the screen industry solemnly announced that henceforth perversion and homosexuality would no longer be barred from the screen provided the subjects were handled with 'delicacy and taste." Good Lord!

And we of the press are a party to the crime. Last year the movie ads in our newspaper got so salacious and suggestive that the advertising manager and I decided to throw out the worst and set up some standards. We thought that due to our ukase there might be some interruption in advertising some shows. But no. Within a couple of hours the exhibitors were down with much milder ads. How was this miracle accomplished?

Well, it seems that the exhibitors are supplied with several different ads for each movie. If the publishers are dumb enough to accept the most suggestive ones those are what they get. But if publishers squawk the cleaner ads are sent down. Isn't it time we all squawked?

I think it's time we quit giving page 1 to the extra-marital junkets of crooners. I think it is time we stopped treating as glamorous and exciting the brazen shack-ups of screen tramps. I think it is time we asked our Broadway and Hollywood columnists if they can't find something decent and inspiring going on along their beats.

And the stage: They raided Minsky's so Minsky's has spread all over town. Bawdiness has put on a dinner jacket, and seats in the orchestra that used to go for six-bits at the Old Howard and Nichols' Gayety are now scaled at $8.80. Oh, yes. And we have lots of "realism." Incestuous Americans. Perverted Americans. Degenerate Americans. Murderous Americans.

How many of these "realistic" Americans do you know?

Two months ago an American touring company, sponsored by the State Department and paid for by your tax dollars, presented one of Tennessee Williams' more depraved offerings to an audience in Rio de Janeiro. The audience hooted in disgust and walked out. And where did it walk to? Right across the street where a Russian ballet company was putting on a beautiful performance for the glory of Russia! How dumb can we get?

We are drowning our youngsters in violence, cynicism and sadism piped into the living room and even the nursery. The grandchildren of the kids who used to weep because The Little Match Girl froze to death now feel cheated if she isn't slugged, raped and thrown into a Bessemer converter.

About The Author . . .

JENKIN LLOYD JONES, 39, has been editor of the Tulsa (Okla.) Tribune since he was 28.

He was born in Madison, Wis., the son of newspaper editor and owner. He was graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1933. During World War II he served as a Navy communications officer, taking part in the two Jima and Okinawa campaigns.

Jones has earned a reputation as a skilled reporter and an informed and clear-voiced editor. The influence of his editorial page extends far beyond the borders of his home city.

The author is a grandson and namesake of the well-known Unitarian clergyman who helped organize Henry Ford's World War I Peace Ship. He is a nephew of the late Frank Lloyd Wright.

And there's our literature. The old eye-poppers of the past, which tourists used to smuggle back from Paris under their dirty shirts, are now tame stuff. Compared to some of our modern smut, "Ulysses" reads like the minutes of the Epworth League. "Lady Chatterly's Lover" has has been draped with the mantle of art, and it is now on sale in the corner drugstore to your high-school-age son or daughter for 50c. Henry Miller's "Tropic of Cancer", which resembles a collection of inscriptions taken from privy walls, is about to join Lady Chatterly. The quick-buck boys have apparently convinced our bumfuzzled judges that there is no difference between a peep show and a moral lecture.

And, of course, we have our latter-day historical novels in which the romance of man's upward movement from savagery is lost in a confused welter of bundlings and tumblings. The foreign reader of one of these epics on the development of the American West must marvel that our forefathers found time to quell the Comanches, plow up Kansas and build the transcontinental railroad while spending practically all their time in the hay.

Don Maxwell of The Chicago Tribune has recently asked his book department to quit advertising scatological literature by including it in the list of best sellers. The critics and the book publishers have denounced him for tampering with the facts. I would like to raise a somewhat larger question: Who is tampering with the soul of America?

For nations do have souls. They have collective personalities. People who think well of themselves collectively exhibit elan and enthusiasm and morale. When nations cease believing in themselves, when they regard their institutions with cynicism and their traditions with flippancy they will not long remain great nations. When they seek learning without effort and wages without work they are beginning to stagger. Where they become hedonistic and pleasure-oriented, when their Boy Scouts on their 14-mile hikes start to hitch, there's trouble ahead. Where payola becomes a way of life, expense account cheating common, and union goonery a fiercely defended "right" that nation is in danger. And where police departments monopoly then the chasm yawns.

Ladies and gentlemen: do not let me overdraw the picture. This is still a great, powerful, vibrant, able, optimistic nation. Americans — our readers — do believe in themselves and in their country.

But there is rot and there is blight and there is cutting out and filling to be done if we, as the leaders of free men, are to survive the hammer blows which quite plainly are in store for us all.

We have reached the stomach-turning point. We have reached the point where we should re-examine the debilitating philosophy of liberty. Let this not be confused with the philosophy of liberty. The school system that permits our children to develop a quarter of their natural talents is not a champion of our liberties. The healthy man who chooses to loaf on unemployment compensation is not a defender of human freedom. The playwright who would degrade us, the author who would profit from pandering to the worst that's in us, are no friends of ours.

It is time we hit the sawdust trail. It is time we revived the idea that there is such a thing as sin — just plain old willful sin. It is time we brought self-discipline back into style. And who has a greater responsibility at this hour than we, the gentlemen of the press?

So I suggest:

Let's look to our educational institutions at the local level, and if Johnny can't read by the time he's ready to get married let's find out why.

Let's look at the distribution of public largesse and if, far from alleviating human misery, it is producing the sloth and irresponsibility that intensifies it, let's get it fixed.

Let's quit being bulldozed and bedazzled by self-appointed longhairs. Let's have the guts to say that a book is dirt if that's what we think of it, or that a painting may well be a daub if you can't figure out which way to hang it. And if some beatnik welds together a collection of rusty cogwheels and old corset stays and claims it's a greater sculpture than Michelangelo's "David" let's have the courage to say that it looks like junk and probably is.

Let's blow the whistle on plays that would bring blushes to an American Legion stag party. Let's not be awed by movie characters with barnyard morals even if some of them have been photographed climbing aboard the Presidential yacht. Let us pay more attention in our news columns to the decent people everywhere who are trying to do something for the good of others.

In short, gentlemen, let's cover up the cesspool and start planting some flowers.

Well, that's the Jeremiad. I never thought I'd deliver one of these. I never dreamed I'd go around sounding like an advance man for the Watch-and-Ward Society. I used to consider myself quite a liberal young man. I still think that on some people bikinis looks fine.

But I am fed up to here with the educationists and pseudo-social scientists who have under-rated our potential as a people. I am fed up to here with the medicine men who try to pass off pretense for art and prurience for literature. I am tired of seeing America debased and low-rated in the eyes of foreigners. And I am genuinely disturbed that to idealistic youth in many countries the fraud of Communism appears synonymous with morality, while we, the chief repository of real freedom, are regarded as being in the last stages of decay.

We can learn a lesson from history. Twice before our British cousins appeared heading into a collapse of principle, and twice they drew themselves back. The British court reached an advanced stage of corruption under the Stuarts. But the people rebelled. And in the wild days of George IV and William IV it looked as though Britain were rotting out again. But the people banged through the reform laws, and under Victoria went on to the peak of their power.

In this hour of fear, confusion and self-doubt let this be the story of America. Unless I misread the signs a great number of our people are ready. Let there be a fresh breeze, a breeze of new honestly, new idealism, new integrity.

And there, gentlemen, is where you come in. You have typewriters, presses and a huge audience.

Deplores City's Indecision On Playschools

I have been greatly upset over the stories of the playschool closings, the rumors that have accompanied these stories, and the facts that as of yet have remained hidden.

I'm not complaining about the shut-downs; I agree that children should not be exposed to danger and fire hazards. If these establishments are unsafe, then I commend the Department of Public Health for its action.

But I have a few questions. Sixteen years ago I attended one of the kindergartens which was recently shut down. The conditions are the same today as they were 16 years ago. Is this the first inspection in 16 years? Why has this kindergarten been allowed to operate these 16 years if it is unsafe?

This same kindergarten has now been given permission to operate one day a week. Can anyone explain how a building can be fireproof and safe for 20 pre-schoolers on Monday and not on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

One of the playschools was closed immediately with no notice. Others were given varying lengths of time to improve or shutdown. However, Dr. Ollie Goodloe, of the Dept. of Public Health, who has the final say-so on the permits, last week stated that he wouldn't enforce the regulations for several weeks yet. I say God help Dr Goodloe if a playschool fire starts meanwhile!

One kindergarten was refused a permit to operate in a church because the church didn't meet regulations either. Why does the church pass inspection for Vacation Bible School in the Summer?

One of the inspectors recently closed down a playschool for which he had been construction advisor several years before. Now some of the playschools are being re-inspected. Perhaps his credentials should be checked into.

All in all, it appears to me that the inspectors and the health department are confused and need a set of standards to go by. With so many children involved, I believe the parents are entitled to some answers and straight facts, and I challenge Dr. Goodloe and the health department to produce them!

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

April Brings Spring Favorites To Market

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:
Fruits — Grapefruit, juice oranges, apples, frozen orange juice.
Protein Foods — Large eggs, frozen fish, tuna, beef "specials," bacon.

It's A Certainty — spring is here. And the big bags of onion sets have moved to a prominent place in markets to prove it! And so, even though some features of winter still remain, April will bring increased supplies of favorite spring foods - asparagus, fresh strawberries, rhubarb and fresh pineapple. For a special treat, the new crop of maple syrup will be ready for your waffles or pancakes on Easter Sunday morning.

Mrs. Franks

Turkeys—although a few come to market in April — will continue to be a good buy because of the huge cold storage stocks, around 50 per cent greater than last year and average.

The traditional ham will be plentiful and in sizes to suit every family. Meat men say more hams will be shankless and skinless this year because of the popularity of their compact size and ease in carving.

Although there is a slight seasonal decline this time of year in beef and fresh pork supplies, there will be more than a year ago. Broiler supplies are showing some seasonal increase.

Other plentifuls for main dishes will be eggs, frozen fish and fish products. Egg supplies are seasonally large at this time of year, since production is at a yearly peak during March, April and May. In addition, production is a little larger this year than last due to slightly more laying hens on the nation's farms and greater output per layer. This supply situation adds up to relatively low retail prices; at present, four to eight cents below a year ago.

Strawberries should be more plentiful than usual this spring, based on present prospects in the South. Limited shipments are starting, with good volume expected by mid-April. California harvest is also underway with light volume moving into Ohio; so far, the berries show excellent quality.

You can count on plenty of grapefruit and Valencia juice oranges at reasonable prices throughout the month. Both fruits are at their peak of eating quality. Apple supplies in storage remain above a year ago; banana supplies should stay near recent levels.

Important changes in vegetable supplies are still in the offing and much depends on the weather. However, prices are lowering on vine ripe tomatoes and more greenhouse tomatoes will appear each week. Peppers, green onions, green beans and the cooking greens are on the increase. Other items to keep on your shopping list are potatoes, canned peaches, honey, milk and dairy products.

Once A Boat Lover, Always A Boat Lover—Seems To Be The Rule

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

How many of us would really like to own a boat? The answer seems to be most of us. From the number of boats seen on local waters and those "docked" in backyards, carports and garages in this vicinity, boating interest here is apparently as strong as anywhere in the nation.

The Outboard Boating Club of America has just released the results of a survey of 5,000 boat owners, former owners and non-owners from across the country. The biggest single hurdle confronting boaters is, what you might guess, cost. However, the researchers concluded that this objection really is based on unrealistic "dreams" of owning a magnificent cruiser and failure to recognize the economic feasibility of owning a small runabout.

Some other interesting facts were turned up about boat owners. They are generally more gregarious than non-owners, and spend more time in all recreational activities. Boat owners, it was found, spend more time bowling, playing golf, gardening and working around the house. Boaters are active people who do things and have a zest for life.

There are few former boat owners in the population, but about a third of them still spend some of their leisure time in activities involving boats. Questioned about their reasons for no longer owning boats, this group listed as primary factors money, time and relocation. Most of them want to own boats again when their situations permit.

Non-Owners Give Reasons

The non-owners also had some interesting answers to the survey questions. A concern for safety was frequently expressed. This is not a fear of the water, but the persons have anxieties over the ability to cope with unfamiliar situations—boats on water. They also feel that their inadequacies at the wheel of a boat might embarrass or humiliate them.

Women, too, experience this anxiety, the study states. In most instances this reaction reflects a lack of confidence in the competence of the operator—usually the husband. Moreover, it is based to a large degree on women's feeling of exclusion from an activity that has masculine overtones.

The survey turned up a lot of other facts. For instance, almost 12 per cent of the households in the nation own either a boat or an outboard motor or both. These [redacted] spend an average of $54.76 per year on maintenance, launching and docking fees, repairs, storage, boat club memberships and the like. The report goes on and on, but adds up to the fact that a lot of people enjoy boating and most of them follow the sport without spending great sums of money.

Well, it's happened. Dick Jennings writes of the first instance of the twist being outlawed in this country. "Here at Cortland we do not tolerate the twist, and our fishing lines are as free of twist as ever," he pens. As you might guess, Dick works for Cortland and is not worried about the sociological implications of dancing the twist, only the piscatorial implications of fishing with a twisted line.

Army OKs Scioto Dam Projects

Ohio legislators are expected to begin pushing the $116 million Scioto Basin water management plan through congress in the near future.

Rep. William H. Harsha announced that the Board of Engineers, Army Corps of Engineers, Rivers and Harbors, has approved most of the plan calling for six dams and two flood control projects in the area.

Harsha and Senators Frank J. Lausche and Stephen Young said they would support some type of plan to seek money for the projects, in the 1963 appropriations.

Included in the project are four dams; Alum Creek, Mill Creek, Big Darby and Deer Creek.

Reservoirs are the Salt and Paint Creek projects.

A phase of the project costing $571,000 will include improvement of the Scioto River from Greenlawn-av to the Columbus sewage plant.

The project will include flood control, water supply, low flow augmentations, fish, wildlife and recreational benefits.

The project plans will now be presented to the federal participating agencies and Gov. Michael V. DiSalle for approval.

KIWANIANS BOOST SCOUTS

Scout Camp Campaign Beats Goal By $96,458

People of home and industry in the nine-country Central Ohio Council area, gave an overwhelming vote of confidence to Boy Scouting this past week.

At a victory dinner Thursday night at the Athletic Club the final tally of the Camp Development Fund revealed cash and pledges of $846,458. This is $96,458 over the goal of $750,000.

Fred LeVeque, general chairman, praised the efforts of 3,500 workers who made the campaign a success. Thousands more of our Scouts are now assured of adequate facilities to have an enjoyable and rewarding Scout camping experience," he said.

The money is to be used to build two new Scout camps on the Greenhills reservation in Hocking County; remodel Camp Lazarus in Delaware County; and establish minimum facilities on the five weekend sites now owned by the council.

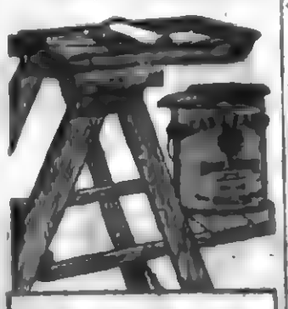
On Thursday, Mar. 15, Post 79 held a court of honor. It was in the basement of the sponsoring institution, Burgess Avenue EUB Church.

Those receiving second class rank were Steve Moran and Ralph Slaughter. Dennis Wesney became a star scout. He also earned merit badges in citizenship in the community, art, and architecture.



Service pins were awarded to the following: one year, Paul Morgan, Richard Gardner, Richard Hauser, Brian Horne, Jim McCann and Robert Schmidt; two years, Terry Elliott and Craig Weaver; five years, Melvin Allard.

The new 1200-hour camping award medal was earned by Paul Morgan and Craig Weaver.

Scouts of Troop 248 enjoyed a weekend trip to Camp Lazarus, near Delaware, Mar. 24 and 25. They worked on advancement and built survival shelters. Scouts working on tenderfoot requirements were Larry Beavers, George Beatty, Charles Carpenter and Gary Bright.

Those who built the shelters from native bark and other wood and who ate sparingly, with just the bare necessities, were Gerald Beavers, William Berry, Larry Albert, David Bright and Albert Beatty. Other scouts were Jim Downs and James McCoy. Adults present were Kirk Bright and Dwayne Beavers.

Effer-VESS-ence

In just a few days we can put March behind us and move on into April . . . and that always gives us the feeling that everything is coming out roses. What is more wonderful than spring? And this year we can all plan on a nice Easter, since it comes so late.

As for our short-skirted styles of today, I guess we'll all agree it isn't the original cost, it's the "up-creep" that bothers us most.

Our Vess plant is beginning to look like a warehouse for bottle caps . . . so many club and other groups have discovered how easy it is to raise money through our ½ cent redemption on every bottle cap from our products. We're so happy that your groups are having such great success. One thing we'd like to ask . . . and that is that you plan to bring in your caps already counted out in amounts of 150. This shouldn't take you too long, and it means you can get your cash that much faster from this end.

Just as a matter of interest to all of you people of Columbus, our company is entirely home-owned and our policy at all times is to "conduct our business so that it reflects credit on the community we serve."

Come by for a visit real soon.

Nancy Carter's Kitchen Know-How

Fresh Eggs Are Plentiful

Egg production increases seasonally during March and the weeks ahead. This means the supply of fresh eggs will be plentiful, high quality and thrifty.

HOW TO BUY AND STORE

In buying eggs in your friendly supermarket, look for the U. S. Grade Shield on the carton. In most supermarkets, you'll find eggs are also locally produced which further assures quality.

Preserve this high quality the supermarket has been so careful to make available to you. Don't let eggs stay in a hot car while you are doing other shopping. Put them in the refrigerator as soon as possible and store with large end up, preferably in a covered container.

Try some new recipes to take advantage of this good buy. One of my favorite recipes is Easy Cup Custard. Our easy way cooks the custard on top of the range in 15 minutes and eliminates heating the oven and an hour's baking time! This custard can be made while a meal is prepared and it will be ready by dessert time.

EASY CUP CUSTARD

- 2 eggs
- 3 to 4 tablespoons sugar
- Pinch salt
- 2 cup undiluted evaporated milk
- ½ cup boiling water
- ½ to 1 teaspoon vanilla
- Ground nutmeg

Beat together eggs, sugar and salt. Blend in milk, water and vanilla. Pour into 4 custard cups. Sprinkle with nutmeg. Cover tops with foil. Place in deep saucepan or skillet which has tight-fitting lid. Pour boiling water around cups to level of custard. Bring water to boil. Cover pan. Turn off heat and let stand until custard is set, about 15 minutes. Remove custards. Cool on rack. Makes 4 servings.

FREE RECIPE FOLDER

The Nancy Carter Kitchen has been bustling with activity to prepare a Spring recipe folder full of new and exciting recipe ideas. Try the Mustard Eggs Au Gratin, or if you pack a lunch box or keep a cookie jar filled, I think you will also like Applesauce Oatmeal Cookies. If you would like a copy, write to Nancy Carter, P. O. Box 4558, Atlanta 2, Ga., and ask for "Spring Recipes."

THE "ART" OF HARD-COOKING EGGS

Tender hard-cooked eggs are the sign of a good cook. Don't overcook them. Place eggs in water to cover, bring to a boil. Cover pan. Turn heat off and allow eggs to stand for 15 minutes. Immediately pour off hot water and cool under running cold water. Chilling the eggs immediately prevents darkening of the yolks.

Another major award, the George Washington Honor Medal, also came to Circle K International for that group's College Citizenship Programs.

Penney Reports 5.8% Sale Rise For Record Year

Highest sales and earnings in the history of J. C. Penney Co., the country's largest department store chain, were reported for the 12 months of the company's fiscal year ended Jan. 31.

Earnings reflected a year in which total sales exceeded $1.5 billion for the first time. Net earnings totaled $51,738,552 against $44,994,696 for fiscal 1960.

William M. Batten, Penney president, attributed the earnings increase to "a rise in the economy generally and intensified efforts by the company in controlling all phases of the business." For the first half of the current fiscal year, he said the company anticipates a sales gain of "about seven per cent."

Noting that the physical job of installing credit in the chain of approximately 1,700 department stores has been accomplished, Mr. Batten said the company now can concentrate on "gearing its merchandising methods to the opportunities of credit selling." He cited as another reason for optimism the acquisition during fiscal 1962 of General Merchandise Company, Milwaukee-based mail order concern.

Scheduled for 1963 are 22 new stores, 18 established stores moved to new buildings and 677 to be expanded, modernized or improved. This compares with 1961's 26 new stores, 37 established stores moved to new buildings, and 417 expanded, modernized or improved.

Devine Deluged With Mail Opposing Savings Tax Plan

The "little people" are making their views heard on the government's proposal to deduct 20 per cent of the interest and dividends on savings accounts and stocks and bonds.

U. S. Representative [redacted] Devine reported that his office is receiving at least 300 letters a day from those who object to collection of the tax at the source (banks, savings and loan, etc.) An editorial, taking this stand, and a coupon appeared in the Mar. 14-15 editions of Hartley Newspapers.

Devine said he, too, does not favor the proposal, which is to reach the House this Thursday.

Increase of Ten In Number Of Two-Year-Olds At Fair

An increase of ten in the number of 2-year-olds nominated for the rich stakes events which feature the 1962 Ohio State Fair harness racing program is reported by Speed Superintendent L. P. "Steve" Vallery after final nomination lists were checked.

The Ohio State Trot drew 124 nominations to head all lists, while 109 were named for the Buckeye State Pace for a 233 total. Last year, 223 were nominated for the 2-year-old classics.

The historic Governor's Cup for 2-year-old trotters drew 71 nominations while the Director of Agriculture Pace for 2-year-olds has 73 listed. Other stakes events are the Maturity Trot and Maturity Pace with the former drawing 18 nominations and the latter 15.

Full programs of harness racing are listed for each afternoon from Aug. 27 through Aug. 30, with the Ohio State Trot, for an estimated purse of $27,000, heading the opening card.

The Buckeye State Pace, estimated at $30,000, is set for Aug. 28 with the $26,000 Director of Agriculture Pace on Wednesday, Aug. 29. The 3-year-old trotters feature closing day's activities with the Governor's Cup expected to be worth about $25,000.

A sustaining payment of $50, same as needed to nominate, is due Apr. 15 with another $100 as a starting fee.

Glenwood Sees Much Action In Tourney For Local Centers

In the semi-finals of the Columbus Recreation Department Senior Boys Intra-Center Basketball Tournament Glenwood was defeated by Whetstone 62-66 in a triple-overtime.

After a slow first half, Glenwood picked up steam during the third quarter. During the second half, Glenwood almost completely dominated the back boards.

The score was tied at 36 all at the end of the regulation game. During the first overtime each team managed to score only one field goal apiece and the score remained knotted at 58-58. In the second overtime, they matched baskets, each team scoring two and the score was 62-62.

Glenwood had a golden opportunity during the last few seconds of this over-time but missed a foul shot awarded when a technical foul was called against Whetstone. During the final over-time Whetsone scored one field goal and two free throws, while holding Glenwood scoreless. Surtman of Whetstone led all scorers with 24 points. Glenwood's leading scorers were Dorcus Claytor and Art Smith with 18 and Tom Blackburn with 14.

Glenwood Senior Boys defeated Poindexter 62-59 on Monday Mar. 12, after being downed by 23 points at one time and behind 35-17 at half-time. However, they opened up the second half to make a spectacular come back.

Glenwood's man for man pressing defense forced Poindexter into mistake after mistake. Glenwood finally went ahead 52-51 on Dorcus Claytor's lay-up shot with three minutes left. Art Smith, who controlled the backboards the second half, was high scorer with 20 points. Dorcus Claytor scored 18 and Richard Carter had 16.

Defeats Schiller

Glenwood Recreation Center's Junior Boys defeated Schiller 54-12 on Mar. 12, in the Columbus Recreation Department Inter-Center Basketball Tournament. After a slow start, the Glenwood Juniors caught fire in the second quarter.

Their fast break and full court press started to click and carried them to victory. John Francis was high scorer with 16 points while Bobby Dennis and Kenny Jackson both played an outstanding floor game for Glenwood.

Glenwood played the host center, BeBatty, Mar. 13, in the second round. Beatty jumped to an early lead 10-3 and was never headed. They led at the half, 14-3. The second half found Glenwood playing inspiring ball and they out-scored Beaty 17-8.

However, they failed to cash in on game-tieing baskets several times and the final score was Beaty 23 Glenwood 20. The Junior Boys team which represented Glenwood in the tournament was made up of Captain Kenny Jackson, Billy Prillerman, Gary Henderson, Curtis Holloway, Denny Weisert, Mike Bell, George Jones, James Horsley, Bobby Dennis, Stanley Foster and John Francis.

AUBLEGRAPH

BY JOHN AUBLE, JR.
Hartley Sports Editor

Gene's A Recruiter: You Can Say That Again . . .

If anyone says Capital University football coach Gene Slaughter isn't one of the top-notch recruiters in the business they just don't know what they're talking about.

And you can tell them I said so.

It was most evident Saturday morning during the Varsity "C" breakfast in Troutman Hall on the Cap campus when Slaughter was there in all his ever-lovin', recruit-minded glory.

He's out to snag the cream-of-the-high-school-crop for next year's squad and, at the rate he's travelin', nothing should stop him. In fact, he said himself, "if I approach a boy to play on our team and he refuses, I'll tell you this: he won't play against us ever."

That's the type of straight-from-the-shoulder approach that has made Slaughter a name to be respected in the Ohio Conference and he's just in his second year.

Makar Is Leader Next Year . . .

Slaughter already has a good start. During the breakfast, he announced that Eastmoor football ace Jim Makar will be on the Cap roster next year. The coach plans to pick a really big "plumb" and grab Whitehall's powerhouse last year, Ron Paxson. Nothing definite on this last one, though, but things look pretty good.

North's Wayne Caully has been signed up along with an all-Ohio end from Wooster, Bill Eves. Makar's teammate, Larry Gornall, is on the fence but from here it looks like he may don a Fighting Lutheran jersey next year, too.

Slaughter invited North's whirl-wind Sheperd Brothers, Doug and Vic, to the breakfast and they were all ears when Slaughter cornered them. Doug's ready this year while Vic has another year of varsity to go at the Polar Bear home.

Almost all of the Cap sports stalwarts were on hand Saturday, including director Bill Bernlohr and Cap President Harold Yochum. The only real notable missing was basketball coach Harold Regan. He was in Louisville.

Jets 'Blast Off' Sale . . .

The Columbus Jets' eighth annual pre-season book ticket drive ends Friday, Apr. 20, according to an announcement by personable chairman William Judkins.

This advance sale of general admission tickets is important to the Jets' financial operation and provides the club with half of its pre-season income.

The seven previous years of the pre-season book ticket drive have grossed the Jets $517,730, an average of $73,961 per season.

Judkins, president of the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of Ohio, has planned a very thorough campaign to blanket the greater Columbus area. Many civic-minded individuals and business concerns participate in the sale of these book tickets.

Each book contains 10 general admission tickets and sells for $10, a savings of $2.50 on each book for the baseball fan. These tickets are good for any regularly scheduled International League game at Jet Stadium during the 1962 season and may be exchanged at the stadium for a reserve or box seat.

BUSINESS REVIEW

Sherman Brothers Starting Hoover Products Business

The Sherman Brothers, Charles and George, are starting a new business at 994 W. Broad-st, repairing and selling new Hoover products.

The Hoover Co. has discontinued its sewing parts store at 2344 W. Broad-st, from which the Sherman Brothers have purchased the entire shop equipment—service department and parts.

George Sherman has been with Hoover for 15 years, has been shop foreman for the past six years. Charles Sherman has been with the Hoover Company 13 years and was formerly district manager.

They will pick up cleaners at customers' homes, service them, repair them with genuine parts plus warranty. This program will consist of complete work to the customer's satisfaction, from which they are hoping to build a very successful West Side business. Both are lifelong residents.

On display are the six winning entries in junior and senior divisions with the plaques and ribbons awarded by judges. A total of 75 model-makers participated in the exhibition and contest.

The youngest winner was 11, the oldest 49 and all 75 competitors had a lot of fun in the recent Model Car Contest at Strete Hobbies, 3535 Sullivant-av.

Taking top prize in the junior division was Charles Fisher, 11, of 2504 Vanderburg-av, who entered an Ala-Kart model. Robert Buchholtz, 12, of 780 Demorest-rd, was awarded runnerup plaque and James Fisher, 12, brother of the first place winner, finished in third position.

Modern Dry Cleaning Plant Added By Liles Laundry Co.

Liles Laundry Co., 1011 W. Rich-st, has just installed a complete modern dry cleaning plant to expand its facilities to better serve the community. Since its inception in 1906 the familiar "Put Your Duds in Our Suds" slogan, originated by the founder, P. M. Liles, has been used.

Now the tradition of progress with the times has taken another step forward with the addition of dry cleaning to the laundry and diaper service.

Roger Chrisman, 3010 Wicklow-rd, is president of the overall plant operation. The complete dry cleaning plant has been installed in the same building with the laundry facilities so that uniform quality and service can be offered at a modest price.

This one-stop service is available either at the plant or by calling for pick-up and delivery service handled by their fleet of three trucks. Dwight Bridges, 2718 Clarendon-av, with 26 years of experience behind him, heads the dry cleaning operation.

The firm's operations cover the entire metropolitan area of Columbus including Grandview, Arlington, Whitehall and Bexley as well as West Jefferson and London.

Seeger To Build

Seeger Buick Co., 1395 W. Broad-st, has obtained permits to build a $16,000 addition to its facilities and a $3000 alteration to a concrete block garage.

Howard Johnson Building Permit Is Granted

Highway Host Company, 8 E. Long-st has the green light from Columbus to build two concrete and brick structures which will be located at 3833 W. Broad-st. The proposed buildings are to house a complete Howard Johnson's facility including restaurant, cocktail lounge and motel costing the combined total of $600,000. Construction is planned to begin this summer.

Spruce-Up Programs Launched

On the day the last snowflake melts and the first bud appears, just about every homeowner starts talking and thinking about what has now become a well-established national custom—"spring cleaning."

Today, "spring cleaning" has come to encompass far more than a strenuous "scrubbing operation." New painting and decorating, new lighting fixtures, new floor coverings, touch-up jobs on siding and roofing, and a host of repair and improvement jobs are all part of a well-integrated program aimed at maintaining a high standard of appearance and livability in the home.

Better Homes and Gardens says

Fix-up, Spruce-up YOUR HOME THIS SPRING

Like any other large and expensive piece of equipment, a home should be inspected periodically if it is to be kept in smooth operating condition.

Since the winter months usually do the most damage, spring is the best time for making a seasonal check-up and attending to the necessary repairs and other little jobs about the house that will make it a better place in which to live.

Minor repairs should be made promptly. Failure to do so will often result in more serious breakdowns later on — may even necessitate an expensive major overhaul that might have been avoided.

Here is a convenient guide to a "spring inspection" that will determine how you can step up the appearance and livability of your home.

1. The Outside. This is your home's face to the public. Check roofing and siding. Small cracks, peeling, etc. often require little more than minor repairs or repainting. The new latex paints that cover exteriors with a single coat make it far easier than heretofore to put a fresh, bright sparkle into a weather-worn home.

Moreover, new materials on the market can sometimes make it cheaper to have new roofing or siding installed than to do a patch job.

Among the materials that now include new time-and-money-saving features are: (a) fireproof shingles that protect while they beautify, and (b) sidings that provide insulation, retaining building heat and cutting fuel bills. Fuel savings, over the years, can amortize the cost of the installation.

Then there are rot-resistant sidings and shingles that provide longer life and beauty for the home. Some sidings have baked-on decorator colors that never need repainting.

2. Inside the House. A change in the family's size and needs may call for a room addition or interior remodeling. Consider converting the basement to a finished recreation room, or add a finished bedroom or den to the attic to meet expanded family needs.

Effect a "change of scene" in any or all rooms via a new paint job or wallpaper — or a combination of both. Consider new floor coverings, too.

3. The Grounds. Even a small backyard can become a happy, modern outdoor living area. New patio awnings and shelters can convert a small corner near the house into a suitable area for summer relaxation and barbecue fun.

SMOOTH SPLICE

To splice two pieces of lumber, cut one off at a long, tapered angle, use it as a template to mark off the second piece at the same angle. Join with screws through edge, reinforced with glue.

The Ohio Rural Health Council is made up of representatives from 26 organizations with interests in health problems.

Pass-Through To Kitchen Proves Big Step-Saver

The kitchen pass-through could save you a lot of steps. It's simply an opening in the wall through which you can pass food, dishes or the like. Usually it is located between the dining room and the kitchen.

It is well to use a sturdy, heat-proof material like ceramic tile for the pass-through's serving counter. The counter must have a fireproof surface for safety — and plenty of durability to stand up under the constant abuse of hot dishes and pans. Because it's bound to be soiled, your counter should also be easy to clean. A wet sponge will do the trick on real fine...

SAWING SMALL CUTS

A piece of scrap lumber, clamped to the board from which you must saw a very small amount will prevent the saw slipping off.

HAND PROTECTOR

Messy jobs can be made less so by using small plastic vegetable bags as emergency work-gloves. They are water and grease-proof, and do not interfere with the sense of touch.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Weaver, 4440 W. Broad-st, daughter, Mar. 9, at Riverside.

Sunday Rites Scheduled At Glenwood

Two identical services of worship, introduced last Sunday at Glenwood Methodist to ease overcrowding of the new church facilities, will continue on a permanent basis.

The early service at 8:15 is arranged as a family service, with parents and children worshiping together. Nursery care for small children two and under, is provided.

Second service is at 10:45.

Adult Sunday School classes, with the exception of Fellowship Class, will convene in the auditorium of the adjoining Hilltop YMCA at 9:30 a.m. At this time a decision will be announced on permanent meeting arrangements for adult classes.

New enrollments in the children's Sunday School have so increased the size of the classes that all the church's educational facilities are needed.

The construction of an educational wing to the church is planned as soon as funds are available.

Hilltonia, Hilltop Libraries Have Help For Gardeners

With spring now upon us, local librarians this week reminded gardening enthusiasts that books at the Hilltonia and Hilltop libraries can help them with many of their most vexing problems.

"It's true that you can learn a great deal more about gardening from experience, but thorough reading and study can help eliminate the guesswork and prevent many unnecessary mistakes," a library representative stated.

One of the newest gardening manuals is Edward Seymour's "The Wise Garden Encyclopedia," which tells how to grow and care for annuals and perennials, lawns, shrubs and bushes, vegetables, fruits, vines, shade trees and evergreens. The authors are a group of horticultural experts.

Other recently-published books which give helpful, practical information about gardening include "Practical Gardens and Outdoor Living," "Gardening Without Work," "The Gardener's World," "The Guide to Garden Flowers: Their Identity and Culture," "What's New in Gardening," "Perennials For Every Garden," "Pruning Made Easy," "Plant Disease Handbook," "America's Garden Book," "Garden Ideas," "The Complete Book of Lawns," "10,000 Garden Questions Answered by 20 Experts," and "How You Can Grow Beautiful Roses."

The library also receives a number of magazines on gardening, including "Better Homes and Gardens," "Flower Grower" and "House and Garden."

Stamp Club To Be Organized

Another new group has been organized at the Hilltop "Y" to offer its membership a new opportunity. Gene McGurer has consented to serve as advisor for a stamp club to be formed for all interested individuals. Emphasis is on assistance for beginners, but adults as well as youth are welcome to attend these sessions.

The first meeting of all stamp enthusiasts was held Monday, Mar. 26, at 7:15, at the "Y." All persons who are interested in philatelics are invited to attend these sessions. The tentative plans call for this group to meet the second and fourth Mondays at the "Y."

PROMOTED

JAMES M. MARTIN, son of Mrs. William L. Martin of 307 N. Burgess-av, has been promoted to senior master sergeant in the Air Force. He is assigned to the 1298th Air Transport Squadron at Andrews AFB as a flight traffic superintendent.

Capital U. To Hold Congress

Capital University will look like Capitol Hill Saturday, Mar. 31, when some 1000 Ohio high school students gather for the Federal Legislature project sponsored by the university's Political Science Club.

The students will enact a session of Congress. There will be congressional committee meetings, party caucuses and a governors' conference.

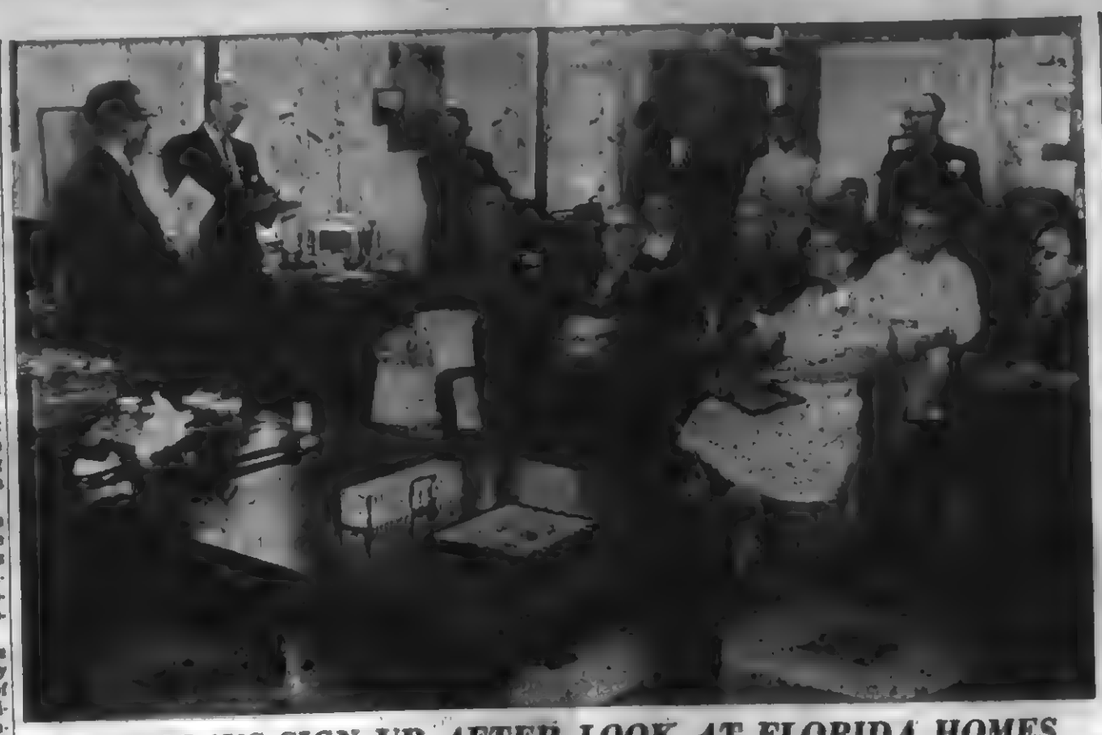
Keynote speaker will be Jack Miller, Republican senator from Iowa. He will talk on the voting responsibilities of United States citizens.

More than 40 Ohio high schools will take part in the project. Students will serve as congressmen, governors, cabinet members, lobbyists, secretaries, pages and newspaper reporters.

A wide variety of bills will be discussed in committees. They are: prohibiting shipment of imports from Cuba, federal financial aid to the United Nations, federal scholarship aid for higher education, consolidation of the U.S. armed services, limitation of servicemen's dependents going overseas, federal financial aid for public fallout shelters constructed by the states.

A change in federal postage rates, a comprehensive two-year farm program, establishment of wildlife refuges and recreational areas around cities, abolishment of capital punishment, abolishment of all voting qualifications except age and citizenship requirements.

Creation of a governmental agriculture academy and experimental station, authorization of the United States to become an associate of the European Common Market, a special import fee on cotton textiles, changes in the electoral college system, withholding of grants-in-aid from states refusing to support equality granted by national civil rights legislation.



Federal aid for summer employment of students, a farm program in which farmers would take the initiative in solving their problems, and federal financial aid for vocational training in depressed areas.

The governors' conference will discuss civil defense and federal aid to education.

Advisor for the project is John M. Vorys, who represented Ohio's 12th District in the U.S. Congress from 1939 to 1959. Club advisor is Dr. Kenneth J. Martin, chairman of the university's political science department.

Quote and Unquote: If we used a fourth of publicity releases brought to our desk by mail each week our papers would weigh another half pound . . . Soap Box Derby Coming Here Next July

THE MAIL WENT CLEAR THROUGH!

THE POST OFFICE SLOGAN of "The mail must go through," was stretched just a little bit recently when the olive green and red and blue boxes were hurled through the side of a Cadillac. The boxes were moved from their location at Mound-st and Sullivant-av by the car on the left which leaped the sidewalk following a collision in the intersection. The boxes were driven against the car on the right, which in turn was pushed against another car on its right, both sitting on a used car lot. Needless to say the cars and mail boxes required some bodywork.

Hill Called 'Ideal'; Car Clinics Start Saturday At Sunshine

West Broad Street hill has been singled out as the "raceway of future champions" by a committee that is bringing the Soap Box Derby back to Columbus.

Only a hundred days remain for the momentous task of planning an event that will bring an estimated 10 to 15,000 people to the hill Saturday and Sunday, July 14 and 15.

Only once before, in 1933, was the spirited contest for boys and their motorless, homemade racers held here. It was the first Columbus derby. After that the event was run on Grandview Hill (except for the war years) until it was dropped in 1954.

Derby Director Tom Hawk, a Jaycee of previous Derby experience, said clinics will start this Saturday morning at Sunshine Park to acquaint youngsters from all over Central Ohio with the details of the race.

According to Hawk, the 900-foot Broad-st Hill run is ideal because it closely matches Derby Downs at Akron. "The first few yards are steepest and will get the cars rolling well," he said. "After that the grade tapers out and it is there that the aerodynamics (streamlining) of the cars will really count."

"It may take a year or two to turn out a national champ," Hawk continued, "but we have a good place here to develop one." The derby director said the building of the racers is a pretty exact science that takes several years to perfect.

All entrants must build their own cars. Total cost of the car cannot exceed $30, excluding wheels, prescribed axle sets ($14), steering assembly and paint.

Movies are being shown after classes this week and next in junior high schools to help stir up boy interest. The clinics at Sunshine Park will be at 10 a.m. Apr. 7, 21, May 5, 19, and June 2.

"Kenneth Holmboe, Gahanna, winner of the 1947 All-American Derby, will be on hand to steer the boys straight in building their cars," Hawk said. "He will be assisted at these clinics by seven former local race winners, so the boys will be getting expert advice."

Two Age Groups Compete

Hawk said the races will be run in two age groups: Class A for those who will be 13 through 15 on Aug. 1, 1962; and Class B for those 11 or 12 by that date. The winner of each class will be matched at the windup of the big local race and the fastest car and driver will be Columbus' entry at Akron.

The Columbus winner will receive a $500 Bond and will be sent to the Akron Derby free of charge. Other prizes will go to the runners-up, best designed car, best brakes, and fastest heat time. Winners of the All-American will receive over $30,000 in scholarships. The national champion will win a $7,500 scholarship to the college of his choice.

Mayor 'Delighted'

In announcing city approval of the races Mayor Ralston Westlake said: "I am delighted that Columbus will once again have a Soap Box Derby. The boys who race, their parents, and the community will all benefit and should be proud of what is achieved. I am looking forward to the day when the winner of our Derby returns to Columbus from Akron wearing the champion's crown."

Mayor Westlake stated that normal traffic will be diverted from the race area, just west of Central-av, during the Derby. Alternate traffic routes will be used, however Columbus Transit Co. buses will maintain their regular schedules. Derby Director Hawk said the buses probably will use one outside lane on each side.

Inspection Tent Planned

Derby officials plan to set up an inspection tent in Glenwood Park at the base of the hill, several days before the race. There, cars will be carefully checked against the rule book and will be impounded so they will be ready by Friday.

The afternoon of Saturday the 14th will be devoted to "dry runs" with time trials and a chance for minor adjustments. Broad-st traffic will be diverted most of Sunday, race day. Director Hawk said two or three cars will race at a time, and the entire race is expected to

REGISTRATION INFORMATION

For complete Soap Box Derby information, a boy should call CA. 8-2773 (Jaycee office.) He is told to go to any of the cooperating auto dealers (Bobb, Maxton, Meyers, Rodenfels, White, Winders) with his parents or guardian and register. He will be given his Derby driver's license and manual of rules for racer construction.

Valleyview Solons Ask Paving Bid

Valleyview Council Monday night voted to advertise for bids on what Mayor Robert Fisher hopes can be the first of "at least two" major street projects in the village.

Bids on repaving 850 feet of Murray-av from Valleyview-dr north to the street's dead-end are to be opened at noon Apr. 21.

Fisher said he now had no estimate of what the project would cost. He added, however, he hoped "it won't be too much, because I have a couple of other big paving jobs in mind if we have the necessary money." He did not specify what additional projects were being considered.

Council also authorized the completion of paving at a village-owned basketball court. The work, which will cost about $300 is to be done by Trimmer Construction Co. The court will be used as a general recreation area for Valleyview youth.

A three-citizen committee appeared before the solons with a familiar complaint — too many loose dogs on village streets.

Council agreed to notify dog-owners to restrict the meanderings of "man's best friend" on penalty of having the loose ani-

AUBLE WILL REPORT

Farm Program Should Be Concern Of All . . .

Is the government farm program a losing battle? Without it would farming collapse? These questions and many more will be the topic of Hartley Newspaper coverage of farm proposals before the Federal government in Washington, D.C.

John Auble, Jr., Hartley newswriter, will be on hand in Washington Apr. 9-10-11 to give a first-hand report of Ohio Farm Bureau Conferences with legislators.

It's time that all people take a closer look at what ails farming—one of our basic industries. It's John Q. Taxpayer who's affected and who should be informed of new planning.

The farm report, including an interview with Secretary of Agriculture, Orville L. Freeman, will appear in the Apr. 18 issue of your Hartley Newspapers.

From Franklin County, the farm spokesman making the trip is Paul Dutenhaver, 6601 O'Harra-rd, Galloway. Madison County representative is Paul Overturf, Rt. 1, Irwin, O. From Highland County, the spokesman is Homer Bohl, Rt. 1, New Vienna, O.

The group will arrive Apr 9 and will go immediately into a review of issues current in Congress. First on the agenda will be meetings with Republican representatives Clarence Brown, member of the House Rules Committee, and Del Latta, member of the House Agriculture Committee.

Senator Frank J. Lausche will be interviewed by Auble, Tuesday, following the local spokesmen's visits with the congressmen. A breakfast with Senator Stephen M. Young will highlight the final day of the trip.

The Ohio Farm Bureau Congressional spokesmen have determined the five major issues they'll discuss with their congressmen and other Washington officials while in the nation's capital.

President Wendell Weller, Urbana, said the group of 40 farm leaders will urge amendments to the Administration's farm program bill (H.R. 10010) now before the Agriculture Committee of the House.

"The farm program strongly supported by Ohio farmers contains some features of both the Administration and American Farm Bureau Federation proposals," Weller pointed out.

"Our members are urging (1) a voluntary land retirement of 60 to 80 million acres, (2) a percentage cutback of feed grain acreage on each farm with freedom to plant the balance to any crop, necessary to bring supply

McKinley Relocation Pushed

Columbus city council Monday night granted right-of-way easements totaling 2.758 acres to Franklin County to begin land acquisition for the $125,000 McKinley-av relocation project north of Fisher-rd.

County Engineer Guy Elbin said it is hoped elimination of two hazardous curves on McKinley-av can be completed this year.

However, it was pointed out by department officials, all other land in the relocation area must still be acquired from private owners. "The parcel obtained from the city is just a beginning," one right-of-way expert commented.

Plans call for the new route to be constructed just east of a city-owned pistol range, barn and incinerator. Approximately a quarter-mile of roadway will be relocated.

The McKinley-av project is part of a $1 million road and bridge improvement and maintenance program planned for this year by the county.

Planners Act On Hilltop Properties

Two Hilltop area properties were acted upon last Wednesday by the Columbus Planning Commission.

The first "package" was an ask for rezoning of six lots on the south side of Sullivant-av between Nashoba-av and Hilltonia-av by Dr. William Kontras, DDS 2673 W. Broad-st.

The Commission held up action of this land until signatures are obtained from property owners in the area. Rezoning was asked in that area from commercial to apartment residential.

The second rezoning plea, brought before the commission by realtor Ed Tonti, also concerned the south side of Sullivant-av between Brinker-av and Athens av

City To Be Subtle, But Effective, During Clean-Up Columbus Week

This year's Clean-Up Columbus Week campaign — Apr. 7 through Apr. 14 — might not contain all the whoop-de-dos as in past years but look for an equally effective job of sweeping out this city.

Roland Brauch, assistant superintendent of the Division of Sanitation, announced Monday that no special schedule has been set for the collection of debris—as in years previous.

"Just put everything out on regular collection days," said Brauch, "we'll get to it. Excess items—not suitable for garbage cans—will be collected at later dates."

Columbus citizens will be able to dump trash free of charge in the city's Frank-rd landfill during Clean-Up Columbus week, according to Arthur J. Bellar, Sanitation superintendent.

Bellar said that the Frank-rd dump will be open for public use from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day of the week-long campaign He also stated that all burnable trash may be taken to either the Short-st, John-st or McKinley-av incinerators for disposal during the week.

"Brauch is in charge of our all-out effort to make this year's clean-up campaign a real success," Bellar said, "and with every citizen's cooperation we can make Columbus one of the cleanest cities in the country."

Brauch's success with the campaign should be in a quiet way, though. "We're not going to bother about clean-up schedules for this simple reason," Brauch said:

"Last year, we had a street-by-street schedule. On the first day of pick-up, local residents got too enthused. Our trucks couldn't handle it all. Then it kept dwindling off. We never knew how many trucks to send out and we wasted a lot of time."

So, this year it'll just be run

Goodwill has assigned all its 12 trucks to help in the collection of materials.

They also have obtained the cooperation of 23 additional large trucks from leading businesses who are loaning their trucks in the collection effort.

In all, 34 trucks will be in operation.

These trucks will be at the schools Tuesday morning Apr 10 from 8 a.m. to 9 a.m. to pick up the filled bags that the school children will bring to them.

Tennis Court Repavement Cost Alarms Council

City Council this week held up money for resurfacing tennis courts at Westgate and Franklin parks.

Councilman Robert T. Southwick denounced as too high the expenditure of $3,000 for each of six courts. Southwick said much less had been spent for blacktopping other courts.

Recreation officials pointed out that a special type of surfacing had been requested by tennis players. Specifications and bids are to be restudied next week.

Officers of both banks announced that First National will operate with its present personnel as the Grove City office of The Huntington National Bank.

The acquisition adds $5.5 million in resources and $400,000 in capital funds to the combined bank, raising the Huntington's totals to more than $235 million in resources and more than $21 million capital.

Farmers' Social Security Tax Due; Pay Options Outlined

C. C. Darby, manager of the Columbus District Office, Social Security Administration, reminds farmers that payment of social security tax for 1961 is due in Internal Revenue by Apr. 16, 1962. A farmer must pay the self-employment tax if his net income from his farm is $400 or more. This tax is due even though no income tax may be due.

If a farmer's net income was less than $400 but his gross was at least $600, he may elect to pay on two-thirds of his gross and report up to $1200 for social security purposes.

Darby also stressed that farmers who haven't paid self-employment tax in past years may wish to use this optional method now and pay back taxes. The last chance to correct and report 1958 income under the optional method is Apr. 15, 1962.

Farmers must also keep a record of their farm workers and crew leaders. Darby said farmers must report and pay taxes on each worker who earns $150 or more in cash wages in a year, or if a worker works 20 days or more during the year for any amount of cash paid on a time basis (hour, day week). The employers tax and the employee tax are each 3⅛ percent, for a total of 6¼ percent of wges. These earnings are reported on Internal Revenue Form 943.

Darby adds that farmers must also report the name, permanent address, and employer's identification number on Page 2 of Form 943 of any crew leader working for them.

SEN MILLER AT CAPITAL (U.)

Nuclear Attacks Concern High Students

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

U.S. Sen. Jack R. Miller didn't do any baby kissing Saturday afternoon when he visited Capital University, but if hand-shaking is a prerequisite for political success he can expect a fruitful career.

The Republican senator from Iowa, on hand at Capital for political-minded high schoolers, finished a conference with the local press. He was ushered into the Mees Hall auditorium for pictures and, following this, wanted a cigarette.

"Where can I smoke this," he said to two Capital maintenance men. "Right here," they said.

"Thanks," he said, "My name's Senator Miller," he continued and shook the hands of the custodians.

"Pleased to meet you Senator," they said. And, from the looks on their faces, they were.

The personable legislator proved to be a real favorite with the kids (even if they can't vote for him) and got down to serious business with the youth from all over Ohio.

It's interesting to note that most of the questions directed him by high school newspaper representatives concerned world problems—foreign aid programs, Cuba and Russia.

Actually, the Senator is big on foreign relations.

"It's fine to talk about being firm with the Communist world," he said, "we want to win the cold war. Our National Purpose is to see all men free. We're out to defeat communism but we have to consider domestic matters, too. It's all one ball of wax.

The most talked about "domestic matter," at least in the opinion of the high schoolers, is the question of fallout shelters.

"There has been a lot of misinformation about shelters and I'm not sure we're ready to build them," he said. "An anti-missile defense could change the whole picture.

"I really haven't made my mind on the subject . . . I don't think Congress has, either. There's a lot of misunderstanding surrounding this topic.

Some of the local students were concerned about the fact that Lockbourne Air Base is located near by and, possibly, would make Columbus a prime target in case of a nuclear attack.

The Senator said potential Soviet targets in the U.S., "it seems reasonable to expect," would be missile bases—out in the western mountains.

He did not think cities like Columbus, despite the locality of LAFB, would be targets on the first wave of a strategic attack.

But, as forboding as such a statement can be, he quickly added, "Russia and Red China are both out to get us. We're their No. 1 target."

He believes that the day of an "all-out nuclear attack," however is years away.

The Russian missile program is "not all they would have us think," he said, but added that the United States must keep its nuclear weaponry strong and ready to deter any Soviet power grabs.

Gives Thought-Provoking Answer

One interesting note was raised by an interviewer who said he understood that the U.S. would never be the aggressor toward a world war.

"Where did you get that idea?" the Senator retorted. "I have never heard a responsible statement to that effect. There's no reason in the world why we wouldn't start a war if we felt it necessary."

Sen. Miller says he spends more time on foreign relations than any other problem.

He is an Air Force veteran for 25 years and presently a colonel in the Air Force Reserve. He defeated Gov. Rhodes' Loveless for the senate seat in 1960 and is a tax lawyer by profession.

This is the third year the Science Club at Capital has sponsored a practical study of government for high school junior and seniors. More than 1000 attended.

"I'm from Iowa—right in the heart of the corn belt—," he said, "and nobody's asked me about the farm program."

Well, for high schoolers anyway, war and nuclear attacks seemed to be just a wee more important.

Increase In Direct State Aid Is Sought By Wright For Schools

Only an increase in direct state aid can save Ohio's public school system from eventual federal control, according to Craig Wright, Republican candidate for state legislature.

Wright says that since 1935, there has been a steady decline in the proportion of school costs shouldered by the State. "In the same period," he added, "the tax load borne by the property owner has more than tripled. These trends should be reversed."

As Wright sees it, the legislature must meet this problem and, he says, a meeting is long overdue. One of the ways to solve the situation is to follow this course of action:

1. Revision of State school foundation to reflect a realistic appraisal of the costs involved in operating a school district.
2. Increase the amount of assistance for school districts unable to provide adequate classroom facilities and minimum teacher's salaries.
3. Establish a system of two year community colleges and technical institutions to provide training for students unsuited for university work.

"We must be willing to make this investment in our youth and accept the sacrifices involved," he continued. "We should also consider the following economies as to State spending in this area:

1. Increase university tuition fees for out-of-state students. The present schedule is not realistic, and
2. Amend the law requiring Ohio State University to accept any graduate of an Ohio high school, regardless of academic potential. The present rate of academic failure and first year drop outs is tremendously wasteful and a system of college boards should be inaugurated."

Wright feels that this country is in a "life and death struggle" with the Soviet Union for technological progress and "the minds of men. Our youth are our principal hope for success, the need for meeting this challenge."

Wright is former Safety Director for Whitehall and resigned recently to pursue his state legislature campaign. He resides at 438 Country Club-rd and is an attorney with Wright, Gilbert and Lewis law firm.

Potato Plug Fails; House Is Wrecked

The gas was ignited either by a hot water heater or a heater in the living room, according to Capt. Don Welsch of the Franklin Township Fire Department.

The blast knocked out parts of the north and south sides of the house and lifted the sides two feet from the foundation. De Age was estimated at $12,000.

Fire in the living room was extinguished by firemen summoned by Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Wucher, 1470 Brown-rd.

Several hours before the blast the family of Robert L. Stevenson moved from the home, intending to go to Arkansas, according to Capt. Welsh. The building is owned by Sam Covin of Jackson.

Old Adage Suits Campaign

If "cleanliness is next to Godliness," then it is appropriate that "Cleaner Columbus Week" be conducted during Lent.

Health Commissioner Dr. Ollie Goodloe cleverly pointed this out Thursday as civic officials of Columbus and surrounding communities got together to map out the annual spring clean-up campaign.

Mayor Westlake has proclaimed April 7 through 14 as a time to clean up, pick up and fix up. Other towns are following suit. A citizens group, headed by Harold Kayne, is organizing the educational plan.

Paul L. Jones, president of the Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce put it this way: "It's good business for every one of us and an investment in the future to participate in the cleanup campaign."

"As our community improves its appearance, reduces health hazards, cuts fire losses and shows the world a cleaner face, it will be apparent to all that our citizens are progressive and civic minded." When corporations consider expanding into new localities, they send specially trained staffs into the areas to look for these qualities, the chamber president said.

Another campaign dividend was emphasized by Police Chief Scholer: "As youthful energy is converted into productive cleanup activity, the younger generation has less incentive and opportunity for getting into trouble.

"Our children will discover the satisfaction of cooperative effort and the pleasure of seeing their work result in more attractive surroundings," the chief said. They learn a healthy respect for property, their own and that of others. All these elements help fight juvenile delinquency."

And finally a word from the man who has to pick up what we don't. Jarrett Chavous, street cleaning superintendent, remarked: "The litter thrown in the street is more than paper and trash — it's taxpayer's money. Debris like this causes clogged gutters and sewers, and extra men and equipment are required to get the cleanup job done.

"No one would knowingly throw money into the streets and highways, yet that is exactly what the litterbugs are doing."

"EVERY LITTER BIT HURTS"

People Helping People

Someone once said that man's highest purpose on this earth is to help his fellow man.

This is a deeply rooted belief of all Americans. Today, we say the same thing in the meaningful phrase "People Helping People" epitomizing a philosophy that is the heart and life blood of the American way of life.

It has been amply demonstrated throughout our nation's history that this conviction and this interest of people in people has brought about the great surge of progress in health and welfare in this country in the past several decades.

Among the people we want most to help are our crippled children. For long centuries social rejects, they are today part of us, working their way into every phase of our lives and our consciousness. They are the people we help when we give to Easter Seals or donate our time as volunteers. It is truly people helping people when we give to enable these children to speak so they can communicate with their friends; to walk so they can go to school; to use their hands so they can be useful to themselves and their families; to work gainfully to help build our community and our nation.

But, to look at it from another point of view, aren't they also people helping people? They give us an opportunity to express the best that is in us. They open our hearts and our minds to the warmth of understanding and generosity. They give us an opportunity to express our finest impulses. Aren't they people helping us to be better people?

Tax Credit For Pensioners Is Suggested

Pensioners are worried about their real estate taxes. They are worried because taxes are constantly increasing and the pensioners have no way of increasing their income to pay increased taxes. Physical disabilities, infirmities of age or employment age limits imposed by employes bar pensioners from obtaining additional funds to keep up with increasing tax and other costs. Can anything be done to help in such circumstances is the question asked us here in the County Treasurer's office.

It is our suggestion that present laws be amended to provide for the following: When taxes (not special improvement assessments) are increased above the taxes charged in the tax year 1961 a credit or remission of such increase be allowed not in excess of $60 per year. Such credit should be issued only to persons who are receiving fixed incomes from Social Security, annuities or interest of not more than $1,600 per year. The credit should be granted only for use on property owned or occupied by the person having the fixed income.

Admittedly this suggestion is only an outline of the idea. It will take study and more exact language to accomplish fully the idea. If the coming Legislature could come up with an answer to this problem it would be a welcome move to these pensioners. Because of their age and physical condition they cannot now get out to earn added income. The least that might be done would be to try to assure them that they would not be put to added hardships because of increased taxes over which they have no control.

'A Real Service'

To The Publisher:

Congratulations on the fine message by Lloyd Jones—that was a real service to the community.

John Loehnert

Ed. Note: Mr. Loehnert's sentiments were duplicated in a deluge of telephone calls from readers following our publication of "Who Is Tampering With The Soul of America?" In order to answer a demand for reprints we have ordered a limited supply in booklet form. Send 10 cents (per copy) and a stamp to: Hartley Newspapers, 2465 W. Broad-st, Columbus 4, Ohio.

'Revive Altar, Flag'

"God and Country" is the name of a program which will run from May 1 through May 13.

"God and Country" has a dual purpose. (1) To promote daily family Bible reading each of the 13 days. Perhaps by the end of the 13 days the habit of daily Bible reading will be instilled in us to the point that there will be a return to the family altar; and (2) to fly the flag of our country each and every one of these 13 days to show God and indeed the entire world how truly thankful we are to live in a land where we are allowed to have a family altar.

I suggested that "God and Country" is exactly the kind of program that the communists don't want.

It is being sponsored and promoted by the congregation of the Thomas Avenue Church of Christ, 904 Thomas-av.

Everyone is invited to join us in the carrying out of the "God and Country" program.

Advice And Dissent

In response to your reprint editorial of last week: Mr. Jones does a fine job of describing the sickness (primary symptom — loss of integrity) but seems to fall into it himself when he attempts a prescription for health.

After a beautiful description of people without individual moral responsibility, he proceeds to blame the authors, playwrights, etc. for moral degeneracy. Come, come Mr. Jones, your theory of individual responsibility convicts you of poor thinking. If the lack of integrity and individual responsibility are at the heart of our "evil times," then we must not blame the creators of works, but rather the receivers of "sin."

Yes, let editors take up the battle, but do it remembering that "evil lurks in the hearts of (individual) men." "I" am responsible, not "we," or "they."

Taylor Grey
Editor, Grove City Record

Ed Note: We would like to hear from more "receivers of sin." There must be some from within the readership of the Grove City Record who have interesting opinions of their editor's argument.

Editorial Pleases

To The Publisher—

In your March 15 edition, page 4, under the heading "Let's Not Discourage Savings" is a very fine article. Common sense all the way. More articles such as this would be worth while.

Week before last I wrote to 15 senators and Congressmen, stating my views on the withholding tax bill now before Congress. The replies have started to come in.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Orange Juice Output Ahead Of Last Year

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Grapefruit, Valencia oranges, apples; frozen orange juice.

At present, we strongly recommend fresh orange juice as a family breakfast treat while Florida Valencia oranges are at their peak in sweetness and flavor. But, it's good to know that production this year of frozen orange juice concentrate is running well ahead of 1960-61 season. This assures plenty of orange juice for the months ahead, at favorable prices.

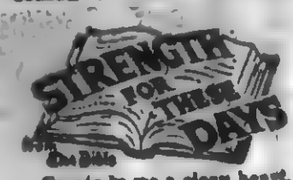
Mrs. Franks

Through mid-February, with processing at about half-way point, the pack was up around 20 percent in Florida, where nearly all the frozen orange juice concentrate is processed. And, a big crop of late-season Valencias still remains for harvest. Since a large part of these oranges will be used for processing, output of frozen concentrate should continue well above a year ago; and prices favorable to buyers should continue in the weeks ahead.

A Report on Freeze-Drying

A relatively new process for marketing foods called freeze-drying has received much publicity and seems to have great promise for the future.

Wondering what it is? Under this process, foods are first frozen and then slowly dehydrated under vacuum until practically all the moisture is removed. This causes ice to vaporize, leaving the product porous and in its original shape — with the tissue and fibers unchanged.



Freeze-dried foods weigh from one sixth to one third of their original weight. They can be quickly dehydrated or reconstituted by adding water, and will regain their original weight, flavor and texture. Reports indicate there is little or no change in nutritive value or palatability.

Potentially, freeze-drying has a number of advantages. The foods keep well and are easy to store. When properly sealed, freeze-dried foods can be held at room temperatures for long periods. They offer convenience and taste appeal, too, since they can be quickly and easily dehydrated to provide foods of fresh flavor. Savings on transportation, storage and packaging costs are other potentials, as compared with fresh, frozen and canned foods.

Many large food processors are now trying the freeze-drying process, either experimentally or on a limited production basis. Soup mixes and shrimp are among the products now available. At least two major meat processors are now marketing freeze-dried meat products, including pork chops, steaks, hamburgers, ham patties and chicken stew. Prices are high, however, and so far these meats have been aimed mainly at the outdoor market provided by campers and hunters.

How rapidly the production and use of freeze-dried foods will increase depends upon two things. One is the rate of reductions in processing costs. The other — the extent to which consumers accept present and future freeze-dried products.

ONE MAN'S Opinion . . .

Are Short Skirts Being Short Circuited?

Some fashion experts indicate that skirts will be a little longer this spring.

Never has the adage, "In the spring a young man's fancy . . ." been more true than this spring. For if the skirts are going to be longer, then men will be cheated of something they might have enjoyed all winter.

Beardshear

Sorry kids, but the fuddy-duddies have had their say. Knees could well be returning to their perpetual cocoon and man will be robbed of some of the sights in the rites of spring.

Just what is the short skirt? Seemingly it is an age phenomenon. There are short-shorts for teenagers, medium-shorts for the collegian, and long-shorts for the woman on the street. Seems that the heightened hem line was introduced in the fall of '60. Not the spring but the fall, and we men have had only one spring of the stilted stitch.

After all, knees have been here much longer than fashion, and their appreciation has been here as long as man.

So if short-short styles are shorted in the short season of spring in the name of fashion, then this could be an epitaph. I don't think it's a good time of year for epitaphs. Do you?

—Edward Beardshear

Canoeist Is Special Breed Of Sportsman

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

The American Indians started it all apparently, with their birch barks. A canoe is the ultimate in lightweight marine engineering, and has never been improved upon. Aborigines in other continents developed their crafts, but they were crude compared to a canoe. Eskimos stretched skins over wood and bone frames, and kayaks become extremely useful vessels, but they were not canoes.

What brought about this outburst? My neighbor's new canoe arrived the other day and we tried it out last Saturday on Little Darby Creek. Ron Carlson, his son, Bruce, and I took advantage of the high water to explore a stretch of stream for future fishing. Normally, Little Darby is a series of pools and riffles and is not suited to canoeing.

The outgrowth of the trip was my discovery, for perhaps the hundredth time, of what a joy it is to float downstream in a canoe. Every time I launch a canoe I ask myself the same question. "Why don't I do this more often?"

Most of my canoeing has been done on float fishing trips. This is a foolproof system of fishing, for you have fun even if the fish are not hitting. But last Saturday I was not bothered with a rod and reel, tackle box and camera. The day was reserved simply for enjoying the outdoors and canoeing down a stream.

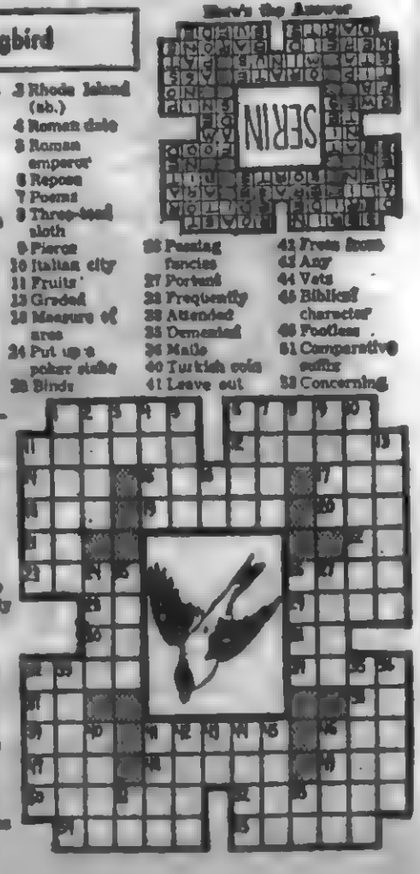
Silent Transportation

A canoe is the quietest of watercraft. The solitude of a spring day was broken only by the cawing of crows, wood ducks flushing from backwater pools and a distant tractor plowing a field. Two boys throwing stones into the stream were so engrossed in their activities that they did not see us until we were upon them. A cock pheasant flew across the creek not knowing he was observed. From a mud bank a turtle placidly watched us go by and was not alarmed.

The sport of canoeing is growing but is not booming as are some outdoor activities. The canoeist is a special breed, and does not flock together in crowds. There is no such thing as crowded canoeing. He seeks quiet and solitude, and traverses water untouched by motorboats and water skiers.

Many people associate canoeing with the far North, whitewater, dangerous rapids, Indian guides and the like. While it is true the most spectacular type of canoe trips are carried out under these circumstances, a lot are not. Probably the most famous canoe country in the world is the Quetico-Superior region — an area straddling the U. S. and Canadian border. Here a person of modest ability may go for days exploring wilderness, camping and fishing and not shoot any death-defying rapids.

Close to home there are many canoeing opportunities. The Olentangy and Scioto Rivers are both good north of here. Big Darby is good south, along with Big Walnut Creek when water conditions are right. A little farther away are the Kokosing and Mohican Rivers — both flow through beautiful terrain and offer good fishing.



Like I was saying, the American Indians started it all. And I, for one, am glad they did.

Young Riflemen Win Top Spots In Statewide Shooting Contests

The Junior Rifle Club is sponsored by the Central Ohio Anglers and Hunters Club, the oldest conservation club in Ohio.

Last year the club took first place in the Buckeye Junior Rifle League and now leads in current competitions. On Mar. 18 the club sent a four-man team to St. Marys, O., where the NRA Junior indoor sectional match was held and took first place team award. These scores and victories all count toward the National NRA indoor championship competition.

The club was formed and received its charter in 1958, with two objectives in mind; first, to promote safe gun handling and second, instruction in marksmanship. Jack Glase is the president of the senior club which sponsors the junior club.

All new members receive four hours of instruction in safe gun handling and in the past four years the senior club has sponsored approximately 125 children between the ages of 12 and 19 at the Camp Perry National Rifle Matches which conducts a Junior Tyro School for the purpose of gun safety and marksmanship.

The chief adult instructor is Paul Jay Hanley, who is assisted by instructor Art McCoy, scorer Ed Tabbutt, advisors Jim Leitz, Carol Leitz, Roy Davis and Wilber Mefferd.

HARTLEY NEWSPAPERS

Pleasure Page

Beverly Fleishman
Editor

A New Face . . . . . A New Feature

Beverly Fleishman, a graduate of Bexley High School and Chatham College, has been named editor of the Pleasure Page, a new Hartley Newspaper feature that appears here for the first time.

BEVERLY FLEISHMAN

Miss Fleishman has had experience in newspaper and publishing work in both New York and San Francisco. She was most recently on the editorial staff of Sierra Club Books in San Francisco and was also head of the publicity department. Prior to that, she was with Columbia University Press and has done freelance writing for several New York and California publications.

The Pleasure Page will be a weekly feature appearing in all seven of the Hartley papers. It will be entirely devoted to coverage of Columbus area entertainment and cultural events.

American Primitives At Gallery

Primitive Art is a phrase not often associated with American painting. Yet there is a sizeable array of pictures that come under this very category. One hundred ope of these early American paintings are currently on display at the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts, where they may be viewed from now until Apr. 30.

Taken from the collection of Colonel and Mrs. Garbisch, this is the largest gathering of American and primitive art in existence — a collection that has taken since 1944 to assemble.

These spontaneous records of America's past are by both known and unknown artists who were house and sign painters, artisans, farmers and frontiersmen and portraitists. The earliest pictures in the collection are dated from 1710 and the latest, in the last quarter of the 19th century.

For the most part these works are vivid records of America's past—here are family scenes, country views, battles, circuses; in short, a pictorial history lesson of the life and times of our American ancestry.

"Our primitives have a particular significance," states John Walker, director of the National Gallery of Art, "American primitive paintings are beautiful in themselves, inventive in their linear patterns, decorative in their pure and simple colors . . . From their (the artists') honesty and integrity resulted an original, truly American style, a style beautifully revealed in the 101 masterpieces of American primitive painting."

Musical Music Man

HARRY HICKOX heads the cast of "The Music Man," which opens at the Hartman on Tuesday, Apr. 17, for an engagement through Saturday, Apr. 21, including a Saturday matinee. Hickox, who began his show business career as a jazz guitarist, portrays a larcenous band instrument salesman from Iowa in the Meredith Willson production. "Time" has tagged the tuneful play "Broadway's biggest musical hit."

'Two Women' Termed Powerful, Moving Film

Neo-realism in postwar Italian films reaches a milestone in "Two Women," powerful drama of a mother and daughter in the days immediately preceding the downfall of Mussolini, now playing at the Bexley and World theaters.

Sophia Loren, who has been nominated for an Academy Award for her performance as the determined and resourceful mother, proves once and for all that she must be considered an actress of major talent. She is ably supported by a young American actress discovered in Naples, Eleanora Brown, who portrays her daughter with great sensitivity, and by Jean Paul Belmondo, a French actor who scores strongly as the would-be patriot.

Based on the celebrated novel by Alberto Moravia, "Two Women" focuses on the raw struggle for survival in the days when Italy was the target for both Nazi and Allied bombers. Director Vittorio DeSica, who has had close personal contact with the misery of war-ruined Italy masterfully captures scenes of both violence and humor — presenting a compassionate picture of a war in which the people were not concerned with issues, but with the day to day problem of survival.

This is not a movie for children or for the squeamish. But for those who do not mind taking a searching look at the effect of war on the human character—with its moments of anguish as well as its moments of warmth — this is a film to be seen and remembered.

Traveling Garbisches Talk Art As They Exhibit 101 Paintings

"Like Topsy, it just grew," commented Mrs. Garbisch of the development of the now famous group of 101 American Primitive Paintings, currently on exhibit this month at the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts — a collection that began as a personal decorating project for the Garbisch Maryland home.

In an interview at the Rocky Fork Country Club, Col. and Mrs. Garbisch, the energetic pair of collectors of the largest exhibit of its kind, went on to explain that as their collection of canvasses — and their interest — grew, they decided to "give the paintings back to the public."

Now, under the auspices of the American Federation of Arts, the traveling Garbisches are sending their colorful group of primitives around the United States—while they themselves are taking time out for a European trip of their own.

The Garbisches, who speak with great enthusiasm for their collection, noted the humor, pathos, and directness in the canvasses of these early Americans, whose art was an "overflowing from the heart and soul."

One of their main interests in displaying these paintings is to allow the public to become familiar with an art that constitutes an important document of our past. It is their belief, however, that these canvasses are of more than just historical significance; for many of the painters were ahead of their time stylistically. This is most evident in the almost surrealistic painting, The Cat, done by an unknown artist about 1840.

It is the hope of the Garbisches that the exhibit of these American primitives will help the paintings to earn the recognition they deserve in the stream of American—and European—art.

Their plans for the future? "To keep on collecting," affirmed the Colonel.

Dame Judith Anderson Tonight

Appearing this evening only is Dame Judith Anderson in her presentation of "Medea" and "Lady MacBeth." The performance, at Mees Auditorium of Capital University, begins at 8 p.m.

Mime An Ancient Art

Mime is an ancient Greek dramatic form in which the players portray events of everyday life with the help of elaborate gestures. This form of entertainment was often farcical, presenting caricatures from low life. It was especially popular at festivals and public gatherings.

As literature, mime developed Sicily and Southern Italy. The Romans adopted this form of entertainment in the third century B.C.; but it was not until Cicero's time that it received adept handling in the works of Roman writers — whose fragmentary works have been handed down to us.

Wreck Kills Doctor's Wife

Mrs. Judit Szabo, 33, was killed instantly Sunday night when her small foreign car plunged off State Rt. 257 just north of Dublin. She was the sole occupant of the car.

Mrs. Szabo, wife of Dr. Lukas Szabo, a physician at Columbus State Hospital, resided at 1741 North Star-rd. She was a librarian at Ohio State University.

Ohio Highway Patrol officials said the car went off the highway just north of Dublin Night Club. Spectators at the scene said the Volkswagen apparently plunged down a steep bank about 10 feet before coming to rest against a tree.

The patrol said the vehicle was south bound.

Services were held Wednesday at Schoedinger Hilltop Chapel. Besides her husband, Mrs. Szabo is survived by her mother, Mrs. Margaret Toth of Hungary, and a sister, Mrs. Eva Halasz of 3549 Fisher-rd.

175 Firms Ready For Home Show

When the doors of the Buckeye Building in the State Fairgrounds open at 2 p.m. this Saturday, 175 firms will be displaying everything new for the home.

There is no one store in the country which displays such a wide variety of items for the home as can be seen at the home show, according to John A. Kight, show manager.

The Home Show is like a huge supermarket specializing in everything for the home, Kight said.

Show hours are 2 to 10 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Monday through Friday the hours are 5 to 10 p.m. Unlimited free parking is available close to the Buckeye Building and tickets are available at the exhibiting firms or may be purchased at the door.

County's Share Of Education Funds Reported

Federal funds distributed in Ohio during the last six months of 1961 under provisions of the National Defense Education Act amounted to $1,102,163, according to Auditor James A. Rhodes. Franklin County's grant was $21,430.

The federal funds are designed to relieve local school districts of the impact of the heavy financial burden growing out of increased enrollment of children whose parents are associated with national defense projects.

The eight large urban counties received a total of $358,218, or 32.5 per cent of the statewide distribution, while two counties, Morgan and Pickaway, received none.

First U.S. newspaper was printed in Boston Apr. 4, 1704.

The project is a concentrated educational program to acquaint students with the Tuberculosis Society's new emphasis on other respiratory diseases (often confused with TB), as well as tuberculosis, during the coming year.

As a springboard, students toured the research labs at Ohio Tuberculosis Hospital recently, seeing Christmas seal research projects in TB and other respiratory diseases, such as emphysema, histoplasmosis and bronchiectasis, which are often confused in symptoms and on X-ray with tuberculosis.

Saturday, Apr. 7, students will view a movie, "Research Doctor," detailing other local research projects, and will question one of the researchists at TB Society headquarters.

Entrant s will write a 1,000-word report and present it to their science classes, or to a full school assembly, before the contest deadline May 7.

RESEARCH TOURISTS at Ohio Tuberculosis Hospital watch as Mrs. Janice Meeks, R.N., 518 Chatham-rd, demonstrates an intermittent positive pressure breathing apparatus on Dr. Joseph A. The project is a concentrated educational program to acquaint students with the Tuberculosis Society's new emphasis on other respiratory diseases (often confused with TB), as well as tuberculosis, during the coming year.

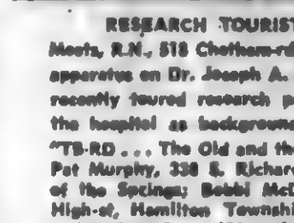
As a springboard, students toured the research labs at Ohio Tuberculosis Hospital recently, seeing Christmas seal research projects in TB and other respiratory diseases, such as emphysema, histoplasmosis and bronchiectasis, which are often confused in symptoms and on X-ray with tuberculosis.

Saturday, Apr. 7, students will view a movie, "Research Doctor," detailing other local research projects, and will question one of the researchists at TB Society headquarters.

Entrants will write a 1,000-word report and present it to their science classes, or to a full school assembly, before the contest deadline May 7.



RESEARCH TOURISTS at Ohio Tuberculosis Hospital watch as Mrs. Janice Meeks, R.N., 518 Chatham-rd, demonstrates an intermittent positive pressure breathing apparatus on Dr. Joseph A. Lipsky, 283 Mayfair-blvd. AUBLEGRAPH

BY JOHN AUBLE, JR.
Hartley Sports Editor

If You Can Hold A Bat WBBA Will Use You

The Whitehall Boys' Baseball Association is finalizing plans for the upcoming year and, from the looks of things now, any kid in that city who can hold a bat will be a member of the varsity.

There's some 500 eligible boys in Whitehall. The WBBA plans to sponsor 42 teams this season — 15 boys to a team. This (note the commendable arithmetic) amounts to some 630 youths, which doesn't leave many out (note the commendable logic.)

According to WBBA president, Harold Fleck, these figures should add up to Whitehall being THE youth baseball city in this part of the state—in relation to its size.

The group held a meeting last Thursday in Whitehall High School's cafeteria. Fifty two were present and the big topics were "need of coaches" and "need of advertising."

Just Like Madison Ave. . . .

Those interested in the WBBA future are currently selling advertising space in a souvenir program booklet. Fleck says the sales aren't going too well.

This is the main way that money is raised to outfit the teams and greater support is being sought in an effort to give almost every kid in Whitehall a chance to play baseball.

If you're interested in coaching, you can sign up Saturday (from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.) in the Etna-rd School gymnasium. This is, also, where you sign up to play on one of the little guys' teams—if you're between eight and 16.

Fleck announced that boys between 13 and 14 and, between 15 and 16, are urgently needed to fill team positions.

Spring Sports Tourney Time . . .

Yippee-doodle, it's spring and Ralph Webster, Central District Board member and coach at new Walnut Ridge High School, has revealed plans for the Central District High School Tournaments for baseball, golf, tennis and track.

The Central District Golf Tourney will be held on the Gray Course on the Ohio State University Golf Course on Friday, May 18.

Schools from the Central District, Eastern District and Southeastern District will have a combined tennis tournament at Ohio State May 18 and 19.

The Central District track meet (AA) will be held at Ohio Wesleyan May 18 and 19 with Class A at OWU on May 17 and 18.

The Class A baseball tourney will be held May 3, 7, 8 and 11 with the diamond yet unnamed. Dugout bosses will meet for a dinner at Willard Restaurant on E. Main-st in Bexley at 7:30 p.m. on Apr. 30 to work out details.

The Class AA diamond squads will square off May 1, 3, 7, 9 and 11 with games all starting at 4 p.m. The AA coaches will eat at Willards at 7:30 on Apr. 23.

Four Cents Profit . . . Wow!

If you're looking for a sure-fire way to make money in today's modern business world, here's a word of advice:

Don't start a basketball tournament.

On the ten days of the tournament at the Fairgrounds Coliseum—between Feb. 24 and Mar. 10—net gross receipts were $34,356.18. Total expenditures were $34,356.18, also, but there's an extra four-cents left over from someplace. Just chalk it up to profit.

Last year, they were left with a quarter with net gross receipts and total expenditures balancing out to $26,576.06. This 1962 season was considered a good year.

Out of the gross receipts for this year, the Ohio High School Athletic Association takes a cut of $5,153.43.

The District's share was $1,717.81, operating costs totaled $8,945.10, team expenses were $3,175.90 and team bonuses amounted to $15,364.

Attendance-wise, the largest crowd to attend the high school tourneys was on Mar. 6, the eighth night of action, when 6,140 fans saw some of the finest local basketball talents in recent memory. Lowest night with attendance was Feb. 28, the fourth night of the tourney, which saw a crowd of 1,824.

Just so you'll know, there were forty games played, 6,788 passes were issued, 34,556 paid to see the action, total attendance for the entire run of the tourney was 41,344. Where else do you get information like this?

Oh yes, the most mileage plied up by any one team was accumulated by a Licking County team, Newark, who totaled 122.40 miles in all.

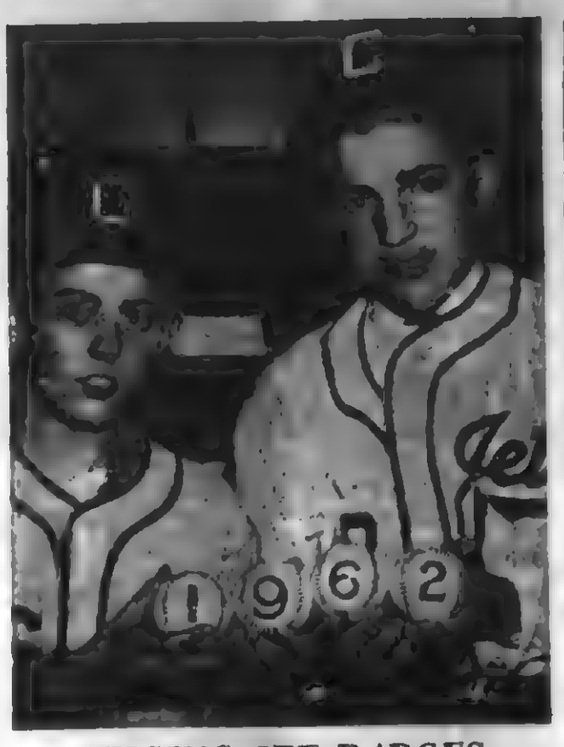
Combine Weapons For Real Fishing Fun . . .

There is a group of sportsmen (and women) in this world who think nothing is more fun than to combine hunting and fishing, using the weapons of ancient times to harvest one of the most ancient of fishes.



In states where it is legal, they take a bow and arrow and go fishing (or hunting) for carp, impaling the fish with an arrow when the fish come into the shallows of rivers or lakes to spawn. It's one of the most exciting sports of all, according to outboard fishing authorities, and an apt combination of fishing and hunting.

It takes a hunter to sneak up on a carp, no casual process. The big-scaled vacuum cleaners are as spooky as a schoolgirl in a saloon, quick to spot a potential danger and quick to react, submerging in a split second.

It takes a fisherman to know when carp will be spawning. This occurs when the water warms to their liking in the spring, whereupon they proceed into shallow water and roll in the spawning process, sometimes with half the fish's back sticking out of the water.

A lot of carp hunters use a lightweight outboard motor to get them to the shallow waters in which carp spawn, then tilt up the motor and pole themselves through water six to eight inches deep, alert for the scaly back of a lunker carp.

Sound interesting? It is, very much so. Get a team of carp archers into a "hot" spot and an afternoon of thrills is in store for them!

Starling Is Second In City Loop

Starling's Basketball team finished a successful season by earning second place in the South Division of the City Junior High League.

Led by Pete Eyer and Kenny Fenderson, who both won all-city honors, the squad finished the season with a fine 10-3 record, which was good enough for the runner-up trophy. This is the first basketball trophy the school has won since their last championship in 1934.

Coach Dave Randall credited the teams success to its overall scoring balance and great desire to win. Six players scored over 60 points of the team's 428 total points. They were Eyer, Fenderson, Mel Thompson, Jim Harris, Jerry Francis, and Dallas Revels. Thompson and Harris earned honorable mention on the all-city team and Harris was the team's leading foul shooter hitting 67 per cent.

Coach Randall was assisted by Terry Breckenbridge, Danny Rippeth and Dick Brown.

Lenten Season Increases Call For Religious Books

The Lenten season has brought stepped-up interest at the Hilltop Library in books about the life of Christ, the Virgin Mary, the Apostles and other biblical personages, Miss Mary E. Kaye, head librarian said.

A number of recently published books tell the story of the life of Jesus. Some of the titles include "The Life and Teaching of Jesus," by Edward Bauman; "Jesus and His Story," translated from the German by Richard and Clara Winston; and "Jesus In His Homeland," by Sherman Johnson. Novelist Frank G. Slaughter has written "The Crown and the Cross: The Life of Christ," and popular writer Jim Bishop has panned such best-sellers as "The Day Christ Was Born" and "The Day Christ Died." A much read book which interprets the words and the works of Jesus is Daniel A. Poling's "Jesus Says to You."

For those who would like to read about Mary, the mother of Jesus, the library has "The Book of Mary," by Henry Daniel-Rops and "The Virgin Mary," by Jean Guitton.

Books on the Apostles also are frequently requested. Among available titles are Edgar Goodspeed's "The Twelve," and Gaston Foote's intimate character study of the disciples of Jesus "The Transformation of the Twelve."

Some thought-provoking sidelights on the many personages of the Bible are found in "All the Men of the Bible," by Herbert Lockyer, and "Bible Women Come Alive," by Hazel Nelson.

Recent fiction based on Bible incidents include Taylor Caldwell's "Dear and Glorious Physician," Charles Israel's "Rizpah," "No King but Caesar" by Anne Powers and "The Last Temptation of Christ," by the Greek writer Nikos Kazantzakes.

Books Aid Plans For Retirement

Today there are 16 million persons in the over 65 age group. By 1980, the number of senior citizens is expected to reach 24 million or more.

Books to help make the period of older maturity more secure, happier, and richer are available at the Hilltonia Branch Library. One of the best is Elon Moore's "The Nature of Retirement," which covers such aspects as when to retire, what it can mean to the individual, how to prepare for it, and how to live on a reduced income.

Other helpful books which tell how to make the most of the years beyond middle age include "Those Later Years," "Living Your Later Years," "Nor er Never," "Retirement; A New Outlook for the Individual," and "How to Retire and Like it."

The problem of where to retire is treated in "America's Fifty Best Cities," "Investing for Retirement," and "How to Retire to Florida."

Health and medical questions of the senior citizen are covered in such books as "Live Longer and Enjoy It," and "Help Your Husband Stay Alive."

The library also has books on achieving financial security and pensions, part-time employment, recreation and hobbies, self-improvement and nutritious

PUPILS, TEACHERS IN PLAY

STUDENTS TAKE OVER top school positions in "Paint the Town Pink" a farce to be put on by the Hilltonia Junior High Dramatics group Friday, Apr. 6. The curtain will go up in the school's auditorium at 7:30 p.m. One of the more unusual features is the fact that the actual teachers will join the students in playing parts. The play, directed by Jack Kile, school drama instructor, derives its name from one of the amusing blunders carried off by the students standing in for their faculty. The tickets will cost 75 cents, with the money going to the school's general fund. Trend To Lighter Tones Seen In Roofing Materials

The saying "there's nothing new under the sun" may still apply to many things, but it doesn't apply to roofs. There are many new developments under the sun (and rain, too) as far as roofing is concerned. For instance:

Dark colors are giving way to lighter shades on residential roofs, with snow-white shingles a particular favorite of new homeowners. These light colors not only reflect the taste of modern homeowners but also reflect the rays of the sun better and keep the house cooler in the summer.

The last word on what kind of shingle to use when a new room is put on is being spoken more and more by the woman of the house, who is insisting on roof colors that conform with the color scheme of the rest of the house.

Shingles are also being made to blend with the lines of a house. A new shingle with 50 per cent wider tabs is designed to enhance the low, sweeping look of ranch homes and split-levels.

Flat and low-incline roofs are being used more and more on private homes, with whole developments of flat-roofed homes going up.

Shingle tabs aren't ripping off or flying away as they used to during a windstorm. A new shingle has hidden adhesive bands under each tab that seal the shingles down so effectively they will stay down even when battered by winds of hurricane force.

And speaking of the sun, roofing specialists point out that it's the roof's greatest enemy because the drying effect of the sun's rays causes roofing to crack and admit moisture. That's why, they report, shingles with extra coatings of sun-resistant minerals are also becoming more popular in home construction and re-roofing projects.

Built-Ins Provide Useful Storage Space In The Home

From the standpoint of functional contemporary design, there should be a place for everything in the home . . . but "it isn't necessarily so."

There are so many things that you're likely to need storage place for — new acquisitions that must be accommodated, disorganized stereo components that simply have no place to go, etc.

Here are a few how-to's on the subject of better, more attractive and more practical built-ins which can provide a place for the "place-less."

Built-ins fall generally into three categories: Straight storage, living walls which are sometimes called entertainment walls, and furniture combined with storage.

Units built solely for storage are the easiest for which to plan. The most effective way in which to plan them is to list all household items that need storing, include general sizes and shapes, how they are arranged (side-by-side, vertically, etc.) and the areas of the house where the stored items will be near the point of use.

Balance this against available space in those areas, then combine the elements into the built-ins you need.

Key Storage Areas

Key areas in which additional storage space might be used are kitchens, bathrooms, laundries and hallways.

In bathrooms, for instance, under-sink space often goes to waste. This area might be enclosed to accommodate linens or cleaning items.

Kitchen storage is often poorly organized, and additional built-ins can usually be incorporated above counters and surface appliances.

The end of a hallway is more often than not wasted. But this valuable space would be suitable for built-ins to hold linens or perhaps infrequently used china and glassware.

Forgotten places such as underneath stairways or beneath attic eaves can also be put to use and thereby do double duty.

Two-Sided Utility

In addition to creating distinct activity areas, a partition between living and dining area might house china and such on the dining side and perhaps books on the living room side.

The second built-in category —the living wall — serves as an activity center as well as a wall and its design is limited only by the family's interests.

For instance, in a home workshop a wall might be devoted to drawer space, cabinets, racks, etc. to house tools, materials and blueprints for woodcraft projects.

Entertainment walls are self-explanatory and are geared to family interests as well. Such walls may feature television-framing bookshelves, hi-fi or stereo components, vertical storage space for record albums, a pull-down movie screen and a special cabinet to store a movie projector.

The third category of built-ins — furniture-storage combinations — include those items such as banquettes and window seats, bunk beds, snack bars, desks and headboards. Since this type of furniture is usually stationary, special care must be given to planning.

Well-Lighted Kitchen Can Ease Chores

Gone are the days when one overhead fixture sufficed to light a kitchen. The modern well-lighted kitchen contains a combination of two types of lighting.

The first, general or fill-in lighting, can be obtained from ceiling fixtures. The second, local or functional lighting, focused on a given area for visual tasks, should come from fixtures installed as close as possible to the work centers.

Convenience is the key word in kitchen lighting. A good level of general illumination permits one to see easily into drawers and cabinets.

Special fixtures such as fluorescent tubes placed beneath upper cabinets provide lighting over work counters where food is prepared. Recipes and labels can be read easily, ingredients can be measured accurately.

The sink area also needs additional lighting from directly above so that one can see properly while cleaning food and utensils.

The range is another place where local lighting is desirable. Being able to see down into pots and pans is important since it is the changes in color and consistency of food as it cooks that indicate when it is "done."

An expert cook demands excellent light over the range so as to observe these important changes as they occur. Precise "timing" in food preparation may be more easily achieved with good functional lighting at the range.

Even though most refrigerators have good interior illumination the additional over-all light that comes from ceiling fixtures is most helpful.

The decorative assets of lighting should not be overlooked while stressing the functional. In choosing color schemes for remodeling or modernizing kitchens it should be remembered that lighter colors reflect light while darker shades absorb it. Thus more light will be needed in a room with dark surfaces.

The trend toward decorative fixtures to supplement the general lighting in a kitchen gives full play to the imagination. The wide choice of lighting fixtures available, reflecting every period of design history, permits expression of personality.

Students Asked To Design Patch For Reservoir Patrol

All city high school students have been invited by Mayor Westlake to design a shoulder patch to be worn by members of the Columbus Reservoir Patrol. The contest is open to all boys and girls within the City of Columbus attending both public and parochial schools.

There are two separate categories, one each for the 7th through 9th grade students and 10th through 12th grade students.

Prizes in both categories will be: First prize, transistor radio; second prize, $20; third prize, $15. There will also be awarded 10 free passes to the zoo in each category and five boat rides in each category. A trophy will be awarded to the school of the winning student.

A board of three judges will make the decision on winners. These judges will be Eugene Craig, Director of Art for the Columbus Dispatch, Helen Sandfort, Director of Art for the Board of Education, and Sister Estelle, S. S. J., Holy Spirit School. Judges will award a first prize, second prize, and third prize in both categories.

Judging will be based on general neatness, quality of the design itself, adherence to requirements, originality of thought and general effectiveness of the over-all design. Although skill in rendering will be a factor, the basic idea is more important, since the patch selected will ultimately be rendered by a commercial artist.

Designs may be submitted in any medium, and should be on stock approximately 8½"x11" (standard stationary size). Design itself may be either round, rectangular, square or shield shaped.

No more than three colors, plus a background color should be employed. The design must include the words Columbus Reservoir Patrol.

Students may work on this project independently, but may seek the advice of their teachers. Final sketches should be submitted to Mayor Westlake's Office, City Hall, no later than Apr. 30, 1962. Judging will be held on May 5, 1962, and winners will be notified immediately.

Westmoor-av. Major Hanley is presently assigned to the 1298th Air Transport Squadron as a special air mission pilot.

Adventures Of Sportsmen Recommended By Library

The life story of TY Cobb, probably baseball's greatest player, is among the recent biographies of well-known baseball personalities. The book is titled "My Life in Baseball."

Others include "Stan 'The Man' Musial," by Irv Goodman; "It's Good to be Alive." Ed Fitzgerald's "Champions in Sports and Spirit" is a group of stories of the amazing sportsmen who have sparked to world championships.

Books about great coaches are also available. "Rockne of Notre Dame," by Delos Lovelace, is the story of one of the great grid mentors of all time, who from 1918 through 1930 while at Notre Dame had a record of 105 and 12. "You have to Pay the Price" is the autobiography of "Red" Blaik, former Army football coach. Gene Schoor's "Casey Stengel, Baseball's Greatest Manager," is the biography of the baseball manager whose skill enabled the New York Yankees to win 10 American League pennants and seven world series championships.

Tennis player Billy Talberts tells his story in "Playing for Life." In "Dempsey," Jack Dempsey tells of his years as a poor boy, a hobo, and a shipyard worker, as well as his years of fame as a prize fighter, while Henry Armstrong tells about his life in "Gloves, Glory and God."

Hans Tanner's "Great Racing Drivers of the World" is the story of well-known masters of the speed track.

More general books such as John Durant's "Pictorial History of American Sports" are also available encompassing the fields of baseball, football, boxing, golf, tennis, basketball, and other sports. These are only a few of the many interesting, exciting, and informative sports books which are available to you at the Hilltonia Branch Library.

No. 207263 4-4, 4-11, 4-18

West Suburban Area Served By Coyle's Music Center

Joe Grantonic, manager of Coyle's Music Center, 2502 W. Broad-st, literally lives with music. He has been manager of the music center since it opened seven years ago but music isn't off his mind when he closes the shop each evening. Many weekends and evenings he plays drums for dances and private parties.

The center has the distinction of being the only one of its kind on the Hilltop serving the western suburban area. Sale of band instruments comprises the greatest percentage of the business. The firm also carries tape recorders, sheet music, and marching batons. Other services available are group lessons and private instruction.

Fall is the busiest season for band instruments and Grantonic suggests that all interested potential school band members get started early. He pointed out that summer vacation makes an excellent time to get acquainted with an instrument before fall tryouts.

"Now is the time to trade up to better instruments", Grantonic stated. Whether trumpet, guitar, or drums they are available on the center's trial purchase plan.

BAD WEATHER LAST SUNDAY, SO . . .

South Side YMCA Club Will Continue Turkey Shoot Sunday

The South Side YMCA didn't get an even break with the weatherman during the turkey shoot last Sunday at the "Y" Park on Rohr-rd but, it proved to be a good break for rifle fans.

The shoot was slowed last Sunday because of the rainy, miserable weather and "Y" officials have agreed to continue the event this Sunday from 1 p.m. until dark.

According to South Side YMCA Executive Secretary James Wagner, the shotgun only event will again feature 16-cent ham sandwhiches to shooters and free coffee.

At last Sunday's meet, a man named Oliver twisted into the Best Score lead.

Oliver said he was challenging Bill Barnett, Obetz, who won five hams and turkeys the week before.

Oliver, a driver-salesman for the Independent Towell Supply, said he follows various turkey shoot in Central Ohio to win prizes for his family. He uses a Model 12 Winchester and said he challenges anyone to beat his record.

The South Side "Y" Park, scene of the shoots, is located on Rohr-rd between Columbus and Lockbourne Air Force Base.

First Continental Congress met in Philadelphia Sept. 5, 1774.

Township Citizens To Oppose Annexation

School, Citizens Are United In Opposition

By RON COFFMAN

"If they sought to woo—rather than force—us into these situations we would react more favorably," one official of the Franklin Township Citizens Association said as battle lines were being drawn for another round in the continuing township-Columbus annexation feud.

Franklin residents and officials of the huge South-Western City School District were miffed last week when 67.5 more acres of township land was annexed to a Hilltop portion of the city.

Schoolmen said they had been told Franklin County Commissioners would "freeze" annexation until May. On this basis they had scheduled completion of a school building need study for the South-Western district for mid-April.

But when the annexation question was presented school board spokesmen said they were told lack of the finished report prompted early approval for transferring the land to Columbus.

At a regular meeting Monday night the South-Western board adopted a strong "opposition to all further annexation" policy. The citizens group has backed this up with pledges to fight "with all our resources additional encroachment," according to David Caperton, association president.

Now a new test of strength is in the offing for pro and anti-annexation forces.

County Commissioners have set 10 a.m. Apr. 26 as a hearing date on a petition to annex 44 acres in Franklin Township to the city.

While annexation does not directly change school district lines, tax revenue is altered and transfer of the affected area for school purposes is usually only a question of time.

Paul Hayes, South-Western superintendent, explained the board would be represented at the Apr. 26 session. "Slowly but surely they are cutting our district to pieces," Hayes commented.

He added, "We are tired of being piece-mealed to death. The township has demonstrated at the polls it doesn't seek governmental or school affiliation with Columbus."

Caperton said there would probably be a "large delegation" from the citizens group at the hearing. "We were oah shouted last time," he noted.

Also irking the South-Western spleen is their opposed transfer of two areas on Briggs-rd near Central Point Shopping Center to the city school system.

A conference between officials of the two systems and representatives of the state

CITIZENS IN ACTION ON TWO FRONTS in Franklin Township are (left to right), Mrs. Lois Hevermale, F. D. VanGundy, David Caperton, Mrs. Mary Landis and Mrs. Stella Gehres who are mapping plans to continue the battle against annexation to Columbus and also establish a township summer recreation program until an official park board can be created by petition.

Much Enthusiasm For Mr. Jones' Message

In all my years of newspapering I've had a lot of pleasant responses from readers who have taken the time and effort to let me know they like something we had printed. I've had a lot of the same response from people who didn't agree.

But in this time I don't remember an item that has been so well received as the full page reproduction of the speech by Jenkin Lloyd Jones on the subject "Who Is Tampering With The Soul of America?" in our papers week before last.

We are grateful for the many telephone calls, letters, cards and even personal visits to the office by people who have gone out of their way to advise how pleased they were with this message. Most of them have added their enthusiastic endorsement.

For more than 25 years our editorial masthead has proclaimed: "Where there is no vision the people perish." In printing the speech of Mr. Jones we believe our papers have rendered a real service.

Most of our extra copies have been sold out. The message is being printed in our Madison Press at London, the Plain City Advocate and the Greenfield Daily Times. Extra copies of those papers will be available. A local doctor has ordered 150 copies. Numerous other orders are being received. We are arranging for a reprint of the message in small booklet form and will have them available soon.

We are encouraged in our belief that a lot of people still like editorials and spoken words that, like the umpire, "calls 'em as he sees 'em."

It is good to be able to bring a message that calls on people to stand up and be counted!

Bells To Ring On Patriot's Day

Comes next Thursday, Apr. 19, church and school bells, chimes and carillons across the nation are scheduled to ring out in what the American Legion hopes will be "a dramatic nationwide demonstration of America's devotion to freedom."

April 19 is the anniversary of Paul Revere's ride and the start of our fight for freedom. It is fitting that we should be reminded that the failure of our patriotism could result in the loss of this same freedom.

New Dwellings To Be Added

Hilltop-Westgate Realty, Inc., at 2907 West Broad-st, has received building permits for eight dwellings in the Maple Shade Court and Seeran Place areas. Most of the dwellings will be of stucco with attached garages and within the $15,000 price range.

DESIGN ENGINEER Warren Jones stands at the focal point of problems faced by those who plan a southerly extension of Wilson-rd. The site is on the New York Central just south of Great Western Shopping Center. It is here that the proposed road either will have to pass over or under the tracks. In addition, the rail spur will have to be reckoned with. This view is to the northeast.

Railroad Is Obstacle In Engineering Of Wilson Rd. Extension

Any way they look at it, the engineers are finding that the extension of Wilson-rd south to Sullivant-av will be no snap.

West area residents have long hoped for a better connection between the 4,000-foot distance from Broad-st to Sullivant-av, between the two-mile extremes of Hague-av and Georgesville-rd. But, in order to get it, the city and county may have to pay dearly. Not so much for knocking down houses (few if any will have to go); but there's the matter of a railroad to be crossed.

Aside from the fact that the entire project lies half in the county and half in the city, this is the dilemma: The New York Central passes over the proposed extension a mere 600 to 800 feet south of Broad-st. If Wilson-rd is to cross over the railroad, an extremely high rise concrete 'bridge' will have to start right at Broad-st. It will be almost too steep to be desirable. If Wilson-rd is depressed under the railroad a [illegible] drainage problem is faced. At present a ditch enters a closed tile near that point. It is unlikely that the water could be piped under the roadway and rise again without the help of expensive and potentially troublesome pumps. Engineers are not sure that sewers in the area of the present Broad-st underpass can handle this water.

A third factor, which may be involved in either decision is the rail spur which intersects at the spot.

Report Due Soon

Barrett Associated Engineers, Limited, on Mar. 22 was given a $6,000 contract and 90 days to come up with some answers. Warren Jones, chief design engineer, said his firm will present its first suggestions to the city within two weeks.

"Right now we are most concerned with the alignment of the northernmost part of the stretch which, incidentally, is in Franklin County," said Jones. "After that is decided it will be relatively simple to decide where the road should meet Sullivant-av."

Jones said he had not been told to consider any further extension, such as to Clime-rd, which had been discussed by some planners several years ago.

Two Hilltop firms are subcontracting some of the work for the Barrett Co. Henderson, Olmstead & Associated, Ltd., 695 Georgian-dr, has submitted

PICKED BY BOYS' CLUB

Robin Eyer Named 'Boy Of The Year'

The 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Eyer, of 91 S. Gift-st, was crowned the "Boy Of The Year" at the 13th annual awards banquet of the West Side Boys' Club held at the Deshler-Hilton Hotel last night. He is Robin Eyer, 10th grade student at Central High School.

Floyd Gooding, president of Boys' Clubs of Columbus, presented the "Boy Of The Year" plaque.

Robin Eyer

Robin has been an active member for the past 10 years, engaging in crafts, basketball and baseball games at the club.

Selection was made on the basis of leadership, behavior and scholarship. Competition was so close that scholarship became a determining factor. Robin is a B-plus student.

Glen Echo Child Welfare League sponsored T-shirt awards to some 150 West Side boys. The Mothers Auxiliary arranged the banquet.

Speakers were past Boys' Club OSU scholarship winners, Bob White, of 734 W. Town-st, and Pat Durham, of 234 Avondale-av. Bob attends Central High and Pat goes to Holy Family.

Dr. James C. Hull was master of ceremonies. Mayor Westlake and other board members made some of the awards.

Winding up Boys' Club Week activities, the local branch at 115 S. Gift-st will hold intramural championships Wednesday, movie night Thursday, and father-and-son night Friday.

Leadership Blamed In JDC Ills

Administration weaknesses have been routed out as the main factor in the Juvenile Diagnostic Center's difficulties, according to the advisory council to the state juvenile division. The council revealed its report Monday.

Dr. Robert A. Heines, director of the Ohio Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, said that immediate steps will be taken to overcome the difficulties.

A probe was launched Feb. 28 as a result of complaints of staff members and was conducted under th leadership of Dr. Richard S. Wolf of Cincinnati, council chairman.

The concluding recommendation read:

"It is our opinion that with able administrative leadership, this situation will show improvement."

Most shocking was the charge that the main function of the institution is not being realized. The current program "was merely one of rough screening process which could not . . . be interpreted as (its) function."

Generally, according to Haines, treatment is relegated to other state institutions and apparently they were too crowded to accommodate the referrals from JDC.

However, Haines feels that a

Perry Morison, 'Mr. Newsman' Succumbs Here

Perry Morison, former Columbus Citizen newspaperman for 37 years, died early Tuesday, Apr. 17, at his home, 2954 Crescent-dr, after a long illness. He had retired on Jan. 1, 1959. He was 67 years old.

It was said of him that he typified the true newspaperman, that he could approach the widest range of story material with equal enthusiasm. During his career, he also maintained an abiding interest in railroading.

He was a counselor for many young reporters in his many years in newspapering. Formation of the Columbus Local of the Newspaper Guild was another of his interests.

Morison was a member of the Masons and of Glenwood Methodist Church.

He is survived by his wife, Anna; two sons, Robert and John, and three grandchildren. Service will be at 2:30 p.m. Thursday at Jerry Speare Funeral Home where friends may call after noon Wednesday.

Ham Deadline Is April 16 You Can Be A Winner!

The deadline approaches, the time is near, if you don't hurry you will miss your chance to enter. Just three ways of saying that the deadline for the Hartley Newspapers' Easter Ham Contest is Monday morning, Apr. 16. Dozens of hams are donated every year by local merchants and given away FREE in time for Easter dinner.

If you would like to share in this Easter feature, cut out and fill in the coupons found in this issue of your paper. There is nothing to buy; no money to spend. You need only fill in your name and address and then deposit the coupons in one of the special boxes found in the front of the participating stores or businesses.

Additional coupons can be obtained from the merchants themselves, and you may enter as many coupons as you wish, though in the case of duplicate winners only one ham will go to a family. Clip and fill in your coupons now.

The names of the winners will be published in this newspaper next week.

Here are the participating stores from this area, each of which will give away a free Easter ham:

Olmstead, a licensed surveyor, and Henderson, an engineer, took photographs from an airplane at 1200 feet. From these they are able to measure elevations to an accuracy of within one-fourth of a foot.

Sixty boys from throughout Greater Columbus attended the first Soap Box Derby Clinic last Saturday, Apr. 7, at the Sunshine Recreation Center. More than 30 parents were also present.

Following a film, Columbus Derby Director Tom Hawk and other officials outlined entry procedures and answered questions on eligibility, sponsorship. They explained that the Columbus Derby will be held Sunday, July 14 on West Broad-st hill with time trials and trial runs on Saturday, July 13.

Clay May Stay In Tennis Court

Tennis players at Westgate Park may have to be content with clay courts

City Recreation Superintendent N. J. Barack, reacting to a hassle over bid specifications, withdrew his request for special surfacing materials in City Council, Monday night.

A week earlier, Councilman Robert Southwick objected to spending $3,000 on each of 12 courts for the materials. Barack said regular blacktopping was not favored by tennis players and cost more to keep up in the long run.

STREET IS DEDICATED

New St. Vincent De Paul Shop To Open At 1187 W. Broad St.

Monsignor Lawrence J. Corcoran, diocesan director of Catholic Charities, has announced the opening of another sales outlet of the St. Vincent de Paul Shop at 1187 W. Broad-st, to begin operations, Saturday, Apr. 14. This new store replaces the one which had been located at 56 E. Rich-st, and which has been razed. The main store at 987 N. High-st still continues to operate.

The E. Rich-st store was the original location of the Saint Vincent de Paul Shop, having been established by the late Bishop James J. Hartley in 1936 with Father Leo Brehm as director. The purpose was, and still is, to give clothing and furniture to the poor, to sell used but serviceable articles of clothing, furniture and appliances at a reduced cost as a help to those who wish to buy, but cannot afford new articles, to provide employment for handicapped persons and to provide an opportunity for individuals to practice the virtue of charity by their donations to help the poor. Any money realized above expenses is used completely for charitabl purposes.

The clothing and furniture which the St. Vincent de Paul Shop gives away or sells at a nominal cost are obtained from generous donors in the parishes of Columbus. The shop operates a truck which picks up the articles in response to calls received at the store.

Anyone having clothing, furniture, appliances or other usable articles which they would like to give to the shop are urged to call 294-4041.

Libraries Preserve Liberty

Three presidents of the United States have joined in urging Americans to clasp the fifth annual National Library Week, Apr. 8-14, close to their hearts. They have done so in the firm belief that the free public library offers citizens in all walks of life not only the means for "the pursuit of happiness," but also the understanding that we need in this thermonuclear age to preserve our very way of life and liberty.

President John F. Kennedy, himself a passionate lover of books, has said, in part:

"Books and libraries and the will to use them are among the most important tools our nation has to diffuse knowledge and to develop the powers of creative wisdom . . . The community public library is one of the richest and more enduring assets of our historical heritage. I hope very much that National Library Week will have widespread citizen participation and that it will serve to encourage all of us to improve our libraries and to stimulate reading throughout the nation."

Herbert Hoover, 31st President, and Harry S. Truman, 33rd President, collaborated in this message for the week:

"The Bible tells us that truth will make men free.

We Americans know that if freedom means anything, it means the right to think. And the right to think means the right to read—anything, written anywhere, by any man, at any time.

"Print is our passport to truth. It opens the richest empire man knows — the empire of the human heart and mind.

"Men die; devices change; success and fame run their course. But within the walls of even the smallest library in our land lie the treasures, the wisdom and wonder of man's greatest adventures on this earth.

"National Library Week will greatly serve if it makes us pause and remember these things."

Thus speak three presidents concerning an institution which should be a part of our daily lives. Whether you enjoy the full facilities of a large central library, patronize a neighborhood branch library, or use those green Bookmobiles so familiar in the county, you will agree when we say:

The public library is, indeed, all things to all men. It is "Everyman's University" for lifelong learning in this age when diplomas become outdated with great rapidity in the face of accelerating developments in the field of human knowledge. It is the storehouse to which we can go to find the truth that will keep us free.

Read . . . and watch your world grow!

'Teen Jaywalkers Irritate Motorist

To the Editor:

Everywhere one turns on the West Side, and in education circles, complimentary remarks are being heaped upon David Randall, principal of West High School, and the student body.

His efforts in making school hours just that instead of a play period for his young charges receive much applause from parents and students alike.

But, I seriously think Mr. Randall should consider borrowing a safety patrol troop from a nearby elementary school for some instruction for the upper grade pupils.

Over the years they have apparently forgotten what crosswalks, sidewalks and streets, as well as pedestrian and motorist right-of-ways are.

On almost any given day, and on any given street, these teenagers can be observed walking in the street, forcing motorists to stop or go left of center; walking between parked cars to cross in the middle of the block instead of at the crosswalks; and to drive between Broad-st and Sullivant-av is a good way to have your insurance rates increased if reflexes are slow.

Youngsters traveling on Palmetto and Fremont seem to delight in darting into the path of motorists as they enter the intersection in what appears to be a local version of "chicken."

It is made worse by the fact that youngsters walk in the middle of the above mentioned streets and don't approach or attempt to cross from the corner of the sidewalks along the one-way streets.

Safety is a two-way affair and these smart aleck, daredevil juveniles work hard at causing motorists to lose their religion as well as their auto insurance.

—A Motorist

Readers Cheer For Jenkin Jones Article

To the Editor:

Today a friend of mine showed me the article, "Who Is Tampering with the Soul of America?" by Jenkin Lloyd Jones, which appeared in your March 29th issue.

I must compliment you for having that article printed! I have not read anything that strong and clear for many years!

I don't quite agree with his opinion about our contemporary art where he "throws out the kid with the washwater," yet I respect his conviction.

The man says what he thinks and says it well. We all need some more of it!

Sigismund A. Lada
81 S. Ashburton Rd.

May I commend your paper on the outstanding contribution it has made in keeping us informed and aware of the internal dangers to our American way of life.

I was immensely moved by the article "Who is Tampering with the Soul of America" (Mar. 29 issue) and believe you have provided all Americans with a great challenge. Few of us will fail to agree with the facts presented in the article; but how many of us are willing to work to correct the situation? Are we not too busy with the enjoyment of material pleasures to lend a hand? Are we not inclined to assume that someone other than ourselves will take care of the matter?

If this great Republic is to be defeated, it will not be because of the physical strength of a foreign adversary alone. As evidenced by the fall of many eminent civilizations in the past, complacency and apathy of people spells the end to the greatness of nations.

Each of us should today vow to strengthen our sense of moral and civic responsibility and to stop letting "George" do the job for us.

Evelyn Shacklett

Gentlemen:

Thank you so much for Jenkin Lloyd Jones' full page article. It was a joy to know that at least one newspaperman has the courage to speak out against immorality and indecency.

If Mr. Jones' talk had the impact on his hearers that the printed copy had on this reader, I look forward to the "hell-raising" and will do all I can to help it along.

—Rita Stal

I still enjoy reading your newspaper, although my wife and I have moved from Columbus to this home because of failing health.

I read the long article on "the Soul of America" from beginning to end. I am happy you still have the courage to publish the truth regardless of who it hits.

John A. Downey

Here's Meat Prevue For Your Easter Dinner

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Grapefruit, Valencia oranges, frozen orange juice, canned peaches.

It's not too early to be thinking about the kind of meat you will buy for Easter dinner. This year, the outlook is good for several meat and poultry items that are popular for holiday fare. Here are some tips on what you can expect as to supply and price:

Mrs. Franks

Ham — always a traditional choice for many families — is not in heavy supply, but not short. Wholesale prices are practically even with a year ago. Assuming the usual Easter features on hams, this should add up to relatively low retail marks.

Selecting ham is different nowadays — it's easier! There are only two general types of hams sold in most retail stores today. They are "Fully Cooked" or "Cook-Before-Eating." And it's important to know which kind you're buying, since this will influence the cooking time and the number of servings you can expect per pound. The label will tell you which you are buying.

Fully-cooked hams can be served without further cooking if desired, or they can be heated before serving.

Cook-before-eating hams, however, require additional cooking to be safe and fully palatable for use — at an internal temperature of 160° F. for 18 to 25 minutes per pound.

Since the cooking shrinkage has already taken place in "fully-cooked" hams, they will provide approximately one more serving per pound than comparable style "cook-before-eating" hams.

Other Meats

Many frozen turkeys will move out of storage to grace your Easter dinner table. Supplies in storage are much larger than normal for this time of year, keeping wholesale prices several cents per pound below a year ago. And this should encourage Easter promotions and low retail prices.

A beef rib roast — either standing or rolled — is a treat most families can't afford every day of the week, but for Easter . . . maybe. And though wholesale prices on most beef cuts are above a year ago, rib sections have moved lower and are below last year.

Lamb supplies are smaller this year than last. Even so, prices are almost the same as a year ago and have shown little change for several weeks. Many stores will likely feature lamb for Easter, so a leg, loin or shoulder roast could be a good choice.

Pork loins are at the lowest wholesale price in many months and should be available at reasonable cost. A crowned-rib pork roast can be "extra special," when all the trimmings are added.

Next week, the supply and price of interesting "go-withs" for your Easter meats will be discussed in this column.

Farm Ponds Usually First To Yield Spring Catches Of Bass, Bluegills

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

Fishermen in this area have been having a tough time getting started this spring. The weatherman has not been cooperating, and after a couple of false starts enthusiasm has lagged. A few catches have been reported, but these were taken by persistent anglers who fish despite the weather.

The largemouth bass at both Buckeye and Madison Lakes should break loose at almost any moment. Good reports from Hoover should begin at any time — crappies will be leading the pack there.

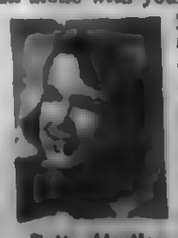
Fishing in farm ponds begins early because the sun warms the water quickly. During a "slow spring" as we have had thus far, ponds are a good prospect for fishing. Bass will be found, sometimes in schools, in the shallow water. Good baits for this time of year are nightcrawlers, either live or artificial, and small spinners tipped with a strip of pork rind.

For all-round springtime fun, however, hardly anything compares with the bluegill for fishing opportunity. They will hit almost anything—red worms fished with bobbers, artificial flies or sponge rubber spiders. Tackle can be simple . . . a cane pole, or elaborate . . . a fancy flyrod.

Whether you are fishing in a farm pond or a large lake, look for bluegills near stumps, around rocky points, under overhanging trees or along weed beds. They are usually found near cover, probably because bass keep them wary and close to "home."

Bluegills are school fish, and move from spot to spot as whim decrees. Although, once you have found a good bluegill location it is often productive every time you fish it. Once you have found a school, your sport will be fast and furious.

Later on, the spawning season will come and the schools break up. Females will prepare nests by fanning away debris with their fins. Sometimes large areas of these nests will be visible in clear water, and such a place is called a bluegill bed. Fish can be caught off the spawning beds, apparently because they hit a lure in an attempt to drive out an "intruder." Often spawning bluegill will nudge a hook with a closed mouth, and it is not easy to catch it. Some anglers do not catch bluegills from beds, as they consider it unsportsmanlike. This is a matter of perference, but bluegills are very productive. Just a few successful nests can keep a farm pond well stocked. Fisheries' biologists will tell you to catch 'em when you can.



Two things endear bluegills to fishermen—their willingness to be caught and the fact that they fight back. They turn their flat bodies sideways, at a right angle to your line, and offer greater resistance to being landed. Convert this geometric equation to a limber cane pole, light flyrod or ultra-light spinning gear and you have a barrel of fishing fun in your hands that has nothing to do with mathematics.

ONE WOMAN'S Opinion . . .

Drift Away From Humble Worship Seen

Today's world is a mad rush. But where are we going? Prices are rising, taxes are rising, juvenile delinquency is rising, world tensions are rising.

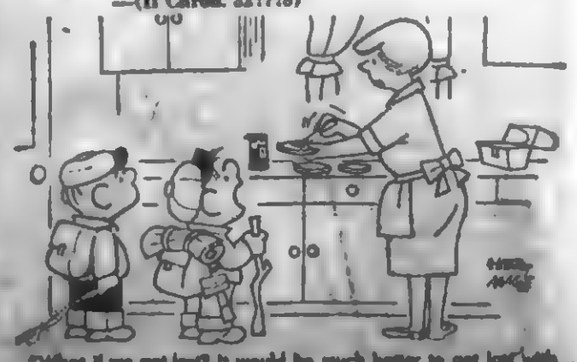
Have you ever stopped to think how nice it would be to get away all alone with your thoughts? Have you asked yourself why it's become old-fashioned and shameful to take your problems to the Lord instead of your psychiatrist?

Patty Hartley

Church memberships are growing and most churches are pressed for facilities large enough to handle the Sunday "worshippers." But for what is the church used during the week? Teen dances, style shows, card parties and other social gatherings. This surely pleases the Lord!

The trend today is to get religion over with as quickly as possible. From Sunday to Sunday it is forgotten. Ask any foreign visitor his views on religion in the US., or read as I did this past week the diary of a college student in this country on a missionary scholarship. He said he thought country clubs and churches similar, only churches are easier to belong to because the dues are cheaper.

This Easter season would be a good time to take a look at ourselves and our churches. How many of our churches are open around the clock for prayer? Is it God's will that church doors be locked to protect His sanctuaries from vandalism?



Many newly-built Protestant churches are designed so that Holy Communion can be taken in the pews. That eliminates the one remaining "excuse" for getting down on our knees in prayer. Humbleness today is a lost virtue.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS
From the Bible

Be strong and of good courage, be not afraid nor dismayed . . . with us is Jehovah our God to help us.
—(II Chron. 32:7:8)

It is good to remind ourselves of the strength that is ours, by affirming: "I am strong with the strength of God." As we hold to this we find that we feel stronger and healthier all the time.

"What if we get lost? It would be much better to get lost with chicken sandwiches than with jelly sandwiches!"

By BEVERLY FLEISHMAN

It was a drizzly April day. She was caught with hair in pincurls and faced with an unexpected TV camera. Yet it was well met with humor by Dame Judith Anderson, who relaxed amid the confusion and amiably chatted with the press on a range of topics—from the state of the repertory theater to her favorite off-stage subject, gardening.

Here with her small cast, Dame Judith Anderson performed her famed double bill of Lady Macbeth and Medea to a Capital University audience last Thursday evening.

What is her feeling about Medea? "It is the greatest woman's role in the theater," she was quick to reply. "It is full of every emotion, every power. It has love, it has hate, it has violence."

As she appears even slighter off the stage than on, it took some imagining to realize this was the same person who breathed fire into the role of the vengeance seeking Medea—a role that has helped earn for her the title of "our greatest living actress."

Now traveling across country and playing mostly to college audiences, Dame Judith commented that she found her collegiate viewers exhilarating.

How do young people respond to the classic theater? "Well!" And to make her point she told of the seven-year-old who came up to her after one show and enthusiastically reported that she loved the play but wasn't sure she understood it all.

Striking a more serious note, the celebrated actress commented on the hindrance of the lack of funds for doing repertory theater, and when asked, re-"I don't like it," she jested, "I plied it was shocking there was love it."

The most eatable bargain in town: the $1.95 steak at The Pub, if you like a lot to eat for a little bill. A commendable feature of this hide-away is that it's just dark enough to compliment the red-checked tablecloths and not too dark to see what you're eating. Now if they'd only add a wine cellar . . . If you like your meringue with an Italian temperament, the Quinietto Allegro has a colorful show in Desert Inn' Aztec Room . . . An exciting season coming with the Kenley Players . . . More local, but highly talented—the cast of "Three Penny Opera," a Gallery Players Production at the Jewish Center . . . For inside bits on the Columbus entertainment scene, turn on WTVN radio's Jim Runyan every evening at 6:40. He talks about local clubs, theaters, and occasionally springs an interview or two. Recently it was jam band director Kai Winding.

Beside the point, but does anyone know who owns that fleet of "red shoes" driving around Columbus? Cars in the shape of boots in a bright red color, advertising a shoe repair, I think. Before taking a second look, I thought they might be another form of pink elephant. Rather disconcerting to catch a glimpse of one in your rear view mirror early on a Monday morning.

Program By Artist, Tour Set For 'Tuesday At The Y'

"Creative Wisdom, Coming Through" is the topic chosen by Mrs. Nelson French for the program she will present "Tuesday at the Y" on the morning of Apr. 17 at Hilltop YWCA Center, 3879 Valleyview-dr.

Mrs. French, a young Columbus artist, is rapidly becoming well known across the country.

She had her own one-woman show at the Athletic Club last October, and has a portrait hanging in the National Guard Gallery in Washington D. C. She has painted portraits of 400 prominent people in Columbus and the surrounding area.

Mrs. French's lecture will include a demonstration in pastels and how they can be used in portrait work. In addition, she will show how to set up a head for drawing a portrait.

Guests will participate in these basic steps by doing a little drawing of their own. For those who have always believed they could be artists, the program is designed to support that belief.

At noon, the group will attend the Lenten service at First Community Church where Dr. Otis Maxfield will speak. Luncheon will be served at the church following the service.

In the afternoon, the group will tour the Church On The Lane Antique and Gift Shop, 868 W. Lane-av, where special art objects of interest will be pointed out. They will return to the Hilltop Center at 2:30 p.m.

Children will be cared for throughout the day at the Hilltop YWCA Center under the supervision of Mrs. Tony DiPietro. Mothers are asked to bring sack lunches, and milk will be furnished.

Make A Tree Abloom With Easter Eggs

With eggs in plentiful supply and low priced, you'll probably be eating lots of them this month. But save those shells. You can use them too — to make an Easter egg tree.

For the tree, select two attractive pieces of driftwood, slender and graceful, with as many branches as possible. Stick these in a piece of molding clay in the bottom of a flat flower bowl.

Dye the egg shell halves an assortment of pastel colors. Add bits of sparkle, beads or other decorations to delicately decorate each shell.

Then, one by one, hang them like tiny umbrellas on threads from the limbs of your driftwood tree.

Because the shells are so light, they will move in the slightest breeze. Their gay colors and gentle movement will fascinate the children and interest your guests.

workable level can be reached now that the "quota" system has been lifted from BIS and GIS. This system has been lifted by the court. A 1,000 population level will include GIS, BIS, JDC and two youth camps. Since Jan. 2, JDC has had to take all children committed by the courts.

Haines feels that the administrative bind will be loosened by new JDC head, James W. Grant, who took office on Mar 19. Haines will turn over the council's report with orders to make the needed corrections.

Grant was formerly superintendent of Franklin Village, the county's children's home. He replaced Dr. Paul Kirch who resigned because of illness. Kirch is now serving as head of psychiatric services in the Columbus State School.

NOT A GRAVEYARD, BUT A FUTURE BALL PARK

AT FIRST GLANCE this area at McKinley-Central-ave looks like a graveyard. In a way it is. The concrete cylinders are the only remains of government housing that was torn down early this year. The barracks-like buildings were built for World War II veterans and later were used for Columbus Metropolitan Housing. The City Recreation Department has budgeted $25,000 over the next three years to expand the playfield now on part of the land. Ultimately there will be one softball and two baseball diamonds, and a parking lot in the park. There will be no organized playground program at McKinley this summer.

FARM PROGRAM REPORT IS COMING NEXT WEEK

A political science professor in this city said this about the government farm program:

"Once you move in with aid and support you cannot pull out — just like that. Once the market relies upon artificial support, it must continue to, or collapse."

Farming is big business. It should be everyone's business.

Hartley Newspaper writer John Auble Jr., will report on current farm proposals before Congress in this newspaper next week.

Auble, along with Farm Bureau leaders and other newsmen, are currently in Washington, D. C., where the farm future is being formed.

The farm program is, open and admittedly, our only public acknowledged welfare care and it's you, John $ Taxpayer, who's paying for the welfare of our biggest basic industry.

Last year, the government used $1.6 billion in taxpayer money trying to support the sagging market. It all came out of your pocket.

It seems logical, then, that you should be kept informed and up-to-date on the progress of government spending and on the problems and desires of farmers.

It is for these reasons that Hartley Newspapers are presenting this first-hand report for you next week.

Besides the farm report, this newspaper will carry an interview with Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman. And, in our farm report, we will discuss Farm Bureau's support for reducing tariffs in return for concessions from Common Market countries, a problem to be discussed with Ohio Congressmen.

Annexation—

school board is scheduled Apr. 23. Involved are 145 students and what was estimated to be several million dollars in tax revenue.

Aside from school transfers a strong general sentiment against annexation to Columbus is rallying township residents under a "We'll incorporate ourselves" banner.

Caperton and other association officials have again hauled out the proposal to incorporate the entire township as Franklinton, original name for Columbus.

"It is true tax dollars are involved here," one FTCA member said. He added, though, "The important thing is that we prefer to join rather than be shoved like an unwilling child."

This data, together with the 1980 Columbus and Franklin County Traffic Facility report, will help the Barrett Co. prescribe a design for the proposed road. They it will be up to the city to: 1. determine if the cost of the project is justified; 2. try to "sell" it to the county which will be expected to pay half of the construction costs; 3. explore the likelihood of some Federal assistance; 4. include the construction (possibly by 1965) in the five-year Capital Improvements program.

Everyone Can Bowl In Big Headpin Tourney By Lions

With bowling almost moving into the sports spotlight (the big one, there in the center of the stage) and pushing America's heretofore favorite pastime, baseball, nearly into the wings, here's a fact that may interest you:

The Whitehall Lions Club is sponsoring a headpin tourney party and everyone is invited. You don't need an engraved invitation. They would be silly, anyway, since ALL bowlers are invited — and some of the youngsters might not be able to read said invitation.

The Lions Club in the east side suburbs are going all out. A check with Wes Saunders, chairman of the event, says that anyone in Franklin County is invited to participate.

Cost to enter is $1 per line and, no matter what your age is, you'll fall into one of the many categories and set yourself for some fine prizes and trophies.

The Headpin affair will be carried on throughout the entire month of April at Main Lanes Bowling, 4071 E. Main-st.

Just so that you can mark your calendar and take part in the bowling event (all profits, incidentally, go to aid the blind) check these:

The tournament started last Saturday, Apr. 7, and continues Apr. 14, 21 and 28 from 12 noon to 11 p.m., and on these remaining Sunday, Apr. 15, 22 and 29 from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Local Folks at Chillicothe . . .

We noted on a recent press release that some local people are taking part in tournaments and exhibitions on Sunday, May 6, in the Veterans Administration Hospital, Chillicothe.

Sports minded visitors will get to see how organized athletics fit into the overall treatment program for patients at the Chillicothe hospital.

Providing a water ballet in the hospital's 35x65-foot Olympic-style swimming pool at 1 p.m. is a talented youth group from the Jewish Center here in Columbus under the direction of Sidney Wolpert.

Another important sports facility that will be appreciated by the public is the Memorial Stadium. The $125,000 structure, which is a gift of Ohio Blue Star Mothers, will be the scene of the Honor Awards Ceremony at 2 p.m.

Fish Stories? Already . . . ?

This isn't a local story, but I'm sure that no one's sports story collection would be complete without it.

I said it wasn't a local story but it is a valid and true account from the Division of Wildlife.

It comes from Akron and reads:

"Then there was the story about the ice angler who caught a fish too big to bring through the hole . . ."

I know you're interested by now to the point where nothing short of an A-bomb blast in your backyard would stop you from reading further, so here it is:

"It actually happened at Knox Lake last February, according to Loren Mosely, district fish management agent, Ohio Division of Wildlife.

"Dick Moore, former division employe from Hayesville, was fishing at the lake when a neighboring angler began to yell. When Moore looked up, he saw the man hanging onto his rod with one hand while with the other he was attempting to enlarge the hole in the ice.

"Moore and some of the other fishermen who went to help saw that the man had hooked a large muskie. Before they could get the hole enlarged, however, the muskie broke away. Moore said the angler was fishing for crappies using minnows for bait."

Hole-ly Mackerel!

SUNSHINE RECREATION

HI FI DANCE

There will be another special hi fi dance on Apr. 12, starting at 7:30 p.m., with Gene Fullen and Company. It will be sponsored by the Coca Cola Co. and the Sunshine Recreation Center. The dance will be held for teen-agers only and will feature a variety show at intermission.

EASTER EGG TREE

The center has an unusual very special tree in the lobby of the main building. It is a large Easter egg tree that was created by the children in craft classes. It is very colorful and adds much to the coming Easter egg hunt to be held Apr. 21, 9 a.m., for children eight years and under.

VOLLEYBALL - BADMINTON

The volleyball teams have been practicing for their tournament to be held at Whetstone Center, Apr. 22.

It is desired to have more boys participating in badminton, as well as the girls. Any one interested in the sports should come to the center and register with Mike Coleman.

BOXING

Sunshine Recreation Center boxing team winners of the Golden Gloves Novice Trophy will travel to Mansfield for a bout with the Mansfield team Apr. 24. Al George, Sunshine boxing coach, offers boxing instructions every evening from 6 until 8:45.

RIFLE CLUB

The Girls' Club will meet every Monday night at 7 o'clock at Sunshine Recreation Center. Girls between the ages of 13 and 18 are encouraged to join the club.

The main emphasis is on safe gun handling, accompanied by the art of marksmanship.

Plans are now being made to start a boys' rifle club. There will be an announcement within a week for the exact date.

SEWING

Sunshine has a new intermediate sewing class, beginning Monday, Apr. 16, at 8, for preteen girls. For their program, which will continue until the end of the school year, the girls will work on pattern projects and summer clothes. The class will meet twice a week, on Monday and Wednesday. Anyone who is interested should come to the center at the time of the class and sign up with Jean Bigley.

BATON

Starting this next week, several new intermediate baton classes will begin at Sunshine. The class will meet during the week, on Monday and Wednesday, at 3:45, and there also will be another class at 5 p.m. Friday. The girls will be working outside for the most part, practicing various throws and marching procedures. Anyone interested may sign up with Jean Bigley at Sunshine corner by calling or coming to the class.

ARTS AND CRAFTS

Getting in the swing of the season, the children of the arts classes are concentrating on making decorations for Easter. Basketry will begin next week in order that the children may make their own Easter baskets to use in the annual Easter egg hunt Apr. 21. The summer craft program will begin soon and will stress nature crafts. The art classes are broken down into age levels and anyone interested may attend.

Silhouettes Defeat Senior All-Stars At Glenwood Center

The Open House Exhibition basketball games at Glenwood Recreation Center found the Silhouettes, Panthers, Junior Boys' Red All-Stars and the intermediate Boys' All-Stars victorious over the Senior Boys' All-Stars, the Senior Girls' All-Stars, the Junior Boys' Blue All-Stars and the Celtics, respectively.

Led by Dorcus Claytor, the Silhouettes defeated the Senior Boys' All-Stars, 89-66. Claytor scored 26 points while Bob Cordell was the leading All-Star scorer with 20 points.

The Panthers, Glenwood Senior Girls' basketball champs, beat the Senior Girls' All-Stars by a score of 35-16. Jane Shaw of the Panthers was high scorer for the game with 21 points. Thus the Panthers finished the season unbeaten with the exception of the final inter-center tournament game.

An overtime game found the Junior Boys' Red All-Stars defeating the Junior Boys' Blue All-Stars, 35-27. The game was tied at 27 all at the end of the regulation game. Curt Holloway was high point man for the Red team with 11 points. Dennis Hoog, who also had 11 points, was tops for the Blue team.

Earl Jasper of the Celtics led all scorers for the Intermediate All-Stars-Celtics game with 25 points. However, the All-Star team defeated the Celtics, 52-47. George Shoffer was high for the All-Stars with 10.

West Mound Sweeps Gra-Y Basketball

The Tigers of West Mound made a clean sweep in the 1961-62 Gra-Y basketball leagues. The "A" League play-off was the thriller of the day. The Highland Trotters, North "A" champs, played a hard fought game, but succumbed to the Tigers, 14-13. The half time score was 10-10. Winford Dearing was high for the Trotters with nine, while Chuck Ventola and Steve Evans were high for the Tigers with four points each.

The "B" League championship matched the Westgate Wildcats versus the West Mound Tigers. The Wildcats just couldn't buy a bucket and Tigers couldn't miss. The final score was 20-4. High for the Wildcats was Charles Bergmann with two and Doug Geckeler with two. Mike Stumpf claimed high honors for the Tigers with eight.

Hilltonia Wins In Runaway Over Mohawk

Hilltonia baseballers racked up 17 runs on 11 hits to defeat Mohawk in a game of the south section of the Junior High League.

Batting honors went to Manson Hamilton with two hits for three trips to the plate, while Mike Haley had three for five, and Steve Prater, two for four.

Next game will be Thursday, Apr. 12 when Hilltonia meets Roosevelt on the Hilltonia field.

Serves On Cruiser

Robert L. Shaner, seaman, USN, son of Willard V. Shaner of 3106 W. Mound-st, is serving aboard the guided missile heavy cruiser USS Canberra, operating as a unit of the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.

City Junior Bowling Meet Is April 23

The Annual City Championship Junior Bowling Tournament conducted by the Columbus Recreation Department will be held on Apr. 23 at Fiesta Bowling Lanes.

This handicap event, co-sponsored by the Columbus Allied Bowlers' Association, is open to boys and girls, 18 and under.

Separate divisions will be offered for boys and girls according to the following classifications: Bantams, eight through 12; Juniors, 13 through 15; Seniors, 16 through 18.

Entry blanks for this event are available at bowling establishments and at Room 134, City Hall.

Burgess and Glenwood Snare Basketball Titles At 'Y'

The Glenwood Methodist squad took the championship honor in the Hilltop YMCA Intermediate basketball league. They were the undisputed champs with a 12-0 record. By being the winner of this league they were eligible to represent the Hilltop YMCA in the Ohio-West Virginia Area Annual Sports Festival.

The Glenwood squad lost in the quarter-finals at the OSU gymnasium to the NE district champion, which went on to win in the finals. However, the Glenwood team was the first such representative of the Hilltop "Y" in such a sports festival.

The Junior League champion of the Hilltop YMCA league was the Burgess EUB team. Their victory over West Park Methodist was not easily earned. However, the 44-37 score was final and the Burgess EUB squad carried away the top honors.

Carter On Cruiser

Joe T. Carter, electrician's mate fireman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll F. Carter of 438 W. Town-st, is serving aboard the guided missile cruiser USS Little Rock, which has returned to Norfolk, Va., after a brief cruise to Bermuda.

Montana entered the Union Nov. 8, 1889.

The seventh annual running of the Hilltop YMCA Indian Guide Match Box Derby was held Apr. 7 at the Central YMCA.

Five trophy winners were among the 56 entrants in this year's event. A new ramp was built this year by a special Longhouse committee consisting of Big Braves Bob Kerr, Bob Drizigacker, Jim Kirby, Frank Bowles, and Russ Crawford. Big Brave Dick Bergmann was responsible for developing a new finish lighting system.

A new method of determining starting positions was devised this year. All racers were entered in qualifying heats with the fastest two cars going to Class "A" and the slower cars moving to Class "B."

Champion of the "B" Class was David Hall, with Dave Ray taking second honors, and Don Kincaid carrying off the third place award. Charles Bergmann took top honors in Class "A" competition as Scott Walker was edged in the final race of the day. Bob Ervin won the third place consolation race.

Winners of three decoration classes also received trophies for the most original racers, best decorated by Little Braves 8 years old and under, and a class for those 9 and over. The top prize in the most original class was awarded to Joe Hutchison, while Bruce Bergmann and Jim Kerr received the other prizes.

In the best decorated class for boys 8 and under, Rod Crawford walked off with the first place trophy, while Charles Stephens and Dave Drizigacker took the second and third place prizes. Bob Ervin took top honors in the best decorated class for those Little Braves 9 and over. Runner-up prizes were awarded to Richard Fickeisen and Jim Kincaid.

Charles Chips Will Expand Central Ohio Home Delivery

So successful has been the distributing business of Charles Chips at 600 Wilson-rd since its establishment there a year ago, the firm is now preparing to inaugurate free retail delivery routes throughout a seven-county Central Ohio area.

It now makes house-to-house deliveries of Charles potato chips, pretzels and other Charles Farm-Fresh label products on a once-every-two-weeks schedule in every area of Greater Columbus.

These deliveries are made by retail salesmen from five Chevrolet Yukon-yellow step-vans which Charles Chips purchased from Rodenfels, 555 W. Broad-st, which also services them. Charles Chips is among the several hundred commercial firms which have been provided transportation by Rodenfels, leading truck dealer in Columbus, according to Howard Lloyd, Rodenfels sales manager.

Rodenfels, Lloyd pointed out, has been in business 28 years, starting at Burgess and Broad-st, then moving to Yale and Broad, and then to 555 W. Broad-st, where it has been located for 14 years and where it provides night service for truck users.

The performance of the step-vans has been so satisfactory that Herb Hallman of 502 Wiltshire-rd, sales manager of Charles Chips, said the firm plans the early purchase of five more of these delivery trucks to serve new routes.

Charles Chips and Charles Pretzels are manufactured at Lancaster, Pa., in the Pennsylvania Dutch Country and are rushed here in special truck. To preserve their freshness and flavor, the chips and pretzels are packed in one-pound tin canisters for home deliveries. Large orders for clubs, parties and reunions will be delivered on only one-day notice, Hallman said.

Both chips and pretzels are available in numerous varieties. Charles Chips, Hallman said, are different because they are specially prepared from selected potatoes grown in certain types of soil enriched with special fertilizer. In the processing plant, the sliced potatoes go through a spring water bath which removes much of the fattening starch before they are cooked in pure vegetable oil. No shortening is used, Hallman stressed.

Buckeye To Build Drive-In

Construction of Buckeye Federal Savings and Loan Association's new drive-in facility, 39-45 E. Long-st, will be started in early May, William S. Guthrie, Buckeye president, has announced.

Designed by Tully and Hobbs of Columbus, the new building will cover 11,844 square feet and offer parking space for 33 autos. There will be entrances and exits to the lot on E. Long-st and Elm-st.

A small building will be constructed in the center of the lot with two tellers' windows to serve drive-in customers. Parking will be for customers transacting business at Buckeye's main office at 36 E. Gay-st. A side entrance will be opened into the main office on the Elm-st side of the building.

An unusual feature of the new drive-in building will be a white poured-concrete dome covering the entire 52 feet width of the lot and the tellers' building.

Contractor's bids will be taken in the near future. It is expected the drive-in facility will be open in mid-summer.

The girls attended "Musical Toys" Apr. 17 at Veterans Memorial.

Troop members are Cheryl Costa, Andrea Dort, Karen Frakes, Pam Frasher, Jean Gorsuch, Molly Holycross, Sandra Hutt, Joyce Jester, Susan Lucas, Pamela Nigh, Debby Reese, Becky Turbett, Paula McPherson, Jodelle Mitchell, Luann White, Marjorie White, and Marilyn Woehrle. Leader is Mrs. George Ralph.

Note: Apr. 14 will be Tents Up Day at Ken-Jockety.

A new Trading Post has been built at Darby Creek Metropolitan Park, where two reservable areas for groups also have been developed. They include parking facilities, shelter houses and kitchen shelters for large scale serving of food to groups.

CANCER PICTURE GETTING BRIGHTER

146 SCIENTISTS IDLE

Government And ACS Cooperate

By CHARLES A. DOAN M.D.
Medical Research Director, OSU

Since the establishment of the National Cancer Institute by the Federal Government in 1938, many people have asked why the American Cancer Society seeks over more funds in the same cause.

The leaders in the American Cancer Society testified at the U. S. Senate hearings on the establishment of the National Cancer Institute, and strongly urged the vital necessity for this added effort in our attack on cancer. Every Senator voted favorably, and initially $750,000 was appropriated for a building and $700,000 for the first year's operations. Today the annual National Cancer Institute budget exceeds $100,000,000.

Work Hand-in-Hand

The American Cancer Society currently raises approximately $35,000,000 annually. Working hand in hand, these two national organizations — one government financed, the other privately supported — supplement each other in supporting an ever enlarging research program with the one single objective of solving the complex cancer problem at the earliest possible moment.

Everyone may be assured there is no duplication of effort, and the sooner we do get the funds we need to keep every cancer project and scientific investigator at work, the sooner we shall be able to save the lives of your family and friends and mine from cancer.

146 Projects Idle

In spite of the sums mentioned as ear-marked for Cancer Research, there are today 146 projects requiring some $4,000,000 which are being delayed because these two major research organizations have exhausted their funds.

Who is there to say that one of these 146 scientists is not the investigator who is ready to come up with the answers everyone is seeking. More money is and will be needed to explore all of the promising leads until the right ones are discovered. This means both tax dollars and generous supplemental voluntary gifts from you for cancer research!

LEGACIES ONE WAY TO AID RESEARCH

Many people make provision in their wills for part of their estate, and in some cases all of the estate, to go to the Franklin County Unit, American Cancer Society. Your attorney will advise you how this may be done.

Money Well Spent In War On Cancer

By Merle Williams
Financial Writer, Columbus Dispatch

The public gets its money's worth in donations to the war on cancer.

More than 86 cents of every dollar contributed by Franklin County residents to the American Cancer Society goes directly into the battle on the world's most dread disease.

The big portion — 68 cents — is used for research. Another 26.1 cents goes for education.

Up-to-Date Information

And 6.1 cents is spent to provide nurses, dentists, doctors and others in fields allied to medicine with up-to-date information on cancer advances. This assures a patient that when he is treated for cancer he gets the best treatment.

Only 7.1 cents of each dollar is spent for fund-raising. The maximum under the city solicitations ordinance is 20 per cent.

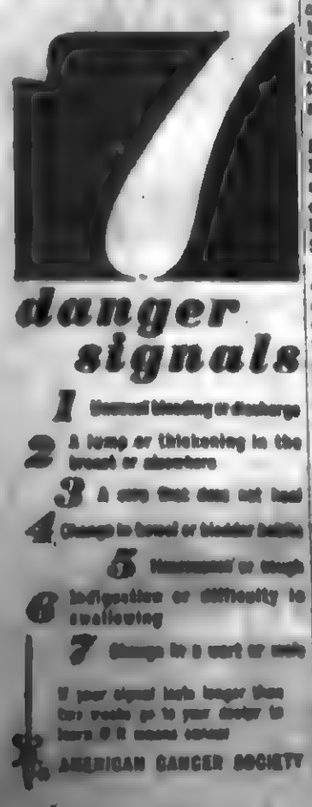
Service requires 6.7 per cent of total contributions. This figure is low because other agencies in the county do some of the things which normally fall into the service program of an independent agency.



Efficient use of contributions, the treasurer explains in his annual report, is aided by efforts of a large number of volunteers. All such work cuts down on expenses and makes more funds available for cancer control.

The treasurer reports monthly. When the fiscal year ends in August, the books are audited by an accounting firm.

Mistakes in disbursements never occur. One factor is the requirement for three signatures on every check — those of the unit president and treasurer, plus a counter-signature from the state office.

Post-Graduate Training For Doctors, Dentists

The American Cancer Society's fellowship Program which was launched in July 1948, has invested $5,519,813 for the support of post-graduate training for 1223 physicians and dentists. This special knowledge filters down to other physicians and dentists through local societies and tumor registeries.

Top Sports Figures Die Of Cancer

By PAUL HORNUNG
Sports Editor, Columbus Dispatch

Even the world of sports, bulging with the sinews of physical strength and physical fitness, has not been immune to the nation's No. 3 killer.

Babe Ruth, baseball's greatest name, is one. Babe Didrickson Zaharias, greatest name in women's athletics, is another. There's a moral in the cases of the two "Babes."

Cancer struck Ruth a number of years ago, before much was known about the disease. He failed quickly. When Mrs. Zaharias learned she had cancer she underwent an operation and made it back on the pro golf tour for two more years.

Much had been learned in the few years between the death of Ruth and the death of Mrs. Zaharias. Advances had been made. So, too, have advances been made since then. Much has been learned. Lives are being prolonged.

Porky Oliver, colorful fat man of the pro golf circuit, recently died of cancer and football's famous coaching genius, Bob Zuppke, is another. The list includes Willie Hoppe, the billiard champion, and George Young, the bowler.

And there have been two major casualties among the sports writing fraternity, Bill Cunningham and Bill Corum. Cancer is no respector of persons or professions.

Perhaps this invasion of the sports world of which he's long been a part and which he loves had something to do with Dr. Jimmy Hull's decision to accept the chairmanship of the Cancer Crusade this year. He probably would have taken it anyway, but the 1939 Ohio State basketball all-American knows of it a little more personally because of Ruth and Oliver and Zuppke and the others.

Anyone who knows Dr. Jimmy Hull knows he'll tackle the Crusade with full vigor and if it saves one life, he'll be happy. So will everyone.

CANCER CRUSADE DATES FOR HOMES APRIL 28-29-30

Traditionally the Cancer Crusade, a joint educational and fund-raising activity, is held in April. This year the residential Crusade dates will be April 28, 29, and 30. Dr. Jimmy Hull, Crusade chairman, explains the three-day Crusade as one way in which our Crusaders may have a better chance to visit each home in the county. Each Crusader knows which day—Saturday, Sunday, or Monday—will be the best time in that particular neighborhood.

BACKGROUND FOR HOPE

Progress Shows In War On Cancer

By ARTHUR G. JAMES, M.D.
Director, Columbus Cancer Clinic

Just 15 years ago—in May of 1947—a group of Columbus physicians and business leaders formed the Franklin County Unit of the American Cancer Society—Ohio Division, Inc, with the express purpose of carrying on voluntary activities which would contribute to the control of cancer.

This group of Unit founders became convinced that only through a nationally-directed research program could cancer ever be wiped out. They were also convinced that until that day comes, a strong educational effort must be made to alert the community to Cancer's Seven Danger Signals.

Support Research

These people laid the foundation for an organization which now reaches into every segment of the community to impart knowledge and thus displace fear and misconception; to bring better care to cancer patients, and their families, to support research.

The fight is not yet won. Much progress has been made. Hundreds of lives have been saved. Thousands and thousands of residents in Franklin County have been alerted to Cancer's Seven Danger Signals.

The Columbus Hospital Federation has provided better facilities for care and treatment of patients. The Ohio Legislature has provided funds for expanded research facilities at Ohio State University. These are all stepping stones bringing us closer to the answer.

How much closer we step each day is up to the people of the community in which we live.

For many years—since 1921—Columbus has supported the Columbus Cancer Clinic, which is primarily concerned with the detection and diagnosis of cancer.

Today these two organizations, the Clinic and the Unit, are in operation and their combined efforts provide Franklin County with one of the best balanced programs in the nation. While some of their organizational and fund-raising beliefs may not agree, the two agencies work side-by-side toward a common goal. Inquiries to one are referred to the other if the occasion requires.

Ebright First President

Formation of the American Cancer Society in Franklin County was instigated by civic leaders. Don J. Ebright was the first Unit president, and his interest has been so great that he now serves as treasurer for the Society's Ohio Division.

Another Unit founder who became the second president was Harlan O. Davis, of the Scioto Savings & Loan Association; next president was the late Jimmy Hale, and he has been followed by Robert Engle, now national sales manager for Streitmann Biscuit Co.; George J. Kienzle, now director of Ohio State University's School of Journalism; Dr. Robert W. Fay, of Trinity Episcopal Church; Dr. Frank B. Razor, the Canal Winchester dentist who has served as treasurer for the past five years; John Schoedinger, of the Schoedinger Co.; Chaney D. Ross, sales manager for Lusthi-Welch Corp., and currently Dr. William B. Schwartz, radiologist at Riverside Hospital.

Others prominent among the founders were Dr. Edwin J. Stedem, Dr. Charles A. Doan, the late F. O. Schoedinger, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Black, Dr. and Mrs. Gilman Kirk, Dr. Charles Lavey, Mrs. Joseph Senia, Richard Evans, Mrs. Wayne Brown, Judge Myron B. Gessaman, Mrs. J. T. Kirk, Mrs. Walter Beck, the late Mrs. Henry Spencer, Mrs. M. S. Newman, Mrs. Charles C. Chamberlain, the late Dr. Edward T. Kirkendall, Mrs. Morris Woodhull and William M. Summer.

Volunteers Nucleus Of Cancer Society

The American Cancer Society is an organization of volunteers dedicated to wipe out the dreaded killer. They place management of the Society into a board of directors elected by the volunteers.

In Franklin County the Board consists of 36 professional and business leaders, each serving a three-year term. Twelve members are elected annually. They elect officers, and also employ an executive director to carry on the work as directed by the Board.

Cancer Is Mysterious, But Lives Are Saved Daily

By WILLIAM B. SCHWARTZ, M.D.
President, Franklin County Unit

Cancer is many things to many people.

By definition, cancer is a growth of abnormal cells which multiply without control and which serve no useful function. These cells invade surrounding normal vital tissues and destroy them. Some cells may break away from the original site and be carried by body fluids to distant sites where they begin to produce secondary cancers.

Even so, cancer is still many things to many people.

Varible Patterns

To a medical student, cancer is a complex set of diseases which follow variable patterns which he must learn. It is tissue which can be positively identified under a microscope by the pattern which its cells assume.

To a research scientist, cancer is a mystery which must be solved. What causes it, what regulates its growth, what destroys it are questions which he must answer. Each experiment adds further insight into the total picture of the nature of this disease.

To a physician, cancer is an abnormality which can destroy his patient unless the cancer itself is first destroyed. Each patient he sees must be considered a potential or actual victim. Those affected must be given emergency care if treatment is to be successful and every cancer cell removed or destroyed. Those who can no longer be cured must be cared for and helped to live comfortably with their trouble as long as possible.

Every Day Precious

To a patient, a cancer is a fearful thing from which he must be separated before it has attached itself to him so tightly as to make removal impossible. That some cancers are more easily and successfully treated than others allays somewhat the fears of those afflicted with the more favorable type; but the lack of any absolute guarantee of cure makes the future uncertain and every day more precious.

To all of us, cancer is a disease to which we are all susceptible and from which the world's people must be rid. That success in this regard is possible is best illustrated by those many fortunate cancer victims who have been treated successfully, and by the steady increase in the number of cancer patients who survive each year.

Cancer should be something to everyone, and everyone should join the fight to conquer this dread disease.

Decision By Individual Is Needed To Cut Death Rate

By CHARLES MECKSTROTH, M.D.
Thoracic Surgery Dept. OSU

Little do we realize that in an average day's span, each person breathes in and out approximately 3,000 gallons of air. Thus, our lungs are one of our main contacts with the outside world, and it behooves us to keep our lungs in the best possible shape.

When the air contains impurities such as dust or smoke, the normal lungs ordinarily have ways of getting rid of these. This is done by coughing or by the action of millions of small whip-like processes lining the bronchial tubes.

Can Lead to Cancer

When these impurities are inhaled in excess, changes occur in the bronchial lining and in the lungs which eventually result in disability and illness. If the impurities contain cancer-producing substances, prolonged or continuous exposure to these substances can lead to cancer.

Scientific studies have been directed toward understanding the cause of lung cancer. There are two major sources of cancer-producing chemicals in the air about us. The first and probably minor factor is that of pollution of the air by industry, by automobile exhausts, and by household coal furnaces. The other and more significant source is from burning tobacco, especially cigarets.

Soon Became Apparent

It soon became apparent to the research men that cancer of the lung was much more frequent in those people who smoked cigarets. A series of facts have been uncovered which lead many workers to believe that smoking is an important cause of lung cancer.

1. Tars, recovered from cigarets, produce cancers of the skin in mice and other laboratory animals. Chemists have isolated and identified eight different cancer-producing chemicals in cigaret tars.

2. These cancer-producing chemicals are absorbed by the lung after their entry in minute particles of smoke. The continuous presence of these agents paralyze the whip-like structures which normally rid the lungs of these impurities.

3. The study of lungs of animals which have been exposed to tobacco smoke for long periods have shown cells which closely resemble early stages of cancer development. Similar precancerous changes have been noted in the lungs of heavy smokers who die early of causes other than lung cancer.

4. Deaths from lung cancer are 10 times more frequent among men who smoke a pack a day than among non-smokers.

5. Deaths from cancer of the lung are 60 times more frequent among men who smoke three packs of cigarets per day than among non-smokers.

6. The younger a person is when he starts to smoke, the greater the risk of developing cancer.

7. The risk is reduced among men who have stopped smoking.

8. The strong correlation between lung cancer and cigaret smoking is probably due to the inhalation of the minute particles in the cigaret smoke.

Last year cancer of the lungs caused more than 35,000 deaths in the United States and has become one of the leading killers in men over 40 years of age. If the present trends continue, more than one million school children who are now alive will die from cancer of the lungs.

One might compare this disease with deaths occurring from automobile accidents. The number of people killed yearly is quite similar, being approximately 37,000 people or 100 each day. It has been shown that many of these deaths could have been prevented by seatbelts. In response to this, many states will require floor brackets for seatbelts in all new cars in 1963.

However, since cigarets are still sold on the open market, the problem of smoking is a matter of individual decision.

Pharmacists Get Information On Drug Treatment

Dr. Irwin N. Krakoff, attending physician at New York's Memorial Hospital, was the speaker at a meeting of the Central Ohio Academy of Pharmacists in February.

Dr. Krakoff, a graduate of Ohio State University's College of Medicine, spoke to the pharmacists on "Advances in Cancer Chemotherapy," which is treatment of cancer by drugs.

Dr. Krakoff was brought to Columbus for the meeting as part of the American Cancer Society's professional information program. He is the son of Mrs. Morris Krakoff, 314 Mayfair Blvd.

$350 Million

Many Gains Made In Past Generation

BY MARY McHARRY
Science Writer, The Dispatch

By the measure of hope against hopelessness, the fight against cancer has progressed a long way in a generation.

The situation is still far from good.

While the incidence of one kind of cancer, in one area or among one group, appears to be on the decline, another kind, by another measurement, shows an increase. Research projects which, one year, look excitingly good, by the next show disappointing or inconclusive results.

Picture Is Brighter

Bit by bit, on projects aimed specifically at cancer and in a vast range of more general quests, laboratory scientists are building up new knowledge about the human body, how it works, and how and why things go wrong.

From any of these investigations could come the key to unlock cancer's mysteries or a weapon to prevent its malevolent work.

As science and medicine learn more, so does the general public.

Cancer education and its results have made their own important inroads into the terrible statistics of earlier years.

Men and Women Benefit

Men and women educated to have regular physical examinations, to recognize cancer's danger signals and report them to their physicians are benefiting in turn from earlier diagnosis and treatment.

The "smear technique" alone, for detection of uterine cancer, has reduced the death rate for that type of cancer by nearly 50 per cent.

Cancer specialists emphasize that, without a single new development, early detection, diagnosis and treatment could save as many as 67,000 of the new cancer cases developing in a year's time.

Medical science has only three ways to treat cancer—surgery, radiation and drugs — and only two methods to cure it. Drugs cannot yet qualify on that score.

Seek Better Drugs

Drugs now available will relieve the pain of cancer, shrink its size and sometimes allow the patient to resume normal activity. Eventually, their effectiveness diminishes.

The search for better drugs and for ways to use those available more specifically and effectively continues on a nationwide basis.

Much work is also being done, at various centers, on using combinations of drugs, combinations of surgery and drugs, radiation and drugs, or all three, to determine if any of these are significantly more effective.

Trying to find the cause of cancer, investigators are lured into a score of research areas by hints that an answer might lie there.

Probably Not One Cause

Is cancer an inherited weakness? Is it caused by a virus? Do physical and emotional stress play a part? Does where a person lives, the kind of food he eats and the air he breathes affect his chances of getting cancer, or the kind he will get?

Many long-time investigators believe that if and when the answer to this many-faceted disease is found, it will never be pinned down to one cause or one cure.

Just recently, an institutional grant for $35,000 was awarded to Ohio State by the American Cancer Society and allocated to the following projects:

Many Local Studies

Dr. Bertha Bouroncle is studying the presence of cancer cells in the circulating blood of Hodgkins Disease patients. Dr. Leopold Liss plans to grow, study and photograph brain tumor cells in tissue culture.

Research Work in Tissue

L. Buerger is studying human neoplastic and non-neoplastic breast lesions with light, phase and electron microscopy. George Sigalos is studying the reversibility of carcinoma in situ, working with mice with cervical cancer induced by chemical agents.

Drs. William Pace and David Kinsey are working with a new perfusion technique by means of a corporeal tourniquet for application of chemical agents to tumors.

In a team effort, Drs. Arthur James, William Pace, Joseph Bonta and Nicholas Vorys are evaluating the role of estrogens in the origin and development of breast cancer.

Women Form 14 CREW To Aid Society

By ELSIE CHREK KOCH
1961 Chairman, CREW

In the spring of 1959 Mrs. Byron Jilek, 100 W. Granville Road, Worthington, and Mrs. Arthur James, 1911 Waltham Road, Upper Arlington, conceived and formed a new women's organization in Franklin County designed to aid the American Cancer Society.

Because the members of this organization primarily would work for Cancer Research and Education, they chose the word CREW to identify the women as Cancer Research-Education Workers — CREW.

14 CREW Working

Semi-social, CREW admittedly are similar organizations to the Twigs of Children's Hospital, Wings of Nightingale Cottage, and the Trudeau Guilds of the Tuberculosis Society.

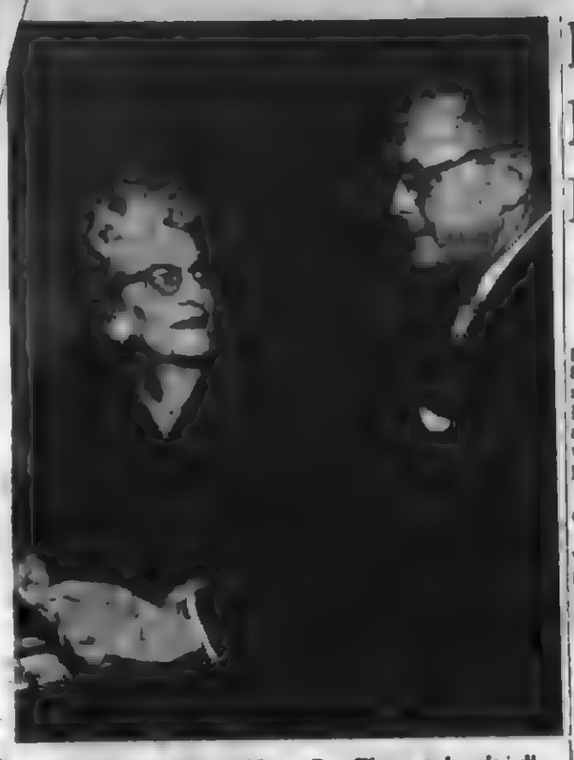
Today there are 14 CREW formed in Franklin County, embracing membership of approximately 20 women in each organization. Each CREW functions separately, has its own methods of fund-raising and its own channels of disseminating cancer information.

Each member does at least one day of volunteer work in the office of the Franklin County Unit annually in addition to her duties with her own CREW.

Sell Christmas Cards

The only common project has been the sale of Christmas cards each year. To date CREW have raised more than $6000 which has been given to the American Cancer Society to further the Society's Research and Education efforts.

Those interested in organizing a CREW among their friends or neighbors can obtain information and assistance from Mrs. Robert Hartle, 2536 W. Lane Ave. (HU. 8-8570), who recently became general chairman of CREW.



Smoking Effects Are Described To Teen-Agers

"To Smoke or Not to Smoke" is a question being widely discussed among Franklin County's teen-agers—and their parents.

Much of the interest in this subject has been stimulated by an American Cancer Society filmstrip which has been shown in 67 of the county's 83 junior high schools.

After the program, the Society presents the filmstrip and its accompanying reference materials to the school so that it may be handy when teachers wish to use it in the future.

TUMOR REGISTRY — Dr. Thomas Lewis, director of the tumor committee at Mt. Carmel Hospital, and Sara E. White, clerk in the tumor registry, are pictured checking the new registry which was established by a grant received from the American Cancer Society's Franklin County Unit. The Society has established three of these registeries in Columbus hospitals within the past year.

Three Cancer Services

By DON E. WEAVER
Editor,
Columbus Citizen-Journal

The money you give through the American Cancer Society fights cancer on three fronts—Research, Education and Service.

RESEARCH is carried on in many laboratories by medical scientists who some day will break through the veil that has hidden the secret of the causes of cancer.

EDUCATION informs the public about cancer. Early diagnosis, recognition of the first signs of cancer, has saved thousands. Through movies, talks to groups and distribution of literature, Americans have learned how to recognize the first symptoms of cancer on their own bodies.

This education and early diagnosis is now most important to the individual. Until science discovers the basic cause and cure of cancer, the best hope is to detect it quickly when it occurs and take steps which can arrest its course.

SERVICE, rendered in many ways, eases the burden on the patient and the family. Part of the Service program assures the newest in modern treatment techniques; also involved is rehabilitation of cured patients; public health nurses are kept up-to-date on modern methods of care; there are many other aspects of this part of the society's program.

You help all three of these when you give to the Cancer Society.

You benefit from all three too. Cancer research may save your life. So may education that enables you to detect early signs of cancer in time for treatment. If you become the victim of cancer, the service of cooperating agencies can ease the burden on you and your family.

MEMORIALS ARE BECOMING MORE COMMON

Many Franklin County residents make memorials to the American Cancer Society when someone in the family, or a friend, dies of cancer. A check should be sent to the American Cancer Society, 2300 W. Mound St., Columbus 4, Ohio, with a note explaining in whose memory the contribution is being made, and the name and address of somebody in the family you would like to have notified that the gift has been made.

High In Children

Cancer kills more children between the ages of 1 and 14 than any other disease. Only accidents take more lives of children in that age bracket.

42,000 Annually

Increased knowledge and better treatment of cancer has saved 42,000 lives each year since 1937.

Lessons In Speech Provided

BY ROBERTA CASKEY
President,
Columbus Lost Chord Club

One part of the service program of the American Cancer Society in Franklin County is speech therapy for, and rehabilitation of, those persons who are victims of throat cancer, which requires removal of the larynx or "voice box."

Patient Voiceless

Naturally, following removal of the larynx, the patient becomes voiceless and must learn to speak again.

The new method of speech requires the use of air and muscles in the esophagus and pharynx, etc., coordinating the factors for intelligible oral communication.

A graduate assistant at the Ohio State University, teaches the Franklin County Unit of the American Cancer Society. His salary is paid to the University by the Society. He gives group and private lessons and works with the Society-supported "Lost Chord Club," a group of men and women who have become laryngectomized.

Society Helps Patient

When necessary, and if feasible, the American Cancer Society will help the laryngectomee to find suitable employment and assist wherever it can to help the patient resume his normal way of life.

The Franklin County Unit of the Society helped me find employment on the physical medicine staff of a state institution. Meanwhile, I am able to continue to raise my family.

The Society also supports a training program, providing rescue workers with information on first aid procedures for "neck breathers."

Clergy Receives Suggestions On Counseling

The psychological treatment of cancer patients is recognized as a great one for everyone involved.

Because the minister is frequently the first to know that cancer has struck a home, the American Cancer Society has materials available to aid the clergy in counseling.

A year ago an all-day session on this problem was presented to the clergy of all faiths by the Society's Franklin County Unit.

Each of the 109 who attended received a brochure listing all agencies in the county which can be called upon for help in treatment and care of cancer patients. The brochure recently was mailed to 22 new clergymen in the county.

Two M. J.s

I started out West Mound Street and was brought up short when I reached "Education Corner" . . . which would be at Wheatland Avenue . . . on the south side of Mound where Wheatland deadends in the sprawling Hilltonia Junior High . . . the northwest corner is St. Agnes elementary, and on the northeast corner is the Hilltonia Branch Library and the American Cancer Society Office . . . the Cancer Society specializes in Cancer Research and Cancer Education, so this juncture of Hilltop streets can rightly be called "Education Corner."

Not only does American Cancer Society educate all of the County's residents about cancer, it also educates the traveler going through Port Columbus . . . there the Cancer people have installed a cute gimmick . . . 50 jars on a rack, one for each state . . . "Fight Cancer," the sign says, "your contribution will be sent back to your home state to support cancer research" . . . . all of the jars are pints, except Texas . . . and, you guessed it . . . Texas is quart-size . . . "We love lousy weather on the east coast," says Frank B. Rasor, the Canal Winchester dentist who is treasurer of the Society's Franklin County Unit . . ." when jets have to lay over here, we do pretty well in those jars," he adds . . . out of the jars have come foreign coinage . . . pesos, 100 yen, francs, a British 2-penny, a Confederate dollar (placed in Vermont, of all places) . . . New York subway tokens, a Buffalo transit token, and a piece good for 5c in trade at Charlie's (in Newark, Ohio), three washers, and a copper piece on which has been stamped The Lord's Prayer . . . not to mention all of the dollars which have been sent back as promised.

I asked why the American Cancer Society is so far out and the answer given by Dr. William Schwartz, president: "We needed more office space and we needed parking room," said the Doc . . . Then he added, "If we had moved the same distance north nobody would even have thought a thing about it . . . we're only eight to ten minutes from Broad and High, and what more could you ask."

• • •

Not only does the American Cancer Society educate from coast-to-coast (at the airport) but it is going overseas . . . CREW, a women's group helping the Society, was dreamed up by a couple of "M.J.'s" Mrs. Mary Jilek and Mrs. Millie James . . . the idea has spread . . . there's a CREW in Springfield, Mo.; in Charlottesville, N.C.; in Chillicothe, and most recent inquiries came from Hawaii.

There are many volunteers who work for the American Cancer Society . . . Mrs. William Fernof is Volunteers Chairman . . . she says, "We emphasize the subtle approach. There's nothing glamorous about addressing and stuffing envelopes, but each of us knows that no matter what we do we are in some way helping somebody, someplace. If what we do encourages somebody to see the doctor in time, we've saved a life."

Hospital Services Are Aided

By PATRICK CRAWFORD, M.D.
Chairman,
Academy Advisory Committee

In the past six months the American Cancer Society has made grants to assist in starting tumor registeries at Mt. Carmel and St. Ann's Hospitals.

For Use of Staff

A tumor registry is simply a specially designed filing system which records every case of cancer treated in that hospital. These records are solely for the use of staff physicians.

The registry makes records readily available for study of the diagnosis and treatment of any type of cancer, and assists the physicians in providing his patient the best therapy by study of similar cases.

Before the hospitals were told that tumor registry could be set up by the Society, the idea had to be approved by the Metropolitan Health Committee, which then recommended it to the Academy of Medicine of Columbus and Franklin County.

The plan was originally presented to an Academy Committee of Advisors to the American Cancer Society. After investigative work had been approved by the agencies involved, the Society brought a consultant from its national office who conferred with hospital staffs and explained the best way to operate an established registry.

Through this plan the American Cancer Society endeavors to assist in assuring Franklin County residents the best treatment of all cancer cases.

147 Dentists Hear Expert On Oral Cancer

An illustrated lecture on the detection of cancer in the oral cavity was presented last fall to 147 members of the Columbus Dental Society, as a part of the American Cancer Society's work in professional information.

Col. Robert B. Shira, oral surgeon at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, D.C. was brought to Columbus by the Society for the program.

It was the largest dental meeting ever held by a Unit of the Society, proof that the dentists of Franklin County are vitally interested in keeping up to date on detection and treatment of cancer.

520,000 New Cases

Approximately 520,000 new cases of cancer will be diagnosed in 1962.

Who Gets Cancer?

Wives Should Needle 'Old Man'

By CARLTON HARTLEY
Publisher, Hartley Newspapers

It was back in 1913 when the Ladies Home Journal daringly printed an article about cancer that this whole business really started.

Many gasped when they found the word "cancer" in print, nearly 50 years ago—but that was the one thing which started to crumble the barriers.

Until that time, the word "cancer" was hardly mentioned in public. Fact is, it took some 35 years or so to really bring the word into polite conversation. And now, thanks to the women's magazines, the terrible death rate among women has been lessened.

More Men Die

Today the cancer death rate among men is higher than the rate among women — and now it's time for the women to start getting their husbands and brothers and sons to take cancer examinations seriously.

In order to encourage people to act on their own and go to their physicians regularly, or at the first sign of trouble, the American Cancer Society 25 years ago launched a great educational attack against the disease.

This takes many forms, and the Society is ever willing to do what it can to carry its message to the public. The most familiar bit is the movie on "Self-Examination of the Breast." Thousands upon thousands have seen it, and that's one reason the death rates among women are dropping.

Programs for Schools

The Society has eight or nine movies available to clubs—some for men, some for women, some for mixed groups. It also has filmstrips handy. Most of the filmstrips are used in schools—and when the American Cancer Society learned that children start to smoke at the age of 10 or 11 (really, they do) it devised a filmstrip about smoking designed for the junior high school student. This has been shown to 67 junior high schools in the past year.

The Society has many pamphlets available, all of which are interesting and informative. There are posters and window displays.

Physicians Present

And every time a program is offered in Franklin County, a physician who is a member of the Academy of Medicine goes along to answer questions. When you consider the American Cancer Society has 118 physicians in our county who will give you their time to appear on these programs, you realize that the education programs are worthwhile.

The Society can tell its story only where people are present. It encourages clubs and organizations, industry, churches, labor unions — people everywhere — to have a program.

Two Week's Notice

All it takes is a call to the American Cancer Society offices and the program you want will be arranged for when you want it. They like to have two or three weeks notice, and they like to feel a minimum attendance of 50 will be on hand.

Honestly, if you've never had such a program, you should. And women who've seen the films and know how important they are should begin to needle husbands into doing the same.

The information received may not be important for five or 20 years, but one of these days you'll be awfully glad you learned what to do when the time came.

Try it once. It won't hurt a bit.

Half Under 65

In 1961 there were 22,500 cancer deaths of patients aged 15 to 44. Almost half of last year's cancer deaths were people under 65.

Academy Of Medicine Approval For Movies

500 Unsuspected Cancers In County

By EMMERICH VON HAAM, M.D.
Chairman,
Dept. of Pathology, OSU

There is every reason to believe that more than 500 women in Franklin County have cancer of the uterus, and don't know it.

In a four year survey project under direction of the National Cancer Institute, women in Franklin County were offered the Papanicolau test for cancer of the uterus. Under conditions of the survey project, no fee was charged women for the laboratory report.

During that time, 526 cases of unsuspected cancer of the uterus were detected. Each has been treated and is regarded as clinically cured.

Perhaps the outstanding proof of the success of this early examination, which was developed by Dr. George Papanicolau while working under a grant from the American Cancer Society, is that a 20-year-old girl was found to have cancer.

She underwent immediate treatment by her physician, and now, five years later, she is not only regarded as cured, but she has become the mother of two children.

With 526 cases detected with half of the women in the county being examined, there is every right to believe that another 526 cases of unsuspected cancer exist in the half which has not yet been examined.

The American Cancer Society recommends that every woman over 20 have this test once each year. It just might save your life.

Since the survey project has closed down, women who undergo the test are expected to pay the laboratory fee.

Society Cooperates With All Agencies

The American Cancer Society cooperates with all community agencies in Franklin County and takes an active part in community planning.

This year, Paul L. Walker, the Society's executive director, is chairman of the Health Executives Committee. He also serves on the Metropolitan Health Committee, the Agencies Executive Committee, and the Priorities and Research Committee of the United Community Council.

Two Hospitals Hold Monthly Conferences

Mt. Carmel and St. Anthony Hospitals in Columbus have both instituted monthly cancer conferences for staff members during the past year.

Scientific movies and speakers are arranged for by the American Cancer Society—each month a different topic being under discussion. Following the formal presentations, staff members then hold discussions. Physicians, residents, interns and nurses take part in these programs.

"I AM CURED OF CANCER"

Because I went to my doctor in time.

Because my doctor had the knowledge and skill to save me.

My name is Nan Wynn. I'm an actress and a singer.

And I thank God and all of you for sparing my life.

If all of you out there hadn't contributed so faithfully to the American Cancer Society over the years, perhaps my cancer wouldn't have been detected, wouldn't have been cured.

This year you'll have the chance to save 260,000 others—half of all those who develop cancer in a year and who could be saved with education and early diagnosis.

Whatever you do, fight cancer with a checkup and a check. To cure more—give more! Send your donation to CANCER, c/o your local post office.

The 7 Danger Signals of Cancer

1. Unusual bleeding or discharge.
2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere.
3. A sore that does not heal.
4. Change in bowel or bladder habits.
5. Hoarseness or cough.
6. Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
7. Change in a wart or mole.

If your danger signal lasts longer than 2 weeks, go to your doctor at once. Only he can tell if it is cancer.

Painting Can Re-Shape A Room To Your Liking

You can reshape a room as you repaint it. Ceiling too low? Raise it. Room too narrow? Widen it. Or too square? Lengthen it. You can do it with paint—the right color paint.

A small room will look larger when painted a light color, particularly a light, cool color, such as pale blue, lilac, aqua, or blue gray. These colors retreat, making the walls seem farther apart, thus making the room itself appear more spacious.

To increase the size illusion, always paint the woodwork and trim the same color as the walls.

On the opposite side of the coin, deep hues are most flattering to large rooms. Even a sparsely furnished, barn-like room will look friendly and inviting when its walls are painted a deep, warm hue, such as burnished gold, copper or burgundy red. Woodwork can be painted white or a contrasting color in a spacious room, and should be, as it's exceptionally decorative.

What about a long, narrow room — or hall — that resembles a bowling alley? You can make it seem much wider and square in shape if you paint the two side walls a light color and the narrow ends a deeper hue. This effect can be achieved by using a tint and shade of the same color, or by combining light and dark contrasting hues. For instance you could use shell pink and rose or shell pink and turquoise.

Even a room can be a real "square." You can create more interest in a box-like room by making one wall the focal point. Select the wall behind the room's most important furnishing. Paint this one wall a contrasting color, or a brighter or deeper shade [redacted] the other walls. You might paint one wall bright gold and the remaining walls gray or pale yellow or a deep golden tone.

To make a ceiling look higher, paint it white or a very pale color which is much lighter than the walls. If you wish to make a high ceiling seem lower, use the reverse technique; paint the ceiling a deeper color than the walls.

Attractive features in a room should be accentuated. For example, to spotlight a handsome fireplace, paint it a color that contrasts with the surrounding walls. Or to call attention to a handsome painting, paint the frame a color that blends with the painting, but contrasts with the background wall.

When you wish to divert attention from unattractive features such as pipes and radiators, paint them the same color as their surrounding areas. They will fade into the background.

Paint Selection

If you are going to do your own painting, here's a quick guide to the selection of the proper paints to use on the various surfaces.

New Plaster Walls — two coats of latex paint (also called water-thinned, plastic, rubber based) or one coat of primer sealer followed by alkyd flat [redacted].

Previously Painted Plaster Walls — one coat of either latex or alkyd flat. If new paint is yellow or pink, it's advisable to use a coat of pigmented primer sealer first.

Plywood — seal with penetrating resin sealer, clear if top coat is to be varnished. If top coat is wall paint or enamel, use pigmented resin sealer.

Roses Always Enhance

ROSES LOOK WELL anywhere on the landscape, and merit consideration in any planting program. They not only provide beauty outdoors but provide cut blooms for inside the home.

Choosing Right Wallpaper Basic To Good Decoration

Picking the right kind of wallpaper can be pretty much like picking your new spring hat. You can have fun, or you can spend several exhausting and inconclusive hours trying to make up your mind. So pick your paper carefully, reminds the Wallpaper Council, and you'll live happily with it ever after.

It is best to have some idea of what you're after before you get into the store. The wallpaper people in your local store will be happy to help you solve your decorating problems, but they can't make up your mind for you. So be prepared to give them some idea of the type of furniture you have, the color combinations of your accessories, and a general idea of what you want.

With the correct wallpeper, there is no doubt but that you can easily alter and improve any room in the house.

Rooms in compact, modern ranch homes can be made to appear more spacious, while larger ambling rooms can take on that comfortable, intimate look, with the right wallpaper with the proper texture, pattern and tone.

ProTest Effect

Many wallpaper stores will let you have a strip of wallpaper, so that you can tape it up on your wall and let your family live with it a while.

The new living-dining room areas provide lots of family use, so that walls must be subdued, yet provide an ever-pleasing background. Textured wallpapers are usually the answer here. They come in a variety of effects and colors, and will soften and enhance the plain surfaces of modern furnishings.

A room badly cut up with too many windows or doors calls for ingenious handling. If your problem room happens to be your dining room, paper one or even two walls with an interesting bold pattern. Then use plain colored and textured papers on the cut-up surfaces, with woodwork and doors painted to match.

To Brighten Room

Dormer windows often present another difficult problem. A small scaled all-over pattern on the ceiling and walls or the dormer, and matching plain papers on the other walls, will give a most pleasant and decorative effect.

If you plan to do the job yourself, select your papers, keeping this fact in mind. There are many pre-trimmed and pre-pasted papers on the market which ease your job considerably. If papers are untrimmed, your dealer can most likely trim them for you free.

Planting Blends Garage, Driveway Into Home Scene

The garage and its driveway can be a very attractive part of the home landscape. A home garage looks box-like when there is no foundation planting to blend the structure into the landscape. The garage requires a foundation planting the same as the home, and an otherwise beautiful property often can be spoiled without it.

This is also true of driveways which could be made much more delightful by planting perennials, shrubs, or ground covers as a border. Visitors get their first impression of a home as they come up the driveway, whether it is a long or short drive.

The homeowner would do well to consider planting the home garage as part of his improvement program. It may require only a few flowering shrubs or evergreens at the front corners where the garage property.

Usually where the garage is part of the house, the house foundation planting includes the garage, the planting being an extension of the former. Sometimes a couple of climbing roses or other vines, one on each side of the garage doors, will do.

In cases where the sides and rear of the garage are visible from the rest of the property a few evergreens and flowering shrubs, or a low tree whose branches may extend over part of the roof, when combined with lower shrubs, will tie the structure into the landscape.

Any plants that will keep the garage from looking like a sore thumb will help.

There are two solutions to planting a driveway.

The first is to make two long narrow beds and plant permanent shrubs, both evergreen and flowering.

Floribunda roses make a splendid border for a drive as do numerous other flowering shrubs, such as azaleas, spireas, forsythia or any one of probably a hundred or more shrubs that do well in your neighborhood climate.

Another solution to make the drive more attractive is to plant the beds with perennials. Thus you can have the early-flowering perennials followed by those that flower in the summer, such as delphiniums and phlox, followed by fall chrysanthemums.

Employment Of Students Newest Drive

Richard L. Loveland, president of the University Kiwanis Club, announced the launching today of the local phase of the nationwide drive in cooperation with the Ohio State Employment Service to find jobs for young people who are out of school and unemployed.

Noting that civic leaders have strongly endorsed the campaign, Loveland said his group will assist in promotion of jobs for out-of-school youth and also enlist support in the push for jobs.

Reviewing the problem which confronts the community, Loveland said that here in Franklin County there are many young people qualified to step into responsible jobs but unable to find them. Others have potential to qualify quickly for trainee and other beginner jobs but haven't received an offer.

He observed that enthusiasm, eagerness to do well, a fresh outlook and new ideas are the special assets young people bring to a job, assets an employer can convert into profits for his own firm.

"Employers can start the ball rolling now by listing openings with the local Ohio State Employment Service which will 'Put Youth on a Job — Today's Investment, Tomorrow's Profit,'" Loveland added.

JOE WORTHEN displays some of the more than 1,000 samples of materials available in his clothing store at 2073 W. Broad-st. He also sells Simpson Custom Tailored clothing.

Worthen Clothing Store Has Custom Tailored Spring Line

"They flatter because they fit" is the slogan of the Simpson Custom Tailoring line carried by Joe Worthen's clothing store, 2073 W. Broad-st.

Worthen has just received the new Churchill line of Simpson Custom Tailored clothes selling for $64.50, a good buy, he said, which he thought would encourage many customers to pick up an extra suit for spring. He pointed out the best advantages of custom tailoring are that customers have a wider range of choice in styles and material to pick from, and get a better fit.

Worthen, who resides at 541 Helen-st, has been selling clothes for more than 18 years. It was just two years ago that he moved to his present location, starting his own business. Miss Edna Wilson, 60 Orel-av, who started with him when he opened his store, handles alterations and repair.

Worthen's additional services include alterations, reweaving, charge service, men's complete formal rental service and convenient parking. Along with the custom tailoring line, comprising over 100 different samples, he has ready made top-coats, raincoats, sport jackets and suits. To complement his woolen line he also handles a complete line of haberdashery and men's furnishings.

Rinehart Family Cooperates At Bond Drive-In Cleaners

Bond Drive-In Cleaners, 2530 Sullivant av, is a cooperative family enterprise. The firm is owned by Mel Rinehart who lives above the shop. Mel Rinehart's wife, Francis, often helps out behind the counter marking and processing garments on arrival.

Ralph Rinehart serves as the operating manager while his wife Gloria, 619 S. Terrace-av, specializes in finishing dresses and blouses including silk garments. Brother Lawrence Rinehart handles pick-ups and deliveries.

The firm's complete range of services includes full alterations, zipper repair, reweaving, sizing, box storage, mothproofing, and cleaning of slipcovers and draperies.

Along with their regular dry cleaning service they operate a Clean-Only service which is similar to the coin operated machines. The biggest advantage of this is that it saves time and it is all done by professional cleaners. The charge in this case is made by the pound, three pounds for 75c and up according to the weight. This way customers only have to pay for what they have cleaned.

Mel Rinehart stated that he does not have the shrinkage problem encountered with other machines because no moisture is used. All of the cleaning machines constantly [illegible] solution to "baby" [illegible] colors so that they stay [illegible] and fresh.

Usually you can josh her along. But words don't always help. So you love her—until she gets her fight back. Then she's ready to try again.

LOVE is one of three things that help a crippled child walk. The other two are SKILL and MONEY.

Public School Registration Is Due Now

Children who will be five years old on or before Dec. 31 may be registered for kindergarten.

Children who will be six on or before Dec. 31 must be registered for first grade if they are not in kindergarten this year.

Registration can be completed rapidly by following two steps:

Call to arrange a conference with the principal and school nurse at the elementary building in your district, and take to the conference the child's original birth certificate and verification of the child's immunization against diphtheria and polio.

Gallia Countians Asked For Help

Clay Chapel Cemetery Association, a non-profit organization, is asking former residents of Gallia County who may have friends or relatives buried in Clay Chapel Cemetery to support the rehabilitation and maintenance of the cemetery.

Grounds are located a few miles below Gallipolis and it is now a beautiful spot located on the slopes of the hills over the Ohio River.

This is due to voluntary contributions from former Gallia Countians, but more funds are needed to maintain the grounds and keep them in good condition.

Those interested are asked to send contributions to the treasurer of the association, Mrs. J. S. Clark, 345 Fourth-av, Gallipolis.

RICK FINKE LEE LAWRENCE JEFF LEIGHNINGER ROBERT LYNCH TIM WEISERT ROGER McKENDRY EDWIN JEFFRIES DANNY LYNCH HAROLD BLOTT JOHN SIDLO

Camp Chase Post 98, American Legion, today revealed the names of 10 West area high school junior classmen chosen to attend Buckeye Boys State.

Named were: from West High—Rick Finke, 133 S. Hurons-av; Lee Lawrence, 2740 St. Patrick-rd; Jeff Leighninger, 289 Pewhatan-av; Robert Lynch, 592 Binns-blvd; Tim Weisert, 346 S. Terrace-av.

Holy Family High School—Roger McKendry, 377 N. Brinker-av; Franklin Heights H. S. — Edwin Jeffries, 1000 Frank-rd, and Danny Lynch, Franklin Village; Pleasant View H. S.—Harold Blott, 340 Grener-rd, and John Sidlo, 281 Derbyhurst-rd.

According to Chester Wagner, Boys State chairman of Camp Chase Post, the students are picked for their qualities of leadership, sportsmanship, scholarship and zeal for service. They must demonstrate self-reliance and have an interest in civics, history, public speaking or debate.

Upon arriving at Ohio U., the boys will be divided into political parties, Wagner said. They will then go through the flurry of campaigning, nominations and election the same as in real government. They will vie for city, county and state offices.

Boy Staters will hear addresses by John W. Bricker, Don Hanning of the FBI, John Noble (who was once imprisoned by the communists)., representatives of the military academies, and Dr. R. C. "Scottie" Young. Many will take part in a band directed by W. L. "Pete" DeWeese. There will also be athletics and other diversion.

Selections were made by a committee from organizations that are underwriting costs of the trips. Included were: Floyd and Richard Hall of Thirteen Club; Walter Denaugh, Western Optimists; George Blackmore, Warren D. Schumacher and E. B. Eberhard of Hilltop Lions; John R. Simon, Paul Noblitt, West Franklin Kiwanis; John R. Reece, Grant S. Martin, Hilltop Kiwanis; Harold Slyh, John Clay, J. Curtis Allen of Hilltop Business Association; and Glenn F. Smith and F. K. Easter

The Spectator
By C. C. Hartley

Let's Pause Awhile . . . And Haul Off and Let Go

There was perhaps a lot of method in the madness of the federal tax collectors when they arranged for income tax payments to fall due in the Easter season.

This is certainly a time for peace on earth!

This week it is well to pause and give thanks . . . thanks for a kind of freedom that can come from God.

Next week . . . and for all the rest of our weeks . . . it is time to roll up our sleeves and haul off and let go!

All across the nation, the poor man and the rich man, have just finished paying tribute again as billions of dollars have been extracted by a huge monster that is growing by the minute.

It is time that every individual take stock of this situation and seek an honest answer as to where we are going.

There is nothing wrong with payment of taxes if the money is to be spent wisely. There is no reason ever to believe that Americans will not come forth with every sacrificial dollar that is actually needed when such money will be spent to do the most good.

But when these same billions are siphoned off in so many "give aways," the development of a welfare state, and the creation of new multimillionaires through excessive defense contracts. It seems we have arrived at a

CHICKEN FEAST AT HOGE

WOW! Half-chickens, pit-barbecued over a charcoal fire by professionals from Ohio Poultry Association, rates the enthusiastic approval of Howard Wells, fifth grade student at West Broad. The fare will include scalloped potatoes, salad, beverage and dessert, and will be served Saturday afternoon and evening, Apr. 28 at Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Church. Barbecue pits in the parking lot will be under canvas and the meal will be served in the church room, forestalling the possibility of rain. Moppets special—a 50 cent sack lunch and nursery care will be provided. Tickets must be reserved in advance, and will be delivered by calling the church office BR. 65433. Cost is $1.50 for adults and $1 for children.

Glass Bottle Smashers Worry HCC

Hilltop Community Council is casting a critical eye at a new pastime of some of the younger set—bottle smashing. The police department has been asked to help put a stop to it.

A spokesman for the HCC said children are finding great sport in dropping bottles from buildings and are even tossing them through residential windows. Several people have been out picking up the glass, she said.

The council plans to invite Capt. Philip Momburg to the May 10 meeting to interpret some of the litter laws.

Easter Egg Hunt 'Countdown' Nears In Three Area Parks

Zero Hour Is 9 a.m. Saturday At West Side, Hilltop Sites

The word is out — and if it gets around like everyone knows it will, youngsters by the thousands will cram into Glenwood, Sunshine and Westgate Parks for Easter egg hunts Saturday morning.

The starting gun will sound at 9 o'clock in all three parks.

It's the 12th year for the big West Side event at Sunshine Park, 667 Sullivant-av. Youngsters 10 and under may participate. At the Hilltop parks, however, ages will be limited to those under 10.

The hunt at Sunshine is sponsored by the West Side Board of Trade, in cooperation with the staffs of the City Recreation Department and the Boys Clubs of Columbus. According to co-chairmen Don McCann, Ralph Oberleitner and Mrs. Juanita Sims there will be a distribution of 1,000 individually wrapped eggs after the hunt, in addition to 250 other eggs.

Eugene Roach and S. P. Smith are arranging for prizes and the Golden Age Club of the center is coloring several cases of boiled eggs.

Hilltop Kiwanians will do the Easter bunny bit at Glenwood Park, 1925 W. Broad-st, and the Hilltop Lions have been asked to do the same at Westgate Park, Demorest and Wicklow-rds.

Fun Set For Early Birds

At both parks eager youngsters who come early will be entertained at games and group singing, starting at 8 a.m. Prizes will be similar at both places—five cases of hard boiled eggs, 500 individually wrapped candy eggs and two special prizes for the hunt—all donated by the Lions and Kiwanians.

Children will be divided into two age groups, 6 and under, and 7 through 9, and will hunt in separate areas. A large stuffed rabbit will go to the tiny

West Side Council Discussing Block Cleanup, Traffic Needs

There will be a repeat of last year's West Side block cleanup campaign if plans of the executive committee of the West Side Neighborhood Council materialize.

This was one of a number of recommendations that the committee made during its meeting of Apr. 12.

The health committee will work with the residents of a specific seven-square block area in an intensive cleanup campaign. The area will not be announced until the residents have been contacted, said Al Wilder, WSNC field worker.

The health committee has also asked the city to clean all West Side streets on a schedule basis, the same as in 1961.

The committee also pledged itself to take action on specific violations of health and safety when requested by an area resident to do so.

The executive committee will pursue further talks with the City Recreation Commission and Nick Barack about the problem of inadequate playgrounds in the middle and western sections of the West Side.

In a letter to the City Traffic Commission the traffic committee of the West Side Neighborhood Council listed desired traffic changes remaining to be settled.

The letter (1.) asked the com-

Ohio Farmers Get 'Green Light' From Lawmakers On Capitol Hill

BY JOHN AUBLE, JR.
Hartley Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Ohio Farm Bureau leaders gave it the old college try here last week and ranking political figures on Capitol Hill had to admit that diplomas were in order.

According to Douglas R. Stanfield, Westerville resident and executive vice-president of the Farm Bureau delegates, the Congressional spokesmen from the Buckeye state were having their 'test day(s)" Apr. 9-10-11.

AUBLE

"All we could hope was that our spokesmen had done their 'homework' prior to the trip and were ready to be graded," said Stanfield. And, from all indications here in the Capital City, the Ohioans passed their exams "cum laude."

One of the main concerns of the group here was President Kennedy's farm program plan to curb surpluses which, the spokesmen agreed, needed some big changes for "the good of farmers everywhere."

The main change sought in the administration's bill was the retirement from production of whole farms. The overall purpose is to promote the conservation and economic use of land.

Under the proposed Agricultural Act of 1962, Secretary Orville Freeman would be authorized to enter into agreements up to 15 years in duration, providing for changes in land uses, and for practices or measures to be carried out for purposes of conserving and developing soil, water, forest, wildlife and recreation resources.

This is part of the legislation requested by the President, to establish pilot and demonstration land-use projects looking toward development of long-term land-use adjustment programs.

It was also indicated that expenditures would be limited to about $10 million for all kinds of pilot projects in 1963 — the first year of operation of the program.

Farm Bureau's Proposal . . .

The Ohio Farm Bureau's proposal is a statement of "analysis and recommendation" concerning the mentioned Kennedy administration proposals for farm legislation.

On feed grain and wheat, the Ohio Farm Bureau does not completely throw out the concept of mandatory controls over acreage.

According to Wendell Weiler, president of the OFBA, "There is strong evidence to indicate that, in order to bring effective reduction in surpluses of wheat and feed grains over a five-year period, it will be necessary to make some reduction on each farm."

The Ohio organization recommended, however, that farmers be given a more realistic choice in a referendum than the abandoment of price supports.

To spell it out, this means a companion voluntary program with lower price support than there is with compulsary control.

The time in which controls would be in effect should be stated in the law, the Bureau says, with provision for resubmission of the referendum if a longer control period seems necessary.

If compulsory controls over feed grains are to be applied, the Ohio Bureau thinks soybeans and other oil seeds should be included; the minimum acreage (25) should be eliminated or greatly reduced; and no "commercial area" should be established.

In short, the Ohio folks believe that controls, if used, should be tighter than those proposed by Secretary Freeman.

The Ohio group, of course, feels that their suggestions are an improvement over the administration's plan.

Big Selling Job . . .

Local spokesmen on the "selling" end included Paul Dutenhaver, 6601 O'Harra-rd, Galloway, Homer Bohl, Rt. 1, New Vienna and Paul Overturf, Rt. 1, Irwin.

Dutenhaver is Farm Bureau's Franklin County Congressional District spokesman and was met warmly by Ohio Congressman Samuel L. Devine. Similar greetings were extended to Madison County spokesman Overturf by Congressman Clarence J. Brown and to Highland Countian Bohl by Congressman Wm. H. Harsha, Jr.

There were Farm Bureau spokesmen from all 26 of Ohio's congressional districts on the trip, including a woman, Mrs. Melvin Derickson of Butler County.

Dutenhaver echoed the sentiments expressed by the other delegates when he reported, "I was very pleased with the reception given me by Congressman Devine. He was most cordial and we had a very productive talk. He seemed genuinely interested in our problems."

The compromise in essence means that, if enacted, about 7.5-million acres would be taken out of production in fiscal 1963, most of it in whole farms.

The big concern of Freeman who, incidentally, addressed a breakfast session of the Ohio delegation on Tuesday of last week, is the cost.

The Ohio group estimated it at $100 million but they quickly pointed out savings in caring for (storage of surpluses) reduced crop production. They believe that the money saved would come close to covering the amended program's cost.

Support For Ohioans Was Big . . .

Maybe it was the fact that the cherry blossoms were in bloom and spring was in the air but most of the Washington lawmakers were acceptable to the Ohio group's proposals.

The biggest support (and, undeniably, most important) came from Ohio Senators Frank L. Lausche and Stephen M. Young.

Sen. Lausche, showing his usual good speaking form, was the first to express his approval of the Farm Bureau amendment as he addressed the delegation at a Tuesday night dinner in a seafood house here.

Besides the delegates who heard the talk, Lausche also addressed 77 other Ohioans who stopped in on a cherry blossom tour.

The Senator's big interest was with the cost of the farm program which he says is running into $1 billion annually and emphatically stated that this country could not "suffer it interminably."

Liberal thinkers were warned by the Senator that they may find present policies of controls have brought about "complete regimentation" of the citizens of this country.

"Does the farmer want to be harrassed . . . shackled by regimentation in the management of farms with price control?" Lausche asked. "What will it lead to? Will complete regimentation go to other sections of our economy?

"The ultimate objective of the administration's program and that of the Ohio Farm Bureau is identical. Both want to take acreage out of production. The Ohio group wants to do it voluntarily and Freeman wants it to be on a compulsary basis. I feel that the Farm Bureau amendment is a good mid-way ground," Lausche added.

The Senator also said that he has found considerable "doubt" and "distrust" of the "Freeman program" among the members of the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Curiously Enough, Young Agreed

It's a pretty well-known fact around Capitol Hill that it's almost impossible to get two senators to agree . . . on anything.

The Farm Bureau group was most pleased when they heard Sen. Young say he "likes the Ohio proposal amendment and I'll be moving for the adoption of it."

Sen. Young also said, "Lausche and I are in complete agreement about the matter."

Young was suffering from a cold but met for a brief 45 minutes with the Ohio group.

"I'm going to give this bill the old college try," said the colorful Democrat from Shaker Heights. "This amendment puts the bill in a form that'll get votes in Ohio and everywhere else. Without it, Ohio farmers can't operate. I know that farmers must prosper. When they do then the country will, too. It's our best defense against the spread of Communism."

Foreign Trade Question . . .

Besides the local farm problems, the Ohio delegation was particularly interested in the matter of foreign trade.

Sen. Young commented that "the common market has always caused problems" and added, "we have no tariff walls here and that's the big reason for this country's greatness . . . international trade.

"We need flexibility in foreign trade," the Senator stated.

The most effective comments on the foreign trade situation came from a young lawyer from Missouri, Herb Harris, who's the Washington assistant to the American Farm Bureau Federation and cited by Stanfield as "one of the best men we've got down here."

"The issue is pretty hot on the 'Hill' right now," Harris said. "It's the No. 1 issue in Congress."

Harris firmly believes that the whole issue is based "on fear" and added "maybe the problem isn't as serious as we've been led to believe.

"We hear a lot about beef being imported from Australia and Argentina. What we aren't told is that the import from those countries is very small. Mostly just 'tins' of meat.

"They also tell us that cattle are brought in from Canada and Mexico. That's true but it's 'feeder-type' cattle and we export most of the by-products from this feeder variety. For example, we supply 30 per cent of all the hides and skins exported.

"And, the U. S. is the world's largest exporter of feed grains. We've got to fight for the market. If you want to bring tariffs down the only man who can negotiate is the President. He's the one you write to and contact."

Harris also said that the President has asked for negotiating authority to bring down tariffs by 50 per cent and eliminate insignificant duties. The AFBF supports the request by the President for authority but asks that this authority be available for use for all countries. But, if a country keeps no-tariff restrictions then we'll give no concessions. Let's develop a tough attitude."

'We've Got Green Light, Boys . . .'

The Ohio farmers were unmistakably proud of their accomplishments with the lawmakers and left the city of marble feeling confident that their problems would receive special attention.

"It was a most valuable three days," said President Weller, "Probably our most valuable in our long list of annual visits."

A local newsman made his point when he said, "All it takes is a little sniffin' (of cherry blossoms) and a little snortin' (around Captiol Hill)." Both were accomplished by the Ohio farmers with the grace and ease of seasoned veterans.

Freeman Lauds Ohio Farm Interest

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A young fellow from Minnesota is currently in the driver's seat in the Department of Agriculture here as his office heads into its 100th anniversary May 15.

At any rate, that's the way Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman sees it. And, he added, much of his work has been cut out for him by a group of touring Ohio Farm Bureau Federation delegates who stormed Capitol Hill Apr. 9, 10 and 11 to recommend farm bill amendments.

"I've been most impressed with the Ohio Farm Bureau," Freeman told Hartley Newspapers Tuesday morning. "Whatever the farm program is, it can't be run from Washington. It takes the type of farmers in Ohio to make it work."

The secretary chatted about Title I of the administration's farm program which is aimed at the "fundamental problem of adjusting basic resources—of adjusting land use."

He said the Ohio Farm Bureau has been a "major influence" in getting Title I included in the program by the administration, through its "thoughtful concern" about the adjustment of land uses.

The former governor of Minnesota told how "extremely difficult" it is to legislate for the United States on any matter. "It's particularly difficult," he commented, "to legislate on agriculture where the different sections of the country are interrelated."

As Freeman sees it, the fundamental problem in the farm program is "adjusting basic resources" and, he explained, "a basic resource is land . . . not how it can be retired or idled, but how it can be used."

He told this reporter that he didn't like the concept of idle land. "It's backward looking," he said, "and totally unimaginative."

He plugged hard for what he calls "Project Opportunity" which he said will present a new approach to cope with the "revolutionary forces of science and technology in rural America."

"Project Opportunity" is a manageable, but ambitious, program on a limited scale to help restore a greater degree of economic vitality and self-confidence to rural areas.

"It promises to accomplish things which no other farm program has achieved," said Freeman. "It will provide a wider choice of economic opportunity in rural areas for those who live in rural America.

"It will mean that those who wish to stay in their community will have the opportunity to do so without being compelled by the harsh dictate of economic pressure to look to the big city for jobs with decent incomes.

"It will mean that instead of building more and more storage facilities for unused commodities, we can begin to build facilities to meet the stored up demand for recreation and the beauty of country life. There is today more than an adequate supply of the former but a shortage of the latter," he added.

One of the reasons Freeman will be too busy to celebrate the centennial with any whoop-de-dos is due to an assignment given him by Ohio Farm Bureau spokesmen.

They want to know why the government is holding corn surpluses under lock and key while there is a corn shortage in parts of the Midwest.

Secretary Freeman said he didn't know about the Ohio situation, "but this is something I'm going to find out."

OFBF reps are confident that he will.
